Police Find It's All Quiet 1C

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox
. . . 'didn't know'

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports on evidence of wide-open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared. "I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned

It's Rosy At Track

Legal betting zoomed at Hialeah race track Monday as off-track bookies sorrowfully told their customers, "The heat's on."

Hialeah attendance was 20,295, a sizable increase over the 18,240 who turned out on Monday a week ago when the illegal bookies feared no harassment by police. The weather on both days was identical.

Wagering increased more than $100,000 from $1,813,239 to $1,925,943. The state of Florida collects eight per cent of each dollar bet.

The figures apparently bore out the contention of state officials who said the flourishing bookie business had been responsible for the fall-off in mutuel play at Hialeah. Through Saturday the track was down 2.2 per cent in betting for the season thus far, while attendance was off 4.1 per cent.

Miami-Bound Electra Is Jerked Into Climb

4 Hurt As Planes Nearly Collide

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

Three passengers and a stewardess were injured Monday when a Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra was jerked into a steep climb to avoid collision with an Air [illegible] jet bomber over Tennessee.

The airliner's pilot, Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, said the big bomber shot past only 400 feet below the climbing Electra, then vanished.

The Chicago-Miami flight 127 was met at Miami International Airport at 2:43 p.m. by ambulances which took the injured to North Shore Hospital.

Lois Borchers, the stewardess, of Miami, was treated and released.

Listed in fair condition were the injured passengers, all from the Chicago area, Phillip Kaplan, Mrs. C. R. Allen and Sam Landsman, who suffered possible fractured ankles.

Mrs. Allen and Kaplan suffered fractured ankles, and Landsman underwent X-rays for possible internal injuries.

Capt. Ruprecht, of 960 Hunting Lodge Dr., Miami Springs, who has been flying for 33 years, said the jet bomber [illegible] biggest thing I ever saw."

He said the plane was southeast of Chattanooga at 23,000 feet when the incident occurred.

Ruprecht said he and his co-pilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left," he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

Capt. Ruprecht threw [illegible] plane into a 1,500-foot climb.

He said "the Electra may have prevented a collision because of its maneuverability."

The Eastern plane was traveling at about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said, and carried 17 passengers and five crew members. The Air Force bomber was going at an estimated 600 miles an hour.

Ruprecht said the Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn a few seconds before he pulled up. "He must have just seen us," said the pilot.

The Federal Aviation Agency promptly assigned investigators to the case. The Air Force did not immediately identify the home base of the jet.

Shortly after the near-miss, Sen. George Smathers, Florida congressman, said in Washington:

"The near-tragedy shows the urgent need for greater speed in bringing about a practical and adequate solution for this phase of air safety — to maintain safe and separate air lanes for both military and commercial traffic."

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

British Anxiously Await Successor, Page 7A

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

No Murrow Tomorrow?

Irked CBS Star To Take Year Off

By JACK GOULD
The New York Times Service

NEW YORK — Edward R. Murrow is taking a year's leave of absence from the Columbia Broadcasting System effective July 1.

MURROW

The most prominent commentator in radio and television will discontinue participation in the documentaries that have brought him fame and controversy, the weekly television series entitled "Person to Person" and his nightly radio program of news and commentary.

Murrow will continue "Small World," the Sunday evening filmed television series of international conversations, but on a reduced basis.

Murrow's step comes as a climax to increasingly strained relations between him and officials of CBS. In part it also reflects his concern over what he feels is television's inadequate coverage of grave world problems.

His leave of absence is not for health. Nor is it because of the fuss over his recent radio show about prostitution. Rather, he has decided to refresh his perspective by travel abroad and freedom from deadlines.

Frank Stanton, president of CBS, said he looked forward to Murrow's return on July 1, 1960.

Monday night it was reported that Arthur Godfrey might be the interviewer next season on "Person to Person."

Sosa Goes On Trial 2nd Time

Castro Takes Oath of Office

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro stepped up to the premiership later in the day with a vow that he would carry out his revolutionary reforms as prime minister without presidential ambitions.

Castro said his sole ambition is to push the revolutionary program of economic reform and a new deal for Cuban peasantry.

Castro gave up his job as commander-in-chief of the army to take over the prime ministry. His brother Raul takes over as army chief.

The new premier insisted he had never sought the top cabinet job, but accepted it to push ahead the revolution's social and economic program.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

Winter's Worst Storm

Hard Rain Flails California Coast

By Herald Wire Services

Widespread rain and snow, churned by winds up to 65 miles an hour along the Southern California coast, pelted much of the nation west of the Rocky Mountains Monday.

An influx of cool air from the North Pacific toned down the disturbance after it began as a nerve-jangling howler which toppled television antennas in Santa Barbara County and raised a black dust pall over the California desert area around Bakersfield.

Up to two inches of rain sloshed some California coastal communities in the worst storm of the winter.

East of the Rockies, snow flecked Montana. There were new snows along a cold air band from Upper Michigan through parts of Pennsylvania and New York into New England.

A severe dust storm preceded the rain in Bakersfield, Calif. Towering dust clouds that obscured visibility stranded 200 motorists Sunday night. Nearly all highways in the county were closed at times.

In Indiana, the farming area near Oaktown became the main center of activity along the flooding Wabash, as the danger appeared easing in upstate communities.

National Guardsmen hurried to shore up weakening levees near Oaktown, the latest danger spot in the path of the Wabash flood crest.

National Guard units from Vincennes and Linton were ordered onto the Oaktown dikes when the flood waters began digging into the river bank.

Another flood danger was melting away upstream. Massive ice floes which had threatened to tear a path of destruction down the Wabash valley were breaking up under warm temperatures. State officials abandoned plans to dynamite the ice and decided to let nature take its course.

Surprise Legal Move

Beck Counsel Rests In Income Tax Trial

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES

N.Y. Times News Service

TACOMA, Wash. — Dave Beck's counsel rested in the labor leader's income tax trial Monday without offering a defense. One witness occupied the stand briefly.

Charles S. Burdell, attorney for the former $50,000-a-year general president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, ended the case abruptly without letting his client take the stand.

The surprise ending was recorded on the 57th day of a trial based on a charge that Beck evaded payment of $240,000 of income taxes for the years 1950 to 1953. The prosecution, which closed its case Thursday, had put 114 witnesses on the stand. More than 10,000 pages of testimony had accumulated.

Out of court, Burdell said he broke the news to Beck at 9 a.m. that the former union executive was not going on the stand. Beck had confidently predicted since the trial opened on Nov. 10 that he would have his "day in court."

"This is my decision not to defend the case," Burdell said. "I made it over the weekend after completion of the government's case."

The defense put an accountant, Karl Houston, on the stand as its lone witness. He was called merely to testify that Beck had nothing to do with preparing ledgers and keeping books of the B. & B. Investment Company, which was set up to handle Beck's personal enterprises.

UF Morals Report Implicates 14 Professors

Probers Suspect Many Students of Secret Activities

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report to legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific contents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most astounding and pathetic situation I have ever run up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

Jaquelin J. Daniel of Jacksonville, a board of control member, said he doubts the board will be ready to consider the report Friday because of its length. He said members would not have time to study it before then.

Daniel would not comment on the contents of the report. He added that the "board will take appropriate action."

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep thei. respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Senator Says Let Reds Visit

A Wyoming senator said in Miami Monday that America ought to open its borders to Russian visitors—and pay their way if necessary.

Freshman Democratic Sen. Gale McGee, 43, told a meeting of the Dade County Bar Association at the Columbus Hotel:

"We have nothing to hide. Just get them over here to see, and let the Russians send the toughest ones they have."

McGee admitted that the Soviet government would be able to control who comes to this country, but added:

"They may write the party line when they go back, but they will talk and whisper about what they saw here."

McGee said he also felt that the U.S. and Russia will "neutralize each other" because of their tremendous productive powers.

But he warned that the U.S. must still meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The U.S. economy is producing at only about 50 per cent of capacity while the rate in the USSR is greater, he said.

He noted that Russia has openly declared an economic war on American industry and that it would be foolhardy for capitalism to ignore this threat.

"Out in our Rocky Mountain area, you don't turn your back on an enemy," said McGee.

Shell Explosion Hurts Soldier

A Homestead National Guardsman was wounded slightly Monday when a mortar shell exploded during firing practice on Redland Rd., west of Florida City.

Specialist third class William Stewart, 21, of Tennessee Rd., was splattered with shell fragments after he accidentally dropped a practice shell.

Stewart was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital where his condition was described as fair.

There are no signals at the crossing, police said. Rodriquez and Engineer Edwin C. Bell hit another car with their train last week, but no charges were filed pending further investigation, Gables Officers William Bennett and Charles Willingham said.

'To Heat Cold War'

Reds Charge U.S. 'Using' 11 Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Chief C. W. Owens said he has been unable to control gambling at some Bal Harbour hotels because of inadequate manpower.

Gerstein told him to call on the state attorney's office when he needed help.

Fred Park, investigator for the State Beverage Department, offered to lend two of his men to short-staffed municipal police departments.

A North Miami official said:

"We know the people (bookies) and where they're operating, but we are unable to get to them."

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley remarked he was making changes in the detective bureau and that police recruits would be used in bookie investigations.

An investigator for the Florida Hotel and Restaurant Commission said some hotel bookmakers had a $50 minimum betting level.

"If a stranger tried to make a bet, the word would go through the hotel before he passed the lobby," he said.

Meanwhile, Miami city commissioners, with the exception of Otis Shiver, appeared unruffled by the flareup in gambling activities.

Shiver earlier called for a police report on Miami gambling.

"What do you want me to do?" asked Commissioner James High. "The matter has been brought to the attention of the city manager and chief of police. They'll take appropriate steps."

Commissioner George DuBreuil said that in his opinion "gambling in the city of Miami is at its lowest ebb; we get an influx of gambling during the racing season."

Declared Commissioner B. E. Hearn:

"Dick Gerstein has a group of investigators. Let him put 'em on it. The city has many responsibilities. We have to enforce traffic regulations and our other ordinances."

Gerstein countered that municipal police are better equipped to handle gambling in their areas since they assign men to each district.

"With only two investigators for gambling, we have had 40 arrests since the season began, including at least 10 for bookmaking," he said.

He directed the municipal police officials to meet with him again in 10 days, and that reports of gambling arrests be forwarded to him during the interim.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

Woman Accused Of Burning Home To Spite Husband

First-degree arson charges were filed Monday against Mrs. Clara White, 50, after she allegedly set fire to her rented frame home to spite her husband.

"She was peeved at her husband T. C. White for going to a friend's funeral service against her wishes," said Metro Fire Lt. Ben Layton whose investigation led to her arrest.

The charge came after a fire destroyed the White home at 9200 SW 8[illegible] night. Investigators found Mrs. White a block away from the scene with all her personal belongings.

Her husband's clothes and belongings were destroyed in the fire. "He was attending the funeral at the time of the fire," said Layton.

The drive for a one-cent increase in Dade County's gasoline tax [illegible]ll be pushed this week.

The State Road Board will stage a "seminar" on its proposals for 1959 legislation during a meeting at the Columbus Hotel Friday.

Among those proposals is a one-cent "permissive" gasoline tax for highways and streets.

If the Legislature adopts the proposal, it would be up to the individual counties to levy the tax. All receipts would be returned to the county where they are collected.

The one-cent tax, which would produce an estimated three million dollars in Dade County, has been mentioned as a possible source of funds for completing the North-South Expressway.

Benson Fights Back At His Policy Critics

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control. Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

National Summary

High pressure pushing across the upper Mississippi Valley, with the advance edge marked by a cold front from the Great Lakes into Oklahoma, spread cold air over the upper midwest. Late morning temperatures hovered at the zero level in parts of Montana and teen readings stretched eastward into Wisconsin.

In contrast to the chill over the northern plains 60 degree temperatures warmed Texas during the late morning with 50 degree readings reaching southern Kansas.

All states from the Rockies westward will remain under a pattern of occasional rain or snow through Tuesday and scattered snows are likely to spread into the northern plains.

Rain in Oregon and Washington should become more showery in character and as cool Pacific air moves into California precipitation will be intermittent with snow in the mountains.

Colder air flowing through the Great Lakes region preceded by snow or flurries is scheduled to reach through New England.

Snow flurries may move back into the Great Lakes region Tuesday and a few showers will dampen the lower Florida peninsula while the bulk of the region east of the Rockies remains dry with variable cloudiness.

Wall Street Tycoon Sells Holdings As SEC Cracks Down on Operations

Hal Roach Jr.
. . . he takes over

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Alexander L. Guterma, Siberian-born president of the Mutuel Broadcasting System, has sold his major corporate holdings to film tycoon Hal Roach Jr. in the wake of federal charges that the vast Guterma financial empire was built on fraud.

Guterma, 43, surrendered Saturday on a Securities and Exchange Commission criminal warrant charging that he failed to file required reports on stock transactions of the F. L. Jacobs Co. with the SEC. He was board chairman and president of the holding company.

Through the Jacobs firm, Guterma controlled MBS, the Hal Roach studios in Hollywood, the Scranton Corp. and many interrelated companies. His rapid rise in big business circles since his arrival in the U.S. from the Philippines in 1950 earned him the title "the mystery man of Wall Street."

SEC experts are on the trail of Guterma's activities involving Panamanian holding companies, [illegible] private factoring companies in various European cities, Las Vegas and Miami Beach hotels, Filipino financial pools, and dozens of American corporations.

(Guterma's Shawano Development Corp. in 1956 acquired United Hotels Corp. which operated the Isle de Capri Hotel in Miami Beach. Guterma resigned as Shawano president in 1957 but is said to still have stock in the firm.)

Guterma's entry in "Who's Who in America" lists Siberia as his birthplace and he is believed to travel on an international passport.

Roach, son of the veteran movie producer, announced that he had bought all Guterma's stock in the Jacobs company for an undisclosed amount. He said he felt it was "vitally necessary to step in and assume control in order to protect not only my interests but those of other stockholders and the company's 6,000 employees.

Guterma was released by District Judge Sidney S. Sugarman in $5,000 bail. The U.S. attorney's office had requested bail of $100,000 on the basis of information that Guterma and an associate, Robert J. Eveleigh, had booked passage on a Pan American flight to Istanbul Sunday and had one million dollars in ready cash for the trip.

Eveleigh, who was released in $2,500 bail as a material witness, was one of the two men found in an apartment with former Brooklyn school teacher Virginia McManus when she was arrested for prostitution 10 days ago in a police raid. Miss McManus was convicted.

Nikita Meets With Gomulka

MOSCOW — (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev held a "cordial and friendly" discussion of Communist Party matters with Polish Communist Party Chief Wlaydslaw Gomulka, Tass reported.

The news agency said First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Mrs. Ekaterina Furtseva, only woman member of the Soviet party Presidium, attended the talks.

Gomulka came to Moscow for the Soviet Communist Party congress, suffered an attack of flu and stayed here to recuperate.

Allowance Upped for Ike's Party

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Government employes going to Acapulco with President Eisenhower this week may not have to dig deep into their own pockets to cover living expenses.

The Budget Bureau, recognizing how expensive the Mexican resort can be at the height of the season, has raised the expense allowance from $9 to $23 a day.

Nine dollars is the standard allowance fixed by the Budget Bureau for U.S. officials who visit Acapulco on government business. The $23 rate will remain in effect only until Sunday.

Thirty persons are expected to be in the presidential party at the swank Pierre Marques Hotel.

Top aides will include the President's brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, who has made several fact-finding trips to Latin America for the White House, and Roy R. Rubottom, U.S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

The standard expense allowance for government workers within the U.S. is $12 a day.

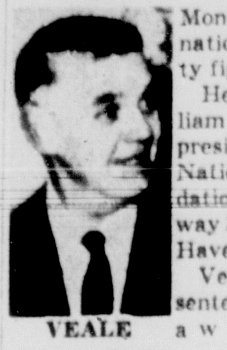
Role of Press in Curbing Highway Slaughter Hailed



VEALE

The power, integrity and effectiveness of the nation's press in curbing slaughter on the highways was hailed here Monday by a national safety figure.

He was William H. Veale, president of the National Foundation for Highway Safety, New Haven, Conn.

Veale presented safety awards to George Beebe, managing editor of The Miami Herald and Staff Writers Joy Reese Shaw and Mike Morgan.

The Herald's 1958 safety campaign was selected as the country's foremost newspaper effort in the organization's first annual press awards program. Second and third place awards went to the Allentown, Pa., Call-Chronicle and The Washington Star.

Veale termed The Herald campaign "an outstanding, almost classical job" in the interest of safety.

"We have a free press . . . and a responsible, concerned press, and thank God for it," Veale declared.

He stressed that while drinking while driving is one of the major problems toward which the organization devotes its efforts, it calls for an increasing program of enlightenment and enforcement in all areas of safety.

Veale made the presentation at a luncheon in McAllister Hotel. He said he will make safety addresses in key cities through the South en route back to New Haven.

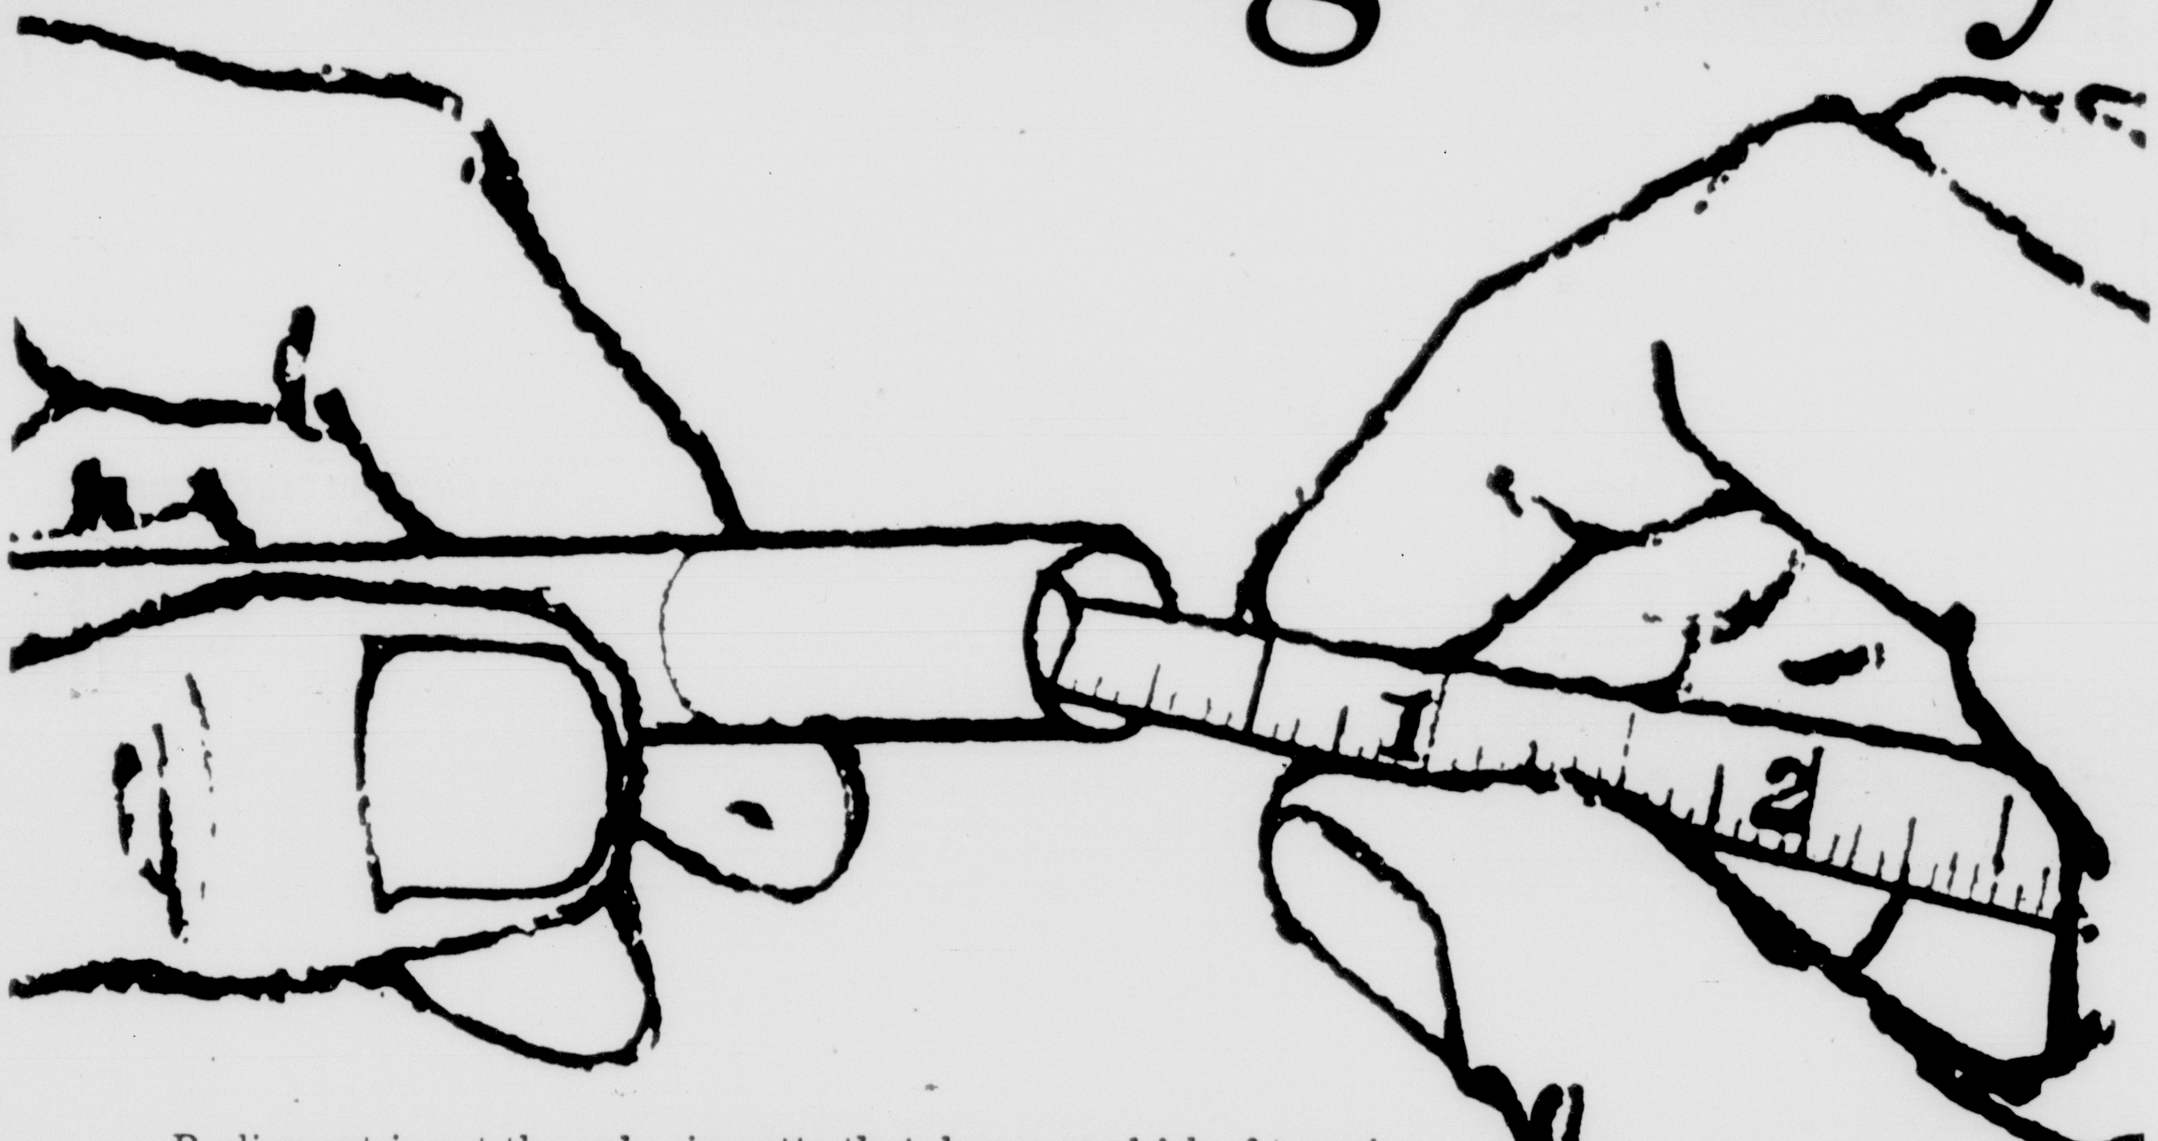
The most important ¼ inch in smoking today



Parliament is not the only cigarette that does a good job of trapping nicotine and tar. But Parliament is the only leading high-filtration cigarette that does not feed back trapped tar and nicotine, because your lips and tongue cannot touch the filter.

Parliament's filter is recessed ¼ inch to prevent this "filter feedback."

Someday all filter cigarettes will probably be made this better way. But today you can get this years-ahead design only from Parliament—the world's most experienced filter people.

Smoke clean — smoke Parliament.

But $5 Million VC137 Will Exceed 600 MPH

Ike's New Jet Won't Be Plush as Columbine

RENTON, Wash. —(AP)— The interior of President Eisenhower's new five-million-dollar jet transport won't be as plush as that of his present plane, Columbine III.

The jet, designated the VC137, is well along on the assembly line at the Boeing Airplane Co. plant here and is scheduled to be delivered to the Military Air Transport Service in April.

The plane is a cousin of the commercial jets now coming into passenger service and will have a speed of 600 miles an hour.

Two other planes of the same type are due to come off the line in May and June. They will be at the disposal of the President, Vice President and other top government officials.

The planes probably will be ready for transcontinental and transoceanic flights in the summer and autumn after months of training flights. The Columbine III will remain in service for shorter missions.

The three identical VC137s will have advanced radio telephone equipment enabling the President and other officials to remain in touch with Washington from any part of the world.

The "President's room" will have comfortable seats for four and two day-bed type lounges. There will be no berths.

Furnishings will be on the plain side. For example, covering on the soundproofed walls will be in the same attractive but not plush pattern and material that has been ordered for the cousin 707 commercial jets.

The planes will cut flying time from Washington to California from the current 8½ hours to about 5 hours. London and Paris will be about six hours away.

Into The Jungles Of Inflation

Tree And The Roots

A JOINT COMMITTEE of Congress has set out through the jungle of economics to explore one of the popular mysteries of our times: Inflation.

The subject is big and menacing. It is a mystery only because there are as many explanations and proposed cures as there are doctors in the houses of Congress.

For instance, already the inquiry has been broadened to embrace "the three objectives of substantial full employment, adequate growth and substantial stability in the price level" — specifically, how to reconcile all three while keeping the wolf from Uncle's door.

Can it be done?

WE NOTE THAT the committee is headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, the college economist turned legislator.

In past sessions Senator Douglas has not been famous for penny-pinching, though in recent months he has shown a blushing concern over budgetary extravagance. He is directing the committee toward consideration of the wage-price spiral, money and credit, monopoly, government spending and debt management and such documentary evidence as "historical and comparative rates of unemployment, production and prices."

This is a very large order. The layman will wonder why it is so and why there are not simpler explanations. After all, he reasons, inflation simply is a matter of the cheapened dollar, and this he tends to blame on the acts of government.

IN REALITY, the inquiry is much broader for the reason that many persons in and out of government are not at all reluctant to play a little footsie with inflation as a means of spurring "economic growth."

They argue that the country has not been growing economically at the desired rate of increase per year — not as fast, it is contended for example, as Russia — because of reluctance to spend more freely.

They conclude that more governmental spending will result in more wealth which will return more taxes which, ultimately, will pay for expansion and balance the budget. This often is keyed to the supposedly rhetorical question: "Can we afford not to meet our national needs?"

INVESTIGATIONS of this sort have a way of reaching conclusions that pretty well carpet the handiest political platform. Even so, they need not be condemned out of hand. Concern for inflation can only be developed nationwide if the public comes to understand what makes the economy tick.

However, we would recommend to the committee solemn contemplation of the fact that the federal budget has been rocked out of balance for 23 out of the last 28 fiscal years and that the dollar is cheaper by half than it was when deficit spending began. Even more seriously, the American dollar is in danger of losing its general reputation as "hard" currency and in fact has lost it in some areas of the world.

Congress can investigate and it can educate, but in its own orbit of influence it can best of all operate to restore balance and sanity to fiscal affairs. In short, it can assure a basically sound dollar by not spending more than is coming in.

This, we think, should rank highest in the scale of national "needs" even though it flies in the face of the happy theory that the tree will just go on growing when the roots rot away.

Toward Better Understanding

BROTHERHOOD WEEK was inaugurated last night by the gathering of citizens to honor those who had made important contributions to better understanding. The awards went to Gov. LeRoy Collins, who was prevented from attending at the last moment; to C. Clyde Atkins and Mrs. Anna Brenner Meyers. The three were well chosen. All have shown courageous leadership.

Sometimes the idea of brotherhood seems trite in a world which is constantly concerned with war and in a nation which considers racial tension one of its most serious problems. But it is perhaps the only ultimate solution. When persons understand one another, threats tend to dissipate and tensions resolve. Anything to speed this process is worthwhile.

Some Bonuses Under Metro

WE HAVE A COUPLE of suggestions for the Recreation Division of Metropolitan Government.

One involves the plan to extend Krome Ave. northward from the Tamiami Trail to U.S. 27. To build the roadbed through that swampy area, rock will be needed. It will be got by scooping from a borrow ditch alongside the highway site. The result will be a canal 12 miles long which could be a fine spot for fresh-water fishing.

Suggestion: Make sure this new road is built with safe space for fishermen along the canal bank, places for parking and perhaps ramps for launching small boats.

If done now, this should save money and create a splendid addition to Dade County's outdoor recreational assets.

●

THE KROME AVE. extension is still in the blueprint stage. Already in existence are two swimming pools, playing fields and other facilities for sports at the former Naval Air Station in Opa-locka. Uncle Sam is being asked to deed this big field to Dade County for aviation use under the Port Authority.

Suggestion: When the air base in Opa-locka is turned over to the Port Authority, its recreation area can be a ready-made unit of the countywide park system planned by Metro.

Perhaps Metro officials are alert to these and similar possibilities. We hope so. That's the sort of thing people had in mind when they voted repeatedly for Metro. What they wanted, we believe, was a local government in which the right hand knows what the left hand is doing, with both working together instead of at cross-purposes.

Recreational bonuses ought to be just one of the byproducts of coordination under Metro.

Leaving Only 'An Eye For An Eye'

THE DEBATE is growing over Gov. LeRoy Collins' suggestion that the Florida Legislature abolish capital punishment. It is man's supreme penalty for the wrongdoer. Though once so common it was inflicted on hungry children for stealing bread, it is now reserved for the most heinous crimes and in Florida is applicable only for first degree murder and rape. Eight states now forbid it altogether.

Governor Collins is wise in recommending abolition, and the time is well chosen. Usually such questions arise in the heat of passion, when some particularly noteworthy condemned man awaits his fate. The moral question is obscured by the desire for revenge or by sympathy. Neither should figure in such a debate.

The controlling factor is public sentiment and this has been expressed in the increasing reluctance of juries to return the sentence of death. Since penologists and sociologists are pretty well agreed that the threat of execution does not deter the killer and the rapist, the old Mosaic law is the only reason left.

Stamp Out The Courthouses?

IF he keeps on, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut may earn some sort of title as the champion at taking bulls by the horns.

His first encounter was traffic offenses, and he wrestled that one to the ground. Ribicoff "got tough" with law-breaking motorists. His program reduced accidents and proved popular.

Now he's tackling county government in his state. His administration is sponsoring a bill to abolish the eight counties in Connecticut, where counties don't have constitutional standing.

Each county is governed by three part-time commissioners appointed by the Connecticut Legislature. Ribicoff's bill would abolish these 24 posts and the jobs of the eight county treasurers. The eight sheriffs would be stripped of the duty of running jails, which would be taken over by the state along with other county buildings and employes.

●

THESE 40 officials are a smaller fraction of Connecticut's two million people than Florida's 600-odd county officers in relation to this state's population of more than four million.

The situation is different in other ways, too. Connecticut is less than one-tenth the size of Florida and is heavily urbanized.

Still, Ribicoff's plan is likely to start some bucking, kicking and snorting.

It bears a distant resemblance to someone's idea for merging groups of small Florida counties into large counties, allotting to the enlarged unit all the pari-mutuel money now divided among its several counties. Thus enriched, a single county could provide better schools, roads and other improvements for its sparsely populated territory.

Of course, that's just a rosy dream. Even if lawmakers were willing to wipe out the jobs of their courthouse friends, they might hesitate to abolish their own — and in Florida, each of the 67 counties has at least one legislator.

Logic, reason and long-range planning based on population changes seldom prevail in such matters, whether in Florida or Connecticut. Up there, Ribicoff's latest gesture may or may not have something to do with the fact that his party — (he's a Democrat) — controls the Connecticut Legislature for the first time since 1876.

The Young Idea Still Has Zip

SOME Boston professors who held a symposium on health and energy in the jet age took a pretty doleful view of the hardihood of the typical American.

The average Joe, they said, is "afflicted by the disease of plenty," which in less polite language means he is fat and lazy.

His abiding tendency to sit down, said these pundits, "has become a frightening catastrophe, both individual and national."

"To say that we are a nation of softies is a generalization but not an exaggeration," said one professor. "Too many young people cannot meet the exigencies of daily life — the flat tire, the stuck window, the hike over two miles."

We are afraid the professors were too pessimistic. Maybe some of the older generation are slowing down, despite the abundance of energy pills. But young people still have the old zip. The professors should watch a group of teen-agers trying to get Elvis Presley's autograph.

Let Sooners Rebuild Bowl?

Editor The Herald: Strange reports, those coming for six weeks about some of the officials of University of Oklahoma.

Their team won the Orange Bowl game but was skunked in good will by mannerly Syracuse.

Reports state that Oklahoma complains of high prices here. Yet they apparently insist that their football squad has the right to void the value of many $6 seats in their host bowl. Their players accomplish this by doing their best blocking (of spectators' view) — on the sidelines.

Maybe Oklahoma will insist on redesigning our bowl. They probably would eliminate front and low-row seats on their side and place 75 easy chairs along their sideline for their squad.

One Language Idea Not New

Editor The Herald: It is gratifying that interest in an international language is growing, as shown by the letters of James Sears and Lillian Hawke.

A number of such languages (more than 300) have been devised. Possibly the best known is Esperanto, invented by a Dr. Ludwig Zamenhof in 1889 in Poland. It has been taught in schools in Europe, Japan and Brazil, and up to the last war was taking hold.

Dr. Zamenhof was inspired to create Esperanto, which literally means "the language of him who hopes," through his deep interest in the brotherhood of man.

This interest was stimulated by the Baha'i World Faith, with which his daughter Lydia became associated. The faith has among its basic principles: the Oneness of Mankind and an auxiliary international language.

Why don't judges be good boys, pay their fines and keep their mouths shut? Outside of the court room a judge is no better than us peasants.

Hypnosis Good, Also Dangerous

Editor The Herald: The article in Sunday's Herald concerning statements made by two members of the American Institute of Hypnosis was quite interesting. It was another step towards removing the "stage stunt" aroma from the science of hypnosis.

A word of caution should be added, however.

Hypnotism is not difficult to learn, but in the hands of an amateur can be extremely dangerous.

Regarding the curing of bedwetting, smoking, thumbsucking, hypnotism will quite certainly work. But, a doctor or psychiatrist would find out the reason for these habits before ridding the patient of them. Frequently, a "bad habit" is an emotional outlet which, if plugged up, breaks out in worse form.

Miami, as most large cities, has its share of nuts in the spiritual fruitcake. Some of these advocate the use of hypnotism as a cure-all. It is not. Neither is it a parlor game. The science of hypnosis is a useful tool in the hands of a doctor. In the hands of an amateur, it can become a deadly weapon.

Editor The Herald: Apparently Jim Bishop has tried to poke fun at Cuban Obispo Alfredo Muller for his quaint English. I would like to ask if Bishop could do as well or better in handling the Spanish language? My observations over the years say no.

Most Americans even with a flock of college degrees are unable to handle their own language, much less a foreign tongue. There is nothing more ridiculous and comic than an American speaking Spanish, even those who presumably do it well. The best description of the sounds emitted is something like a person whose teeth, tongue and lips have loosened and fallen in his mouth, rolling around in there trying to beat the sounds to the exit.

Let's Put Fun Back In Sport

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A FEW WEEKS after I wrote my recent column on professional sports, there arrived on my desk a copy of John R. Tunis' new book, "The American Way in Sports."

Harris

Tunis, as all sports-lovers know, has been one of the leading writers on the subject for 40 years. He has written nearly 20 novels, and innumerable articles, on all aspects of athletics.

In this book, which is his summing-up of the current sports scene, Tunis more than bears out what I suggested in my little essay — that modern, commercialized, mass-produced sports are a gross perversion of their original ends.

He repeats, more vividly and with more firsthand knowledge than I possess, my assertions that sports have become nothing but big business, that showmanship has replaced sportsmanship, and that even interscholastic athletics have "gradually developed into a first-class training ground for a jungle society."

Our national values have become so lopsided that last year, for instance, Americans spent about $40 billion on recreation, and only $14 billion on education.

* * *

READING this book, no one can doubt Tunis' dedication and devotion to the idea of sports. It is because of this devotion that he deplores our turning it into a gigantic business in which profit and power are the only goals.

Even so-called "amateur" sports have been corrupted by this attitude. Tunis quotes the successful football coach at North Carolina University, who said: "I don't think winning is the most important thing. I think it's the only thing."

A widespread attitude of this kind on the part of athletic directors and alumni prompts Tunis to suggest that we should "give up our amateur athletics, so-called" and to recommend "the divorce of education and recreation."

* * *

WHAT HE would like to see, as I would, is not the abolition of sports but their restoration to a proper place in man's life. They must be fun, and not business; they must be more concerned with means (sportsmanship, comradeship, decency) than with ends (winning games and attracting big audiences); and they must encourage the greater participation by ordinary citizens, not a narrowing circle of professionals who are watched by millions, stuffing themselves in front of TV sets.

Grammar Business Stirs Up Purists

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

I DON'T THINK I'll do it again, although for the life of me I don't see what harm I did. Nor do I think that the matter is serious, if in fact it is an error at all.

The other day, while joining forces with a getting-nowhere movement to rid the language of "whom" and all its confoundings, I wrote "grammatical errors."

It must have done the income-seeking heart of Arthur Summerfield, the postmaster general, good because of the flood of 4-cent stamped mail it brought to my desk.

Pennekamp

It seems that "grammatical errors" among the purists just can't be.

Thus wrote one:

"Please note the adjective grammatical to modify errors.

"This is a misusage of language since obviously there can be no grammatical error. If it's an error, it's certainly not grammatical.

"Therefore you made a very common ungrammatical slip."

And another:

"Error in grammar is the one correct way.

"Maybe things have changed since my young days. But like the much abused 'over' when 'more than' is correct, I stick to errors in grammar."

* * *

MY ERROR in grammar opened many other channels.

The mail quickly revealed that there is a group of readers who gumshoe, after a fashion, for errors in newspapers.

Clippings from newspapers in other parts of the country were attached to corrective notes.

For instance, one columnist, writing on how changes are made in dictionaries, began. "It developes that —"

"He does not spell develops correctly," was the comment.

"Pat Boone," wrote another, "is one of the few young men in the public eye who is respected —"

And the reader points out it should be "who are respected."

* * *

THEN THERE was the headline: "Ex-Governor of Georgia's Brother Dies In Store Fire."

That reader wanted it "Brother of Ex-Governor of Georgia, etc."

In New York somebody wrote that Rip Van Winkle "laid down for a cat nap," and the reader wants that corrected to "lay."

When Actress Sarah Churchill was near where a piece of scenery fell, the UPI said it was "an 18-feet high" unit.

"Foot" said that reader in a one-word correction.

Also terse: "Until the reporters and headline writers learn that such words as strata, data and bacteria are plurals, not singulars, you shouldn't worry about the proper use of who and whom."

* * *

I KNEW ONE of the responding readers, and I knew that he recently had a cold. I called him up.

"How's your cold?" I asked.

"Better," he said.

"If your cold's better, you're worse, aren't you?" I asked, explaining that a cold being what it is must get worse if it is to consider itself better.

There was a resounding sneeze that gave emphasis to the sharp click a moment later as he returned the receiver to the hook.

Vast Research Imperative

We Know More About Moon Than The Ocean

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The distant mysteries of outer space are more compelling than the nearby mysteries of under-ocean. The result is that vast knowledge and vast benefits are being neglected by the snail-pace slowness of marine exploration in a Sputnik age.

Drummond

At last the nation's great oceanographers are appealing to the public and to government to do something fairly big about it — before our preoccupation with outer space at the neglect of plumbing the seas around us puts the United States at a grievous disadvantage scientifically, economically, and militarily.

The oceanographers are not saying: stop reaching for the moon. They are simply saying: quit neglecting the ocean, for the ocean is man's best friend. It has long provided transportation, food and protection from attack. But our knowledge of ocean value and use is meager compared with what the scientists are convinced it can be made to do for man.

Already we know more about the surface of the moon than we do about the floor of the ocean.

* * *

THE CENTRAL recommendation of the committee on Oceanography of the National Academy of Sciences, headed by Dr. Harrison Brown, professor of geochemistry at the California Institute of Technology, is that the government so expand its support of the marine sciences as to double the amount of basic research activity during the next 10 years.

This would cost about $65 million a year from 1960 to 1970. Much of it would be devoted to the construction of 70 new ships for research and survey which are as vital to marine science as the cyclotron to nuclear science.

The oceanographers already know that on the floor of the ocean, which covers two-thirds of the earth's surface, are trenches which are as much as seven miles deep; there are flat-topped under-sea mountains which approach Mt. Everest in height; and there are plains as flat as a calm sea — all different from anything on the surface of the moon or on the land surfaces of the earth.

Only in the last few years have they discovered four great subsurface ocean currents — rivers in the depths of the sea a thousand times greater in flow than the Mississippi. Other such currents are suspected to exist, but the scientists need to learn where the waters come from and where they go.

The oceanographers say that:

—WITH more study man can harvest economically considerably more food from the seas.

—WITH more research on the interchange of matter and energy between sea and air, not only can weather be more scientifically forecast but the "possibility of control" can be brought within reach.

—FROM the viewpoint of military operations there is no comparison between the urgencies of the problem of the oceans and those of outer space. Because the submarine, armed with ICBMs, is both a great deterrent and a great threat, "we are relentlessly being driven into the oceans."

* * *

ON THE problems of military operations the oceanographers make this arresting appraisal:

"We will not be able to navigate under the oceans with adequate precision until our knowledge is greatly expanded.

"We will not be able to detect submerged submarines efficiently unless we learn far more about the ocean depths than we now know.

"We will not be in a position to negotiate an adequate international submarine control and monitoring system until we have the ability to make the oceans transparent so that we can track all submarines in the oceans, both our own and all others."

President Eisenhower has often argued in Lincoln's phrase that government should do those things which private individuals cannot well do by themselves. It is clear that this kind of research on the scale needed can only be done by substantial government assistance.

Railroads' Future Faces 1959 Crises

What's ahead for the railroads? What can be done about sagging revenues, labor problems and the archaic regulations that govern them? Is nationalization inevitable? This is the first of a series of six articles presenting the answers as seen by rail executives, transportation experts and labor leaders in Chicago and other cities.

By PAUL GAPP
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — The nation's railroads, which in 1958 wheezed through one of their leanest years in recent history, face a crucial new test in 1959.

The issue: wages.

Date of showdown: Nov. 1, when a three-year wage moratorium signed by the railroad brotherhoods will expire.

What the unions ask for — and what they get — will help shape the future of an industry that has been declining for years.

"The outcome could be quite dramatic," said Clair M. Roddewig, president of the Association of Western Railways.

"As I see it, management will make some very far-reaching proposals in the area of make-work rules," said Roddewig.

"The benefits would be just as dramatic for employes, railroad users and management," he said.

* * *

IF LABOR LIMITS its wage demands to cost-of-living increases and meeting the wage scales of other industries, there will be no problem," said Roddewig.

But if it insists on work practices that management labels "featherbedding," one of the biggest displays of railroad fireworks in history may be touched off.

The railroads of the United States are in trouble. Freight car loadings declined last year. Passenger business is drying up. Commuter line losses have reached a critical point.

In Chicago, rail center of the nation, there is grim talk of nationalization.

* * *

WHAT HAPPENED since the 1920s, when the iron horse was transportation king?

Illinois has long been home for more railroaders than any other state.

Yet railroad employment in the state dropped from a 158,600 average in the '20s to 79,200 in 1958.

Nationally, employment has plummeted from 1,663,895 to 831,117 during the same period.

Of 152,000 railroaders collecting unemployment insurance benefits last December, 21,400 were in the Chicago region embracing Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Railroads carried 71 per cent of the nation's commercial passenger traffic in 1929. Today, they handle only about a third of it.

The commutation situation has become so bad that 14 railroad presidents and nine big city mayors recently held an unprecedented meeting in Chicago to explore the problem.

Chief result of the meeting: a sharpening of the conflict between eastern roads which favor subsidies, and western roads, which oppose them.

* * *

FREIGHT REVENUE, which keeps the railroads in business, is the chief bright spot in an otherwise gloomy picture.

Railroad ton-miles (one ton carried one mile) have increased as the nation's economy has expanded. The ton mileage grew from 309 billion in 1921 to 621 billion in 1957.

But even in freight hauling a recent slump has been felt.

Ton mileage totaled only 550 billion last year, according to an estimate by the Association of American Railroads. This was a drop of 11 per cent below 1957.

AAR President Daniel P. Loomis termed 1958 one of the worst railroad years since the depressed 1930s.

Net income was 590 million dollars, about 20 per cent below 1957. Rate of return on the net investment was 2.7 per cent, compared with a post war average of 3.7 per cent.

* * *

PASSENGER TRAVEL continued to sag. It was down 2.6 billion passenger miles from 1957.

Hard pressed for cash, the railroads last year reduced spending on improvements to about 740 million dollars, compared with 1.3 billion dollars in 1957.

A Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Smathers (D., Fla.) took a long, hard look at the railroads last year and blamed their decline on:

—INTENSE COMPETITION by private autos, airplanes, truck and barges, which enjoy federal subsidization in the form of highways, airports and toll-free waterways.

—OVERREGULATION by the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory bodies, which follow ancient outdated laws and procedures.

—A FAILURE on the part of railroad management to keep pace with the times by modernizing equipment and making changes in plant and financial structures.

To this list, every railroad president would add "featherbedding."

Labor's insistence on outmoded wage bases, unnecessary train crew members and a variety of "make-work" practices imposes a crushing burden on the railroads, say the presidents.

Secret Hate Group Enjoys No Secrecy of Operations

By DREW PEARSON

PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital, in fact only a stone's throw from the Lincoln Memorial where the Great Emancipator is shown in thoughtful meditation, are the headquarters of one of the most virulent and vitriolic hate-nests in the U.S.A.

It has had contact with those investigated in connection with the bombing of the Atlanta synagogue, draws money from Arab sources, and even sends word of its activities to Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

On Feb. 6 a registered letter was mailed to Nasser from George Lincoln Rockwell, the Arlington, Va., hate-monger who is circulating thousands of copies of petitions calling for the impeachment of Governor Almond.

Simultaneously, Rockwell's picture appeared on the front page of Nasser's newspaper El Aharan, though in denial of reports that Nasser had anything to do with the American hate-nest.

The group, which recently has assumed the name of "The Virginia Committee to Impeach Governor Almond," gives its mailing headquarters as P. O. Box 1352 in Arlington.

The box was rented Feb. 3 by Floyd Fleming, grizzled old hate agitator and sidekick of rabble rouser John Kasper.

The Seaboard White Citizens Council was built around them. Two of Fleming's henchmen, Eugene Colton and H. Cary Hansel, also signed the rental papers for the box.

* * *

THE GROUP OPERATES largely from Rockwell's home at 6512 Williamsburg Blvd. Rockwell is the son of the prewar radio comedian and rocking chair philosopher "Old Doc" Rockwell whose squeaky voice was once familiar to millions of listeners.

The younger Rockwell, whose philosophy has taken a bizarre twist from the horse sense preached by his famous father, stayed as a house guest last May in the home of Mrs. Helen Lane, member of the Arlington school board.

His baggage included a printing press on which he printed hate propaganda in Mrs. Lane's basement.

* * *

ROCKWELL'S LETTERS to Wallace Allen, a crippled printing salesman, were picked up by Atlanta police during their investigation of the synagogue bombing.

Allen was identified by police as one of the five men who attended a strategy session at which the dynamiting was discussed.

Rockwell ended some letters to Allen with the Nazi phrase, "sieg heil."

One of his letters referred cryptically to a "big blast," but Rockwell insisted to the FBI that he meant a planned picketing and knew nothing of the subsequent bombing.

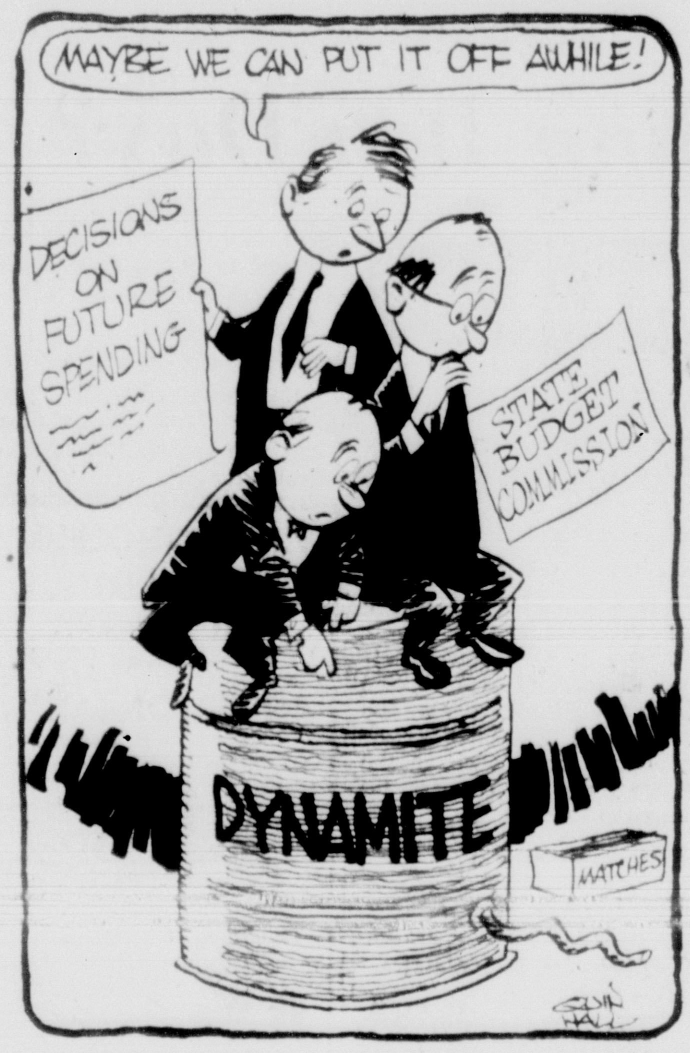
One letter also spoke of a "fatcat financier" who turned out to be Harold Noel Arrowsmith Jr., son of the late Canon of Baltimore's Episcopal cathedral.

Arrowsmith took offense at the "fatcat" reference, apparently thinking Rockwell was ridiculing his physical plumpness.

Rockwell boasted to associates that "Ike the Kike" signs, used in picketing the White House, are now in Cairo.

What apparently happened, however, is that snapshots of the picketing were forwarded to Cairo. Rockwell also told associates that Arrowsmith had contacts in the "Arab secret service."

It appears to be true that Arrowsmith was in touch with Salem Bader, who runs what he calls the Arab-Asian Institute.



Feel Spokesman Needed Soon

British Await Dulles Successor

By DREW MIDDLETON
The New York Times Service

LONDON — Behind expressions of regret over Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness, there is earnest hope among British leaders that President Eisenhower will quickly appoint a successor, and any gap in the direction of U.S. foreign affairs will be avoided.

The regret is sincere.

Middleton

Although Dulles continued to be a whipping boy for cartoonists and editorial writers almost until the day he entered Walter Reed Hospital, members of the cabinet and senior officials of the foreign office have come to respect the industry and intelligence which the secretary of state brought to his role.

This is itself was a triumph for Dulles. In the two years since Britain and the U.S. found themselves bitterly opposed over the Suez adventure, the American statesman by his cooperation and understanding established himself as the most reliable and perceptive of Britain's allies.

Shortly before the North Atlantic Council meeting in Paris last December when first reports of the secretary of state's illness had crossed the Atlantic, an American correspondent encountered Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd at dinner.

"Foster is coming, isn't he?" Lloyd asked. "This is going to be a difficult business in Paris. It's essential to the West that he be there."

The position Dulles achieved and the British attitude now toward the conduct of U.S. foreign policy reveal a good deal about the position of the U.S. and its secretary of state in the world of today.

This is particularly true of the urgency that the British attach to the appointment of a new secretary of state.

They will regret the passing of Dulles. But in their view there must be an active, recognized head of the State Department. There may be abler men in western governments than a new secretary of state. There are certain to be men of greater experience at the summit of international affairs.

But the U.S., as the most powerful of the western partners, must have a spokesman especially in a period in which, as the British see it, the allies are to carry on protracted negotiations with the Soviet Union against the background of change in the political climate of Europe and, perhaps, in the structure of governments.

The British recognize some shifts in attitude toward U.S. leadership here and on the continent. Partly this is caused by technical progress made by the Soviet Union in the field of long-range rockets. Partly it springs from recognition of American reliance, for some time to come, on rocket bases in allied nations.

Woodrow Wyatt, former labor member of Parliament, claimed in a newspaper article that the only guided missiles in the West capable of reaching the Soviet Union are 10 Thor missiles from the U.S. installed on Royal Air Force bases in Britain.

Since the "missile defense of America rests upon Britain," according to Wyatt, he suggested the government demand "a great deal more say in the determination of western foreign policy."

Eisenhower Can't Change His Team of State

By JAMES RESTON
The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — For various reasons, President Eisenhower apparently prefers to leave the direction of the State Department to Acting Secretary Christian Herter and Undersecretary Douglas Dillon during Secretary of State Dulles' illness.

RESTON

First, the President has himself survived a heart attack, a stroke and an attack of ileitis, and therefore has reason, even beyond considerations of affection and respect, to believe that Dulles will eventually resume his full responsibilities.

Second, it is late in the second term to break in a new team. The best estimate here is that it would take an outsider three to six months to master all the intricacies of the German, disarmament, atomic testing and "surprise attack" questions, now under negotiation with the Soviet Union.

Third, Herter and Dillon do know the background of these questions, and are accustomed to working with the top foreign service officers of the department: Robert Murphy, Loy Henderson, Livingston Merchant, and Frederick Reinhardt.

Accordingly, the considerate human thing to do and what seems to be the practical thing to do coincide.

* * *

BESIDES, EISENHOWER usually follows the military procedure of elevating the colonel to be general.

This is what he did when he replaced Sherman Adams in the White House—appointed Adams' deputy, Gen. Wilton B. Persons—and even when he went outside to get a new secretary of commerce to replace Sinclair Weeks, he chose a familiar figure who had worked with him for years before: former Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss.

* * *

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that Secretary Dulles offered to resign when President Eisenhower visited him at Walter Reed Hospital but the President refused to consider it.

Even if the original diagnosis of cancer is verified by other specialists, the plan at the moment is to continue with the present team and hope that the secretary of state will be able to make a continuing contribution even during his convalescence.

Eisenhower indicated what this might be in his news conference last Tuesday:

"I think," he said, "that Mr. Dulles is very hopeful that after he has the operation over, that he will get more time to do a little thinking at leisure about some of our European problems than he does normally here, badgered as he is by all kinds of requests for statements and speeches, and going abroad, and all the chores of the day . . ."

* * *

THIS RECALLS an interesting incident. On the December morning of 1952 when Dulles' appointment as secretary of state was made public, this reporter had breakfast with him in his house in New York.

When he was congratulated, he said that the press had always accused him of "running" for the office of secretary of state and added:

"Actually, I have my doubts about whether one can formulate foreign policy as effectively in the State Department as in the White House."

"It's the President who is charged with the conduct of the nation's foreign policy. He can take his advice from the secretary of state or from an adviser in the White House, or from anybody he likes.

"This is what Wilson did with Colonel House and Roosevelt did with Harry Hopkins. There is something to be said for being free of departmental responsibilities so that one can be free to think and concentrate on advising the President."

Inflation Definite Threat

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

SOKOLSKY

MONEY IS something everybody wants but few bother to worry about how money works.

As long as they have some, can go to the store and get something for it, they figure everything about money is satisfactory.

The worker is told by his labor leader that if the money does not bring home the bacon, the thing to do is to strike for more pay. But he is beginning to discover now that every time he strikes for more pay, it costs more to get what money buys.

C. Canby Balderston, vice chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve system, once put all this in a very effective way. He said:

". . . In England it is understood by the majority of citizens that British firms must remain competitive if they are to export, and that unless they do export, Britishers will not eat or, at least, not eat well.

"In Germany the run-away inflation of the 1920's, with its destruction of savings and of individual liberties, was impressed upon the German consciousness so deeply that the guarding of the monetary unit is now a cardinal principle of the German government.

"Were the mark to be endangered, the German people would be heard from, and effectively.

"In our own country, however, it is a long time since citizens suffered from wild inflation, and their subconscious thinking does not react to the phrase 'not worth a Continental' in terms of human suffering.

* * *

"IN THE U.S. it is the unemployment of the 1930's that has impressed the national thinking even to this day.

"This means that our own country must learn from the experience of others that inflation and unemployment are both threats and that flirtation with the first does not avoid the second . . ."

Peace Radiated By Churchgoers

By FRED SPARKS

SPARKS

IF YOU ARE NOT actively affiliated with a religion I urge you to stand outside a church before Sunday services and watch the worshippers arrive.

They have a well groomed freshness about them, they radiate a sense of well being, peace. Just seeing them go in will make you feel real good.

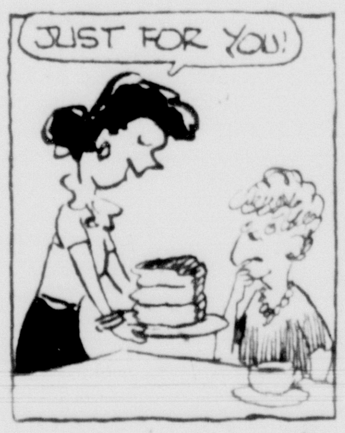
Then, when the hymns drift through the shut doors, you'll feel terribly lonesome, an outsider.

To me, dousing a cigarette in a wet coffee cup is as wretched as stomping it out on a rug.

I love to see two attractive young people kiss in public. Anyone who thinks it is in bad taste is frustrated, bitter.

Why don't more people have breakfast in bed? I do — and I cook it myself. I've bought a hospital type bed tray, rolls on a trolley, and a stand to hold the paper while I have toast and coffee. Only way to start the day.

The person who jumps out of bed into a cold shower is a barbarian. So is the man who starts to deep knee-bend before he's washed his face.



JUST FOR YOU!

Anyone who starts a conversation with the weather is an intellectual bankrupt. Equally vacant is the creature who says: "Say, you've lost weight." Or "You're getting fat." Silence is better than such dreary, dumb waggings.

And please hang up on the next person who phones and says: "Guess who?"

Is there anything more delightful than a cat cleaning herself?

* * *

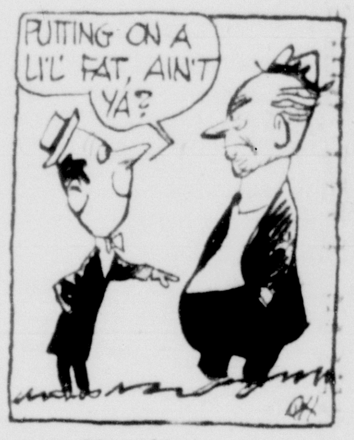
EVERYTIME I PASS a policeman I feel like going up to him and saying: "Thank you." Of course, there are some weak apples.

But in the New York area alone five have been shot by criminals since the New Year.

Too many citizens look down on the police, take them for granted, like doormen. And I strongly object to the word "cop!"

If "Gigi" isn't the most pleasant movie made in this decade — as refreshing as eau de cologne — then Paris isn't beautiful, Paris is a slum.

A genuine sadist is the hostess who sets before you a dreamy chocolate souffle or ice-cream cake after you told her you were on a rigid diet.



PUTTING ON A LI'L' FAT, AIN'T YA?

Why doesn't a great artist paint a jet streaking vapor trails across a blue sky fluffed with white cotton clouds? It is one of the most inspiring sights in this drab era.

I refuse to pay any attention to mail solicitations from charitable organizations I know nothing about.

People who use paper handkerchiefs in public rate as low in my book as a man who chews on a toothpick.

In a movie recently a woman stood up and slapped the man behind her. Since the feature began he had been crumpling, and crumpling, a cellophane candy bag. The usher asked her to leave.

I followed and shook her hand. Myself, I would not have had the courage.

Alger Hiss and Wife Calling It a Day?

Mr. and Mrs. Hiss . . . during the trials

ALGER HISS and his wife have separated after 29 years of marriage, the New York Post said.

Both declined to comment on the report.

The Post said a member of the law firm representing Hiss admitted having been informed of the split about a week ago. He did not know whether any legal action was planned.

Mrs. Priscilla Hiss was one of her husband's staunchest supporters during the two sensational trials which ended in 1949 with his conviction for perjury.

Hiss, who had been in the State Department, was convicted of lying when he denied turning over documents to ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers, the chief witness against Hiss.

When Hiss left Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary in 1954 after serving 44 months, Mrs. Hiss was waiting at the gate for him.

The Post said that the couple's recent parting was apparently totally unexpected by friends.

Since release from prison Hiss has been administrative assistant to the president of a firm manufacturing combs.

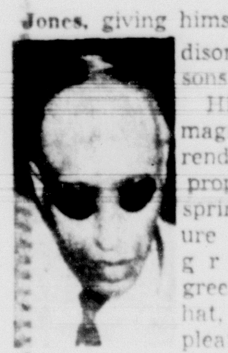
Magnificent Surrender

NEWARK, N.J. — A glittering, blue convertible pulled up outside police headquarters. It was James "(Prophet)" Jones, giving himself up on a disorderly persons charge.



JONES

His was a magnificent surrender. The prophet was a springlike figure in a bright green suit, green Bavarian hat, white pleated shirt, green speckled bow tie and green suede shoes.

Shimmering from a chain around his neck was a 210-carat topaz pendant. Among his numerous rings were a 51-carat topaz and a nutsized amethyst.

Police wanted the Negro revivalist on a complaint from one of his followers, Mrs. Delores Robinson, 31, of Newark. She claimed she called off an operation because the prophet said it would lead to her death.

Jones, who had been sought by police for several days, was released in $1,000 bail on a disorderly persons charge under a state statute against fortune telling, palmistry "or like crafty sciences." Jones has been conducting a Newark revival.

He's Old Enough But Not Ready

PRIME MINISTER Harold Macmillan, 65 last Thursday, has given official notice he does not plan to retire just yet. He has turned down his old-age pensions of 50 shillings ($7) a week.

Macmillan

Sixty - five is the age when Britons qualify for old-age pensions if they retire from work. And just like any other citizen of the welfare state, Macmillan got a routine form letter from the ministry of pensions and national insurance.

Macmillan completed the form, making clear he had no intention of giving up work just yet.

A ministry official said, however, Macmillan will qualify for a pension of 65 shillings ($9.10) a week when he is 70 — whether he is working or not.

Mrs. Roosevelt Pitches on TV

FILMED COMMERCIALS in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt endorses a brand of oleomargarine began on some New York network programs Monday.

MRS. FDR

In the opening portion of the commercials Mrs. Roosevelt discusses the plight of underfed persons in foreign countries.

The opportunity to call attention to the food situation in other lands was reported to have been a major factor in Mrs. Roosevelt's acceptance of an offer by the Lever Brothers Co. to advertise its margarine.

What Mrs. Roosevelt will receive for the commercials has not been disclosed.

Chef Has Diet For Longevity

ON HIS BIRTHDAY, retired chef Wilberto di Biase, of Covina, Calif., offered this advice for healthy eating:

"In every 24 hours make sure you eat one vegetable that grows underground and one on top of the ground. Top this with good fruit. Don't mix different meats in one meal."

Di Biase, who has followed his own instructions, was celebrating his 103rd birthday.

He was head chef at the Palace Hotel for 36 years. He reitred in 1914.

Chicken Pox Unseats Queen

THE OLD FORGE, N.Y., Winter Carnival was a big flop for the girl named to reign as a queen.

Miss Adele Robeson, 20, of Penn Yan woke up looking forward to the festival, until she discovered she had chicken pox.

She stayed in bed at a hotel in this resort village while Mrs. Art Tokle, whose husband was crowned king, substituted for her.

Germans Hold 'British Spies'

BERLIN — (UPI) — East German secret police have arrested two alleged British-paid spies, the East German Communist newspaper Freiheit said.

The paper said engineers Joachim Leuchter and Herbert Koswig received their orders "from the main agent of the British secret service," whom they allegedly met in West Berlin in 1957.

Tobacco Statement Challenged

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The Tobacco Institute, Inc., charged Reader's Digest magazine Monday with printing "another one-sided attack on tobacco" in a condensation of an American Medical Association report on lung cancer.

In the article, condensed from a report published simultaneously in the AMA's magazine Today's Health, the Reader's Digest quoted Dr. Alton Ochsner, New Orleans surgeon, as saying that every heavy smoker probably would become afflicted with lung cancer unless some other disease killed him first.

James P. Richards, president of the Tobacco Institute said he thought the public was entitled to know from the magazine's editor's the answer to one question.

"Why," he asked, "did the Reader's Digest omit from its article the statement that accompanies the original article in Today's Health?"

He said the statement was: "The house of delegates of the American Medical Association has taken no definitive action on the possible connection between cancer and smoking. There is still considerable difference of opinion among medical authorities on this controversial subject."

Alfred S. Dashiell, managing editor of The Digest, replied to Richards' query with a statement saying that the house of delegates comments reached the Digest's editor several weeks after the rest of the article was prepared.

The March issue The Digest, in which the article appears, already was on the presses and it was too late to add the statement, he said.

"In fairness, and in the interests of accuracy, we have asked that the American Medical Association statement be included when the article is published in each of The Digest's 28 international editions," Dashiell said.

"The statement, however, does not change the fact that an overwhelming amount of evidence exists to support the belief that cigarette smoking is an important factor in lung cancer. The Tobacco Institute statement, by its reference to 'considerable difference in opinion,' confirms this."

By JIM BISHOP
Herald Columnist

A few weeks ago, Jimmy Hoffa left a meeting in Rahway, N.J., with Harold Gibbons. It was night and it was cold. A little girl stood sniffling and shaking a container. "What's that for?" Hoffa said.

HOFFA

The girl said that a policeman had been shot and that the neighborhood was trying to raise some money for the widow and her children. Hoffa pulled out a roll of bills. He peeled off $100 and folded it so that it would fit in the container.

As they left in the car, Gibbons said: "Who's the hundred from — you or the Teamsters?" Hoffa frowned. "Who cares? The kid said the woman needs the dough." Gibbons, who used to teach school, shook his head sadly. "That isn't the point, Jim. I'm asking who made the donation because it makes a difference. You shouldn't be allowed to carry cash because you don't understand it."

"Okay," the Teamster president said. "It's from me."

Hoffa is hardly a financial wizard. His financial schemes, both sunny and shady, confounded the Senate so much that it was difficult for investigators to know which transactions to probe. They were surprised, at one time, to find that Hoffa was a partner in a money-lending business called P. M. L. Co. They could prove that he lost about $20,000 in it, but no one, including Hoffa, could tell them where he got the money.

He sunk $12,000 into Joll Properties, a girl's camp in Wisconsin. One of his profitable enterprises is betting on the trotters. Hoffa can tell the bow of a horse from the stern at a glance, but his knowledge stops there. His friend and partner, Bert Brennan, grew up with horses. Once a year, Brennan asks Hoffa for $2,000 as horse-betting money.

Mr. H. does not ask what horses, or how much. At the end of the year, Brennan tells him: "We made $15,000," or "We are ahead $10,000." They split the winnings and both men declare the money on their income tax returns.

One can look this situation squarely in the eye and say that nobody, not even an owner of trotters such as Bert Brennan, can win every year. And if he doesn't win, then whose money are they splitting? When Brennan appeared before the Senate, he was asked to explain his sure-fire betting system. He hid behind the Fifth Amendment.

Robert Kennedy, chief counsel for the McClellan committee, is certain that most of Hoffa's loans came from men who didn't have it to lend. Kennedy said that this money, in his opinion, comes from employers who "kicked" it to Hoffa in return for contractual breaks. Hoffa couldn't afford to tell the truth and called them loans.

On another occasion, Hoffa said he put $10,000 into Northwest Oil Co. in cash. Where did he get the money? "I imagine it was out of an accumulation of money which we saved, or had invested, whatever we did with it," said Hoffa.

He lent $2,500 to a man named Eugene James to start a juke box Teamsters local in Detroit. James repaid Hoffa by putting Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Brennan on the payroll and they drew $6,000 in salaries. This amounts to almost 300 per cent interest.

The Detroit Teamsters loaned $75,000 to Marberry Construction Co. The company was owned by Herbert Grosberg, a Teamster accountant, and George Fitzgerald, a Teamster attorney. After the loan was granted, Grosberg lent Hoffa $11,500. Is this wrong? Who knows? The best that can be said is that it doesn't smell right.

The biggest loan the Teamsters made was $1,200,000 to a Minneapolis department store. Who okayed it? Why? For how much? Nobody knows. Michigan Teamster money in the amount of $5,000 was donated to a Hoffa friend running for office in a Philadelphia local. It seems morally incestuous for one local to pick sides in another local's fight, but, in any case, Hoffa's man lost.

Hoffa paid out $30,000 in Teamster money to pay legal fees for four union officials convicted of extortion. He did as much for his friend, Bert Brennan, and three other Teamster officials accused of extorting money from employers. Gerald Connolly was indicted in connection with the dynamiting of other Teamsters. Hoffa publicly scorned Connolly and then okayed payment of $22,428 to defend him.

His friend, Brennan, okayed a loan of $50,000 to Northville Downs racetrack, in Michigan. Hoffa is hardly tight with Teamster money. Sometimes he mentions it to the Teamsters at a meeting. It is an index to their confidence in him that they have never voted against his loans, nor asked him afterward if the money had been returned.

The list of loans, borrowings and investments reads like a mixmaster full of Chinese laundry tickets. Sun Valley is a good example. This is a development tract in Florida. Someone in the Teamsters had an idea that members of the union ought to have a place in the sun after retirement.

Hoffa and Brennan helped a corporation to become organized. It was called Sun Valley Inc. Between them, they had an option to buy 45 per cent of the stock in Sun Valley. This meant that if enough old Teamsters bought the lots, it would be worthwhile for Hoffa and Brennan to exercise their option. If the lots did not sell, they stood to lose nothing.

The Senate refers to his deal as "most dubious" which, in literal translation, means the senators do not understand it either. Henry Lower, a business agent for Local 376 in Detroit, was selected as the front man for Sun Valley.

The land was bought for $18.75 an acre and resold to Teamsters for $150 a lot on up to $575 per lot. Lower ran short of money early in the game and tried to borrow $300,000 from a Florida bank.

The bank said no. Hoffa thereupon transferred $500,000 in Teamster funds from a Detroit bank to a Florida bank and the Florida bank lent Sun Valley $300,000. Meanwhile, Henry Lower remained on the Detroit union payroll, even though he was working on a non-union land deal in Florida, and his salary checks, in time, amounted to $90,000.

Confused? Somewhere along the line, Lower loaned Hoffa $25,000. This was repaid in cash. It goes on and on and on. Several big items tend to show that Hoffa was willing, almost eager, to lend Teamster money to friends providing that the friends were willing, within a week or two, to lend him a few thousand.

It should be conceded that at no time did the Senate committee accuse Hoffa of being a crook. Their investigators searched and probed for long periods of time, but they could not prove that Little Caesar stole a dime. They never accused him of stealing.

On Page 252 of the McClellan committee interim report, the worst they could say of him was: "In addition to his business enterprises, the committee finds that James R. Hoffa grossly misused some $2,400,000 in the funds of Local 299, Joint Council 43, the Michigan Conference of Teamsters and the Central Conference of Teamsters.

"This vast amount of money was dispensed in a wide variety of matters, but the expenses have a common denominator: financial assistance to himself, cronies and friends."

Misuse is not theft. And if he misused the funds, and gave financial assistance to himself, how is it that, in his testimony in 1957, the Senate committee did not challenge his statement that he had to mortgage his home a few years ago to pay his bills? The house cost $6,800.

Bishop Ivan Holt
. . . unite for strength

'Christians Must Heed Pope's Plea'

The life or death of the Christian church may hinge on Pope John XXIII's call for an ecumenical council, in the opinion of one of the Protestant leaders of the ecumenical movement.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, Methodist leader from St. Louis here for a Lenten preaching mission at the South Miami First Methodist Church, figures the Pope's call was prompted by the latest Communist offensives against the Catholic church in China and Poland.

"Indications are that the Communists aim to wipe out the Roman church," said Dr. Holt, who has been a key figure in the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches.

He said the Communists apparently are trying to organize all the Eastern Orthodox churches under the Russian church similar to the organization of the Western Catholic church under Rome.

"Apparently the Pope feels, as man of us do, that the only chance Christianity has to survive in Communist countries is to unite the strength of all the churches," he said.

Bishop Holt disclosed that steps along that line already have been taken in India, where Hinduism — rather than Communism — is the threat to the church.

He reported that the Roman Catholic bishop and his two assistants sat on the platform for a large Methodist evangelistic rally at one place where he was in India.

A world traveler and familiar figure to church leaders around the globe, Bishop Holt will be discussing the relationship of the church to world situations and the church to the individual at the 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily services at the South Miami First Methodist Church.

Christ-Controlled Life Is Called Best

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

The scene was similar to those of Bible days when Jesus taught his disciples on the shores of Galilee.

The event was the first noonday service in the bandshell at Bayfront Park in this week of evangelistic effort by South Florida Baptists.

Tourists with shirts off basked in our warm, winter sunshine; elderly couples relaxed on a park bench to enjoy the gentle breeze off Biscayne Bay; shirt-sleeved businessmen took a brief respite from the pressures of their jobs; and shopping housewives gathered 350 strong as the piano at the bandshell played familiar hymns.

And after a white-robed women's sextet from University Baptist Church sang "The King of My Heart Is Jesus," the worshipers heard the kind of message the disciples of Jesus might have heard long ago.

Speaking was Dr. James Sullivan, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board from Nashville.

He told the story of an Air Force pilot who flew into what appeared to be a cloud but turned out to be an arctic freak of atmosphere which froze the controls of his plane. After his brief radio report, he was never heard of again.

"The failure," Dr. Sullivan emphasized, "was in the controls."

"The most important thing in life," he said, "is our destination and who controls us on the road."

The slight, brown-suited clergymen said that there are three kinds of life. The first he called "prodigal" — the uncontrolled life which is swept up by every passing whim like a leaf beside the highway.

The second, he said, is a higher type — the moralist, a self-controlled life in which the person hopes to make himself into a saint by his own will.

This life, he added, has only a human mind and human hands, and so can accomplish only human things. It was this kind of life that was possessed by the rich young ruler whom Jesus told, "One thing thou lackest."

The third kind of life, according to the balding, bespectacled preacher, is the Christ-controlled life. It is the kind of life prescribed for Christians by Jesus when He said, "For one is your master, even Christ."

"It is not always an easy life," Dr. Sullivan declared, "but in the end it is a crowned life. It is in the hands of God and is rewarded in the end of time."

He concluded by urging his listeners beside the bay to live this kind of life with the help of Christ the Savior and to find out more about it at one of the 75 Baptist churches of the area holding nightly revival services this week as the start of the most extensive evangelistic campaign in history which is scheduled to sweep the entire contingent in the next three months.

Dr. Sullivan will be preaching for the 7:30 p.m. services at University Baptist Church in Coral Gables.

FCC Advised to Ignore Smathers TV 10 Letter

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Federal Communications Commission was advised Monday not to consider a letter from Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.) denying any attempt to influence improperly the award of Miami's TV Channel 10 in 1957.

The commission made public the advice submitted by Associate General Counsel Edgar W. Holtz along with the Smathers letter, dated Jan. 20, 1959.

The Florida senator wrote the commission to describe as "a palpable error" a finding by Judge Horace Stern (special hearing examiner), that he, Smathers, had contacted Commissioner Richard A. Mack on behalf of WKAT Inc., one of four applicants for the channel.

Denying any improper conduct, Smathers said:

> "This erroneous conclusion with respect to my conduct is unjustified, and is not supported by the record nor the evidence."

Smathers previously told a House investigating committee he once called on Mack in late 1956, and expressed a hope the Channel 10 case could be decided promptly. His interest, he said, arose from the fact that he had become executor of the estate of the late L.B. Wilson of Cincinnati, whose company, L. B. Wilson Inc., was making a bid for Channel 10 at Miami. Smathers said he was concerned that a delay on a decision would delay settling the estate.

The file made public by the commission Monday disclosed that Public Service Television Inc., National Airlines subsidiary, which originally was awarded the channel, had entered a vigorous objection to the commission putting the Smathers Jan. 20 letter into the evidence.

Public Service has raised the contention that Smathers saw Mack, who later resigned under fire, in behalf of the Wilson application.

Holtz, also said that the time for filing exceptions to the examiner's report, made public Dec. 1, had "long since expired," and that the Smathers letter should simply be placed in the Channel 10 file without being given "any consideration" by the commission.

MRS. MUDIE

This was no nightmare, it was awful reality. Something horrible, slimy feeling and foul-smelling was flapping against my face and becoming entangled in my hair. I involuntarily screamed as I blindly clawed in the darkness at the hellish thing on my face.

Normally I am not the squeamish type. But my nerves were taut from our long sea journey and you can imagine that to be roused in the early morning hours of January third from a deep sleep in such a manner was shocking.

My husband, Colin, who was "on watch," leaped to my side at my first shriek. As soon as I was fully awake and had recovered from my initial fright, he succeeded in convincing me the loathsome "thing" was a flying fish which somehow had "flown" under our canvas awning.

We groped about clumsily in the dark until we were able to grab hold of the flopping, quivering fish and toss it overboard. For the next few days there was the most sickening smell of fish over our clothes and by my side of the boat.

It is one of the experiences on our adventure which I recall most vividly. And it still makes me shudder.

Sleeping was difficult enough aboard "The Small World" without such eerie disturbances. Our physical vitality was at a low ebb by Jan. 3, because of a shortage of water and nourishment, lack of both proper rest and exercise, and also tension.

After a watch was over I wanted to do nothing but lie down. Yet even this became almost unbearable for seemingly every bone in my body was beginning to stick out and it was almost impossible to find a comfortable position in the boat.

* * *

Arms and Legs Would 'Deaden'

THE OTHERS were in the same condition. Our circulation was very poor, so much so that it was very easy to "deaden" one's arms or legs by sleeping in any position for even short lengths of time.

Our one comfort was the thought we were getting closer and closer to Barbados. Colin, our navigator, figured on Jan. 4 that we were within 50 miles of the island and should sight land the next day. We hoped our navigator hadn't miscalculated either his course or the time.

We were on our last gallon of fresh water but had in reserve a pack of Permutit. The pack would make six pints of brackish, metallic-tasting water. We also had one-half gallon of sea water which had already been treated.

Now that we were near the end of our voyage, we felt like lifting the taboo on food and drink as topics of conversation. Melons were uppermost in my mind then. I day-dreamed continually of melons.

Musk melons, cantaloupes, Cassabas, Persian. Any kind of melons as long as they were beautifully chilled and filled with fruity liquid. No matter what sort of dinner I would think of ordering I always chose to start with melon. It seemed to me then the ideal combination of food with a great deal of liquid.

"I'm not a beer man," Bushy Eiloart, our erstwhile balloon commander, would say with a faraway look, "but I do believe I certainly could do justice to a nice, cold beer, and another cold beer, and another - - -."

Tim Eiloart, Bushy's son, and Colin weren't so specific; any kind of liquid in vast quantities was what they wanted.

"I suppose you know all about the laws of salvage?" Colin asked calmly Jan. 4, the 24th day since we had left the Canary Islands in our ill-fated attempt to cross the Atlantic by balloon.

He proceeded to explain that if we ran into a boat and asked for a tow we must be certain that the captain of the boat did not set foot in our craft.

We also, Colin said, must hand him our line rather than taking his and besides paying for the tow we should make an entry about it in the ship's log. He was thinking of the fact that we still had 70 pounds weight of meteorological instruments aboard, which were of considerable value, as well as our cameras and navigational equipment.

* * *

News of Arrival Beat Us Ashore

"A LIGHT, a light, Colin!" Bushy shouted jubilantly at 12:35 a.m. Jan. 5. He had spotted the flashing beam from Ragged Point Lighthouse. By 7 a.m. we actually could see land. The water was beginning to change to a wonderful jade green.

At 9:10 a.m., when we were about five miles off Barbados, we hailed the 25-foot fishing boat "New Providence," skippered by Casto Brathwaite.

Colin passed his hand over his head, extended it to Bushy, and said: "Here's the cocked hat back again. You're in command now so dicker for a tow into the bay, but don't forget what I told you about salvage rights."

Bushy started a boat-to-boat shouting conversation, handicapped for us by Brathwaite's thick Barbados accent.

From reading and hearing about us, he realized who we were, but seemed uninterested in towing us. He wanted to do his day's work — fish. Finally, Bushy went aboard the "New Providence" and arranged for us to be towed into Crane Bay for 50 Barbados dollars. But we had to wait another hour until Brathwaite — who felt he was being underpaid — fished for the dolphin which had been following our craft.

Having been sighted from afar, news of our arrival preceded us ashore. The beach was thronged with people. It became more crowded as we tossed around off-shore for more than an hour until an immigration officer, who also was assistant police commissioner, came out and officially cleared us through customs.

He also certified that our barograph — an instrument used in measuring variations in atmospheric pressure — was still sealed in the boat. This was necessary so the Royal Air Club could certify our flight as a record.

Finally, formalities completed, we stepped onto the golden beach. Our legs were a bit wobbly but we couldn't have fallen down if we wanted to for we were caught in a crush of 3,000 cheering people. It took us a full half-hour to cover the 100 yards to a beachside hotel.

Bushy and Tim were carried half-way up to the hotel on the shoulders of the crowd. Colin and I, hand-in-hand, climbed the 52 rock-hewn steps to it, led by a giant policeman.

It was the end of a journey in which we had come 1,200 miles by air and 1,500 miles by sea.

Before we got to our rooms we had to be received by Sir Grantley Adams, prime minister of the West Indian Federation, and Dr. Hugh Cummins, prime minister of Barbados.

My first act in the privacy of our own room was to shed my clothes, take a luxuriantly long hot shower, and then wash the sands of Tenerife Island out of my hair.

Next, we had the most wonderful meal of our lives. First came hot soup — how long it had been since we had had hot food.

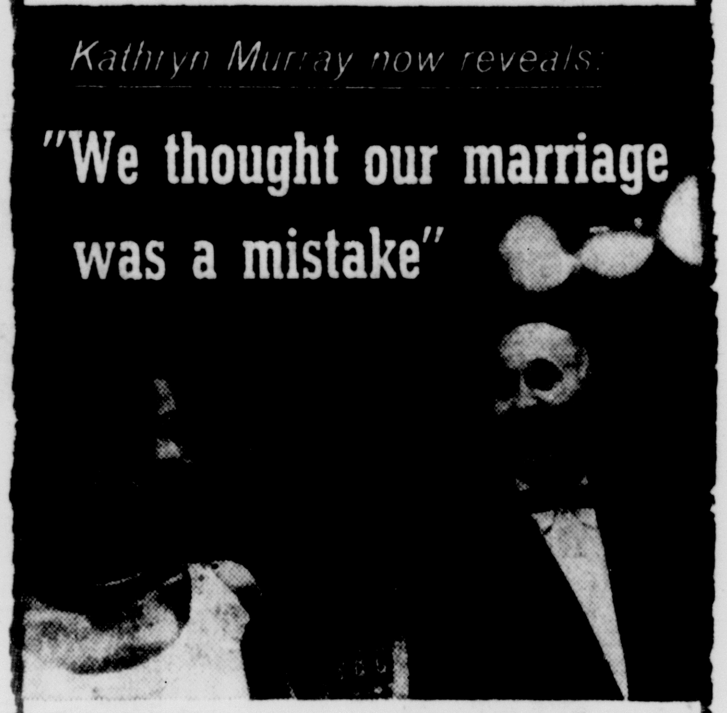
What you don't tell your doctor may kill you!

One top executive went for yearly check-ups, but never told his doctor about the pains over his heart. He was afraid he'd be ordered to slow down.

A young housewife suffered from dizzy spells, constant headaches—but was ashamed to tell the doctor about the "personal" problem that was bothering her.

Both these people (and thousands like them) risk death every year by telling their doctors a little lie, by "forgetting" an important symptom.

Do you tell your doctor everything? What symptoms mean danger? How does your doctor use the information you give him to make his diagnosis? Read a physician's grim warning: "Patients Should Tell the Truth."



Kathryn Murray now reveals:
"We thought our marriage was a mistake"

Was she too young, too flapperish? Was he too old for her, too sophisticated? Now with amazing frankness, Kathryn Murray tells the story of her whirlwind courtship with Arthur, and how their marriage almost ended disastrously with their honeymoon.

Here is the story of how Arthur's driving perfectionism made him so hard to please. Of his tough, relentless struggle to break out of the slums. Of his life as a dance gigolo. And of the secret he learned about people that made him such a great success.

You'll enjoy this sometimes funny, sometimes touching installment in Kathryn Murray's lively story of "My Husband, Arthur Murray."

Michigan Is Saved by Pre-Paid Taxes

LANSING, Mich. —(AP)— The Michigan state treasury has temporarily staved off "Collapse Day," thanks to advance payment by industry of 35½ million dollars in taxes.

Gov. Williams
. . . plea answered

The pre-payment, in answer to an appeal by Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, will enable the state to meet pressing financial commitments, at least through April 16.

The term "Collapse Day" to describe the state's financial crisis has been used in many Michigan newspapers since it was coined by Republican State Rep. Harry J. Philips in a legislative speech.

Williams asked major state industries for the advance tax payment Feb. 2. He said the state would not be able to meet its obligations after Monday without the money. Four days before his appeal, the governor had proposed a five per cent profits tax on industry and a graduated state income tax to raise an estimated 140 million dollars a year he says Michigan needs to meet expenses.

By last Thursday, Michigan industries had chipped in 35½ million dollars. The governor said the response was greater than he anticipated.

State officials said the sum will enable Michigan to give its three major universities their first aid payments since last November. Cities and villages will receive within a week some 12 million dollars due in sales tax diversion money, and another 11 million dollars will go to dependent children and persons drawing old age assistance.

Current revenues, freed of the aid payment obligations, were sufficient to meet a state payroll last Thursday.

But everyone agrees the early tax payment by industry, which could have kept and used the money for two to four months, is merely a temporary prop for the state's sagging economy.

Michigan splits its revenue into a general fund and into sums tagged by the Legislature and constitution for specific purposes such as highway building, school aid and welfare funds. Only general fund money can be used to meet the present financial crisis without legislative action.

The general fund's major source of revenue is the state's three per cent sales tax. Officials said the 1958 recession with falling new car sales and unemployment cut anticipated revenues from the sales tax.

Ike Requests $2½ Billion

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower asked Congress for $2,414,000,000 in extra funds to operate the government this year, including 80 million dollars to cover "unbudgeted costs" of the Formosa and Lebanon crises.

The White House said that while the funds would cover expenses incurred in the current fiscal year, they would not add to the fiscal 1959 deficit. Eisenhower made provision for the funds in the budget he sent to Congress last month for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

The White House also noted that the request was 29 million dollars less than was anticipated by the fiscal 1960 budget.

Arms Hike Of Millions Predicted

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Chairman George H. Mahon of the House defense appropriations subcommittee predicts Congress will boost President Eisenhower's proposed defense budget by 600 million dollars.

The Texas Democrat said he believes the defense spending will be upped from the proposed $40,900,000,000 mark to about $41,500,000,000, perhaps without unbalancing the total 77 billion dollar budget proposed by the administration for fiscal 1960.

He said he thinks Congress will juggle proposed spending for some domestic or foreign aid programs to keep the total in line.

Congress can not rearrange the budget in any "major way," Mahon said.

But he said he hopes enough can be juggled to "keep within the budget as near as possible."

Most Negroes Able to Register

'Bama's Vote Books 'Open'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — Qualified Negroes have been registered without prejudice in most Alabama counties, the Birmingham News reported in a copyrighted story Monday.

The story, first in a series on voter registration, said there is no discrimination in 59 of the state's 67 counties.

Voter registration boards are not functioning in Macon and Bullock counties.

The news said that in six others its newsmen were not satisfied that there was no discrimination. It names Lowndes, Chilton, Perry, Bibb, Hale and Wilcox counties in the latter group.

Not only did Negroes generally receive the same consideration as white registrants, the story noted, but registrars in several counties "were more than patient with them."

Registrars indicated that while white applicants seldom return if they fail to pass a written examination of 21 questions, Negroes who fail the first time take it again and again, often on consecutive days.

And in many instances, The News said, Negroes are accepted after failing in several attempts to pass the test.

Cat Celebrates

DENVER —(AP)— Boots, a Siamese cat, celebrating his 18th birthday, a whale of a long time for a cat to live. Boots' owner, Mrs. Billie Shannon, said by human standards that would be the equivalent of living 126 years.

What is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as the "Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astonishing Booklet which is a great step forward toward the answer to this question. The search for clues led to a prolonged study of all the great religions of the world, until at last a surprising new light was thrown upon the entire subject of prayer.

In this new light, even the well known Lord's Prayer acquires astonishing new meanings. Hidden between the lines are deep significances and wonderful truths that do not appear in the words alone. The free booklet points these out and is entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer."

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement of power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise. These strange methods were found in the Far East, where in ancient times all the great religions and philosophies of the world originated.

He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats.

He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition as a leading geographer and map-maker of the Far East.

He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the wisest mystics he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants many others to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

For your free copy of the amazing free booklet entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer," together with other free literature regarding this remarkable system, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 So. Hobart Blvd., Dept. 273R, Los Angeles 4, California. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed. —Adv.

12 Found Guilty at Raiford

Agitators Lose Privileges

RAIFORD — (AP) — A Florida state prison disciplinary committee Monday convicted 12 white prisoners as agitators in last week's defiance of guards.

Supt. DeWitt Sinclair said the men will be locked in cells and will lose their privileges. The period of their confinement will depend on their attitude and conduct, he said.

Penal Director R. D. Culver told Gov. LeRoy Collins late Monday the "situation is well in hand."

Two white prisoners brought before the committee were acquitted, Sinclair reported, while two others were added to the list Monday. Action against still another remains to be decided, the superintendent said.

There were 23 Negro and 12 white prisoners originally implicated in the resistance to guards Saturday morning when efforts were made to lock up two inmates for defying regulations Friday night.

Sinclair said the committee probably will start consideration of cases against the Negro prisoners today. On the disciplinary committee are L. J. Swann and L. E. Dugger, assistant superintendents, and Leland W. Pace, acting captain of the guard.

The trouble began Saturday when a guard tried to lock up a Negro who insisted on staying up after lights-out Friday night and smoke. A companion joined the prisoner in defying the guard.

Pace went to the reception center area Saturday morning to take charge of the two and it was then that a large crowd milled about them. The guards withdrew.

At this time officials called Sinclair in South Florida, where he had gone for the weekend. He returned immediately.

He said the 119 occupants of the Negro dormitory were marched out when they ignored a request that the two rebellious convicts be produced.

Guards separated those who took part in the defiance, and the others were returned to quarters.

Lansky Slips Out Of Hospital

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — Gambler Meyer Lansky, who claimed last week he was too sick to testify in Washington at a Senate Rackets Committee hearing, has left a private hospital here. He could not be located Monday.

Hollywood Hospital, Inc., confirmed that the New York-Florida-Cuba gambler had checked out Saturday night "in satisfactory condition."

He left Cuba when Fidel Castro's Rebels closed down the casinos in January. He was to testify last week before the Senate Rackets Committee probe of gangsterism in the juke box business.

U.S. Deputy Marshal Guy W. Hixon, Miami, said his office did not have a witness subpoena for Lansky.

The 56-year-old gambler told reporters in Miami after he arrived from Cuba that he was coming here to see his doctor.

Exactly where he has stayed since arriving has been kept secret.

His son, Buddy, who runs the Tuscany Motel on Hollywood Beach, has said for two months he does not know where his father is.

Ken O'Donnell administrative assistant to Robert Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said Lansky was scheduled to testify on the first day of the hearing a week ago but he turned up sick. O'Donnell explained that the committee had gone on to other phases of the investigation and Lansky would not fit in at this time.

Coral Gables Citizens Make a Hit in Colombia

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

CARTAGENA, Columbia — A thousand miles south of Miracle Mile, the citizenry of Coral Gables is winning friends and influencing people.

The place: Cartagena, a 426-year old Colombian town on the Caribbean Sea — once the treasure port of the Spanish Main.

The reason: The U.S. Information Agency's People-To-People, no-stuffed-shirts-allowed, exchange program. Cartagena is the first Latin American city to be adopted by a U.S. municipality in the seven years of the program's existence.

Last November, 18 Cartageneros breezed into Coral Gables for a four-day visit. Plans were made then for cultural, civic and educational exchanges between the two cities.

Fifty-nine visitors from Coral Gables are here to repay the visit after a bumpless Avianca non-stop flight that took five hours and 45 minutes.

Here they received a fit-for-a-king reception.

On hand were the mayors of both cities, a small mob of Colombian photographers who were soon out-numbered by the amateur shutterbugs deplaning, a wildly cha-cha-chaing combo band, and an abundant supply of shoe shine boys.

The 23 Coral Gables ladies aboard received orchids. The gentlemen put on sombreros and—to the delight of the photographers — several danced appropriate South American jigs.

The red-carpet treatment came at a four-hour reception at the Hotel Del Caribe, a beautiful old hotel.

Again Mayor W. Keith Phillips and Mayor Guillermo LeQuerica exchanged pleasantries. Phillips calls him Lucky for short. The band alternated the samba with a few not quite so energetic U.S. songs, and at least one anyone-can-speak-Spanish booklet was much in evidence.

Cartagena is called the Town of The Tower of The Clock because of a tower clock smack dab in the middle of things.

But it is fabled for its huge walled city, San Felipe de Barajas, a fort once manned with 150 cannons.

That was in the early 1600's when millions of dollars of gold came from mines in Peru and Colombia. (Colombia still mines about 20 million dollars in minerals a year.)

At any rate, the pirates thought Cartagena was the end of the rainbow, and behaved accordingly. They raided the place to steal the gold everytime they got the chance.

Once they even broke into a beautiful old convent called La Popa, atop an immense hill overlooking the town. The legend is that the nuns jumped to their death rather than be captured. The site is now a famed tourist attraction.

But perhaps the most unusual monument in Caratagena is to a poet, Luis Garlos Lopez. He wrote a poem about the city being loved like an old pair of shoes.

So on one busy thoroughfare are two huge bronze shoes, looking very old and much loved.

The Coral Gables folks seem to agree with the poet.

. . . of Historic Old Crow

ANDREW JACKSON often received JAMES POLK at his home. He was known to praise Old Crow in the highest terms. (Reported in a 19th century newspaper)

Historic Old Crow was born 124 years ago on the Kentucky frontier. There, James Crow created the first real bourbon. The growing nation instantly knew it to be the perfect bourbon. Today, all America prefers lighter, milder, mellower Old Crow over all other bourbons—because its greatness of reputation is so completely deserved!

AFL-CIO Corrupt Must Go

By ROBERT M. LEWIN
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico— The AFL-CIO stood firm here on its policy that the corrupt in labor must go.

Top leaders of the merged federation called for three specific anti-corruption actions as the AFL-CIO executive council opened its mid-winter meeting.

Because of a head and chest cold, doctors kept George Meany, 64, AFL-CIO president, at home in Washington.

But Meany, expected here later, is to preside at the rest of the sessions in the Caribe Hilton Hotel.

* * *

IN CLEANUP moves, top AFL-CIO leaders urged the council, the federation's governing body between conventions, to:

1. Direct the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee to investigate corruption in the 850,000-member carpenter union.

The investigation could lead to suspension or expulsion from the federation. It would center on President Maurice A. Hutcheson, Indianapolis, and Vice President Charles Johnson Jr., New York.

2. Hold off consideration of admission of the scandal-stained International Longshoremen's Association until it changes officials.

William V. Bradley, Patrick J. (Packy) Connolly and Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, bosses when the ILA was expelled in 1953, are still there.

3. Continue AFL-CIO trusteeship over the 20,000-member international Jewelry workers — but get rid of President Joseph Morris and Secretary-Treasurer Hyman J. Powell.

Jet Crashes; Pilot Is Safe

HARVARD, Mass. — (UPI) — A jet pilot parachuted to safety after his F86 Sabrejet developed trouble on a training mission Monday night. The plane exploded and burned after crashing into a sparsely settled wooded area here.

The pilot was identified as First Lt. Donald W. Cole Jr., 25, of Billerica. He was reported to have parachuted to safety some 10 miles from the scene of the crash and walked into a nearby home unhurt.

Navy May Fluoridate Water for Keys

KEY WEST — The Navy Department is considering fluoridating water supplied to the Florida Keys, both for military and civilian consumption.

Local Navy sources revealed that the project may be effected during the current year.

It depends upon appropriation of necessary funds and the approval of the Florida Board of Health and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Several years ago a similar fluoridation proposal was made for the Keys and ran into considerable opposition.

CAPE CANAVERAL — A slender solid-fuel test rocket arched aloft Monday in a secrecy-shrouded launching and it was later learned the missile was a forerunner of a top-secret rocket, not yet identified.

The Air Force declined to comment on the nature of the rocket. Officials said only that "a research and development rocket was fired on the Atlantic missile range."

4 Drivers Charged In Fatal Shooting

BUNNELL—The State Monday charged that four truck drivers caused the fatal shooting of a Teamsters Union organizer in a conspiracy to scare him out of town. Their second degree murder trial opened.

The State said by their own confession the defendants and another man now dead met in a cafe before the labor melee and made plans to "scare George Jones into leaving his home."

Jones, 30, who was shot at his trailer home Dec. 5, was organizing a Teamsters drive at the Tropical Transport Co. here.

Radio Transmitter Crackdown Still On

TAMPA — A marine supervisor for the Federal Communications Commission said Monday a crackdown will continue on "improper" use of radio frequencies by fishing vessels.

Alfred Ritter said two ship captains recently paid fines of $100 each for using "profane and indecent" language over their radio transmitters and two similar cases are scheduled for hearings.

He did not name the captains who paid fines recently but said that the pending hearings would probably be held at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Wolpert Announces Storewide February Housecleaning Sale

The 22nd annual "February Housecleaning Sale" of Wolpert Furniture Co. now is in progress, according to George Wolpert, president.

"Ever since 1937, this has been our greatest sales event," Wolpert said. "Every February hundreds of Miamians look forward to this sale as an opportunity to make important dollar savings on furniture."

During this month, Wolpert makes drastic reductions on items in every department of the large store. All floor samples, slow moving stock, discontinued merchandise, slightly shopworn goods and odd pieces of every kind are marked down for quick disposal.

"This includes many nationally known brands," Wolpert explained, "such as Simmons, Samson, Spring Air, Sealy, Firestone foam rubber mattresses, Thomasville, Douglas and others.

"A survey of our entire stock shows that the following items have been marked down from 20 to 60 per cent, or more: 37 dinette and dining room suites in wrought iron, bronze-tone, walnut Danish modern, French Provincial and casual modern in round, oval and oblong tables. These include five-piece dinnettes, as well as full-size nine-piece dining room suites which are priced from $59.50 to $495.

"Bedroom suites, 28 in number, also have been marked down. Every style and finish, from walnut Danish modern to white French Provincial, is being offered. Many odd pieces and open-stock suites where dressers, chests beds, etc., may be purchased separately have been reduced. Suites are priced from $99 to $475.

"A large selection of living room furniture is being featured, too. We have 18 sofas, 22 sectional sofas, 74 lounge chairs, 55 occasional chairs — all with solid foam rubber cushions in many lovely fabrics —marked down for immediate clearance.

"Do you need lamps? See our array of 576 table and floor lamps before you buy. They are available in every style, size, color and design in ceramic, pottery, wood and hydrocal and were originally priced from $9.95 to $129.50. These now are priced from $3.88 to $89.50.

"Included in this group are 46-inch high ceramic table lamps, with shades, priced at $19.95; three-way floor lamps with indirect reflectors and fiberglass shades have been marked down from $24.50 to $9.95 each.

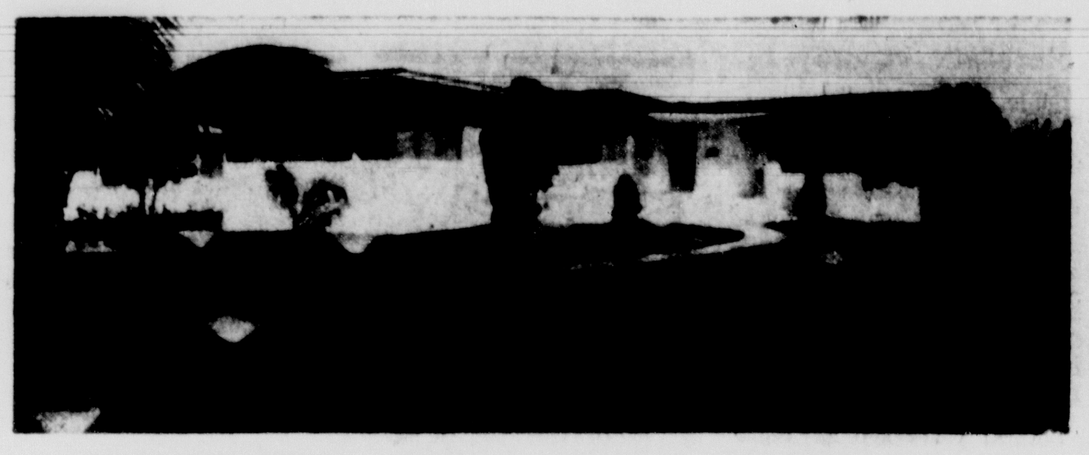
"If it's tables you want, check these. We have a large group of end, lamp, cocktail and step tables in genuine walnut, Formica, or Danish type with cane, as well as nationally known Lane tables, free-form tables, and inlaid top tables to be closed out at tremendous savings.

"Simmons sofa beds, Hide-a-beds, Bahama beds and studio couches have been priced to sell. You may want some of the odd pieces we have at low prices . . . see all of them for real savings.

"Whether you need furniture for one room, your entire home, or just one piece, you will make substantial savings during this sale."

Wolpert's, one of Miami's old established firms, has been known as "A Name You Can Trust" since 1937. Their only store is at 1200 Coral Way, at "Five Points" (SW 12th Ave. and Coral Way). A large free parking lot is adjacent to the store which is open daily 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and Mondays until 9 p.m.

A free decorating service is available without obligation.



AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY of water is the first requirement for a beautiful lawn. Notice the excellent coverage given by this sprinkler system, engineered and installed by C. H. Stern & Jaffer, Inc., 2500 N. Miami Ave.

Proper Sprinkler System Vital If Beautiful Lawn Is Your Goal

An attractive lawn enhances the beauty and increases the value of any South Florida home. And, in order to have a healthy lawn, ample water must be used.

"The perfect answer to this need of plenty of water for your lawn is a complete sprinkler system," according to C. H. Stern of C. H. Stern & Jaffer, Inc., 2500 N. Miami Ave.

"A well, pump and sprinkler system," he continued, "makes it possible to use as much water as is needed — without having high water bills to pay.

"It is not necessary to spend a lot of money to have an adequate lawn sprinkler system. Modern manufacturing methods and experienced crews make it possible to have a complete installation at moderate cost.

"Every Stern & Jaffer lawn sprinkler system is individually planned and designed to assure complete coverage. A careful measurement is made of each lawn, after which a blueprint is prepared. All systems, whether stationary, pop-up, or rotary sprinklers are used, are custom-made to fit, with only standard designs being used.

"The hydraulic design of every system is made in accordance with established principles. Flow losses are carefully calculated so that adequate pressure is maintained at all sprinkler nozzles.

"Stern & Jaffer uses only new, first quality, corrosion resistant materials, such as galvanized standard steel pipe, rigid P.U.C. or Kralastic pipe, brass check valves, brass sprinkler heads and bronze gate valves. If a pump is installed on the job, it must be bronze fitted throughout. All material carries a guarantee of both the manufacturer and C. H. Stern & Jaffer, Inc.

"Our crews are carefully trained to install each sprinkler system quickly and efficiently. We have received many compliments on our technique for digging trenches in lawns that leaves practically no traces of the work.

"A competent, experienced foreman directs each job and stays until it is completed. Established lawns and shrubs are protected from damage during the installation by drop cloths.

"All mechanized equipment is used so that each job may be finished as soon as possible.

"Stern & Jaffer sprinkler systems may be used with either well or city water. No charge is made for service on new installations during the first year, and all parts are unconditionally guaranteed for a full year.

"If desired, systems may be installed with full automatic control, featuring skip-day timing and using hydraulic or solenoid valves with a synchronous electric clock. The automatic system may be used with either well or city water.

"FHA financing is available now for sprinkler systems. Conventional financing also can be easily arranged with Stern & Jaffer's representative so that no trips to the bank are required.

"Having installed thousands of lawn sprinkler systems, Stern & Jaffer's reliability is attested to by our many satisfied customers."

A telephone call to FRanklin 1-1496 will bring complete information. Free estimates are cheerfully given on all jobs, without obligation.

Kennedy Opposes Link to Vatican

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Sen. John Kennedy (D., Mass.) said Monday that he is opposed to the use of federal money to support parochial or private schools.

KENNEDY

He also said he is against appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, has been mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960. He expressed his views on religious issues in an article in Look Magazine. He did not refer to his possible presidential aspirations in making the statements.

"Whatever one's religion in his private life may be, for the officeholder, nothing takes precedence over his oath to uphold the Constitution and all its parts — including the First Amendment and the strict separation of church and state," he said. "I believe as a senator that the separation of church and state is fundamental to our American concept and heritage and should remain so."

Kennedy said he is "flatly opposed" to this country sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

"Whatever advantages it might have in Rome — and I'm not convinced of these — they would be more than offset by the divisive effect at home," he said.

Kennedy said he fully agrees with the provisions of the First Amendment.

"There can be no question of federal funds being used for support of parochial or private schools," he said. "It's unconstitutional under the First Amendment as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

"I'm opposed to the federal government extending support to sustain any church or its school."

Legion to Mark Anniversary

FRANCES

Frances Langford, movie star, will help Harvey Seeds post, American Legion, celebrate the 40th birthday of the American Legion at the post home, 66th St. and Biscayne Bay, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Miss Langford has been named All-American Legion Girl, an appropriate designation since her career began in her birthplace, Lakeland, through a talent show sponsored by the Lakeland American Legion post.

During World War-II, Miss Langford made personal appearances in six theaters of war and went to Korea with Bob Hope while fighting was at its fiercest there.

Mayors Robert King High of Miami and Kenneth Oka of Miami Beach, along with Metro commissioners and department officers of the American Legion, have been invited to the Harvey Seeds program.

Miss Langford will ask each mayor to proclaim March 15 as American Legion Day.

Security Talk Set

Stanley McGough, Jordan Marsh security officer, will talk to the Miami Rotary Club at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Columbus Hotel on "Security in a Modern Department Store."

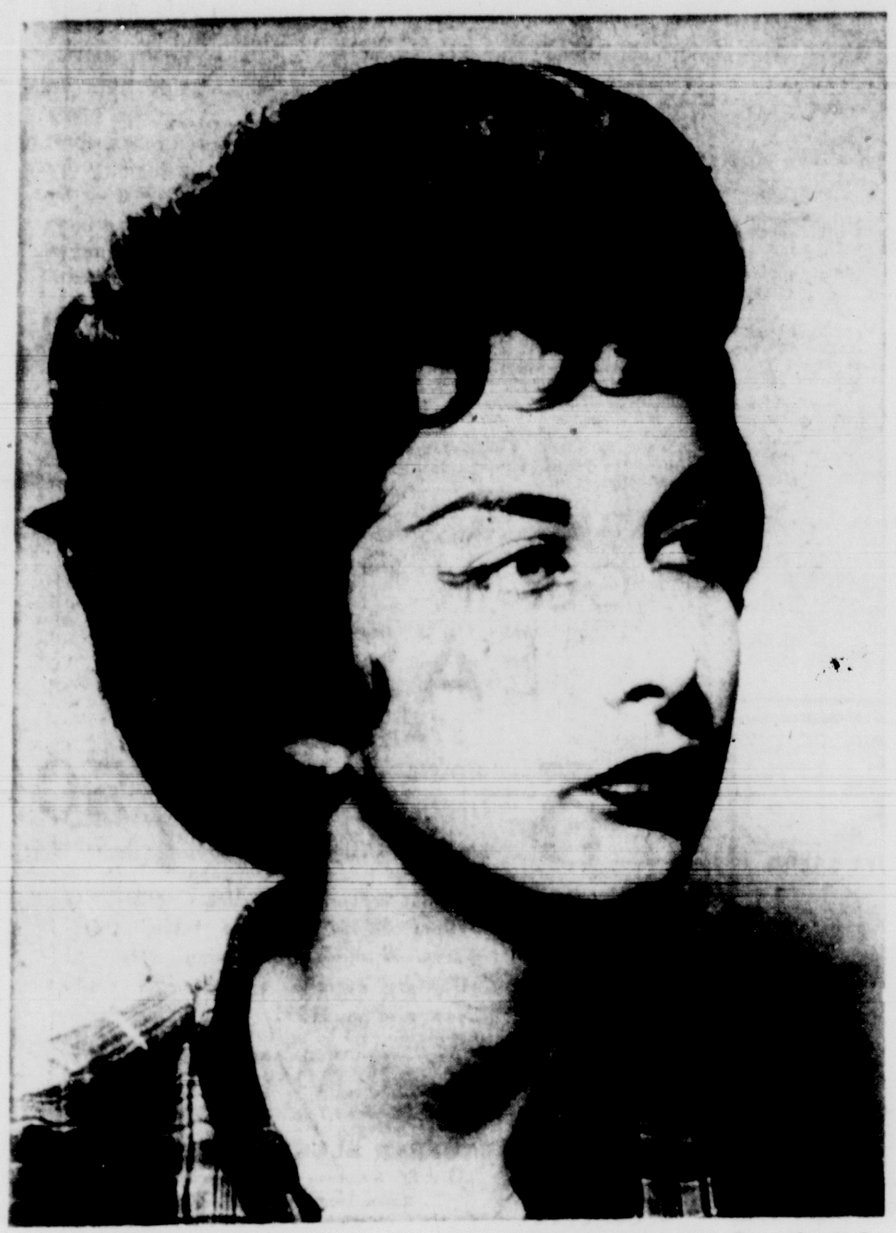
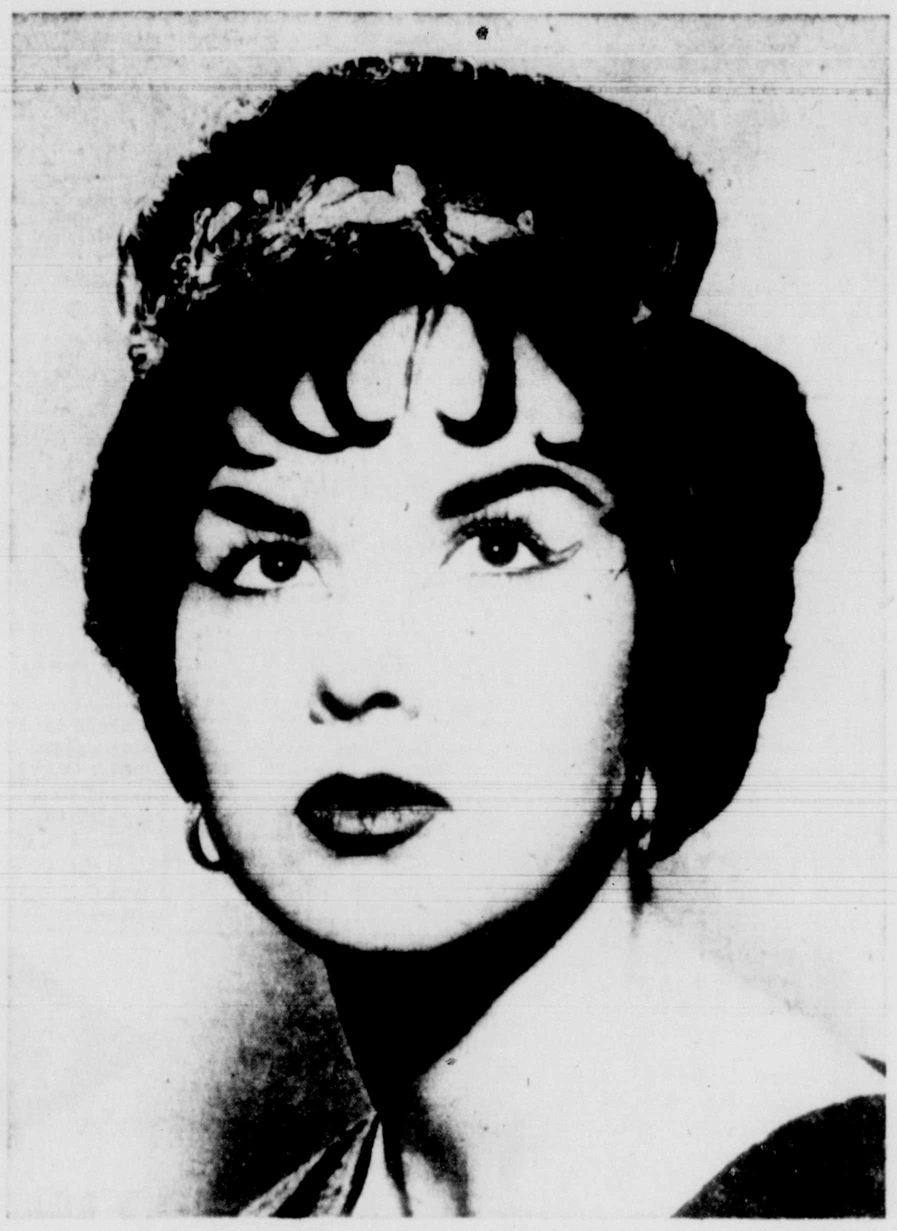
New Look for Spring: Oriental Hair Styles



NEW LOOK FOR SPRING, the Oriental hairstyle can be adapted to any type face, says a local hairstylist. This modified style is created for hair, 3 to 4½ inches long, originally cut for the Chemise coiffure.



EXAGGERATED ORIENTAL coiffure is for the young and lovely. The model's hair is 4 to 7 inches in length. Spray of golden leaves is typical of new hair ornaments that can be worn effectively. Dramatic eye make-up is a must.

Glamor Clinic

"The Empire coiffure is as dead as the Empress Josephine," says a local hair artist.

"It's the Oriental Look now—as new and fresh as a breath of spring for the woman who wants something different."

He has been coifing customers in Oriental fashion for a month.

"We can adapt this style to any type face in any length hair as short as three inches. Short hair can always be bloused out, you know.

"There is nothing fluffy or casual about the Oriental," he continues. "The wave lines are smooth and rounded."

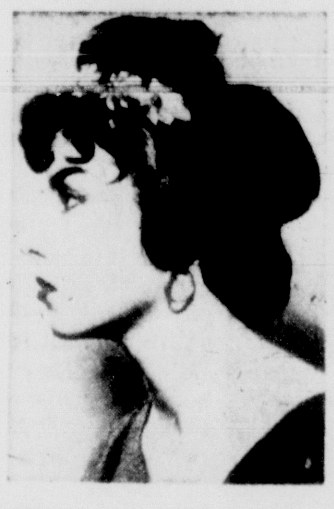
The secret, of course, lies in combing, and the woman who adopts an Oriental version needs a short course in combing, which the hair stylist emphasizes.

"Women today don't know how to comb hair as our grandmothers did in the days of the pompadour. It's a lost art."

Why the swing to the Oriental? "It was time," the stylist says. "We've run out of French and Italian inspiration. Recent movies and plays (Sayonara and the Flower Drum Song) have emphasized the Oriental theme.

"The Oriental woman has an aura of mystery, a welcome change after the too-too casual chemise and sack look."

No, the Oriental hairstyle will not become common overnight.



HAIR is combed under like a page boy, bloused out in back. Top hair is reminiscent of oldtime pompadour.

"The young hair stylists," he says, and smiles, "don't know how to do it. It takes an oldtimer to tease and fuse the hair into the dramatic, rounded smoothness the coiffure demands."

With the advent of the Oriental, you will see more hair ornaments — jeweled chopsticks, combs and flowers. And much, much emphasis on dramatic eye make-up.

How old is she?

Mrs. Herbold of Hollywood looks much younger than she is because she avoids gray hair with Herbold Pomade. Is she 30-40-60? What's your guess?

Amazing Herbold Pomade
Tones Down Grayness
Hair Looks Young Again

If the years have stolen the natural color and oils from your hair, leaving streaks of dry lifeless gray, making you look older than you really are – simply use Herbold Pomade instead of your regular hair dressing. Massage it in with fingertips. That's all there is to it!

This clean, easy-to-use hair cream adds color to gray, streaked, faded or mousey hair, so gradually, and blends it so perfectly with your own natural color, that your hair will look young and alive again . . . with the color it had before it became old and gray.

If you are completely gray, or have only a few gray hairs – if you were once blonde, brunette, or even if your hair is dyed – this one and only Herbold Pomade will add just the right touch of lasting color for your hair. The improvement is so real, so gradual, that no one – not even yourself – can tell you are using anything but a fine hair dressing–because the special oils in Herbold Pomade groom, condition and restore that silky, alive, neat young look.

Not a coal tar dye, tint or rinse. That's why hair never looks artificial or dyed. No sudden change. No grayness at the scalp. No shades to confuse you.

Start using Herbold Pomade today. In 1 to 3 weeks you will feel the excitement of looking younger, with the assurance of no more gray hair for you.

FOR MEN AND WOMEN
Cream or Liquid
Use Creamy Pomade to condition dry hair, Liquid Pomade for thinning, oily or normal hair. Both tone down Gray Hair.

Miami's Skyline And Candlelight Glowed at Party

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Soft balmy air, moonlight and candles winking on tables around the patio set the scene for Indian Creek Club's popular Sunday night buffet dinner.

Mr. Henry

Mrs. Henry

It's been mentioned many times before, and probably will be again, but whenever there's a party in the patio at this beautiful club, you keep hearing exclamations about the twinkling lights of Miami's skyline across the Bay. They are sensational.

At the head of one of the long tables on the loggia was Helen Berry who was entertaining for her good looking son Leland Henry and his equally goodlooking wife, Chris. They are here from Columbus for a two weeks visit.

"I'm Loren tonight," said Helen's sister, Gertrude Embry. She explained that Loren was bedded down with a virus bug at their apartment in the Surf Club.

Another member of the Berry clan was Loren's son, John, here for a stay from Dayton, the Berry's home town.

Others in the Berry party sipping a cocktail on the pool terrace, dining, dancing and applauding the amazing steel guitarist, Joe Sodja who entertained, included the Henry Hoppes of Warren, Ohio, May Best and Rex Sanders, Georgette and Tom Joyce, Ruth and Ted Hodge, Eleanor and Bill Kelly.

Caught a glimpse of Charlotte and Russ Feldmann who have just arrived to sojourn on their handsome yacht, Savitar, moored at the Flamingo.

Olive Leeds sporting a new and becoming bouffant hair-do was there with Bill and Winnie and Carl Leigh were more in the throng.

* * *

More Coffee Dates

More coffee dates on the calendar are those of Mrs. Evert P. Maule and her daughter, Mrs. Charles B. King, who are entertaining at the Bath Club on March 3, and the traditional coffee given by Mrs. Rufus DeWitt King on March 11 at her beautiful home on Belle Isle.

* * *

Cupid Was Everywhere

That sentimental sprite, Cupid, was flitting about all over town on Valentine's evening among his usual hearts and flowers. Riviera Country Club had a full house for its dinner dance with Woody Herman playing for dancing.

Before dinner and dancing at the Surf Club for a party that pretty Charlotte Husted gave for her house guests, Betty and Charlie Ventura, Sadie and Pat Cummings entertained for cocktails at their home on Atlantic Way.

Mr. Cummings

Mrs. Cummings

Sadie carried out Cupid's color in handsome red satin with fishtail train plus an elegant red feather boa. Hors d'oeuvres were in the out-of-this-world category — black caviar with accompanying chopped egg and onion served on tiny pancakes; mushrooms stuffed with meat; pate de foie gras with truffles on crisp crackers, all washed down with champagne.

Ada and Ray Dodge, newly returned from points, West, Nina and Spratt Mangus, Chauncey and Abe Lincoln were more in the party.

Chauncey and Abe have just moved into their new home in Miami Beach. She said that Abe discovered her on the floor of her dressing room at 2 a.m. rooting into suitcases. "What in the world are you doing?" quoth he. "Looking for my toothbrush," she answered. Chauncey volunteered that her muscles are killing her!

At La Bastille after the Surf gala, the "joint was jumping" with red and white decorations and merry makers. President of the club Bob Pentland, joined Nancy and Bob Greene's birthday party for guess who? It was little ole me . . . my well kept secret birthday date was out.

Adele Simpson Was Stunning

Cynosure of all eyes at Westview Country Club's Valentine dinner dance was well known designer, Adele Simpson. She was wearing an elegant gold satin gown with matching great coat trimmed with sable.

She and her young daughter, Joan, were guests in the party given by the William Weintraubs. The hostess was wearing an Adele Simpson creation of white lace highlighted with sequins.

Others at their table were John Serbin, president of Westview, and his lady, his brother, Louis Serbin, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Winters, she in a stunning Paris pink satin.

More hosts were the David Hochbergs who had among their guests Lee and Dr. Arturo di Filippi and Lee's sister, Cile Landis. Also entertaining were the Robert Coopers, the Sam Lubys among others.

* * *

Annual spring formal dance of Beach Colony Club is set for Feb. 28 at Indian Creek Club. The Howard Roberts-es are chairmen of this dinner dance with Dr. and Mrs. Eddie Fox, the Stanton Kettlers and the Milo Bennetts as their committee.

* * *

George and Martha To Attend

George Washington leading a white Arabian steed which carries Martha on his back will be coming through a cherry orchard at the Century Club's Washington's Birthday dinner dance Friday at Coral Gables Country Club. The costumes on the Martha and George mannequins are authentic.

One of the largest parties of the evening will be that of Minnie and George Simpson, who are entertaining 44 guests. More hosts are Madalon and Fred Ravlin, the David Strouders, Catherine and Gene Wallace, Dr. and Mrs. Jack McKenzie.

Perfect Dish For a Wedding

MEDINA, Saudi Arabia — (WNS) — Bedouin women have claimed the world's title for preparing the most substantial dish ever prepared. It is Stuffed Camel and is intended for wedding feasts.

The recipe includes: Boil a dozen eggs, stuff them into a dozen fish and put the fish inside a dozen chickens, roasted. Stuff the chickens into as many roasts of lamb, and stuff them into a camel. Roast the entire thing until it is perfectly cooked.

By JEANNE VOLTZ
Herald Homemaking Editor

A special coffee cake is a simple, but ever welcome, family dessert. And if there are leftovers it can be warmed for breakfast tomorrow.

Daily Food Guide

This coffee cake is the quick mix variety, no yeast involved. And the topping is different—sugar frosted flakes (the breakfast cereal variety), butter, honey, coconut and pineapple.

FAMILY SUPPER

Braised Pork Chops
Baked Potatoes
Buttered Snap Beans
Tossed Green Salad
Honey Crisp Coffee Cake

Serve this coffee cake warm, with or without butter as your family prefers.

HONEY CRISP COFFEE CAKE

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup soft shortening
⅓ cup sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
1 cup sugar frosted flakes
3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
¼ cup honey
¼ cup shredded coconut
½ cup drained crushed pineapple

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend shortening and sugar. Add egg and beat well. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, being careful not to overmix. Spread in greased 11½x7½-inch pan.

Crush sugar frosted flakes slightly. Blend butter and honey. Stir in shredded coconut, pineapple and sugar frosted flakes. Spread over batter. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 35 minutes. Makes 1 coffee cake.

He's Still Fred Waring The Perennial Favorite

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Celebrity Parade

PALM BEACH—Fred Waring!

A man with a great sense of fun and zest for living. His gestures and facial expressions tell more than many men's speeches. He has held the music-loving public in the palm of his small and eloquent hand for many years. His arrangements for church, glee club, the classics and patriotic melodies have given him world wide fame.

"Rock 'n Roll? Don't worry about it. It's temporary. Remember ragtime. That didn't hurt your generation, now, did it?"

At his summer workshop where he trains choir directors for churches and schools, Waring always insists on immaculate diction. You hear every word clearly articulated by any Waring-trained singer.

Always on his programs is his own revival, of The Battle Hymn of the Republic.

"I'll bet 10 million young people have sung the Battle Hymn since that revival, and I'm proud of it. Yes, even in the South. There's nothing sectional about the Battle Hymn. It's an anthem."

The revival was made at the urging of Mrs. Howard Lindsay (Dorothy Stickney) and Cornelia Otis Skinner, and through that wonderful former Grand Dame of Palm Beach and Newport, the late Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, daughter of Julia Ward Howe, who wrote the song.

"When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip visited this country we gave a program for them at the White House, but omitted that number. When the concert was over, President Eisenhower reminded me that we hadn't played The Battle Hymn.

"I told him we hadn't intended to this time. But he wasn't having any of that. We talked back and forth about whether or not we had the music with us, and the Queen looked astonished at the informality."

* * *

He Talks On Politics . . .

WARING was actively identified with the Eisenhower campaign. He and the President are great friends.

"And it will be wonderful when his too-great task will be over."

A successor?

"I have many friends and among them are several possibilities."

Nixon?

"He's the vice president. (yes, we knew that.) Then as the silence deepened.

"From a talented public office holder he has steadily gained in stature — amazingly so, in the face of the vilification he has received."

National political trends?

"Well a great many Democrats have been elected to the House and the Senate. But they haven't elected a president yet — and frankly I don't think they will."

* * *

. . . And His Inventions

FRED WARING likes to arrange church music. He is fond of great hymns and for many years his favorite was "Lead Kindly, Light." He also likes such inspirational songs as "I Believe."

Other interests include implementing medical research, politics, inventions, patriotism, and golf which he's been playing for 40 years. He has designed many golf courses. Still owns at least two.

As far as inventions are concerned, Fred Waring says, "I'm sort of an editor. Now an editor may take your copy, rearrange it, take out a few words here and put in a few words there, and soon it comes alive.

"That's what I do with inventions that haven't quite come off."

That's the way the Waring Blendor came into being. That's the one, you know, that pulverizes an egg shell so that you can drink it.

Waring also made the first steam iron and at first had to change from light aluminum to heavy metal because manufacturers just wouldn't believe that a light iron would do the work.

"We had a hard time selling them on the scientific fact that it isn't the weight but the heat that counts in ironing."

* * *

YOUNG FRED WARING, whose mother sang in the choir of the Methodist Church, was leader of his Boy Scout Drum Corps back in Tyrone, Pa. His baton was made from one of his mother's curtain rods, topped with a glass door knob.

From this group came Fred's first group of entertainers, called the "Banjazzatra," and from the Banjazzatra evolved Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians.

Here in Palm Beach Fred has been playing in the Heart Fund Golf tournament at Tequesta Golf Course. He opens Monday at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse in Palm Beach. The Warings have an apartment at the Palm Beach Towers for their stay here.

Waring's home is 80 miles from New York in the Delaware River Valley of the East Poconos. Nearby is his nationally famous Shawnee Inn, "The Gold Capital of the East."

Here is located the Waring Enterprises and the Waring Workshop, the school to which instructors and music students come in the summer to gain much knowledge at low cost.

Waring has three grown children by his first marriage. His present wife is Virginia Morley, a former concert pianist. Virginia has a son, 13, and Virginia and Fred have a son, Malcolm, who's two.

"She's such a lovely girl," said Fred as Virginia went across the room to speak to a friend. "I just don't deserve her."

Fred Waring To Appear At Heart Ball

Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians will bring a "Hi Fi Holiday" show to the Heart Fund ball in Miami Beach Sunday night at the Fontainebleau Hotel. Marianne Reynolds — "a grand person, isn't she?" — is chairman of the ball.

"Let's all make a success of these heart fund drives," says Fred. "I believe in them. They make possible the research that will lengthen and save many lives."

And, in a softer voice, "I wish there had been more knowledge years ago. A heart condition took my mother."

Tired of That 2 a.m. Feeding?

If two a.m. feedings are getting you down, try giving the baby an oil rub before his last feeding, a baby care counselor of the diaper service industry advises young mothers. The oil rub relaxes the baby and induces a sound sleep. Mothers following this tip have found the baby will usually sleep through until his early morning feeding.

'Now I Know What Love Is And I'm Terribly Mixed Up'

Column with a Heart

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I am a very mixed up woman. I am nearing 40 years of age and have just learned what it is to be in love. I have been married three times and am living with my third husband.

I met a man last year and fell very much in love. My trouble is to decide which one I must give up. All my teachings from childhood say that it is wrong for a married woman to be in love with some man other than her husband.

But my heart tells me I will never be happy if I give up the only man I ever loved. They are both good men, and that is one reason it is so hard for me to decide what to do.

MIXED UP

Two good men do not deserve one mixed-up woman. Better brush up on those childhood teachings — they're a lot more reliable than what your heart tells you.

'Should We Give A House Gift?'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

Because of my husband's work we are able to spend the winter in Miami. I, too, find work each trip down and since we both work odd hours, we usually live in one room.

A fine couple, who are our friends, offered to let us stay in their lovely home for six weeks. They are going North on business. The company the man works for is sending him to a training class, and his wife and three children are going along.

They say they'll be glad to have us stay in the home if we'll care for their parakeet. We are quite happy about it, as they have even suggested we might like to entertain friends while we have the room to do so.

We will be saving a nice amount on room rent and eating out. I've discussed this with my husband, and I think we should give this couple a small appliance or gift for the home as a token of our appreciation.

My husband disagrees. He says it's their idea, that their house payment, utility bills, etc., would have to be paid even if they weren't home, and that we'll be doing them a favor to stay in the house.

Maybe I'm old fashioned, but I know I'll feel better if I can surprise them with something I think they can use. Do you think I am trying to over-do it, as my husband says?

JAMIE

No. If anything, your husband is "under-doing it."

A homecoming gift for the home from both of you would be most appropriate even if you are doing the family a favor by looking after the premises while they are gone.

Four North Miami High Students Who Know Foreign Schools

. . . Reinhilda Mach, Judy Jackson, Yusuke Omine and Bill McCarthy

Here are the four North Miami Senior High students who can speak with firsthand knowledge of foreign and American schools:

JUDY JACKSON—a typical U.S. teen in looks but with an apparent maturity far beyond her 17 years. She lived for a summer with a Turkish family and their four daughters.

REINHILDA MACH—an 18-year-old Austrian girl who is here under a program worked out by the International Christian Youth Exchange.

BILL McCARTHY — an honor student who spent a summer living with a German family. He and Judy went abroad as part of the American Field Service program sending U.S. teenagers to live with families all over the world.

YUSUKE OMINE — an 18-year-old Japanese boy here under another plan sponsored by the American Field Service. He's living with a family here for one year.

By MARCIE FEINGOLD

Herald Staff Writer

"American children get away with murder!" exclaimed quiet Yusuke Omine, an 18-year-old Japanese boy who attends 12th grade at North Miami High School.

And the three teenage companions to whom he was talking nodded in agreement.

American parents are too easy with their children, they said. And, as a result, have lost the respect that other young people all over the world give their parents.

The North Miami Senior High foursome was not an ordinary one. In it were a Japanese boy and an Austrian girl, studying in the U.S. under a one year exchange program, and two Miami teens who had lived with European families this past summer as participants in similar exchange groups.

* * *

SAYS JUDY JACKSON: "In Turkey young people know what's expected of them and they do it . . . without any questions!"

"Turkish teenagers are not as wild as American teens. They are much more settled and under strict family discipline. They have a tyrant father type of family life . . . but, rather than fear, it produces deep parental respect in their children."

"And," says Judy, "it's very effective. They've never even heard of juvenile delinquency."

* * *

REINHILDA MACH of Austria spoke up. "I think that it is the parents' fault in America that the young are so disrespectful."

"Here parents are very different than in Austria. Where I'm from, children pay much more attention to parents. The parents say more what the children should do and the children listen."

* * *

"GERMAN YOUNG PEOPLE are definitely more respectful than American teens. But, there is a great deal of American influence present in Germany today," said Bill McCarthy.

"Parental discipline is there but American influence is slowly taking it away."

The group agreed that in other countries there were many more family discussions about family problems than here in America. They felt it was a good idea that should be followed by more American families. It creates a certain closeness that is very noticeably missing in American homes, they said.

How Schools Differ

ALL FOUR AGREED that school was much more difficult abroad than it is here.

Bill attended school with his 19-year-old German "brother" who was in his last year at the Gymnasium which is equivalent to our 12th grade. It's also comparable to the third year of American college.

"The German educational system so far surpasses the American system, it is impossible to compare the two," said Bill.

"Everyone attends the first eight grades together. Then students may choose one of three different kinds of high school. Besides the gymnasium, which is the college preparatory school, there are trade and business schools."

However, if one enters the Gymnasium, he has no choice of subjects. He takes them all . . . Latin, German, French, English, physics, all the sciences and from three to five years of chemistry.

* * *

REINHILDA SAID the school system in Austria was very similar to Germany.

"Students have much more respect for their teachers in Austria than here in America," said Reinhilda. "When I first began school in America, this bothered me very much. I've gotten used to it, by now.

"Also, we study much more in Austria. We go to school six days a week, eleven months a year."

* * *

YUSUKE ALSO FINDS school much easier in America.

He says, "Japanese students are much more serious about their work. They study much more than American students."

What About Dating?

IS DATING a pretty universal custom?

Says Judy: "Why, it's strictly taboo in Turkey. You can't go out without a chaperone until you are engaged. And parents still are the ones who arrange the matches."

"My 'sisters' were awed by my American cosmetics. Turkish girls are not permitted to wear any makeup until they are at least 17. I soon followed their example and abandoned my cosmetics. Nobody even seemed to notice, much less care. It was a much more natural kind of atmosphere. I liked it!"

* * *

YUSUKE SAID, "American teenagers are very open about their emotions. In Japan there is no dating. Parents take care of that.

"But, American ways are becoming more and more familiar to the Japanese because of the large number of G.I.'s in Japan since the war."

* * *

IN GERMANY the dating habits have also altered some since the war, according to Bill.

"There is, also, a great deal of American influence in German dating habits. But, there is one big difference. There is a much more intellectual basis connected with German dating. Most dates consist of several young couples getting together and discussing political issues and social problems."

* * *

REINHILDA EXPRESSED surprise in American men.

"Why, in Austria a man would never wash dishes or take out the garbage. This is the woman's job.

"When the man of the house comes home from work in Austria, he says, 'I'm here!' And that's all. After that, his wife scampers."

Trucking Firm Is Criticized

Great Southern 'Slow,' Is Claim

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Shippers complained Monday that Great Southern Trucking Co. is unreasonably slow in deliveries.

The trucking firm, one of the major highway carriers serving Florida, also is slow in processing damage and loss claimed, the shippers charged. They claimed Great Southern takes up to 40 days to adjust claims, while other truckers settle within 10-15 days.

About a dozen Tallahassee shippers appeared at a hearing by the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission to protest the service rendered by Great Southern.

The hearing is the first of a series to be held throughout the state in an investigation by the commission of the service given by regular route truck lines. Fifty witnesses have been asked to testify during the two days the commission is taking testimony here.

General Counsel Lewis Petteway is hearing the testimony on behalf of the commission.

Mrs. Faye L. Carter, vice president of Dan Carter Co., a millworks and building supply firm, complained that shipments from Jacksonville by Great Southern often are not delivered in Tallahassee for five or six days. She said 10 days is the normal shipping time from Atlanta by the line.

In contrast, she said, the M. R. & R. truck line gives overnight service from Jacksonville.

She testified that several times Dan Carter Co. has lost business because customers refused to accept delivery of goods because of the slowness of delivery by Great Southern.

W. C. Holland Jr., of Holly, Inc., an industrial supplies jobbing firm, testified that he had instructed shippers to avoid if possible shipment by Great Southern because of slow delivery.

Ed Allen, attorney for Great Southern, said shipments from Chicago and other midwest points come only part of the way by Great Southern. The company does not serve areas north of Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala., he said.

Have a Penny-- It's Free

They're giving money away in Coral Gables.

But it's a one-to-a-customer deal.

Coral Gables Federal Savings and Loan Assn. has thousands of new Lincoln Memorial pennies and is offering one to each person who drops by one of its four offices.

The firm expected youngsters to turn out in droves for the free pennies. But in the first few days of the promotion adults asking for the free money outnumbered the children 25 to 1.

So far, about 10,000 have been given away.

The new pennies look just like the old ones on one side—with a profile likeness of Abraham Lincoln. But on the "tails" side is an engraving of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

Bell System '58 Earning: $1 Billion

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The Bell System earned close to one billion dollars after taxes in 1958, its annual report showed Monday.

No other net profits of a business enterprise have been so high in a year's time with the exception of General Motors Corp. which earned nearly $1,200,000,000 in 1955.

The Bell report showed consolidated net income for 1958 at $981,463,000, equal to $14.01 a share of stock of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

This compared with $852,904,000, or $13 per share of AT&T stock in 1957. AT&T and its principal operating subsidiaries comprise the Bell System.

Earnings of AT&T itself amounted to $744,073,000, or $10.95 a share in 1958, against $686,058,0000, or $10.75 per share in 1957.

AT&T President Frederick R. Kappel said in the report mailed to 1,620,000 shareholders that the earnings improvement reflected more efficient operations, "vigorous selling" including doorbell ringing to sell the service and "much needed" rate increases.

Safety Seat

A Belgian engineer developed this airplane seat designed to protect passengers in event of a crash landing. The seat tilts backward, holding the occupant in a horizontal sitting position with knees up. This, says Sabena Airlines, prevents the passenger from being thrown forward. The seat also adjusts to a flat position for sleeping.

'Sequencer' Nurses, Fires Missiles

Countdown at Canaveral Is a Product of Miami

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

The electronic device that performs the missile-firing countdowns at Cape Canaveral is made in Miami.

It's a product of Milgo Electronics Corp., 7601 NW 37th Ave., a firm which set up shop three years ago and now employs 225 persons — many of them women.

When an Atlas or a Titan missile booms skyward from the Cape, it is Milgo's complex "Sequencer", that nurses it through the elaborate pre-firing stages and actually triggers the projectile when the "zero" moment is reached.

* * *

YOU CAN BUY a Sequencer for about $70,000, although it would be of little value to you unless you were engaged in some type of missile-firing project.

"It pays for itself many times over by saving just one big missile from destruction," Reginald H. Mattox of Milgo said.

The Sequencer saves missiles by detecting malfunctions in their mechanisms. A good example of this occurred last December, when a defective function in a Titan was spotted after firing but before actual takeoff.

The Sequencer cut in safing devices which made the Titan safe for removal from the launching pad to the laboratory area.

Suppose the malfunction had not been detected?

"The Titan would have had to be destroyed in the early phase of its flight because the malfunction would have caused it to veer from its predetermined flight path," Mattox said.

* * *

THIS MIAMI-MADE device is something like a giant clock and electronic brain rolled into one. When it is placed in operation, it will function for 1,010 minutes — 1,000 minutes before launching and 10 minutes after the missile is on its way.

The countdown at the Cape begins many hours before a missile is fired.

The Sequencer automatically controls the myriad of operations that precede and immediately follow the launching of any large missile.

IT TURNS ON the batteries to warm up the missile's electronic components.

IT PROGRAMS the turning on and off of the equipment that fuels the missile.

IT STARTS and stops the test instruments that check electronic circuits of the missile's "brain."

IT FIRES the missile.

The Sequencer is designed to recognize the exact condition which must exist during each of the operations it controls. When any other condition is detected, the device will automatically "hold fire" until the condition is corrected.

* * *

MILGO HAS MADE several Sequencers for use at Cape Canaveral and is now working on one for the new Pacific missile range in California.

The people who make the Sequencer here are mainly technically-trained specialists, many of whom Milgo found already living in the Miami area.

In the missile field, the firm turns out data transmission systems, plotting boards, and master control panels — which contain switches necessary to start, stop, manually control and over-ride the Sequencer's operations.

Florida Power and Light Plans 2-for-1 Stock Split

Dow Jones, AP, UPI

Florida Power and Light Co. directors proposed Monday a two-for-one stock split, and scheduled a May 11 meeting to allow shareholders to vote on the proposal.

The company's stock has been hovering near $90 a share in anticipation of a split. It closed Monday at 91 7-8, up 2⅛.

If the split is approved, stockholders of record May 21 will receive new shares about June 1, a spokesman said. F. P. & L. has 6.6 million shares of common stock outstanding.

Earlier, the directors approved a 77-million-dollar construction budget for 1959, up 4 million dollars from 1958.

The money will be spent on plants at Ft. Myers, Dania and Port Everglades, and for converting major plants so they can burn natural gas as an alternate fuel when it is available.

A spokesman said the company will require some outside financing, of a kind and type to be decided later in the year.

Last year, F. P. & L. raised $23,550,000 from the sale of 300,000 shares of common stock.

In the Shell or Out?

2 Scrambled Please

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— The day may come when you can buy eggs scrambled in the shell or frozen French toast.

Those possibilities were advanced by R. M. Hendrickson, who spoke before the institute of American Poultry Industries.

He said there are two big reasons people do not eat as many eggs as they should.

"Eggs are inconvenient and they don't offer variety."

"We must think of new ways to merchandise them. Some of the ideas that now sound impractical will become feasible if we can learn to irradiate eggs successfully on a commercial scale."

His suggestions included egg-fortified cereals, egg-flavored concentrates, and processed semi-solid egg bars.

Sylvia Porter's Income Tax Series: No. 2

Your Expense Account Is a Big Tax Aid

By SYLVIA PORTER

(In collaboration with The Research Institute of America)

The expense account has now become an official tax-sheltered fringe benefit for top executives and other employes.

For the Treasury last year said it won't ask any questions about expense account reimbursements and outlays if the employe's spending is okay with the employer. In other words, if your employer requires you to account to him for your reimbursed expenses and you do so, that's a substitute for Treasury examination of your expense account.

SYLVIA

This is a terrific incentive for using expense accounts. The average employer has a far more generous view of what's an acceptable business outlay than the average Treasury agent. The employer's view may be even more liberal when a key employe is involved.

Here's the story. For years, an employee reimbursed by his employer for travel, entertainment, etc., expenses has theoretically been expected to report the reimbursement as income on his tax return and show the outlays as deductions. In reality, practically no one has done this.

* * *

SO IN 1957, as part of a big drive on phony deductions, the Treasury tried to write the theory into the tax return by adding a new line which required expense reimbursements to be reported as income. So sensational was the howl that went up from taxpayers that the Treasury backed down, told taxpayers to forget about the new line in filling out their '57 returns. But, it warned, get ready for your 1958 return.

Then came one of the biggest switcheroos in Treasury history. Instead of asking for something as tough as the 1957 return requirement (from which it retreated because taxpayers didn't have enough notice to keep records of their reimbursed expenses), the Treasury in 1958 set up a blueprint enabling employes officially — not just in fact — to forget about keeping records of, or reporting expense accounts.

All that's necessary is for the employer to require the employe to account to him in writing for the expense reimbursements. This writing should show the business nature of the expense and its broad category — transportation, entertainment, etc. In this connection, note that use of an employer's credit card is an expense reimbursement requiring this kind of accounting.

IF THESE EASY requirements are met, the employe just has to answer two simple questions at the bottom of the page one on his 1958 return, indicating that he received reimbursed expenses and accounted for them to his employer.

And if the accounting requirements are met, not only is the employe excused from reporting expense account details; he also is ordinarily freed from the burden of having to support his expense account with records — except where the employe is a controlling stockholder of the corporation or the employer's accounting requirements are too flimsy.

* * *

ONE CAUTION: If an employe claims business expense deductions in excess of his reimbursements, he is required to show his full reimbursement and expense deductions on his return. An employe who may have to pay some of his business expenses out of his own pocket will want to think twice, therefore, about opening all of his expenses to question by deducting his out-of-pocket expenses — especially if they're relatively small.

* * *

ONE REGRET: While the new expense account rules constitute a real tax break for executives of widely-held corporations and other employes generally, they don't help the small businessman. A partner or individual proprietor is automatically outside the new rules because he isn't an employe.

* * *

AND ALTHOUGH the owner-officer of a closely held corporation is an employe and thus comes within the new expense account rules, they don't do him too much good, because when a closely-held corporation's return is examined, the Treasury practice is to examine the owner's return at the same time.

The corporation's deductions for amounts paid to its stockholder-officer are subject to especially careful scrutiny and the agents insist on proof acceptable to THEM. And if a corporation's deduction is disallowed, this will result in a double tax on that money — once to the corporation, then to the owner who must include the money advanced in his income.

* * *

ONE WARNING: While the new rules make the expense account a major fringe benefit for many executives, the top Treasury brass has warned of a crackdown if widespread, flagrant abuses are found. But it's hard to see how the Treasury can ever find these under the new rules.

Tomorrow: Contributions in merchandise can bring tax savings).

Religion and Business

'Am I in a Job I Can Pray About?'

GAINESVILLE —(UPI)— A business executive took both clergymen and businessmen to task Monday for failing to link religion to everyday life.

Lee H. Bristol Jr., director of public relations of the Bristol-Meyers products division, said in a speech at the University of Florida College of Business Administration that too many persons see religion as something strangely unrelated to life.

"Some of the fault for this lack of awareness, no doubt, lies with the preaching of our clergy," Bristol said. "Not knowing much about industrial life, often our clergy cannot build an adequate bridge in their sermons between faith and the way that faith has a bearing on how we spend weekday hours on the job."

He called for more informal church discussions on business themes, inclusion of more clergy guests at business meetings, summer jobs in industry for seminary students and business internships after graduation.

"Or maybe a few more of us businessmen should sit down informally with our own clergy just to let them know about our problems," Bristol said.

He proposed also that business schools focus attention on religion, because even the bible places great emphasis on work.

" . . . A spiritual person may not lead psalm-singing in the board room, but he may very well recognize that it is a sacred act he performs when, in an unobstrusive, unpreachy way, he reminds colleagues at a policy meeting how human beings may be affected by this or that change in the benefits program," Bristol said.

He suggested that businessmen make up check lists to go over periodicals. The one he proposed included such questions as:

— "AM I IN a job I can pray about or should I change?

— "AM I CONSCIOUS of the 'ministry' I have on the job not only in the work I do but the lives my life touches during the day?"

— "DO I EXPECT more of others in the firm than I expect of myself?"

— "DO I REMIND myself how human beings are affected by company decisions in which I have a part?"

— "AM I MORE interested in the advancement of personal aims than those of the company as a whole?"

— "WOULD I ADMIRE as honorable the way the company does business, were I not a member of the firm?"

Early Lead Wiped Out At Closing

NEW YORK — (AP) — A vigorous early advance sagged under late profit taking Monday but the stock market remained irregularly ahead on average.

Tobaccos sank as Wall Street buzzed with talk of another magazine article upcoming on the effects of cigarette smoking. Coppers advanced solidly on higher prices at the custom smelter level.

Steels were vigorously ahead at the start but saw much of their advance melt away in late dealings. Steel output was reported at the highest level in nearly two years.

Market prices were at their best in the morning. Advances by industrials were almost eliminated by the close. A technical rally by rails and a fair gain by utilities rescued the overall list.

Wall Street technicians explained the market action by saying the list ran into profit taking when it reached the 590 level in the Dow Jones industrial average, an area of supply where stocks are available for sale.

Some sharp drops by blue chips weighted the average toward the downside. Du Pont, taking a net loss of 2, was off about 5 points immediately after directors took usual dividend action. Eastman Kodak, which has risen lately on stock split rumors, dropped 3 in sympathy.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 1,910,000 shares compared with 1,570,000 Friday.

LOOKING FOR AN EXECUTIVE?

An energetic, self starting young executive — a past president of one corporation, vice president of two corporations, and sec.-treas. of two corporations desires position with South Florida company, large or small. Willing to learn any business. Salary no object, but potential is. Age 34, married, 3 daughters, a pilot with over 2000 hours, a one handicap golfer. Experienced in manufacturing, sales, distribution and finance. Write Executive, c/o 3833 N. 35th Place, Phoenix, Arizona.

IS NOW THE TIME TO SPECULATE IN WARRANTS?

A well-timed speculation in warrants at very low prices can offer you big profits — even a small fortune — in a short time. Here are two examples of 'leverage' gains offered by warrants: while $100 in Tri-Continental's stock was growing to $1,623 in 48 months, $100 in Tri-Continental's warrants grew to $17,200 — or 10.6 times as much. And while $100 in Hoffman Electronics' stock was growing to $2,267 in 24 months $100 in Hoffman Electronics' warrants grew to $50,000 — or 22.1 times as much. As you can see, $100 in warrants (especially at low prices) can do the work of $1000 or even $2000 in growth stocks. Now many warrants are low-priced once again. And our Editors in a new Special Report select for you: "8 Very Low-Priced Warrants That Can Make You Big 'Leverage Profits'". A copy of this new Warrant Report is yours as a special bonus now when you send just $1 (new readers only) to try our unique advisory service "The Growth Stock Letter" for the next two weeks. Will your retirement income be enough?

Figure it out. You may be in for quite a surprise. Many have thought that their Pension Plan plus Social Security would be sufficient, only to find out too late, that with living costs what they are, additional income would be necessary for comfortable retirement.

Today, while you are still earning, is the time to do something about building up your retirement income. By starting a consistent investment program now, you should be able to develop a "second income" that could be of great help when you stop working; an income that could make the difference between pinching pennies and really enjoying your days of freedom.

Are You Raising Delinquents? 12 'Rules' Tell How

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I don't think I have ever read anything in your column which was printed elsewhere, but I hope you will make an exception in this case because the enclosed is something every parent should see. The following was reportedly prepared by the police department of Houston, Tex. Here are twelve rules for raising delinquent children:

ANN

1—Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2—When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute. It will also encourage him to pick up "cuter" phrases which will blow off the top of your head later.

3—Never give him any spiritual training. Wait till he is 21 and then let him "decide for himself."

4—Avoid use of the word "wrong." It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe, later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5—Pick up everything he leaves lying around — books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on to others.

6—Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful that the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feast on garbage.

7—Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will not be too shocked when the home is broken up later.

8—Give a child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9—Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every sensual desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10—Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11—When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him."

12—Prepare for a life of grief. You will be apt to have it.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I have been married 12 years. Our two children are three years and 14 months old. I've worked since I was 16 and I'm sick of it.

My husband has always made good money and so have I. We've been intelligent about living within our means and even managed to invest a little. Now I want to quit work and stay home with the children.

My husband says we can't make it on one paycheck. I've shown him in black and white that we can. I'm perfectly willing to cut out some of the extras, such as checks to my older sister who is constantly between marriages.

Can you say something to help me win this campaign?

—OLIVIA

Dear Olivia: A woman who has helped her husband lift that barge and tote that bale for 12 years shouldn't need a campaign manager if she wants to stay at home.

Thousands of families get by on one check and yours can, too. You've been a crutch so long your husband is dependent on you. Simply stop arguing. Tell him you're giving notice, then quit. If you let him talk you out of it now you'll be in harness for the rest of your life.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

"WANT a crusade?" asked the duPont barber shop bootblack. Before I could answer he continued. "Why do they let people build apartment houses for us Negroes, with no back doors? We got to carry the garbage out the front door and then back to the cans in the rear. What if one of those places catches fire?"

BELL

'Twas a darned good question. So I asked Commissioner Jimmy High. He asked City Manager Arthur Evans, who asked Woodward Hampton, executive secretary of the planning board.

And he said ----:

"The planning board is in accord in regard to need for . . . more than one exit for a multiple-family apartment dwelling unit. This becomes vital when an apartment house is two or more floors in height . . . The commissioners are responsible for regulations which protect health, happiness and welfare of the citizens . . . Lack of a secondary doorway in an apartment house could cause injury or death in case of an uncontrolled fire.

"The planning board strongly urges the commission to consider the safety of the inhabitants, the convenience of two entrances . . . also that the commission act promptly in considering and alleviating this existing condition."

Y'know, I wouldn't believe—until I saw a number of them—that any builder could or would build an apartment with such cheapness in mind that no back doors were included. The cost, according to Hampton, "would be slight."

No wonder the parents are proud.

Syndicate Hates Independents and Feeling's Mutual

Two Bookie Breeds Run Dade Betting

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

Must Be Hurtin'

Boys on Beach Now Clamming Up With Strangers

Bookie Purge Pledged . . . . Page 14

By BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writer

The odds were 100-1 against a stranger placing a horse bet on Miami Beach Monday—and a retracing of The Herald's earlier betting route turned up the police chief's special bookie investigator at the first stop.

Neither he nor any other policeman had been anywhere in sight last week when The Herald was placing illegal bets with bookies up and down the Beach.

"I'm out today trying to see what's going on," said Detective Pat Perdue.

PERDUE

Perdue, in his car, hailed The Herald reporter as he shuffled into Raynor's Playhouse Bar, 28 Ocean Dr., Miami Beach, intent on picking a faster nag than was bet there by earlier Herald visitors.

"I can tell you that Abe Raynor isn't running a book," Perdue vowed.

Since the chances of betting in Raynor's appeared somewhat slim at this point, Raynor was summoned out.

"Didn't you swear to me you weren't having anything more to do with horses?" Perdue said. "It was in 1953, right after you were sick."

"It was in 1951, Pat," Raynor said.

"It was 1953."

"Well, I wouldn't lie to you, Pat. I dont' take no bets."

It was pointed out to Raynor that The Herald bet with a man nicknamed "Harry the Hatter" (not the better known, real hat salesman from Miami).

Raynor denied that, too.

Having defended the character of Raynor, Perdue turned to other fields.

"I been out looking for this "Dom," he said. (Dom was a runner at a hotel on the beach near Fifth St. The Herald bet $2 with him.) I don't even think there is such a guy."

It was suggested that Perdue come along and take another check.

"Have you seen 'Dom' around?" Perdue asked a man at a beach-side hotdog stand.

"No," was the reply. "He hasn't been around all day."

In the course of a half hour, Perdue said:

THE BOOKIES "aren't wide open."

AND THEN, I'm not up on the bookies now,"

AND THEN, "There may be 100 across the street."

The reporter decided to seek out Meyer the Flyer, a bookie who operates around Fifth St. and Washington Ave.

"Meyer? He aint' here today," said the man at the desk.

He was asked where a $5 bet might be placed on a particularly likely horse in the sixth race.

"I'll connect you with Francis," he said. "Just pick up the house phone."

Francis, it developed, wanted to know who was calling. "Bob? Bob who? I don't know you. Get off the line."

Later, Perdue's old bookie detail sidekick, Detective Ted Norris, now working "special assignment," was encountered.

How does he like being on the "bookie squad?"

"I don't mind it," Norris said.

But Norris added thoughtfully:

"I concur with Lt. (Moe) Huddleston that there are a lot worse crimes than bookmaking."

HUTTOE

A search in Miami around the Pan American Hotel for Sam the Mayor proved fruitless, largely because Sam was in jail at the time.

Miami police picked him up after reading in The Herald that a special investigator had bet with old Sam.

"I'm glad to see The Herald doing this," said Lt. Otis Huttoe, chief of downtown District 1 where the Pan American Hotel is. "We'll cooperate with anybody."

Why hasn't he made bookie raids himself?

"We've sent people around from time to time. We've got a lot of other crimes to worry about. Besides, it takes money, and everytime you spend a nickle, they're screaming at you . . ."

Box Score On Beach

Here's how Miami Beach law enforcers have done in two areas of criminal activity in the past 14 months.

Bookmaking and other gambling violations:

20 arrests, five convictions

Violation of the anti-hot plate ordinance:

27 arrests, 19 convictions.

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

'Happiest I've Ever Been'

Brothers United After 31 Years

Charles W. Colvin, 36, picked up the telephone to call a debtor Monday and wound up finding his only brother separated from him 31 years ago.

"I'm the happiest man I've ever been," said Colvin, of 17835 Franjo Park Rd., Perrine.

The long lost brother, Walter L. Widger, 31, of 250 E. 63rd St., Hialeah was just as astounded. He had never known he had a brother.

Colvin said his mother died a few days after Widger was born in Syracuse, N.Y.

"I knew his name, because I had helped pick out the middle name, Lee, when I was five," Colvin said.

He said that after his mother's death his father was "terribly upset and went to pieces." Colvin said he was placed in an orphans home and Widger was "given by my father to a lady who wanted a tiny baby very much."

Colvin later was adopted by a Colvin family in Syracuse. He never knew what happened to his brother. It turned out the brother was kept by the guardian, but never officially adopted.

Widger said he didn't learn his real name until he was 16 and needed a birth certificate to get a working permit. His guardian told him the story of his mother's death and told him his real name. She never told him of his brother.

Colvin came to Miami five years ago to open a radio and television repair shop. Widger came three years ago and has worked as a bus driver.

Colvin picked up the phone book Monday to look up the number of a past-due debtor. His eye fell on the name "Walter L. Widger."

He said, "I felt kind of foolish, but I had to call."

Widger said he thought someone was pulling a practical joke at first. But Colvin convinced him and Widger rushed over to Colvin's shop.

"We just kicked all the customers out and are having a wonderful time," Colvin said. "I'm feeling younger than I have in a long time. He's the image of my father."

He Still Seeks Yule Tree Pay

Edward C. Harris still is trying to collect for last year's Christmas trees, he complained in a Civil Court of Record suit against Truly Nolen, Inc. Monday.

The suit claims $1,072.50 due on a $7,000 order for four carloads of spruce. Harris goes to Canada every year to collect Christmas trees for Miami retailers, his attorney, Norman F. Solomon said.

Turner to Speak

Metro Meetings Break Resolution

Terminal's a Lonely Place for a Little Boy

Secret Groups Appointed

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

County Commission Chairman Walter Weiss acknowledged Monday that — despite a commission resolution to the contrary — he has appointed secret committees which hold secret, locked-door meetings.

Weiss' statement drew immediate and loud complaint from Commissioner Joe Boyd, whose motion against any and all secret meetings was approved by Weiss during the commission's opening meeting in October.

Boyd made his comment after learning that Weiss had quietly appointed a four-man "Port Authority committee" whose meeting with Port Director George McSherry Monday was closed to reporters and the public.

"I will certainly raise cain about this," said Boyd. "I didn't even know we had a Port Authority committee — and it is contrary to the Metro charter to meet in secret.

"Whenever the commission needs facts," Boyd continued, "all 11 members should sit down and subpena the people with those facts. And the press and public should be there to see and hear it all."

When Boyd presented a resolution to that effect at the present commission's first meeting in October, all commissioners — except John McLeod and including Weiss—accepted the measure with bravos.

But Monday Weiss said, "It is my freedom as chairman to appoint committees without advising the whole board," and added that he favors more closed-door meetings in the future.

"It became obvious we were bogged down in taking every matter before the full 11-man board. So I have begun to appoint committees to get the facts and bring them back to the whole commission, which sets policy," Weiss said.

"Generally, the press can sit in on committee meetings," Weiss said. "But there may be times when it is impractical.

"For instance, this meeting with the Big Four airlines was not public business. They are having an internal squabble. If the press had been present, much of what the airlines wanted to talk about would not have come out."

Weiss said he named Arthur Patten chairman of the Port Authority committee composed of Edwin Mason, Ralph Fossey and Ben McGahey.

McGahey said Monday that as far as he was concerned, the Monday meeting was not secret. He gave this account:

WEISS

BOYD

McSherry is trying to clear space for a sixth "finger" at the new 20th St. terminal. He wants three airlines to voluntarily reduce their "maintenance turn-around" space — Pan American, which has 12.8 acres; Delta, which has 20 acres, and Northeast, which has 17. Two lines are willing, but Delta refused.

Carlos, 3, Only Cried Once On His Wide-Eyed Air Jaunt

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

At three, Carlos Lemus is an experienced world traveler.

The boy, his dark eyes round with confusion and wonder, left Miami Monday on the last leg of his solo trip from South America to New York.

From the time he arrived alone in Miami Saturday from Guayaquil, Ecuador, until he left, Carlos cried only once.

Not because he was alone or afraid or even because he could speak no English.

His tears came when his mother-for-the-weekend, Mrs. Enrique Montoto, a Cuban employe of TAN airlines, took his brand new traveling clothes off so he could go to bed at her home.

"He loved those clothes," said Mrs. Montoto, a mother of two boys. "That hat and that coat — he won't let them go."

They were woolly, the cap with ear flaps and the coat with a big brown fur collar.

Carlos was on his way to New York to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ana Lemus. From Ecuador to Miami was okay for the little traveler, but when he tried to check out, trouble started.

U.S. airlines frown on children under five traveling alone. Carlos had nobody. So he waited at Mrs. Montoto's home until a TAN employe could break free to accompany him to New York.

"I cooked Spanish food for him," said Mrs. Montoto, "and he loved it. And he liked the television. He had never seen it before."

Carlos came without toys, except for a tiny red plastic camera strapped around his neck. He spoke little, but was happy to obey those around him.

He had no clothes with him except those he wore.

And when he left on a late flight, his round eyes were at half-mast.

Fund Delay Won't Hurt Teachers

State money to pay teachers left Tallahassee two weeks late this month — but Dade's school personnel will still get their salaries on time.

State Comptroller Ray E. Green said Monday that nine million dollars in school funds was mailed out late and $1,112,000 was still to be sent.

Green said the money normally would have been distributed Feb. 1. But the Cabinet approved the delay until the state's cash balance builds up.

Edward Hilgendorf, assistant superintendent of finance for Dade's school system, said the delay has not and will not affect teachers here.

"We have enough cash carry-over to safeguard against emergencies like this," said Hilgendorf. "Prior to 1950 we were sometimes caught short and had to borrow until the tax money came in."

Dade's teacher payroll runs about three million dollars a month, with approximately 40 per cent of it from the state, Hilgendorf said.

Free Bus Rides Offered to Lure Shoppers to City

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

Miami's downtown merchants came up with a "Free Park and Ride" plan Monday designed to coax back thousands of shoppers who have been enticed away by a growing number of suburban shopping centers.

The new plan, which goes into operation next Monday, hopes to "bring 'em back to town" with the following features:

FREE PARKING all day at the Orange Bowl parking area.

FREE BUS RIDES to and from town on Miami Transit buses which will shuttle between the parking area and downtown Flagler St. and NE First St. from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

NUMEROUS STOPS downtown on an eight-minute schedule which includes nonstop runs between the parking area and town.

If enough shoppers respond to a five-week trial period, the plan will be made permanent.

Two other terminal points may be set up in the Northwest and Southwest sections.

The new plan was adopted by the Downtown Miami Business Council Monday. The group, made up of downtown businessmen, will finance the project in cooperation with the City of Miami and the Miami Transit Co.

"We are out to rejuvenate our slowly waning volume of shoppers, and there isn't any time to waste," explained council President Ken Clifford.

The council hopes to move at least 1,500 shoppers a day into the downtown district.

"If the people go for this plan we are prepared to increase the number of buses to handle a greater volume of passengers," Clifford said.

The idea for the park-and-ride plan came from City Engineer Arthur E. Darlow after a study of ways of improving downtown business.

The bus company will charge the council $117 a day for the free bus service, and the City of Miami has agreed to provide the free parking space.

Don't Disturb The Snowman

HARTFORD, Conn. —(UPI)—After a month of snowless winter weather, the Hartford Times printed a picture of a sled on barren ground with the caption: "Where's the snow?" Before the final edition, it started to snow and the next day the Times printed another picture of the sled, this time covered with snow, and the caption: "We asked for it."

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

"WANT a crusade?" asked the duPont barber shop bootblack. Before I could answer he continued. "Why do they let people build apartment houses for us Negroes, with no back doors? We got to carry the garbage out the front door and then back to the cans in the rear. What if one of those places catches fire?"

BELL

'Twas a darned good question. So I asked Commissioner Jimmy High. He asked City Manager Arthur Evans, who asked Woodward Hampton, executive secretary of the planning board.

And he said ----:

"The planning board is in accord in regard to need for . . . more than one exit for a multiple-family apartment dwelling unit. This becomes vital when an apartment house is two or more floors in height . . . The commissioners are responsible for regulations which protect health, happiness and welfare of the citizens . . . Lack of a secondary doorway in an apartment house could cause injury or death in case of an uncontrolled fire.

"The planning board strongly urges the commission to consider the safety of the inhabitants, the convenience of two entrances . . . also that the commission act promptly in considering and alleviating this existing condition."

Y'know, I wouldn't believe—until I saw a number of them—that any builder could or would build an apartment with such cheapness in mind that no back doors were included. The cost, according to Hampton, "would be slight."

Gifts of TV

In San Salvador the government pays little or no attention to the indigent who is sick. So the San Salvador Lions Club built a 1,000-bed hospital. This week the Sunny Isles Lions Club will send them two television sets. They don't have a set now.

Smokers Help

Last autumn Art Bruns gave a big clambake to raise money for Variety Children's Hospital. One group of guests was from Hollywood. Henry P. Proud Parents

Cantor Berele Kelemer of Miami Hebrew Congregation pressed $5 in my hand, with a little prayer: "It is given in honor of my son, so may it help another's son." Jordan Kelemer, his son, an eighth grade student, will be honored Saturday at Bar Mitzvah. The youngster will chant the morning service, the Musof, the [illegible]ing of the Torah and the [illegible]torah.

No wonder the parents are proud.

Orchids Friday

When you walk into Bayfront Park Auditorium Friday for the 15th annual International Orchid Show, the first thing you'll see will be the Featherstone Boulder Rock Waterfall. Even Jack Songer of The Herald's national advertising department expresses enthusiasm. That means it's super something.

Syndicate Hates Independents and Feeling's Mutual

Two Bookie Breeds Run Dade Betting

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

Must Be Hurtin'

Boys on Beach Now Clamming Up With Strangers

Bookie Purge Pledged . . . . Page 14

By BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writer

The odds were 100-1 against a stranger placing a horse bet on Miami Beach Monday—and a retracing of The Herald's earlier betting route turned up the police chief's special bookie investigator at the first stop.

Neither he nor any other policeman had been anywhere in sight last week when The Herald was placing illegal bets with bookies up and down the Beach.

"I'm out today trying to see what's going on," said Detective Pat Perdue.

PERDUE

Perdue, in his car, hailed The Herald reporter as he shuffled into Raynor's Playhouse Bar, 28 Ocean Dr., Miami Beach, intent on picking a faster nag than was bet there by earlier Herald visitors.

"I can tell you that Abe Raynor isn't running a book," Perdue vowed.

Since the chances of betting in Raynor's appeared somewhat slim at this point, Raynor was summoned out.

"Didn't you swear to me you weren't having anything more to do with horses?" Perdue said. "It was in 1953, right after you were sick."

"It was in 1951, Pat," Raynor said.

"It was 1953."

"Well, I wouldn't lie to you, Pat. I don't take no bets."

It was pointed out to Raynor that The Herald bet with a man nicknamed "Harry the Hatter" (not the better known, real hat salesman from Miami).

Raynor denied that, too.

Having defended the character of Raynor, Perdue turned to other fields.

"I been out looking for this "Dom," he said. (Dom was a runner at a hotel on the beach near Fifth St. The Herald bet $2 with him.) I don't even think there is such a guy."

It was suggested that Perdue come along and take another check.

"Have you seen 'Dom' around?" Perdue asked a man at a beach-side hotdog stand.

"No," was the reply. "He hasn't been around all day."

In the course of a half hour, Perdue said:

THE BOOKIES "aren't wide open."

AND THEN, I'm not up on the bookies now,"

AND THEN, "There may be 100 across the street."

The reporter decided to seek out Meyer the Flyer, a bookie who operates around Fifth St. and Washington Ave.

"Meyer? He aint' here today," said the man at the desk.

He was asked where a $5 bet might be placed on a particularly likely horse in the sixth race.

"I'll connect you with Francis," he said. "Just pick up the house phone."

Francis, it developed, wanted to know who was calling. "Bob? Bob who? I don't know you. Get off the line."

Later, Perdue's old bookie detail sidekick, Detective Ted Norris, now working "special assignment," was encountered.

How does he like being on the "bookie squad?"

"I don't mind it," Norris said. But Norris added thoughtfully:

"I concur with Lt. (Moe) Huddleston that there are a lot worse crimes than bookmaking."

HUTTOE

A search in Miami around the Pan American Hotel for Sam the Mayor proved fruitless, largely because Sam was in jail at the time.

Miami police picked him up after reading in The Herald that a special investigator had bet with old Sam.

"I'm glad to see The Herald doing this," said Lt. Otis Huttoe, chief of downtown District 1 where the Pan American Hotel is. "We'll cooperate with anybody."

Why hasn't he made bookie raids himself?

"We've sent people around from time to time. We've got a lot of other crimes to worry about. Besides, it takes money, and everytime you spend a nickle, they're screaming at you . . ."

Box Score On Beach

Here's how Miami Beach law enforcers have done in two areas of criminal activity in the past 14 months.

Bookmaking and other gambling violations:

20 arrests, five convictions

Violation of the anti-hot plate ordinance:

27 arrests, 19 convictions.

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

'Happiest I've Ever Been'

Brothers United After 31 Years

Charles W. Colvin, 36, picked up the telephone to call a debtor Monday and wound up finding his only brother separated from him 31 years ago.

"I'm the happiest man I've ever been," said Colvin, of 17835 Franjo Park Rd., Perrine.

The long lost brother, Walter L. Widger, 31, of 250 E. 63rd St., Hialeah was just as astounded. He had never known he had a brother.

Colvin said his mother died a few days after Widger was born in Syracuse, N.Y.

"I knew his name because I had helped pick out the middle name, Lee, when I was five," Colvin said.

He said that after his mother's death his father was "terribly upset and went to pieces." Colvin said he was placed in an orphans home and Widger was "given by my father to a lady who wanted a tiny baby very much."

Colvin later was adopted by a Colvin family in Syracuse. He never knew what happened to his brother. It turned out the brother was kept by the guardian, but never officially adopted.

Widger said he didn't learn his real name until he was 16 and needed a birth certificate to get a working permit. His guardian told him the story of his mother's death and told him his real name. She never told him of his brother.

Colvin came to Miami five years ago to open a radio and television repair shop. Widger came three years ago and has worked as a bus driver.

Colvin picked up the phone book Monday to look up the number of a past-due debtor. His eye fell on the name "Walter L. Widger."

He said, "I felt kind of foolish, but I had to call."

Widger said he thought someone was pulling a practical joke at first. But Colvin convinced him and Widger rushed over to Colvin's shop.

"We just kicked all the customers out and are having a wonderful time," Colvin said. "I'm feeling younger than I have in a long time. He's the image of my father."

He Still Seeks Yule Tree Pay

Edward C. Harris still is trying to collect for last year's Christmas trees, he complained in a Civil Court of Record suit against Truly Nolen, Inc. Monday.

The suit claims $1,072.50 due on a $7,000 order for four carloads of spruce. Harris goes to Canada every year to collect Christmas trees for Miami retailers, his attorney, Norman F. Solomon said.

John B. Turner, Florida chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, will address the Miami Chapter of the Military Order of World Wars at a luncheon meeting today in the McAllister Hotel.

Metro Meetings Break Resolution

Secret Groups Appointed

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

County Commission Chairman Walter Weiss acknowledged Monday that — despite a commission resolution to the contrary — he has appointed secret committees which hold secret, locked-door meetings.

Weiss' statement drew immediate and loud complaint from Commissioner Joe Boyd, whose motion against any and all secret meetings was approved by Weiss during the commission's opening meeting in October.

Boyd made his comment after learning that Weiss had quietly appointed a four-man "Port Authority committee" whose meeting with Port Director George McSherry Monday was closed to reporters and the public.

"I will certainly raise cain about this," said Boyd. "I didn't even know we had a Port Authority committee — and it is contrary to the Metro charter to meet in secret.

"Whenever the commission needs facts," Boyd continued, "all 11 members should sit down and subpena the people with those facts. And the press and public should be there to see and hear it all."

When Boyd presented a resolution to that effect at the present commission's first meeting in October, all commissioners — except John McLeod and including Weiss—accepted the measure with bravos.

But Monday Weiss said, "It is my freedom as chairman to appoint committees without advising the whole board," and added that he favors more closed-door meetings in the future.

"It became obvious we were bogged down in taking every matter before the full 11-man board. So I have begun to appoint committees to get the facts and bring them back to the whole commission, which sets policy," Weiss said.

"Generally, the press can sit in on committee meetings," Weiss said. "But there may be times when it is impractical.

"For instance, this meeting with the Big Four airlines was not public business. They are having an internal squabble. If the press had been present, much of what the airlines wanted to talk about would not have come out."

Weiss said he named Arthur Patten chairman of the Port Authority committee composed of Edwin Mason, Ralph Fossey and Ben McGahey.

McGahey said Monday that as far as he was concerned,

WEISS

BOYD

the Monday meeting was not secret. He gave this account:

McSherry is trying to clear space for a sixth "finger" at the new 20th St. terminal. He wants three airlines to voluntarily reduce their "maintenance turn-around" space—Pan American, which has 12.8 acres; Delta, which has 20 acres, and Northeast, which has 17. Two lines are willing, but Delta refused.

Terminal's a Lonely Place for a Little Boy
. . . but little Carlos Lemus takes it with aplomb

Carlos, 3, Only Cried Once On His Wide-Eyed Air Jaunt

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

At three, Carlos Lemus is an experienced world traveler.

The boy, his dark eyes round with confusion and wonder, left Miami Monday on the last leg of his solo trip from South America to New York.

From the time he arrived alone in Miami Saturday from Guayaquil, Ecuador, until he left, Carlos cried only once.

Not because he was alone or afraid or even because he could speak no English.

His tears came when his mother-for-the-weekend, Mrs. Enrique Montoto, a Cuban employe of TAN airlines, took his brand new traveling clothes off so he could go to bed at her home.

"He loved those clothes," said Mrs. Montoto, a mother of two boys. "That hat and that coat — he won't let them go."

They were woolly, the cap with ear flaps and the coat with a big brown fur collar.

Carlos was on his way to New York to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ana Lemus. From Ecuador to Miami was okay for the little traveler, but when he tried to check out, trouble started.

U.S. airlines frown on children under five traveling alone. Carlos had nobody. So he waited at Mrs. Montoto's home until a TAN employe could break free to accompany him to New York.

"I cooked Spanish food for him," said Mrs. Montoto, "and he loved it. And he liked the television. He had never seen it before."

Carlos came without toys, except for a tiny red plastic camera strapped around his neck. He spoke little, but was happy to obey those around him.

He had no clothes with him except those he wore.

And when he left on a late flight, his round eyes were at half-mast.

Fund Delay Won't Hurt Teachers

State money to pay teachers left Tallahassee two weeks late this month — but Dade's school personnel will still get their salaries on time.

State Comptroller Ray E. Green said Monday that nine million dollars in school funds was mailed out late and $1,112,000 was still to be sent.

Green said the money normally would have been distributed Feb. 1. But the Cabinet approved the delay until the state's cash balance builds up.

Edward Hilgendorf, assistant superintendent of finance for Dade's school system, said the delay has not and will not affect teachers here.

"We have enough cash carry-over to safeguard against emergencies like this," said Hilgendorf. "Prior to 1950 we were sometimes caught short and had to borrow until the tax money came in."

Dade's teacher payroll runs about three million dollars a month, with approximately 48 per cent of it from the state, Hilgendorf said.

Free Bus Rides Offered to Lure Shoppers to City

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

Miami's downtown merchants came up with a "Free Park and Ride" plan Monday designed to coax back thousands of shoppers who have been enticed away by a growing number of suburban shopping centers.

The new plan, which goes into operation next Monday, hopes to "bring 'em back to town" with the following features:

FREE PARKING all day at the Orange Bowl parking area.

FREE BUS RIDES to and from town on Miami Transit buses which will shuttle between the parking area and downtown Flagler St. and NE First St. from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

NUMEROUS STOPS downtown on an eight-minute schedule which includes non-stop runs between the parking area and town.

If enough shoppers respond to a five-week trial period, the plan will be made permanent.

Two other terminal points may be set up in the Northwest and Southwest sections.

The new plan was adopted by the Downtown Miami Business Council Monday. The group, made up of downtown businessmen, will finance the project in cooperation with the City of Miami and the Miami Transit Co.

"We are out to rejuvenate our slowly waning volume of shoppers, and there isn't any time to waste," explained council President Ken Clifford.

The council hopes to move at least 1,500 shoppers a day into the downtown district.

"If the people go for this plan we are prepared to increase the number of buses to handle a greater volume of passengers," Clifford said.

The idea for the park-and-ride plan came from City Engineer Arthur E. Darlow after a study of ways of improving downtown business.

The bus company will charge the council $117 a day for the free bus service, and the City of Miami has agreed to provide the free parking space.

New Williams Drama Wins Philadelphia

REJOICING was unanimous in Philly for Tennessee Williams' "Sweet Bird of Youth," co-starring Paul Newman and Geraldine Page. The drama, directed by Elia Kazan, gives every indication of being one of the season's top events . . . Miss Page, incidentally, once explained why she became an actress: "I thought I wanted to be an artist, but the pencil wouldn't go where I wanted it to. Then I thought to be a musician, but when I couldn't learn a concerto in the first lesson I gave up. But when I spoke my few lines in that Sunday-school play with such fervor that someone in the audience cried, I decided to act."

VINCENT ASTOR, who passed recently, knew that money is a wonderful servant and a terrible master. And he was aware that those who have fortunes owe a debt—to the community. Consequently, he spent millions of dollars to eradicate slums and fight disease and ignorance. Mr. Astor once pointed out that "the satisfaction of doing good gives you something money cannot buy."

In the final analysis, time is the greatest treasure. Vincent Astor was worth $100 million—but he couldn't buy an extra minute.

DURING the past fortnight, Shirley McLaine has starred in Life and Look. Moreover, she is brightening the "Some Came Running" flicker. In a brief period, she has become a major twinkler who commands fabulous fees. Only three years ago, Miss MacLaine was struggling to survive. For many months she managed to exist via 10c peanut butter sandwiches at the Automat. At that time, coffee was a luxury. She would get a glass of ice water, squeeze a slice of lemon in it, add sugar—and thus secure a free lemonade.

THE RECENT ridiculous and shameful publicity stunt involving Ava Gardner and a married tennis star—helps explain why the film star has bitterly commented: "Every place I go it is the same, thanks to the lousy things newspapermen write about me. People say things to my face they'd never say to their worst enemies. They read the scandal magazines and think they know all about me. They don't, because no one has ever written the truth about me. Being a movie star is the loneliest life in the world."

A heart-scarred vet of romantic wars, Miss Gardner has retreated across a dozen nations in four continents. Nevertheless, her extensive travels have been futile. For a very good reason: You cannot get away from yourself.

The movie version of "Diary of Anne Frank" is getting a wow buildup among previewers. The film, due on Broadway soon, was directed by George Stevens, one of Movieville's titans. Stevens recently pointed out: "It's strange. The voices that dominated Europe for years were those of Hitler and Goebbels, yet the voice that persists today is Anne's."

Undeniably, a glorious illustration of historic justice.

IN THE HELLFIRE of World War I Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan made himself famous with a single, simple observation. While bullets and shells scarred the night, he turned to his troops and grimly informed them: "Men, it's better ahead than it is here. Let's go!" They captured a vital objective and General Donovan won The Medal of Honor . . . The General, who passed recently, never left the front-lines. And he was always moving forward. As the father of the OSS, he played a major role in the struggle against Communism. Not many Americans have matched General Donovan's purity of patriotism. He was never hampered by political considerations or selfish motives. His devotion to his country was strong and constant. He loved freedom—and thanks to such love—freedom lives.

NO QUESTION about it, folks, our Good Neighbor policy is in good shape. The foregoing was certified in Brazil by Jayne Mansfield—whose shape speaks an international lingo. As an expression of their support for an American sexport, Brazilian fans, in a burst of fervor, ripped off her dress. The historic incident was recorded by photogs, of course . . . Our Jayne was equal to the occasion. The supreme diplomat, she blissfully informed One & All: "I know it's very common down here to pinch a girl, but goodness, I'm just black and blue everywhere." She then added gracefully: "Everybody has a different way of showing affection."

TIMES SQUARE CIRCLE: Maria's kid sister, Carla Alberghetti, and publicist Chas. Green are a duetcetera . . . John Jacob Astor, half-brother of the late Vincent Astor, is now head of the Astor clan. After the Astor Foundation gets its share J. J. administers the rest . . .

There's Only One Georgia Gibbs

Her Nibs Adds a New Touch To Old and It Sums Up to Fun

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

Cafe Review

Georgia Gibbs gives out with generous gobs of her Grade-A vocalizing at the Cafe Cristal of the Diplomat Hotel in her current stand through Thursday.

She is offering some of the old and lots that is new with the sum total of it a realization that though a lot of the new recording thrushes make an effort to "sound" like Her Nibs on vinyl flipjacks through the aid of electronic effects, there is only one Georgia Gibbs.

Georgia's fans start to holler early for her trademark numbers, such as "Tweedle, Tweedle, Dee," "Dance with Me, Henry," "Kiss of Fire" and the like, but Georgia gives them a bit of the new first.

For instance, she goes all out with an in-part Hebrew rendition of "Sholem Aleichem," and scores strongly with a fairly new "Volare," but with Georgia it is not only her tone and tempo which intrigue the ear—her exuberance of movement is also a thrill to the eye.

Wally Griffin carries the fun spot with one-line spoofs of modern manners and mores and works into a wow finish of spicy special material song, delivered in voice that would be considered good for a straight singer.

The Pagets open in varied dance routines, the most exciting of which is a lively cha cha cha; Mal Malkin's music proves a potent lure to the dancers and backs up the show in flawless fashion.

SULTRY song of Sallie Blair will be on tap at Ciro's with Colombo's quintet, starting tonight.

New Faces In Show Places

Additions to the Greater Miami entertainment scene slated for today will include the following:

* * *

Travel Series To 'Visit' Britain

The largest island in Europe, Great Britain, is the next stop in the "Travel MPL," pictorial travel series presented by the Miami Public Library, Feb. 19 at 1, 3:30 and 8 p.m. The films will show Scotland and England.

Admission is by free ticket which will be given out, for as long as they last prior to the program. Free tickets may be obtained at the branch libraries by requesting them, in advance, from branch librarians.

Russians Filming Life of Robeson

LONDON —(AP)— A film on the life and work of Paul Robeson, leftist American Negro singer and actor, is being made in the Soviet Union.

"We wish to tell as much as possible of the life and work of Robeson, the unbending peace champion," said Producer V. Katanyan in a broadcast by Moscow Radio.

The film is expected to be completed this month. The Robesons, now visiting Russia, are both ill in a Moscow hospital.

Elusive Hugh O'Brian Leads All the Rest

Easy, Girls, Here Are Film Bachelors

Hugh O'Brian Tony Perkins

. . . all needed factors

John Saxon | David Nelson | Gary Crosby | Montgomery Clift | Cesar Romero | Tab Hunter | George Nader | Sal Mineo

. . . choices of two Hollywood Bachelorettes include old timers and callow newcomers

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Here it is, girls — The Hollywood Bachelor Future Book for 1959.

Heading the list in the marital stakes is straight-shooting, elusive Hugh O'Brian.

Last year was a bad year for marriage in the film capital. Among the many unions that hit the rocks were those of the Ernest Borgnines, Rock Hudsons, Marlon Brandos, Cary Grants, Mickey Rooneys, Eddie Fishers, Tony Bartleys (Deborah Kerr), Vic Damones, Dewey Martins (Peggy Lee), and Ben Gages (Esther Williams).

These things usually go in cycles, so 1959 should shape up as a happy hunting season for the dolls, even if it isn't leap year.

Two Hollywood Bachelorettes, who remain anonymous for obvious reasons, have even gone so far as to compile a list of the most eligible males.

In the interest of maintaining some order, only bonafide bachelors are included; no grass widowers allowed.

The gals chose Hugh O'Brian as the No. 1 man. They argue that he has all the needed factors — looks, success, future. Informed of the honor, TV's Wyatt Earp didn't panic.

"I'm not anti-marriage," he said cooly. "I'd like to get married and raise a family—if the right girl comes along. It could happen in 1959."

Here are the others on the pigeon list:

TONY PERKINS. He seems engrossed in his career so far, but he could be trapped.

DAVID NELSON. The elder of the Nelson boys might get married if Uncle Sam doesn't get him first. Of course, his brother Ricky would also be a prime catch, but he's too young and cautious.

GARY CROSBY. The Crosbys are the marrying kind, and two of the boys have gone already. Gary is the eldest and may join the trend.

MONTGOMERY CLIFT. He's a tough one, but might be looking for a girl to tell his troubles to.

CESAR ROMERO. Just to create a challenge for the girls, Cesar is included on the list. He has long been one of the town's leading escorts and open-field runner in the marital game. But then, Jimmy Stewart didn't marry until past 40 and look how domestic he is now.

TAB HUNTER. Will he tire of the solo life? There's a chance here.

JOHN SAXON. Another heartbeat of the younger set, he also faces Army service. But he might want a girl to come home to.

SAL MINEO. The younger generation is marrying earlier these days, and Sal might join the trend.

GEORGE NADER. Some girl might be able to solve the mystery of how to get TV's Ellery Queen to the altar.

Next year at this time, we'll bring out the list and see how the girls did. Good hunting!

Wife Pat Says Flynn 'Impossible'

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Eight years ago when Patrice Wymore married Errol Flynn, her mother made a classic statement:

"Thank heavens, Patrice, now you'll be able to settle down."

Philosophical Pat finally has settled down — to resume her career, without Errol. She hasn't seen him in a year.

"When I married Errol," she said, "I promised I wouldn't try to reform him. The record bears out that I've kept my promise."

So far, there has been no talk of divorce. The couple maintain their yacht home in Majorca, off the coast of Spain.

"I miss the yacht terribly," she says, "but we could never afford to operate it here."

Flynn, who has been involved in more lawsuits than some lawyers, says he keeps the yacht because "it's the most unattachable home I've ever owned."

He hasn't been near it in months, what with observing the revolution in Cuba and making pictures.

Of Errol, Pat says:

"He's impossible."

And that's what Jack L. Warner used to say when Flynn was top star on the lot.

Iturbi to Play At Fashion Event

Jose Iturbi, pianist, will be the performer at the second annual Resort Fashion Award event, sponsored by Jordan-Marsh at noon on Feb. 25 at the Deauville hotel.

The luncheon-show-concert is for the benefit of the Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training.

Claims Share of Certain Films

Selznick Suing Loews For Million TV Take

By THOMAS M. PRYOR
The New York Times Service

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — David O. Selznick, the producer, has filed suit against Loews, Inc., claiming that he holds a half-interest in a group of motion pictures which he believes will gross $2,000,000 when shown on television and in theaters on other than standard-size motion picture film.

The action was started in Superior Court in near-by Santa Monica. The court was asked to impress a trust of $1,000,000, and also to issue an order awarding the producer a half-interest in future profits.

David O. Selznick
. . . half of earnings

The claim was based on terms of contracts covering the loan-out of performers by Vanguard Films, a Selznick company that was liquidated in 1951, over a period of six years to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, subsidiary of Loews, Inc.

The contract, according to the complaint, contained a clause which prohibited reduction of pictures in which the Selznick performers appeared in 16-mm or other substandard size prints. Standard size motion picture film then was 35-mm.

Among pictures listed in the suit were "The White Cliffs of Dover," "Gaslight," "30 Seconds Over Tokyo," "No Minor Vices," "Madame Bovary," "Side Street" and "The Miniver Story."

Selznick negotiated out-of-court settlements of similar claims against RKO-Radio pictures and Columbia Pictures.

TWO GUNS are better than one is the practical theory of Barton Lane, in background of this scene from "Frontier Gun," in which John Agar is preparing to draw. Film is coupled with "Villa" at the Town, starting Wednesday.

Paris Comic Prefers U.S. Show Critics

NEW YORK — (AP) — There is one big difference to French comic Robert Dhery between the Paris theater and Broadway.

"There your success depends entirely upon what spectators say — the word of mouth," he explains. "Here it is entirely up to the critics."

The star of the current hit "La Plume de Ma Tante" feels the public dependence on reviewers is "very understandable — the critics analyze and give reasons. In Paris they just say 'I like it,' or 'I don't like it' — they rarely say why."

INTENT PERSUADER is Robert Ryan here in "Lonelyhearts," a romantic drama, which opens today at the Carib, Miami and Miracle theaters with Myrna Loy, above, and Montgomery Clift and Dolores Hart co-starred.

Deadly Skill? Why, of Corpse

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Veteran actor Joseph Slabb says he considers himself Hollywood's "most lucky stiff" because he gets so much work in both movies and television.

Slabb, who is gaunt and pale and can appear inanimate for hours at a time, specializes in playing the role of a corpse. Of his rather somber career, he says: "I guess they like my breathless performances."

Beatnik, Eh?

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — David Nelson, generally thought of as the clean-cut Ivy League type, grows a beard for "Day of the Outlaw."

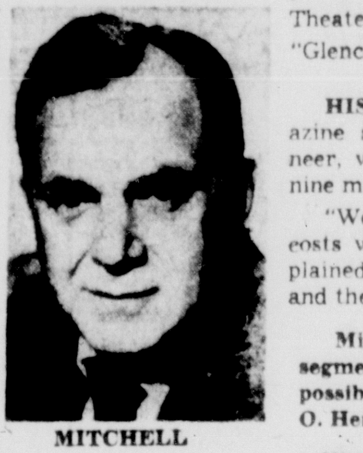
'Live' TV Isn't 'Live' Says Film Performer

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD —(UPI)— Thomas Mitchell has blasted performers and viewers who insist a "live" TV show is better than a filmed version.

For years some actors and producers have insisted that filming of TV shows takes some of the quality out of them.



MITCHELL

But the academy award winning Mitchell made three filmed TV series and puts up a fight for his side.

"There's no such a thing as a real live show," Mitchell said.

"What's considered to be vitality on a live show is nothing but nervous energy," he added.

"What is live about a show that's been written, rewritten and rehearsed before ever being put on," he asks.

"Of course, any show has to have preparation, but the so-called live shows couldn't possibly compare with the filmed ones."

* * *

"I WAS IN the play 'Death of a Salesman' for 22 months and I rehearsed it for five weeks before opening," he recalled. "How could they call that live?"

"I get tired of people saying 'I like a live show,'" he grumbled. "A dog walking into a room is a live show."

Mitchell, an Oscar winner in 1939 as best supporting actor in "Stagecoach," is in a repeat appearance Feb. 23 when ABC-TV reruns "Shirley Temple's Storybook" where he plays a Chinese emperor.

Mitchell also thinks he's the only actor with three TV series to his credit. He appeared in "Mayor of the Town," "O'Henry Theater" and recently completed filming of "Glencannon."

* * *

HIS LATEST SERIES, based on the magazine stories about a Scottish seagoing engineer, was shot in England and Mitchell spent nine months on location.

"We couldn't make the series here, the costs wouldn't have been permissable," he explained. "We filmed in Tangiers, Marseille and the Riviera."

Mitchell has plans to shoot another 39 segments of the series in London and, if possible, would like to resume filming of the O. Henry stories.

With 70 movies and 157 plays to his credit, Tommy believes television is cutting waste out of film production.

"Television is post graduate movies," he opined. "After all, it's all done with cameras.

"TV tells the story in one half hour that movies tell in a full hour," he claims. "Television doesn't have so much time, as well as money, taken up by production."

But Tom doesn't believe all movies should be cut to half hour shows. He feels that such films as "Ten Commandments" and "Ben Hur" will pay off at the boxoffice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Recreation is uppermost in your mind now and if you give in to this temptation, you can be very extravagant in many ways. Attend to most important obligations first instead. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for March send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day to show appreciation to those near and dear for some especially fine work they have done, favors done you in the past. Steer clear of any investments. Clear up any tasks or work left uncompleted. Put house in order.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take particular care while out on the road today. Also, take pains to complete anything you have started, without running off hither and yon to different interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do not rely on own judgment now in matters of money or property. Get the advice of experts. Do not expend more than you can wisely afford. Be sure to ask for credentials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is one of those days when you seem to have a sort of artificial brightness instead of the usual deepdown conviction. Relax and think, then go about your affairs in a very balanced fashion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Climatic conditions have you feeling a bit nervous today and you would like to step out of any obligations or commitments you have made. Regular work also seems tiresome.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Comrades and regular associates appear to be wavering and undependable today. Don't let this irk you, but realize that they are under tensions. Be patient and work alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although you may get some self-satisfaction out of telling off some higher up today, in the long run you will regret it. Remember that the bigger the individual is, the greater are his or her problems.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While stepping out of dull doldrums is fine today, take care you do not get in with a frivolous group and waste this fine day, ruin own chances for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think carefully before you follow the seemingly logical advice of a higher up since he or she is not cognizant of every phase of your problems and you could wind up behind the proverbial eight ball.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Associate or competitor who talks quite at random now does not truly expect his or her statements to be taken verbatim, for there is an element of vanity in them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A day when all sorts of annoying little damages can occur if you do not take yourself in hand and work relaxed and methodically. Also be sure to go over any paper work you do.

Her Dish? Why, Rain!

ORPINGTON, England —(AP)— Mrs. Barbara Lawson is a vegetarian. Also, she is fussy about water. And that has started a rumpus with Orpington's local council, which has warned her it is going to civilize her house at nearby Biggin Hill and lay in a water supply for her.

Mrs. Lawson likes to collect her own supply by draining rainwater off the roof, putting it through a filter and storing it in concrete tanks. Told that the council is going ahead with its installation plan whether she likes it or not, Mrs. Lawson, 50, retorted:

"They can't make me drink their chlorinated muck. I shall lie down in front of the workmen when they come here to lay the pipes."

Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: Which is proper, a "bought" dress or a "boughten" dress? — R.S.H.

ANSWER: I prefer "bought," though either is correct.

As a participial adjective, boughten was once widely used in the United States. By the middle of the 19th century, however, it was becoming rustic and highly "correct" writers and publications were setting it off with quotation marks or including it only in passages whose spelling indicated that it was uneducated. But the common people, who did not read such authors or subscribe to such publications, went right on using it up until a generation or so ago.

The Oxford English Dictionary lists it as poetic (it was originally a corruption, on the analogy of the archaic foughten), dialect, or a peculiar Americanism.

It has been revived in the pseudo-rusticity of suburban speech to suggest that manufactured things are rare and expensive, prized above the familiar, home-made ones. As such, it is an affectation. But if it is and always has been a natural part of your speech, I would continue to use it.

Actor's Wife Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Actor Cameron Mitchell's wife Johanna has obtained an uncontested decree of separate maintenance.

Superior Judge Roger Alton Pfaff approved a property settlement where by Mitchell will pay 40 per cent of his gross income, up to earnings of $50,000 a year, for support of his wife and their four children. From earnings above that amount he will pay one-third.

Brotherhood Speaker Says

'We Are the Hope Of Chained World'

An Irish priest with a brogue as rich as the folklore of his native land, kept them laughing at the seventh annual Brotherhood Dinner here Monday night.

The speaker, Father W. Patrick Donnelly, president of Loyola University, New Orleans, started off with a long line of rich Irish jokes which brought laughs, then applause from the 700 persons attending.

The dinner, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc., was in the grand ballroom of the Americana Hotel.

Father Donnelly, who arrived in Miami shortly before speech time, turned serious in a talk about "Brotherhood Is Everybody's Business."

"We are the hope of the world in chains," he said, "because America is free. The leadership of the free world has been thrust upon America."

He said this nation no longer can rely on a let-us-along policy. "We are no longer a country of immigrants," he said, "and no longer isolated from the rest of the world."

"A love of God and a love of your neighbor is the starting point and objective of peace," he said.

Annual Brotherhood Awards were presented to Mrs. Anna Brenner Meyers, member of the Dade County School Board; C. Clyde Atkins, Miami attorney; and Gov. LeRoy Collins, who was unable to attend.

Three high school students, honored for their leadership for better human relations, were:

Willie Green, Booker T. Washington High School, president of the County Student Council Association; Mary Sarah Kelly, Miami Edison High School, leader of a campaign to get senior activities open to all seniors, and Jerome Bill Ullman, North Miami High School, leader of an inter-religious education program.

Robert H. Fite, president of Florida Power and Light Co., was chairman of the dinner. Co-chairmen were William D. Singer, president of Royal Castle Systems, Inc., and George Coury, Miami stockbroker.

$44,000 In Gems Stolen

JUPITER — (UPI) — The home of a Connecticut and New York socialite, Irving A. Chapman, on exclusive Jupiter Island has been robbed of some $44,000 in diamond and emerald jewelry, it was reported Monday.

Jupiter Island police, in charge of the investigation, refused to disclose any details of the robbery. Chapman, who maintains a home at Portland, Conn., apparently first reported the robbery to a private investigator.

The detective in turn reported it to Jupiter Island police Sunday, who in turn notified the Martin County Sheriff's office.

The FBI was called into the case Monday and sent an investigator to the scene.

Jupiter Island is a secluded hideaway of the very rich in the Hobe Sound area. Its some 400 residences are set back from a highway bordered mostly by a jungle-like tangle of trees and underbrush.

Chapman, who was said to be retired, is listed in the New York social register and is married to the former Lucille D. Guildersleeve. They are members of several prominent social organizations.

Plane Heeds Bomb Call

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines plane was forced to return to San Francisco International Airport Monday a half-hour after its takeoff because of an anonymous bomb threat.

The plane was Flight 136, bound for Las Vegas and Albuquerque.

Tower officials had received a telephone call from a man who warned: "There's a bomb aboard. This is no crank."

But no bomb was found and the plane took off again.

Snowstorm Rips Home; Four Die

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. — (UPI) — Four persons were killed Monday when a snowslide roared down a hill and ripped their home from its foundation.

Another person was found dead in a snow-buried car in a parking lot in this storm-battered city of 80,000.

The storm, accompanied by wind gusts up to 135 miles an hour, dumped 22 inches of snow on the city within 24 hours.

Iran Aide Sees Pact With U.S.

TEHRAN — (AP) — Foreign Minister Ali Asghar Hekmat told newsmen Monday the Iranian-U.S. bilateral agreement will be signed before the Iranian new year, March 21.

Hekmat declined to comment as to the reason for delay in signing this military agreement, but added it still is under study. Russia's recent attempt to keep Iran from signing the agreement failed last week when negotiations for conclusion of an Iranian-Soviet nonagression pact broke down.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. — (UPI) — Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

Tailor Takes Suicide Plunge

A Brooklyn man leaped to his death from the fifth floor of the Alhambra Hotel at 119 SE Second St. early Monday. Police termed it a "suicide plunge."

Joseph F. Soka, 67, of the Sea and Sun Motel, at 1767 79th St. Causeway, was killed instantly when he struck the sidewalk on the west side of the hotel.

Miami Homicide Detective Charles Shepherd said Soka, a tailor, was worried over ill health.

WHO CAN "GET AWAY WITH" MORE UNPLEASANTNESS?
MEN ☐ WOMEN ☐
2.
CAN DEATH BE EXPLAINED TO A CHILD WITHOUT FRIGHTENING HIM?
YES ☐ NO ☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

MEN. BEING GRUFF and discourteous certainly doesn't help a man with his relationships. But he can get by with more unpleasantness than a woman can. The main thing usually expected of a man is to succeed in his job and get work done. If he's also charming, fine, but this may not be essential. It's the woman who's expected to keep things moving smoothly between persons, and to have the charm that will make her personality pleasant.

2. Yes. A child learns about death quite early whether you try to explain it to him or not. He sees a beloved pet die. He hears of deaths in the family. He knows about death on the highway. If he is helped to understand death in the ways that his parents find meaningful, he'll catch their attitudes, and feelings as well as the explanation they give him. He is least likely to fear death if someone explains it to him constructively.

Fair Play Basic Part Of Ethics

By BILLY GRAHAM

GRAHAM

QUESTION: I work in one of the shops in our city among some very ungodly men. Our work is done on a quota basis, and over the established quota we receive a bonus. The men are not producing a fraction of what they could, but they still insist that we chisel on time so the bonus will be easy to get. My conscience bothers me so much that I feel that I must report this matter to the authorities. Would I be wrong in doing so?

ANSWER: I believe that every employe should be an honest worker, earning his total wage. I also believe that the employer should deal honestly with his workers and give them the full reward for their efforts.

My Answer

I do not see how you can cover the dishonest practice of your group when you know what they are doing and when you approve their actions by doing so yourself. Most of the troubles, if not all, that go on between labor and management would cease if both would adopt such a policy. It is not likely that either of them will do so unless there is a beginning somewhere.

Perhaps you are to be the one who acts according to the highest ethics, and in so doing you may influence your entire working situation.

The men with whom you work do not need to know how the employer received knowledge of their dishonesty. He will carefully manage such situations. If he does not, you had better find your employment elsewhere. A basic principle of Christianity is fair play and fair work. Non Christians will be deeply affected by such courage and forthrightness.

Lenten Prayer: To Be Humble

By JIM BISHOP

After having been a child star on the dramatic stage, Canadian-born Mary Pickford had a long and distinguished career in the silent films, she was known as "America's Sweetheart."

Go With God

She became an independent producer in 1918 and in 1919 was instrumental in the formation of United Artists' Corp. Since her retirement as an actress she has carried on business enterprises.

She is the author of Why Not Try God.

I know that You alone have created me — created me spiritually in Your own image and likeness. I know that You guide and protect me every second. It is I who have wandered from your love and care and, at times, "forgetteth what manner of man I am" — seeing but dimly in the mirror.

I sincerely desire to see clearly my shortcomings, my faults, my sins. I earnestly pray to be humble, obedient and loving in order that I may inherit here and now and forever my divine sonship, to be worthy to walk with Thee. Amen.

Misunderstanding Gave Richards Tag of Being 'Simon Legree'

MANAGER PAUL RICHARDS expects a full day's work from his Orioles in their spring training here. However, Paul is no "Simon Legree"—a tag he was given because of a misunderstanding while managing Buffalo of the International League.

One day the Bisons worked out after winning a doubleheader and the sports writers made merry over that one, without checking for the explanation.

"We had made reservations to eat in the diner on the train that night," Richards explained. "The doubleheader finished much sooner than we had anticipated, so we had time on our hands.

"Some of the boys suggested that we work out and that's all there was to it."

There will be days when Richards will keep his Orioles overtime at Miami Stadium. There are some players who like to work longer than others and Paul will be happy to accommodate 'em.

A Lesson in Second Guessing

EVER SO often, I forget a practical demonstration Richards gave Atlanta sports writers during the Crackers' spring training in Savannah in 1938 against second guessing.

Richards invited your reporter, Guy Butler, now a Coral Gables sports store operator, and Jack Troy to manage the Crackers in an exhibition. It sounded like good clean fun, so we donned uniforms and each directed the club for three innings.

The only thing that worried me—coaching at third base—was dodging any foul line drives which might zoom in that direction.

A batter got on base and the next batter waited for instructions. It became embarrassing, so I yelled, "you're on your own."

"Naw," protested the player. "Manager Richards said not to make a move until you gave the word."

I was glad when my three innings expired. It's easier to sit in the press box and figure what should be done, rather than make the decision at the time.

Segar Sees Big Baseball Year

BOTH THE American and National leagues should have good years at the gate, Charlie Segar, secretary-treasurer of organized baseball, predicted here Monday . . . Segar will tour the 12 major league camps in Florida, while Commissioner Ford Frick will visit the western camps, Segar reported . . . Frick is now in Arizona . . . The past week (Feb. 9-11) was the best in the Hollywood Kennel Club's 25 years, President Billy Syms Jr. reports . . . During the week a total of 42,066 fans wagered $1,562,565 . . . The track is now $750,000 ahead of its all-time record year of 1956-57.

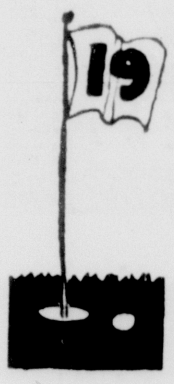
Golf Clubs Are Booming



GOLF COURSES in the area are crowded, a fact attributed both to more visitors and far better weather than was experienced last year . . . In January and February of 1958, only 7,500 rounds of golf were played at the Biltmore . . . Pro-Manager Bill Tinder reports that the first six weeks of this year the Biltmore had recorded 11,030 rounds . . . This means an increase of better than $6,000 in revenue . . . Art Gleason reports that Miami Beach's courses — Bayshore and Normandy Shores are each playing 350 players per day . . . Elmer Gerth of Coral Gables' Granada says play at his course is up five per cent . . . The private courses are crowded, too . . . Pro Leonard Ott says there is more action at Riviera and Pro Ross Sobel thinks Westview has shown a 10 per cent gain . . . "We had 700 more rounds of golf this past January than we did last year," said Pro Lloyd Wadkins of La Gorce. "There is more interest in golf and particularly in tournaments."

UM Explodes Again, Nips Loyola, 93-84

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

In an All-American performance, Sophomore Center Harry Manushaw scored 29 points and picked off 27 rebounds Monday night to guide the University of Miami to an uphill 93-84 victory over Loyola of New Orleans.

A turnout of 1,302 Beach Auditorium fans saw the Hurricanes spot Loyola a 48-36 halftime lead, then pour it on for their 15th victory against seven defeats — best record in Bruce Hale's five years as coach.

—Herald Staff Photo by Bill Sanders

'Oh no . . . You Can't Call that a Foul'
. . . Coach Kuzma uses body English; Balch (L) gapes

Then several dozen fans gathered around Hank Kuzma as the Loyola coach leveled a heavy and seemingly unjust barrage of criticism at officials Ed Stoeckel and Hal Orme.

"Your officials did a great job of stealing the ball game," he told the startled Hale.

"They gave us the business in the second half.

"It's going to hurt you, Bruce," he said. "You'd better clean up this officiating. Or no teams will come in here."

When Hale protested "I don't have any control over the officials," Kuzma snapped:

"Yes you do . . . you're the commissioner down here," whereupon Hale apparently decided such talk was getting them nowhere and walked off.

To newspapermen, Kuzma said:

"You saw it. You're not blind. In the first half they called a square game but not in the second half."

Thirty-one personal fouls were levied against Loyola, which lost four players on fouls, and 22 were ruled against Miami.

To practically everybody except the losing coach, the problem seemed to be that his athletes simply couldn't handle the 6-7, 220-pound Manushaw . . . not without climbing all over him.

Constantly fouled under the boards, Manushaw had 20 foul shots and converted 15 into points.

After getting a 21-13 lead in the struggle's first eight minutes, the UM sophomores went completely to pot.

From there to halftime, they managed just five field goals while being outscored 35 points to 15 — and Manushaw sank four of these fielders to keep them partially alive.

Using a full-court press from the moment the final 20 minutes began, Miami got even at 61-61 with 11:30 remaining, fell behind again briefly and then took command for good at 72-70 on two free throws by Manushaw with 7:55 to play.

In the preliminary, Bruce (Murphy) Shapiro hit 33 points and Jack Spisak caged 30 to lead a 95-84 conquest of the Opa-locka All-Stars.

Face of a Rookie

—Herald Staff Photo by Mike Freeman

MEET RAY YOUNGDAHL, 20-year-old Baltimore Orioles rookie. Monday was a day unlike any other day for Youngdahl as he got his first taste of a major league spring training camp. Herald Photographer Mike Freeman was on Youngdahl's heels as he and 39 other hopefuls were put through a long, hot workout at Miami Stadium. Turn to Page 2-D for this outstanding picture story.

Redhead Faces Knife

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Mony night that Second Baseman Red Schoendienst, stricken by tuberculosis last fall will undergo surgery Thursday at Mount St. Louis Hospital in St. Louis.

The Braves said that Schoendienst's physicians decided upon surgery in hopes of "accelerating" his recovery from the disease.

Suspended Ussery Out Of Widener

Bobby Ussery
. . . 'roughrider'

Bobby Ussery, Hialeah's leading rider by a margin of 31 to 17 over Bill Hartack, drew a 10-day suspension from the stewards Monday for rough riding in Saturday's fourth race.

The suspension begins Wednesday and will cost Ussery the mount on A Dragon Killer in the $100,000 added Widener handicap.

Ussery won with the heavily favored Arrant Bully in the race which could cost him the Hialeah jockey title. The 23-year-old Oklahoman took Arrant Bully through a narrow hole inside three horses at the stretch turn. He bumped Sammy Boulmetis on Golden Wedding, causing that horse to bump Calvin Stone on Trianon. The latter in turn brushed with Steve Brooks on Smoke-Me-Now.

In a sort of chain reaction, Smoke-Me-Now bounced back into Trianon and Golden Wedding while Arrant Bully sailed down the rail to score by six lengths. Smoke-Me-Now finished second while the other two horses involved in the bumping were out of the money.

Motion pictures of the incident fully support the decision to penalize Ussery.

However, the question arises: Why didn't the stewards flash the inquiry sign and view the pictures before making the result official?

Steward Keene Daingerfield answers that Ussery did not appear to be the rider who caused the trouble until the films were shown. There were no claims of foul, and Arrant Bully drew out to win as if much the best.

Had Steve Brooks, who finished second on Smoke-Me-Now, claimed foul against Ussery, he might well have been successful.

However, Brooks was on the outside of three horses and unlikely to have seen that Ussery, on the rail, caused the bumping.

At any rate, the mutuels paid off on Arrant Bully: $3.90, $2.70, $2.50.

Hartack now has an opportunity to be Hialeah's leading jockey for the fourth straight year. The meeting has 13 more days to go.

John Sellers, who replaced Ussery on A Dragon Killer in the McLennan when the Oklahoman was sidelined with a kidney ailment, will pilot the horse again in the Widener.

* * *

SHARPSBURG, "definitely" withdrawn from the Widener in an announcement Saturday, was back on the race track Monday morning.

Trainer Tony Puglisi galloped the big chestnut horse around the Hialeah oval slowly.

When Sharpsburg returned to the barn, he showed a trace of soreness in his injured left hind foot, but Dr. Robert Copelan, Chicago veterinarian, said: "The horse is responding very favorably to treatment. There is an outside chance that he will be able to run next Saturday."

Owner Roy E. Faircloth said he might not know until the morning of the race whether Sharpsburg would be a starter in the Widener.

Two longshots have been added to the lineup for the mile-and-a-quarter event.

They are Hasty House Farm's Ekaba and the Price Brothers' Hoop Band.

Ekaba pleased Trainer Harry Trotsek with his second in the Hialeah Turf Cup and gets in the Widener at 110 pounds against the favored Bardstown's 124.

Hoop Band, ranked at 117, had been freshened since having tooth trouble. He had a seven furlong tune-up last week.

* * *

FOUR Florida-breds — a record number — scored on Monday's program.

They were Running Wolf ($20.40), Sound N' Fury ($7.20), Hubcap ($5.40) and Samark ($18.10).

The crowd of 20,295 wagered $1,925,943. Last year's comparable figures were 20,250 and $1,945,720.

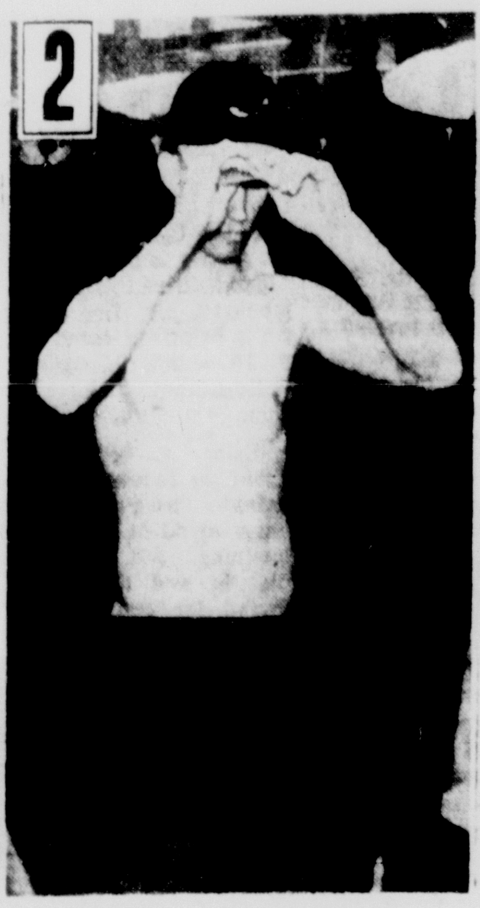
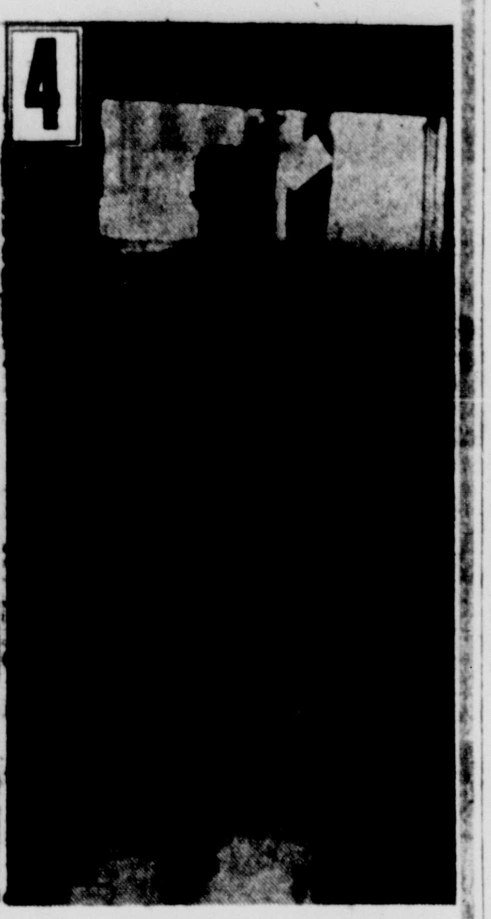
Young Man's Fancy Turns to Baseball

'The name is Ray Youngdahl,' says the crew-cut 20-year-old to a fellow Baltimore rookie, Barry Shetrone. Last June Youngdahl, an outfielder, signed an Oriole contract and stuffed a check for $20,000 in his hip pocket. Now he's among 40 hopefuls working out daily at the O's instructional school at Miami Stadium . . .



. . . 'I always put my hat on first for good luck. It doesn't fit too well, but I guess I'll grow into it. That is if I stay around here long enough. I wouldn't mind playing in Miami for a couple of years' . . .

. . . 'I learned to put this sun protector on my face last year at Pensacola (Class D). No, I didn't do too well. Only hit around .250. Just five homers, too. They signed me for my power, I've got to do better than that' . . .



. . . 'Yeah, I was a little nervous as I walked out on the field. But I knew I'd be okay after catching that first fly ball. It's always been that way with me . . . just a few butterflies in the tummy' . . .

. . .'You've got to get in front of the ball,' Baltimore Coach Al Vincent explains to Youngdahl. 'Watch your throws . . . don't fire that ball or you'll have a sore arm tomorrow. Take care of your legs, you're going to need them all season' . . .

. . . 'The squat? I picked it up from Jim Piersall . . .The lower I get the better I see the ball off the bat' . . .

. . . At the conclusion of practice Paul Richards (right), Baltimore manager, went over the rookies with his coaching staff. 'Youngdahl,' said Richards, 'has a lot of natural baseball instinct in the outfield. I'm eager to see what he can do with that bat.'

North Carolina Takes Over No. 1 In AP Cage Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mississippi State handed Kentucky its second defeat of the basketball season last week but it was North Carolina and Auburn who reaped the benefits in the national rankings.

The 66-58 setback they took last Monday shook Kentucky's Wildcats loose from the hold they had taken on first place in the Associated Press weekly ranking poll back in mid-January. North Carolina's Tar Heels moved up from second to first place and unbeaten Auburn, the only team to defeat Mississippi State this season, jumped from fourth to second. Kentucky landed in third place.

Mississippi State, which went on to trounce Florida, 105-68, in its second game of the week, climbed from tenth to fifth in the ratings.

Two weeks ago, State was 11th. But the sports writers and broadcasters, who had been leery of going overboard on the Maroons because of their comparatively soft schedule, apparently were convinced by a 20-1 record and second place in the Southeastern Conference standings.

1.	North Carolina (38) (16-1)	811
2.	Auburn (20) (18-0)	822
3.	Kentucky (15) (19-2)	796
4.	Kansas State (14) (19-1)	711

Ransom 'Sinks' Edison

Ransom School defeated Miami Edison, 57-37, Monday in a swimming meet in the winner's pool.

J. Fischbeck was a standout for Ransom, churning to victories in the 100 yard freestyle and the 100 yard backstroke. Edison managed only two firsts against the strong private school swimmers.

Bubba Tongay set a new pool record in the 200 yard freestyle of 1:59.1.

Raiders Own 5 Straight Wins

Miami High Tries to Snap Edison Cage Jinx Tonight

Miami High's Stingarees go against their basketball nemisis tonight — Edison — on the Red Raiders' court.

Edison has whipped the Stings in the last five meetings between the traditional prep rivals. The Raiders won an earlier game this season, 40-32, to snap an eight-game Miami High victory streak. The Stings haven't lost since then, (seven games) and now own a 17-3 record.

Miami High's chances of snapping the losing skein to Edison were hurt when Bill Gear pulled a leg muscle against Hialeah last Saturday night. He will be out for about a week.

Miami Jackson hosts Coral Gables in another Big Ten Conference clash.

Fort Lauderdale visits North Miami in a Gold Coast Conference northern division game, Miami Beach goes to Southwest, Tech is at St. Patrick's and Curley at South Dade in other local tilts.

South Broward travels to Central Catholic, Hialeah visits Stranahan, and St. Ann's is at West Palm Beach.

Bill Veeck Buying Chisox Stock Today?

CHICAGO—(AP)—Bill Veeck has called a news conference for 3:30 p.m. today, apparently to announce he is exercising his option to buy controlling interest in the Chicago White Sox.

Veeck has until Wednesday to exercise his option to buy Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney's 54 per cent of the club's stock. Closing date of the transaction must be not less than 15 days and no more than 45 days later.

If the deal is closed Veeck would pay Mrs. Rigney $1,750,000 in cash.

If Veeck gains 80 per cent of the stock within 360 days, he would pay an additional $175,000 and $200,000 more if he were able to elect a majority to the board of directors within three years.

East German Skiers Seek U.S. Visas

Auburn Makes It 30 in Row

AUBURN — (AP) — The Auburn basketball team got a standing ovation before Monday night's game with Tulane when it was announced that it had moved from fourth to second place in the Associated Press' weekly basketball poll. Auburn defeated Tulane, 79-56 for their 30th straight college victory.

GAINESVILLE — Florida won its second Southeastern Conference basketball victory by nosing out cellar mate Mississippi, 102-97, in overtime.

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Surprise starter Dave Hale scored 24 points and pulled down 15 rebounds as Oklahoma City raced passed FUS, 98-84. It was the 18th victory

Rowell was named chairman and Garrard vice-chairman at a meeting of 50 Miami business men Monday night. Plans call for a board of directors, $50 membership dues, Monday night meetings and guest speakers.

Record Should Go In Daytona '500'

DAYTONA BEACH —(UPI) — A new record is practically assured in the featured 500-mile International NASCAR Sweepstakes this weekend.

With only the modified and sportsman entries yet to qualify, no less than five drivers have broken the old American two and one-half-mile lap record.

And the fastest time recorded, oddly enough, was by a year-old Pontiac driven by Cotton Owens of Spartanburg, S.C. Owens circles the new asphalt track here Sunday in the exceptional time of 143.198 mph.

But all the other 140-plus runs were performed in brand new Pontiacs, Chevrolets, Fords and an Oldsmobile.

Right behind the South Carolina speedster was veteran Curtis Turner of Charlotte, N.C., who drove his 1959 Ford Thunderbird at an average speed of 142.993 mph the same day. Turner won the 1957 event.

Qualifying trials for modified and sportsman entries will be held today and Wednesday before the featured races get under way Friday.

Practice runs and special events are scheduled through Thursday with the 100-mile grand national championship and 100-mile convertible championship races getting things started Friday.

The order of the two 100-mile Friday races has been reversed because of the large number of cars which will compete in the sedan race.

The late model convertibles will start at 2 p.m. and the sedan race will follow a 3:30 p.m.

The big 200-miler for modified and sportsman classes will be held Saturday afternoon.

Sunday, 64 of the fastest cars in the country will vie for top money in the 500-mile International Sweepstakes which climaxes speed weeks which began Feb. 6.

Glenn (Fireball) Roberts, Daytona Beach, has the pole position, having qualified with the best time opening day in a 1959 Pontiac Bonneville at 140.581 mph.

Deleonardis Leads

Sharp-Eyed Goar 'Spots' Bouys, Sails Home First in 5-0-5 Test

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Logan Goar, an optician who could see the buoys, sailed from behind Monday to overhaul Peter Ferguson, a former English champ who couldn't, in the first race of the National Five-O-Five championships.

Getting his green-hulled 16-foot sloop, Two-Over-Easy, up on a high plane of the third leg's close reach — as the wandering Ferguson looked in vain for the mark — Goar swept into a lead he never relinquished.

At the finish of the six-mile voyage, in brisk southeast breezes, the 34-year-old Houston skipper owned a 15-second lead over the runnerup, fellow Texan Walter Bowden's Naughty Lady from San Antonio.

Meanwhile, things had gone from bad to intolerable for the 25-year-old Ferguson, who admits "I can't see very well without my glasses . . . I rely on my crew to find the marks."

Ferguson's crewman, a local volunteer, lost control of their spinnaker on the final down-wind leg. That mistake resulted in Windrush being forced far off course and dropping back to fifth place in the classy six-boat fleet.

"I got mad and chewed my crew out," said Ferguson, former Southeast Coast (England) champ in Merlin Rocket designs.

"If I can't find a capable crew by tomorrow . . . and a guy with good eyes — I think I'll blow up the boat and head back for Los Angeles."

Two more heats are scheduled in waters off the host Coral Reef Yacht Club this afternoon (1 and 3 p.m.) with the final pair coming up Wednesday.

Monday's non-threatening third-place finisher was Mark Coholan, Boston, with Duet. He was followed, in order, by Bill Schildecker, Daytona Beach (Destiny's Tot); Ferguson, and Bill Dehon, Fort Myers (Coqd'or).

While hauling his home-made craft from the water, Goar quipped: "they always let us win one race so we don't get discouraged and go home."

Then he credited the victory to "excellent work" of his spinnaker-trapeze man, Ralph Dorchester, and the fact "we're both light."

"I weigh only 140 and Ralph goes about 165. So when we got on the reach, we really took off on a plane."

At the completion of the first two legs (withward and board reach), Ferguson was 13 seconds ahead of Bowden, last year's runnerup.

Celebrating being in first place with a "ya-hoo" as Windrush spun around the mark, Ferguson tightened sails and mistakenly headed far above the mark.

That enabled Goar to surge into a 30-second lead as the triangular portion of the course was completed.

The fleet then voyaged a windward-leeward leg with Goar holding off Bowden's bid despite momentary trouble with Two-Over-Easy's spinnaker halyard.

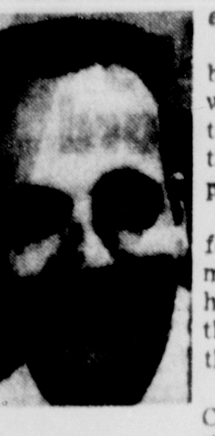
Try Catching A Sawfish Sometimes

Among Bimini's most fascinating sights are the pens of the Lerner Marine Laboratory. Visitors who stroll out on the dock to gaze down at the various sea critters caged there for observation, now will find a new attraction.

It's a 14-foot sawfish corralled on the Bimini flats early this month.



DUNAWAY

The sawfish was spotted by bonefish guide Willie Duncombe, who promptly reported its presence to the laboratory. Capt. Eddie Wall then formed a bring-'em-back-alive party and set forth for the chase.

Back on the flats, Capt. Wall found that a bonefisherman had the monstrosity on the end of his line: however, the angler happily turned the sawfish-catching duties over to the collection crew.

After slashing his way out of Capt. Wall's seine a couple of times, the sawfish finally succumbed to the forced offer of free room and board.

Nice Catches in Boynton Beach Tour

AT THE HALFWAY mark of the Boynton Beach Fishing Tournament, several entries seem pretty good bets to hold up to the end. Among them are the 82-lb. white marlin caught by Fulton Graves of Washington, D.C., and the 188-lb. blue marlin taken by Bob Stafford of Delray Beach.

Other top entries so far include Edwin Veith's 158-lb. Allison tuna, and Frank Bauer's 82½-lb. grouper. Veith is from Wexford, Pa., and Bauer from East St. Louis, Ill.

Joe Kaladek of Coeaoplois, Pa., holds the mark for the longest sailfish — 8'3" — and Carol Hanson of Garden City, N. Y., paces the women in the same category with a sail measuring two inches less.

Eleven-year-old Chris Clark of Bedford, Ohio, has a comfortable lead in the junior division with a 62-lb. sailfish.

In the sailfish release race, Hugh McMillian tops the pack with 25 — all freed since Jan. 1. McMillian, a Delray Beach angler, is being close-pressed by Leonard Dingee of Boynton, who has released 22 sails.

Rod and Reel Club Records Approved

OFFICIALLY APPROVED as Rod and Reel Club records are three catches made by Lee Cuddy and another registered by Lucke Gorham on their recent trip to Panama.

Cuddy's new marks are a 368-lb. shark, 324-lb. blue marlin and 270-lb. black marlin, all in the 50-lb. line class.

Gorham, president of the Herald-sponsored Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament, won over a 322-lb. shark on flimsy, 20-lb. test.

Other club marks approved by the Angling Activities Committee are Bill Marshall's 78-lb. amberjack on 20-lb. (also a potential world record); Carlo Roncallo's 38-lb. cobia on 20-lb.; and June Wood's 80-lb. shark on 8-lb. spinning tackle.

They'll Be Eating Wild Hog Soon

EVERGLADES Conservation Club President Calvin Stone has appointed 14 committee chairmen to smooth out arrangments for the club's popular wild hog barbecue, held each year to raise conservation project funds.

The eat-out will take place at the club's 20-acre grounds on the Old Loop Road, one-half mile south of the Tamiami Trail at Monroe Station. This year it's set for March 15.

Cracked Hoof

'Table' Hit With Injury

ARCADIA, Calif. — (UP) — Round Table was found to have a slight crack in a hoof Monday and may not make it to the post in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap on Feb. 28.

Billy Molter, trainer of the Kerr Stables' 1958 horse of the year, said the chances of Round Table going in the big handicap were about 50-50.

He said a bar-plate would be placed on the hoof and his training routine continued.

'Against The Law'

No Brotherly Tiffs At Jai Alai Fronton

There is one jai alai match you will never see at the Miami Fronton.

That would be Isidoro vs. Salsamendi — or for that matter, Muguerzas I vs. Muguerzas II.

The reason? Florida State Racing Commission regulations forbid brothers playing against brothers. In fact, it's a thing that just isn't done in frontons from Spain to the Philippines.

Says Pedro Mir, veteran players manager at Miami fronton:

"It's not that anyone expects brothers to show any sentiment toward each other in a game. It's merely that they feel it's in keeping with the sport's integrity.

"In Florida it's a written rule, but in world jai alai it is merely understood through general agreement.

"But cousins or nephews? You should see them play each other. To watch Guara and Guarita you'd never dream they are cousins. They've played some fantastic games against each other."

Stakes Windup Set Tonight At Hollywood

Eight survivors of an original starting field of 32 racing dogs clash tonight for $10,000 and a $500 silver trophy in the championship finals of Hollywood Kennel Club's Silver Anniversary stake.

Heading the field is American Derby champion and world record holder Feldcrest, which sailed through the elimination heats undefeated and equalled the long standing track record of 38 8-10th seconds for the 3-8th mile course in one qualifying race.

While the powerful Orville Moses racer will be meeting such marathon runners as Bud Jack of Hollywood and Rio Grande Rose of West Flagler, she is likely to go to the post an odds-on choice.

She goes into the race with an amazing career record of 58 triumphs in 76 starts.

No greyhound has been able to whip Feldcrest since she came to Hollywood from St. Petersburg. She has been winning her races by outbreaking her rivals and setting a whirlwind early pace.

The two greyhounds given the best chance of scoring an upset in the title race tonight are Bud Jack and Rio Grande Rose.

Others in the 3-8th mile test, tenth race on the program, are Go Super, Phoenix, Ariz., Derby champion; Texas Yellow Rose and Lou Rock of St. Petersburg; Cri Tears of Sanford-Orlando; and Ranger's Trail of West Flagler.

Cards Sign Jim Brosnan

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Jim Brosnan, a starting pitcher who became the St. Louis Cardinals' most reliable reliever last season has agreed to 1959 contract terms, the club announced Monday.

Brosnan, 20, who came to the Cardinals last May in a trade which sent infielder Al Dark to the Chicago Cubs, had an 11-8 record with the two clubs last season. In relief for the Cards, Brosnan won four, lost only one and had a 1.67 earned run average.

Golfer Lopez To Help Dad

BIRMINGHAM — (AP) — Joe Lopez Jr., young assistant pro at Birmingham Country Club, is leaving to help his father with the golf operations of two Florida clubs.

Joe Lopez Sr., pro at the Key West Country Club for many years, has recently added pro duties of the Sombrero Beach Country Club at Marathon, Fla., to his job.

Lopez Jr., 22, said his father "made me a proposition that I couldn't turn down."

Garcia Pounds Out Win Over Ferguson

TAMPA —(AP)— Angel (Robinson) Garcia, Havana welterweight, cut Bahaman Henry Ferguson three times in pounding out a unanimous decision in a 10-round bout Monday night.

Garcia, a feature fighter in Miami Beach and Havana rings, weighed 136¼, Ferguson 140¾.

Ferguson's first wound, a cut just back of the hairline, resulted from a butt in the third round when Garcia first opened up his attack. Later in the round Ferguson suffered a cut over the left eye. In the fourth round Garcia opened a cut over the right eye.

There were no knockdowns, but it was a fast-paced fight all the way. The judges saw it about the same. Bob Diaz called it 99-93, John Branch 98-93 and Derrell Brown 99-90, all for Garcia.

Garcia, electing to counterpunch in the early rounds, became the agressor near the end of the sixth and he bombarded Ferguson with lefts and rights the rest of the way.

Ferguson, who had a slight reach and height disadvantage, bore in with his head down in the late rounds to push Garcia into the ropes.

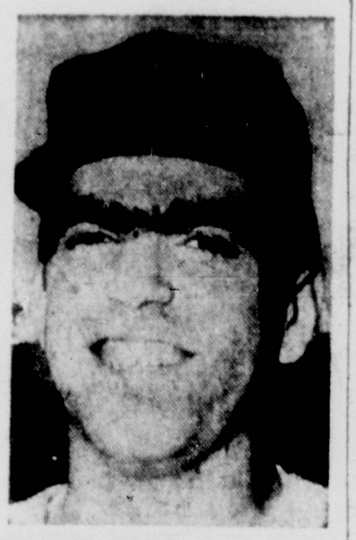
Fight Fans Vision Kayo In TV Bout

The stage was set today for what amounted to the best "heavyweight elimination" match since Rocky Marciano and Roland LaStarza punched each other silly a good many years ago.

Wednesday night, before an expected 6,000 "live" spectators at the new Miami Beach Exhibition Hall, Sonny Liston and Mike DeJohn decided whose going to snarl at Champion Floyd Patterson . . . and who's going to wake up lying down.

As usual, many millions more will be in on the fireworks via the national television cameras. Just how much of a show they'll see has yet to be determined, but local oddsmakers have advised against going to the icebox in the middle of a round.

In two six-rounders Billy Arias fights Dickie DiVeronica and Jesse Smith meets Candy McLenndon. In fours, Colan White takes on Jimmy Tillman, Joe Laquatra tests Gordon Pouliot and Pablo Caripides meets Hector Rodriguez.



FRANK ZUPO, last name on the Miami Marlins spring roster, Monday became the first Marlin to sign his 1959 contract. The 19-year-old catcher signed a Baltimore Oriole contract upon graduation from high school last year, receiving a $50,000 bonus.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Bumpkin Sees It All

NEW YORK CITY—Our second day here, the weather was perfect. It was perfect, that is, if you don't know anything about South Florida weather.

The poor, deluded New Yorkers thought it was perfect, and after the way I had frozen the day before, I agreed with them.

The temperature was in the 40s, but the sun was shining and there was no wind. It was a day that made walking a pleasure, as long as you had your topcoat on.

I spent most of the day walking around. I'm afraid that I did this without plan or pattern and in my aimless wanderings I stepped on my own footprints quite often.

For instance, I went by the Taft Hotel half a dozen times. Every time I saw it, I knew that I was lost again. But since I didn't know where I was going, it didn't matter.

* * *

AT THE END OF EACH BLOCK I would stop and consider. There were three intriguing avenues. I could turn to the right, to the left, or go straight ahead. Any way I went, I knew I would be entranced and entertained, that I would be impressed by the people, the buildings, the shops, the signs.

If you aren't from a small town, maybe you can't understand this feeling, but for me every block in New York City is an adventure.

I can't help it if I act like a bumpkin. I am a bumpkin. I have to look up at the skyscrapers, it's reflex action, and I have no control over it.

But I have a wonderful time being awed. The things that are so impressive to me make no impression on the bored, busy, blase hordes who rush from hither to nowhere every day, but I think that I am fortunate in being so impressionable.

* * *

IN THAT IMPOSING sub-division of skyscrapers called Rockefeller Center they're putting up a new Time-Life building. It is a skeleton of steel now, 48 stories high. I know it is that high. I counted it.

After that, I looked at the Radio City and RCA buildings up the street, but I didn't count their stories. I know they never had a silo in Kansas that would hold so much corn.

* * *

NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS to it, I suppose Broadway always will be a name that stands for all that is dazzling and sophisticated about New York.

The truth is that Broadway is a tawdry old wench, not an aristocratic or alluring lady.

New Yorkers who would sneer at the midway of a county fair are exposed to the same thing every time they are on the fabulous Great White Way.

Some respectable and famous restaurants and hotels still have Broadway addresses, of course, and there are some fine movie houses there.

But there are souvenir shops; where junk is sold at tall prices; glorified bingo parlors; a Believe It Or Not museum of freaks; hot dog stands; cheap goods offered at "closing out" sales, and all the trimmings of a carnival except the sawdust.

I don't have anything against this, but it isn't the Broadway of song and dreams.

* * *

THEY MAY PRETEND that they like it, but New Yorkers know they have nasty weather.

At a store on Broadway near 48th St., ear muffs were featured in the window, at $1. On Sixth Ave. near 46th St. a shop was offering a special on gloves, at 25 cents a pair.

Maybe those are just for the tourists.

* * *

TIPPING IS A PROBLEM to me in a strange city. I always try to impress strangers, even if they are rude.

At home, where I know the shine boy, the waiter, the bartender, the cab driver, the barber, I am a conservative tipper, to put it mildly. I tip what I think the service is worth and what I can afford.

But here, where I am not known and where I never will see the man again, I try to make a big impression.

I don't know why, since I am merely one of the faceless mob to him. Maybe I'm trying to make him think I'm a Big Shot, but all I really do is show him I'm a sucker.

* * *

DESPITE A CAMPAIGN to educate them, New Yorkers still don't believe in signs. They cross the street regardless of the color of the traffic lights or the "Don't Walk" signs and they dart across the street at any place between intersections. They pay no attention to cars, and the drivers pay no attention to them.

I'm surprised that everyone isn't killed every day.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1♠	Double	Pass	2♥
Pass	3♥	Pass	4♥
Pass	Pass	pass

Opening lead: King of ♠.

Declarer had to bring off successive end plays on each of his opponents to land his game contract today.

West led the king of spades, which was taken with the ace. Two rounds of trumps revealed their failure to break. It appeared now that declarer must lose one trick in each suit, with a possible second loser in clubs. But declarer realized that best results are obtained with combinations of this type if one can induce the adversaries to break suits for him.

He, therefore, exited with a spade. West took the trick and fearing that the return of a spade would give the declarer a ruff and a discard, he chose to lead the three of diamonds. Dummy played low and East was forced to play the jack. Declarer won with the king and returned the ten for a finesse against West's queen. West covered. The trick was taken with the ace, and on the diamond return East discarded, revealing that the suit would not break.

For declarer to attack clubs himself might lead to the loss of two tricks; so he conferred the loss of two tricks; so he conferred the lead upon East with a trump. East led the jack of clubs, which declarer ducked and so did West. After winning with the queen, declarer led a low club and covered East's five with the nine forcing out the ace.

If at trick three, West leads a low club, South wins with the king and returns a club. If West takes it with the ace and gets out with a club, declarer, with both black suits stripped, throws East in with a trump and compels him to lead the jack of diamonds exposing West's queen to a finesse.

The only logical variation of defense which will defeat the contract is a third round of spaces by West when he is in. This gives declarer a ruff and a sluff, but no matter where he takes the discard, he is unable to avoid the loss of four tricks.

Jack Kofoed Says

Removal of Wraps Recalls Old Days

THE MERRY-go-round goes 'round and 'round. When Our Town was a tiny frontier village and the Beach a mangrove swamp, gamblers set up dice and three card monte tables on Miami Ave. From that small beginning we advanced . . . if "advanced" is the proper word to use . . . to swank casinos like the Royal Palm and Club 86, horse book parlors, open solicitation of bets in the best hotels.

Everything was beautifully illegal. If hard knuckle boys of big northern mobs had not attempted to take over, and "Coonskin" Kefauver's disclosures of evil things from bribery to murder had not caused public revulsion, the so-called good old days might still be with us.

For some years we have had what a one-time New York mayor, "Red Mike" Hylan, called "outward order and decency." Of course, there have been undercover bookmaking, bolita and floating crap games, but they were tidied up with secrecy.

Now, it appears the wraps have been partly taken off. Herald reporters have made bets with bookies who didn't even bother to check on them before accepting money. The beautiful weather this winter has brought in vast numbers of visitors.

They have money, and the sight of money makes professional gamblers hungry. Still, they would not have come so brashly into the open had they not been given the "word."

* * *

IF HISTORY repeats itself . . . and history always does . . . the old pros were told they'd be protected.

In the old days they paid large sums for such protection. There were token raids to satisfy shouters for law enforcement.

Little men, dealers, croupiers, stickmen were arrested and fined. The big boys were never bothered, and the games went on.

The big question now is: Who hung out the green light as a go-ahead signal? Some one must have. Think we'll find out who? It's most unlikely. Even when bookies don't get what they pay for, they keep their mouths shut.

There is no moral difference between betting two dollars at a Hialeah mutuel window or placing the same sum with a bookmaker.

There is a question of morality if a public official accepts bribes to protect an illegal activity.

Arresting a few runners won't change the situation. Even getting a few top men in the business won't help much. The real sinner is a man who sells "protection," but through the years few have been tripped up, and that miracle isn't likely to happen now.

WINTER SEASON

The curtain's up . . . the show is on.
Things are right . . . things are wrong.
Men and women come and go.
Like it lots . . . shake heads no.
Ten short weeks . . . show is over.
Money lost, or boss in clover.
You can tell by smile or frown
Which it is when curtain's down.

Hubby Took Her For Granted, So She Left

Listen to Marjorie's confession. Many other wives feel much like Marjorie, except their children or religion forbid their taking the drastic step which she did. Operating a happy marriage is like operating an automobile. You need to know the rules and practice them properly. Alas, many schools give more time to auto driving lessons than to marriage.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

MARJORIE L., 32, is the wife who ran away with another man.

"Dr. Crane, my husband was good to me, I'll have to admit," she said when I later had a personal interview with her.

"For example, he gave me money for the house and let me drive the family car.

"But he didn't want any children. And he was so preoccupied with his work that when he was home he spent most of his time planning the next day's schedule at the office.

"He never even noticed whether I wore a new hat. He didn't comment about my cooking.

"As a bride, I tried my best to prepare savory meals so he would compliment me. But he took everything for granted, without a word of praise.

"We had no mutual hobbies and began to drift apart, though he never realized that fact.

"So I finally took up golf. I met a man on the links one day who admired me. He invited me to have lunch with him.

"And we talked about many things. He seemed interested in my opinions and asked my advice.

* * *

"WELL, IT WAS such a refreshing tonic to my stifled ego, that I looked forward to meeting him again the next day. And that's how it all started.

"I realize we are not suited to each other in many other ways and this man will probably never make enough money to support a wife.

"But I went berserk. I became emotionally intoxicated with the thrill of feeling important and desired, so I succumbed to his love making.

"Dr. Crane, you are right in saying women are not unduly passionate. It wasn't primarily a sexual hunger that drove me away from my husband but a desire to be admired and looked up to just as a person.

"I had become so ignored that I felt I was about to die until this other man furnished a tonic for my spirit.

"Well, that's about it, Dr. Crane. Should I go back to my husband?"

* * *

DOMESTIC ROMANCE can be rebuilt but only if the husband and wife will follow a better recipe than the one which jeopardized their love.

Naturally, I advised Marjorie to go back to her husband, but I first exacted a solemn promise from him that he would alter his own attitude and begin to use better psychology.

To start them off properly, I let them rate each other on the 200-point "Tests for Husbands and Wives."

These rating scales dissect marital personalities so you can look at yourself more objectively and begin to see faults you never realized before.

Second, I insisted that they both join the Compliment Club and pay a minimum of three sincere compliments daily. They were to reserve one of the three for each other.

Finally, I urged them to work as a partnership, each to seek the advice and opinions of the other, for Marjorie's husband had been too close-mouthed.

PONCE DE LEON DISCOVERED THE REAL "FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH" IN THE FRUITS OF FLORIDA

What made Great Aunt Florence flip! or
How to make a Million Dollars!

LET us suppose that you have a maiden aunt or a lonely uncle and that said doddering relative has $1,000,000 to bequeath to a deserving kinfolk. Let us suppose, too, that in your visit to this fair Florida Sunland of ours, you've been sending flush Aunt Florence or affluent Uncle Frederick pretty picture postcards. Do you think that those perfunctory postals will alter that precious Will in your favor? Not one whit! The big boodle of cash will still probably go to your ne'er-do-well nogoodnik second-cousin, Marvin, whose only redeeming feature is his brown eyes (just like Aunt Flo's or Uncle Fred's).

BUT, on the other hand, let us suppose that instead of those well-meaning, yet inexpressive, postcards, you send the ultimate greeting form—a basket of Cobbs Florida Fruits What do you suppose will happen when dear Aunt Flo or lovable Uncle Fred bite into that luscious, juicy, maddeningly delicious ambrosia? How do you suppose they'll feel about you, who were thoughtful (and devilishly clever) enough to send Cobbs Gift-Quality Fruit? Second-Cousin Marvin had best enroll in a proper vocational school and pursue a possible career as a cut-glass mallet maker. As for you, ...
CONGRATULATIONS! YOU'RE A MILLIONAIRE!

Note: Cobbs FRUITS are perfect for sending to fancy friends and plain ordinary relatives, too. Your thoughtfulness will earn you $1,000,000 worth or affection and gratitude.

Oh, yes, OUR MINIMUM standard for quality (5 out of every 100 boxes picked) is MORE than the MAXIMUM standard rating issued by the U.S. Govt. Dept. of Agriculture. WE SHIP ONLY THE SELECTED BEST OF U.S. NO. 1 GRADED CITRUS FRUIT . . . Inspected and Certified daily for size, color, juice content and quality in our own Packing House . . . The largest of its kind in the State of Florida.

Police Brass Now Promise Bookie Purge

By DOM BONAFEDE
And TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox

LIPE

OWENS

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

ARRESTED by Miami Beach police were two employes of the Bayshore Municipal Golf Course, one of whom took a horse bet from an investigator of the Greater Miami Crime Commission during The Herald's probe.

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant who took the bet, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

One of the early arrivals at the meeting was Chief Fox.

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley showed up shortly after the discussion got under way and took a seat in the corner.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports from Dade law enforcement officials on "shocking" disclosures by The Miami Herald of wide open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared. "I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

Benson Lashes Back at Critics

Read It 'in Letters of Fire'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control.

Secretary Benson
. . . he was poetic

Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech

His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months, and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany; the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany, such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

Wabash Levees Shored

California Raked By Winter's Worst

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO — The worst storm of the winter hit Southern California coastal areas Monday as flood fighting activity in the midwest centered along the lower Wabash River in Indiana.

California beach cities bore the brunt of the Western storm which raked the entire Pacific Coast.

Gusts up to 60 miles an hour toppled television antennas in Santa Barbara County and caused widespread power failures.

Some areas had two or more inches of rain. Continued downpours were forecast.

A severe dust storm preceded the rain in Bakersfield. Towering dust clouds that obscured visibility stranded two hundred motorists Sunday night. Nearly all highways in the county were closed at times.

In Indiana, the farming area near Oaktown became the main center of activity along the flooding Wabash. As the danger appeared easing in upstate communities.

National Guardsmen hurried to shore up weakening levees near Oaktown, the latest danger spot in the path of the Wabash flood crest.

National Guard units from Vincennes and Linton were ordered onto the Oaktown dikes when the flood waters began digging into the river bank.

Another flood danger was melting away upstream. Massive ice floes which had threatened to tear a path of destruction down the Wabash valley were breaking up under warm temperatures. State officials abandoned plans to dynamite the ice and decided to let nature take its course.

Castro's Sworn In At Palace

Fast Action Seen On Casinos, Asylum

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday, Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro is the youngest head of government in Cuba's 56-year history. Immediately following the palace ceremony, Castro moved into the prime minister's office in El Prado Boulevard, where outgoing Prime Minister Jose Miro Cardona formally turned over to him the top government post.

The entire cabinet was present at the palace ceremony, but the formal assumption of the job at El Prado offices was witnessed only by Castro's closest friends.

His associates predicted that Castro's first official action will be to solve a three-week-old impasse between the government and the foreign diplomatic corps over the issue of diplomatic asylum.

Some 200 followers of ousted President Batista are refugees in more than a dozen Latin American embassies here. It was generally expected that Castro would extend them safe conduct passes to go aboard.

Early reopening of Havana's luxury gambling casinos on a modified and government-supervised basis also was believed to be a primary objective of Castro's first days in the premiership.

This was expected to be followed by early reorganization of the cabinet, on a comparatively minor scale. Cuban political reporters predicted an early shakeup in such cabinet posts as social welfare, health, agriculture and education, as well as a possible swap of the foreign and labor ministers.

Soviet Accuses U.S. of 'Using' 11 Lost Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

'We Must Meet Soviet Threat'

U.S. Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming predicted Monday that Russia and the U. S. will "neutralize each other" both in this world and outer space.

The former college professor told the Dade County Bar Association meeting at the Columbus Hotel that the U. S. must rise to meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The Senator advocated more travel into this country by Russians as a way of creating dissatisfaction in their makeup as a result of what they saw here.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. —(UPI)— Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

Mac Invited To Red Hunt

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Harold MacMillan has been invited to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt during his tour of the Soviet Union. Plans are reported to have been made for such a hunt on a preserve near Leningrad. MacMillan is due here Saturday.

But No. 10 Dowing St. said Monday MacMillan has no present plans to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt.

MacMillan is an excellent shot, but so far he has confined his shooting to grouse, quail and pheasant.

"Most definitely he has never shot bear," a spokesman added.

They Don't Like Each Other

Two Breeds of Bookies Handling Dade Betting

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; G. W. Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

Hoffa Quiz Postponed

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Rackets Committee Monday postponed again its questioning of James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union.

The committee released an announcement that Hoffa's lawyer was unable to attend. Committee rules permit witnesses to have counsel if they desire.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D., Ark.) set no new date for the closed-door session with Hoffa. This marks the third successive week of postponement. The committee failed to muster a two-member quorum on the previous dates.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he expected Hoffa to turn over some financial records. He declined to give in advance any details about questions to be asked of the union chief.

Ike Taking Milton On Mexico Trip

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisehnower will be accompanied by his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, when he goes to Acapulco, Mexico, for talks Thursday and Friday with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Announcing details of the visit Monday, the White House said Mexico's ambassador to this country, Antonio Carrillo Flores, and Roy R. Rubottom, U. S. Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, also will travel with the President.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, made it clear that the visit is regarded chiefly as a good will mission, without any serious problems on the agenda.

The principal objective, Hagerty added, is to give Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos an opportunity to get acquainted.

The presence of Rubottom and Milton Eisenhower will mean, however, that the President will have available two experts on Latin America. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, has made several fact-finding trips to Latin American countries for the President.

office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned with the tax revenue which Florida is losing as a result of betting through bookies.

The state gets eight per cent of the take on legalized horse betting through the pari-mutuel windows. But it gets nothing from the bets which the horse player places with the bookie.

The chief executive was forced to cancel a round of appearances here — including the brotherhood dinner at the Americana Hotel of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Collins, recipient of the NCCJ's Protestant layman's award, was to have received the plaque at the dinner.

The governor, speaking hoarsely, said his sinus had "acted up" during a ride here from Florida's west coast.

"I spent a miserable night," he said. "My doctor tells me that it is nothing serious and that I have no temperature.

"But I am very uncomfortable."

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as the one who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

Segni Sworn as Italy's Premier

ROME —(AP)— Antonio Segni was sworn in Monday as head of Italy's 20th government since Mussolini.

His cabinet was made up entirely of members of his own Christian Democrat Party, which has less than a majority in Parliament. But promised right-wing support from Liberals and Monarchists made Segni virtually sure of winning at least his first vote of confidence in Parliament, probably within a week. President Giovanni Gronchi swore the new premier into office after approving his cabinet lineup.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

"WANT a crusade?" asked the duPont barber shop bootblack. Before I could answer he continued. "Why do they let people build apartment houses for us Negroes, with no back doors? We got to carry the garbage out the front door and then back to the cans in the rear. What if one of those places catches fire?"

'Twas a darned good question. So I asked Commissioner Jimmy High. He asked City Manager Arthur Evans, who asked Woodward Hampton, executive secretary of the planning board.

And He said ----:

"The planning board is in accord in regard to need for . . . more than one exit for a multiple-family apartment dwelling unit. This becomes vital when an apartment house is two or more floors in height . . . The commissioners are responsible for regulations which protect health, happiness and welfare of the citizens . . . Lack of a secondary doorway in an apartment house could cause injury or death in case of an uncontrolled fire.

"The planning board strongly urges the commission to consider the safety of the inhabitants, the convenience of two entrances . . . also that the commission act promptly in considering and alleviating this existing condition."

Y'know, I wouldn't believe—until I saw a number of them—that any builder could or would build an apartment with such cheapness in mind that no back doors were included. The cost, according to Hampton, "would be slight."

Horsing Around

That's what Flash, a 17-year-old Palomino, was doing when he slid into this mudhole at Jacksonville. He was up to his mane in mire when rescuers arrived. It took a lot of tugging and heaving—and, of course, a lot of horsepower—to get Flash onto dry land.

Highways Claim 7

Weekend Accident Toll 10

By Herald Services

Accidents brought death to 10 persons in the state during the weekend, seven from auto accidents. Two persons drowned and a third suffocated in a fire at her home.

The State Highway Patrol said 155 persons have been killed on Florida streets and roads in 1959. On the corresponding date of 1958 the death toll stood at 171.

Three of those killed by cars over the weekend were pedestrians. The patrol listed them as Grover C. Michler, 74, of Fort Lauderdale; Ethel B. Little, 39, of Jacksonville, and Walter E. Charlan, 70, of Miami.

Other traffic accident victims of the weekend were Walter Monroe, 19, and Charles Sneed, 18, both of Fort Lauderdale; Louise Gulley, 39, of Pensacola, and Mrs. James Williams, 80, of Miami.

Joseph Beausoliel, 24, of Woonsocket, R. I., airman stationed at Eglin Air Force Base, drowned Saturday in a lake on the base when a canoe upset.

Theodore Giles, 50, of Belle Glade, drowned in Lake Okeechobee when he fell into the water while fishing from a breakwater.

Mrs. Frances H. McArthur, 50, of Miami, suffocated in a fire at her home.

'Mystery' Rocket Darts From Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL — (UPI) — An unidentified test rocket darted into a dense overcast Monday in a secrecy-shrouded launching.

The Air Force would say only that "a research and development test rocket was fired at the Atlantic missile range today."

It was believed, however, that the test rocket was made by the McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis, a newcomer to the missile field.

The rocket left a trail of dense black smoke across the sky and more smoke hung over the launching area.

This indicated the rocket probably was a solid-fuel vehicle, since liquid-fuel rockets do not emit such dark smoke.

The firing came at 4:04 p.m. and was signalled by a low rumble which contrasted with the loud roar of liquid-fuel missiles.

State Tops California!

LAKELAND — Florida orange income per acre was about twice that of California for the 10-year period ending with the 1956-57 season, Robert W. Rutledge, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, said.

Rutledge said growers in Florida received an average of $168 per acre from orange groves during the period, while California growers averaged $85. He estimated Florida growers will average $325 per acre for orange grove income for the current season, while California growers will average $225 per acre.

Candidates Must List Donations

Political Spending Law Is Held Valid

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Florida election laws requiring candidates to file reports of their campaign spending and contribution have been upheld by the Second District Court of Appeal at Lakeland, Attorney General Richard Ervin said Monday.

Ervin said the appeal court had affirmed without comment a Palm Beach Circuit Court decision voiding the election in November, 1956, of Republican Thomas K. Evans as a Palm Beach County constable.

The Democratic incumbent, Louis Carroll, after his defeat in the general election, filed the suit to disqualify the successful Republican. Carroll charged that Evans had failed during several months of the campaign to file his spending and contributions report.

Carroll also charged that Evans had not reported as contributions a donation of campaign cards and $25 given him by the Republican executive of Palm Beach County.

The Circuit Court held that Evans had not explained satisfactorily his failure to file reports and must be adjudged to have knowingly and deliberately violated the requirement.

The Circuit Court ruled out his excuse that the campaign card donation was not reported because he didn't know the donor. The court said the contribution should have been reported with a notation the donor was not known.

The case originally was appealed to the State Supreme Court. But the Supreme Court sent it to the district court, saying no constitutional question was involved.

Carroll has continued to serve as constable under a ruling by the Palm Beach Circuit Court that the incumbent remain in office until a successor had qualified.

Lansky Slips Out Of Hospital

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — Gambler Meyer Lansky, who claimed last week he was too sick to testify in Washington at a Senate Rackets Committee hearing, has left a private hospital here. He could not be located Monday.

Hollywood Hospital, Inc., confirmed that the New York-Florida-Cuba gambler had checked out Saturday night "in satisfactory condition."

He left Cuba when Fidel Castro's Rebels closed down the casinos in January. He was to testify last week before the Senate Rackets Committee probe of gangsterism in the juke box business.

U.S. Deputy Marshal Guy W. Hixon, Miami, said his office did not have a witness subpoena for Lansky.

The 56-year-old gambler told reporters in Miami after he arrived from Cuba that he was coming here to see his doctor.

Exactly where he has stayed since arriving has been kept secret.

His son, Buddy, who runs the Tuscany Motel on Hollywood Beach, has said for two months he does not know where his father is.

Ken O'Donnell administrative assistant to Robert Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said Lansky was scheduled to testify on the first day of the hearing a week ago but he turned up sick. O'Donnell explained that the committee had gone on to other phases of the investigation and Lansky would not fit in at this time.

Nurseryman Questioned

TAMPA —(AP)— A Tampa nurseryman was questioned further Monday about the fatal shooting of a 16-year-old youth Sunday.

Russell Harris of Tampa died after undergoing surgery. A 22 caliber bullet fired by Robert L. Perry, owner of Sunset Nursery, had hit him in the left temple, deflected downward and lodged in his neck.

Young Mother Dead at Tampa

Slash Death Listed as Suicide

TAMPA — (AP) — The state attorney Monday termed as suicide the bizarre death of an attractive 30-year-old mother whose razor-slashed body was found in her car.

Authorities at first believed Mrs. William A. Brown to be the victim of a brutal killer.

Children playing in a wooded area of Tampa found the body of the Florida State University graduate late Sunday when they investigated an automobile parked in high weeds.

State Attorney James M. McEwen said officers found a single-edge razor blade on the floor of the car. He termed it "the instrument with which Mrs. Brown slashed herself."

Dr. Wray Story, pathologist who examined the body, agreed with McEwen that Mrs. Brown took her own life.

Officers said no note was located. They added, however, that there was evidence Mrs. Brown had been despondent.

Mrs. W. A. Brown
. . . had been despondent

Story said death probably resulted from loss of blood. He said Mrs. Brown suffered a deep cut on the inner part of her arm near the elbow which severed an artery and a major vein. She also received severe cuts on the head and neck.

Police Capt. Walter Heinrich said the husband reported Mrs. Brown missing at 10 a.m. Saturday. She left her home and three children, the youngest 4-months old, to go shopping several hours earlier.

Following a preliminary examination, Heinrich said Mrs. Brown died at the hands of "a vicious person." He said a more thorough examination revealed the possibility of suicide.

The officer said the body was fully clothed and apparently no money had been taken from her purse.

$50 Million March Tax Take Expected

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — If reports of a good winter tourist season hold up, Florida's financial picture will be a little brighter when March tax receipts start rolling in, State Comptroller Ray E. Green said Monday.

Green estimated the state's income next month from all sources will be about 50 million dollars. But he pointed out the state will have to repay about 20 million borrowed from trust funds when it receives the March collections.

"It is too early," Green said, "to make an optimistic long-range prediction, and money could continue tight for several months."

Latest sign of the pinch on the state's pocketbook came Monday when for the second straight month the state had to delay payment of minimum foundation school funds to the 67 counties for teachers' salaries.

The comptroller's office mailed out about two weeks late some nine million dollars and announced that another $1,112,000 in public school funds would be mailed out later this week.

Normally, the money would have been distributed Feb. 1 but the Cabinet approved the delay until the state's cash balance builds up.

Green explained that delay in payment of January and February school funds did not necessarily mean teachers had to wait for their individual checks.

Actual payment of salaries is handled by the counties and most of them apparently had enough reserve in local funds to meet the regular teachers' payday.

Green said Wakulla County had to hold up its January teachers' paychecks because of a local budget squeeze, but no hardships were reported. Dade County received its January payment from the state by air mail just in time to beat the deadline when local county tax distribution was too late to help the county pay its teachers.

Florida's treasury has been low for several months while the state struggled to recover from last winter's freeze and the recent recession.

As of Feb. 1, the treasury has a cash balance of $4,691,000 in its general revenue funds. Transfers and other income nudged it to over 12 million, so pressing bills could be paid and school distribution made.

Green anticipates a record revenue for the next two years of 716 million dollars, nine million less than the budget recommended to the Legislature by the State Budget Commission.

However, State Budget Director Harry Smith thinks total income from all sources will exceed the budget for the next two years by at least four million dollars.

Defiant Prisoners Are Heard

RAIFORD — (AP) — A group of white and Negro prisoners, responsible for weekend defiance of regulations at state prison, were given hearings Monday by a disciplinary committee.

There were 23 Negro and 12 white prisoners out of a much larger group implicated in the situation, which came to a head Saturday morning.

The 23 Negroes and 12 whites were placed in maximum security Saturday night by armed prison forces, headed by Superintendent DeWitt Sinclair.

The warden said no physical violence took place, although there was some milling about, pushing and shoving.

The disturbance began when a guard tried to lock up a Negro who insisted on staying up after lights-out Friday night and smoke. A companion joined the prisoner in defying the guard.

Leland Pace, acting captain of the guard, went to the reception center area Saturday morning to take charge of the two and it was then that a large crowd milled about them. The guards withdrew.

At this time officials called Sinclair in South Florida, where he had gone for the weekend. He returned immediately.

He said the 119 occupants of the Negro dormitory were marched out when they ignored a request the two rebellious convicts be produced.

Guards separated those who took part in the defiance, and the others were returned to quarters.

Sinclair said the 12 whites were principal agitators and were from another dormitory.

Jax Man Questions Obscene Law

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — A Jacksonville man, imprisoned for showing obscene pictures to a 12-year-old girl, Monday demanded his release on grounds Florida's obscene literature laws have been ruled unconstitutional.

Jacksonville Attorney Albert Datz told the State Supreme Court John G. Matthews was being held in prison illegally, because a recent ruling invalidated the laws.

The U.S. Supreme Court threw out a Michigan law, which is similar to the Florida statute. The Florida court recently dismissed another Jacksonville man, convicted of possession of pornography, on the basis of the ruling.

But Assistant Attorney General Otis Henderson said the earlier cases were not similar to Matthews' case. He said Matthews had actually given the child the pictures, while in the other cases the charge was possession.

Terror at Trailer

Bunnell Widow Tells of Slayings

BUNNELL —(AP)— The widow of one of two men slain in a labor dispute described in court Monday the few minutes of terror on Dec. 5 at an abandoned airstrip near here.

And Deputy Sheriff H. B. Drummond testified he arrested, in a bar, one of four men on trial and the man admitted one of the shootings.

Mrs. Elsie Jones testified she and George Jones, 31, were in their trailer home when a strange man knocked and asked for her husband.

She said her husband went outside and she heard voices but could not distinguish words.

"Then I heard shooting and I ran to the door and George yelled out 'Honey please don't come out'. Then there was more shooting. I became hysterical and was afraid to go out."

But she said she did run out a few minutes later and saw the bodies of her husband and another man on the ground, feet to feet and "both had pistols in their hands."

James Glissen, 27, was the other man who was slain.

Charged with second degree murder in the killings are Sidney McCraney, 31, and Jack Johnson, 35, both of Bunnell; Alex Faircloth, 24, of Ormond Beach; and Robert Drake, 26, of Flagler Beach.

Deputy Drummond said when he picked up McCraney he found the man had been wounded in the head and he said "I didn't mean to kill Mr. Jones. I killed him with a shotgun."

Faircloth and Drake were wounded during the shooting.

All four pleaded innocent last month and have been free under $5,000 pending start of the trial before Judge George W. Jackson.

A jury of six men and an alternate was sworn in just before noon.

Jones was a union organizer and had worked for Tropical Transport Co. which hauls cement for the Lehigh Portland Cement Co. plant at Flagler Beach.

Investigators said Jones had been instrumental in maintaining a picket line at the Tropical truck lot after the Teamsters Union set out to gain recognition from the truck company.

Johns Asks Regents To Take Cases

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report of the legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific sontents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most asto8nding and pathetic situation I have ever ran up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep their respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Bridge To Link 2 States

ATLANTA — (AP) — Plans have been made for a two-state effort to connect St. Marys, Ga., and Fernandina Beach, Fla., with a multi-million-dollar bridge.

Agreement on desirability of the eight-mile bridge was announced Sunday by Georgia Highway Board Chairman Jim Gillis and Florida Highway Department Chairman Joe Grotegut.

They said it is too early to estimate the cost, and more planning is needed before firm arrangements can be made.

The Florida Ocean Highway and Port Authority is promoting the bridge, but the segment in Georgia—size of which is not yet determined exactly—probably would be paid for by Georgia.

A lawyer for the Florida authority, H. W. Fishler, said Gov. LeRoy Collins recently estimated the cost of the project at 12 million dollars.

FCC Crackdowns

Keep Salty Language Off Air, Salts Told

TAMPA —(AP)— A marine supervisor for the Federal Communications Commission said Monday a crackdown will continue on improper use of radio frequencies by fishing vessels.

Alfred Ritter of Tampa said two ship captains recently paid fines of $100 each for using "profane and indecent language" over their radio transmitters. He said two similar cases are scheduled for hearings.

Ritter's office is charged with responsibility for policing use of radios on boats and ships in the Gulf of Mexico and along the nation's eastern seaboard.

Ritter said the captains who paid fines recently operate boats out of Isabel, Tex. He did not name those involved in the pending cases but said the hearings probably would be held at Corpus Christi, Tex.

"Our biggest problem at present," Ritter said, "is use of the distress frequencies for conversation between fishing boats."

Police Brass Now Promise Bookie Purge

By DOM BONAFEDE
And TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox
. . . 'didn't know'

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

ARRESTED by Miami Beach police were two employes of the Bayshore Municipal Golf Course, one of whom took a horse bet from an investigator of the Greater Miami Crime Commission during The Herald's probe.

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant who took the bet, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

One of the early arrivals at the meeting was Chief Fox.

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley showed up shortly after the discussion got under way and took a seat in the corner.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports from Dade law enforcement officials on "shocking" disclosures by The Miami Herald of wide open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared.

"I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned with the tax revenue which Florida is losing as a result of betting through bookies.

The state gets eight per cent of the take on legalized horse betting through the parimuteul windows. But it gets nothing from the bets which the horse player places with the bookie.

The chief executive was

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

Benson Lashes Back at Critics

Read It 'in Letters of Fire'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control.

Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers' meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months, and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany; the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany, such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

Castro's Sworn In At Palace

Fast Action Seen On Casinos, Asylum

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro is the youngest head of government in Cuba's 56-year history. Immediately following the palace ceremony, Castro moved into the prime minister's office in El Prado Boulevard, where outgoing Prime Minister Jose Miro Cardona formally turned over to him the top government post.

The entire cabinet was present at the palace ceremony, but the formal assumption of the job at El Prado offices was witnessed only by Castro's closest friends.

His associates predicted that Castro's first official action will be to solve a three-week-old impasse between the government and the foreign diplomatic corps over the issue of diplomatic asylum.

Some 200 followers of ousted President Batista are refugees in more than a dozen Latin American embassies here. It was generally expected that Castro would extend them safe conduct passes to go abroad.

Early reopening of Havana's luxury gambling casinos on a modified and government-supervised basis also was believed to be a primary objective of Castro's first days in the premiership.

Navy Project

Fluorides Eyed For Keys Water

More State News, 1C, 8C

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The Navy Department is considering fluoridating water supplied to the Florida Keys, both for military and civilian consumption, The Herald learned Monday.

Local Navy sources disclosed that the project may be effected during the current year, depending on appropriation of necessary funds and the approval of the Florida State Board of Health and the U.S. Public Health Service.

A Navy spokesman here said the City of Key West and the Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission have been canvassed to insure that the fluoridation plan meets no opposition.

"The Aqueduct Commission has expressed its concurrence on the assumption that this program will meet with the approval of the Florida State Board of Health and the U.S. Public Health Service," the spokesman said.

Fluoridation is a process by which fluorides, chemical compounds, are added in small quantities to water supplies. Some authorities maintain the addition builds strong teeth, particularly in children. Others, however, claim the process is useless or even harmful.

Several yeasr ago a similar fluoridation proposal was made for the Keys and ran into considerable opposition from anti-fluorinists. The proposal was never put into effect.

The present plan, when and if approved, calls for fluoridation of the water at the Florida City well farm — the scource for all water consumed in the Keys. This water, like almost all Florida water, already contains some natural fluorides.

What amount of fluoride would be added to the water has not yet been determined, the Navy source said.

The well farm and the 130-mile pipeline which brings the water into the Keys is owned and operated by the Navy. The Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission purchases surplus from the Navy for resale to civilian consumers.

Funds for the project, estimated at $12,000, have not yet been made available, the Navy spokesman said here. But a "reasonable guess is that the funds should be forthcoming during 1959'," the spokesman added.

Bill Provides 2 Judgeships

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.) said Monday he will offer a bill to provide two additional federal district judges for Florida.

One judgeship would be allocated to the southern district. The other would be a traveling judge to sit wherever needed in the state.

Smathers said tha Florida's mushrooming population — now more than 4.4 million — has caused a serious backlog of cases of federal court calendars.

Surprise Legal Move

Beck Counsel Rests In Income Tax Trial

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES
The New York Times Service

N. Y. Times News Service

TACOMA, Wash. — Dave Beck's counsel rested in the labor leader's income tax trial Monday without offering a defense. One witness occupied the stand briefly.

Charles S. Burdell, attorney for the former $50,000-a-year general president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, ended the case abruptly without letting his client take the stand.

The surprise ending was recorded on the 57th day of a trial based on a charge that Beck evaded payment of $240,000 of income taxes for the years 1950 to 1953. The prosecution, which closed its case Thursday, had put 114 witnesses on the stand. More than 10,000 pages of testimony had accumulated.

Out of court, Burdell said he broke the news to Beck at 9 a.m. that the former union executive was not going on the stand. Beck had confidently predicted since the trial opened on Nov. 10 that he would have his "day in court."

"This is my decision not to defend the case," Burdell said. "I made it over the weekend after completion of the government's case."

The defense put an accountant, Karl Houston, on the stand as its lone witness. He was called merely to testify that Beck had nothing to do with preparing ledgers and keeping books of the B. & B. Investment Company, which was set up to handle Beck's personal enterprises.

UF Morals Report Implicates 14 Professors

Probers Suspect 500 Students of Secret Activities

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report of the legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific contents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most astounding and pathetic situation I have ever run up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

Jaquelin J. Daniel of Jacksonville, a board of control member, said he doubts the board will be ready to consider the report Friday because of its length. He said members would not have time to study it before then.

Daniel would not comment on the contents of the report. He added that the "board will take appropriate action."

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep their respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Senator Says Let Reds Visit

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

A Wyoming senator said in Miami Monday that America ought to open its borders to Russian visitors—and pay their way if necessary.

Freshman Democratic Sen. Gale McGee, 43, told a meeting of the Dade County Bar Association at the Columbus Hotel:

"We have nothing to hide. Just get them over here to see, and let the Russians send the toughest ones they have."

McGee admitted that the Soviet government would be able to control who comes to this country, but added:

"They may write the party line when they go back, but they will talk and whisper about what they saw here."

McGee said he also felt that the U.S. and Russia will "neutralize each other" because of their tremendous productive powers.

But he warned that the U.S. must still meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The U.S. economy is producing at only about 50 per cent of capacity while the rate in the USSR is greater, he said.

He noted that Russia has openly declared an economic war on American industry and that it would be foolhardy for capitalism to ignore this threat.

"Out in our Rocky Mountain area, you don't turn your back on an enemy," said McGee.

'To Heat Cold War'

Reds Charge U.S. 'Using' 11 Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

Mac Invited To Red Hunt

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been invited to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt during his tour of the Soviet Union. Plans are reported to have been made for such a hunt on a preserve near Leningrad. Macmillan is due here Saturday.

But No. 10 Dowing St. said Monday MacMillan has no present plans to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt.

Macmillan is an excellent shot, but so far he has confined his shooting to grouse, quail and pheasant.

"Most definitely he has never shot bear," a spokesman added.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. —(UPI)— Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

4 Injured As Planes Nearly Hit

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra and an Air Force jet bomber missed colliding by 500 feet Monday when the airline pilot jerked his plane into a steep climb 23,000 feet over Tennessee.

Three passengers and a stewardess were injured by the violent maneuver at 23,000 feet above Chattanooga. The plane was flight No. 127 from Chicago.

Three passengers from the Chicago area and Miami Stewardess, Lois Borchers' injured by the sudden sharp jolt, were taken to North Shore Hospital after arrival here.

Listed in fair condition were Passengers Phillip Kaplan, Mrs. C. R. Allen and Sam Landsman. Mrs. Allen and Kaplan suffered fractured ankles, hospital authorities said, and Landsman was being X-rayed for possible internal injuries. Miss Borchers was treated and released.

Veteran Eastern pilot Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, of 960 Hunting Lodge Dr., Miami Springs, who has been flying for 33 years, said the Air Force B47 "was the biggest thing I ever saw."

Reprecht said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left," he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

Capt. Ruprecht threw the plane into a 1,500-foot climb.

He said "the Electra may have prevented a collision because of its maneuverability."

The Eastern plane was traveling at about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said, and carried 17 passengers and five crew members. The Air Force bomber was going at an estimated 600 miles an hour.

Ruprecht said the Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn a few seconds before he pulled up. "He must have just seen us," said the pilot.

The Federal Aviation Agency promptly assigned investigators to the case. The Air Force did not immediately identify home base of the jet.

Shortly after the near-miss, Sen. George Smathers, Florida congressman, said in Washington:

"The near-tragedy shows the urgent need for greater speed in bringing about a practical and adequate solution for this phase of air safety — to maintain safe and separate air lanes for both military and commercial traffic."

Spy Suspect Admits Guilt

KARLSRUHE, Germany —(UPI)— Alleged spy ring leader Carl Helfmann confessed Monday to having worked for Communist East Germany's state security service for nearly five years.

Helfmann, 60, went on trial Monday charged with collecting espionage material in Western Germany and passing it on to East German officials.

He is accused among other things of obtaining classified information from the Wiesbaden office of the American Scientific Research Division.

2 Distinct Breeds Of Bookies Run Dade Operations

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; G. W. Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

forced to cancel a round of appearances here — including the brotherhood dinner at the Americana Hotel of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Collins, recipient of the NCCJ's Protestant layman's award, was to have received the plaque at the dinner.

The governor, speaking hoarsely, said his sinus had "acted up" during a ride here from Florida's west coast.

"I spent a miserable night," he said. "My doctor tells me that it is nothing serious and that I have no temperature.

"But I am very uncomfortable."

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

First Flight For Green Quail?

Secret Test Missile Blasts Up From Cape

Air Force Refuses Comment

CAPE CANAVERAL—(UPI) — A slender solid-fuel test rocket arched aloft Monday in a secrecy-shrouded launching.

First reports indicated the missile was a McDonnell-made Green Quail. But it was learned later the test vehicle was a forerunner of a top-secret rocket, not yet identified.

The Air Force declined to comment on the nature of the rocket. Officials said only that "a research and development rocket was fired at the Atlantic missile range."

The Green Quail is a jet-powered rocket which will be launched from B-47 and B-52 bombers. But the rocket launched Monday was a solid-fuel vehicle. The McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis, which makes the Green Quail, was in charge of the launching.

The test rocket, about 40 feet long and much slimmer than the Navy's solid-fuel Polaris test vehicle, blasted off with the same deep-throated rumble as the Polaris.

A cloud of smoke hung over the launching site and a wide smoke trail marked the flight path of the rocket.

The McDonnell Aircraft Co. has been working on the Green Quail for more than a year.

Development of the Green Quail appeared to tie in with the Air Force's cancellation two months ago of the Fairchild-made Goose.

The Goose also was a diversionary weapon, designed to precede Strategic Air Command bombers and confuse enemy radar.

Although the Green Quail will be launched from the ground in the early test phase, it may eventually be fired from underneath B-52 or B-70 bombers.

Horsing Around

That's what Flash, a 17-year-old Palomino, was doing when he slid into this mudhole at Jacksonville. He was up to his mane in mire when rescuers arrived. It took a lot of tugging and heaving—and, of course, a lot of horsepower—to get Flash onto dry land.

Students Like Science

Brevard Gets Own Fair

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — School students in this missile center have produced such an abundance of top quality scientific projects that Brevard County has been authorized to hold its own regional science fair.

Dr. B. Frank Brown, county director of education, reported "40 excellent" exhibits were left out of regional competition last year. This prompted sponsors to set up the new region.

Brevard was to have joined Volusia, Lake and Seminole Counties for the regional program, midway step to the statewide fair. Exhibits are first entered in county fairs.

The other three counties will stage a regional fair at Stetson University.

Dr. Brown said the Brevard fair will be March 28 at Melbourne High School, picked as the site of the 1960 state science fair. The regional affair next month is sponsored by the Florida chapter of the American Rocket Society.

The regional fair will feature 15 of the top exhibits from each junior high and high school in Brevard.

H. H. Pfiffer, manager of planning group, Space Technological Laboratories, heads the prize committee; Jerry Einem, sponsors policy committee chairman, and Joseph Keller, will be operations committee head. Einem and Keller are Melbourne High School instructors.

During the week, March 16-22, schools throughout Brevard will hold fairs. More than 4,000 exhibits are on display at the schools. The county school board sponsors this program.

Even elementary schools participate at this level, but only exhibits by students in grades 7 through 12 are eligible for the regional and state events.

Mrs. Frances Lourse, Titusville teacher, heads the county fair committee, assisted by Einem, and Isabell Adamson of Cocoa.

Each school participating in the county fair will hold its program on different days so students will be able to visit other schools, Dr. Brown said.

FORT LAUDERDALE — There are a lot of people in Florida who don't expect to die—at least, not here.

Those 'Skeeters Are Fresh 'Uns

FORT LAUDERDALE — Those mosquitoes that have been plaguing a few neighborhoods are not harbingers of summer enticed by the June in February weather.

They're fresh water 'skeeters, circulating within a block of their breeding places, according to Fort Lauderdale's pest control superintendent. "They're normal for this time of year but they aren't really the problem now. The sand flies are much worse," said Orville E. White Sr., who said the bugs are wafting in on southeast breezes.

Big Load Will Use The Canal

CAMDEN, N. J. — (UPI) — A barge carrying a 300-ton nuclear reactor vessel left here on a 25-day, 3,600-mile journey to Dresden, Ill., where it will become the heart of a huge 180,000 kilowatt nuclear power plant.

The huge dimensions of the pressure vessel — 20 feet in diameter and 42 feet in height required it to be shipped by water to its destination on the Illinois Waterway, 50 miles southwest of Chicago.

By rail a trip between these two points would take about a day.

Leaving the Camden shipyard, the barge will journey down the inland waterway to Fort Myers, then along the Gulf coast and through the Intracoastal canal to New Orleans.

From there, it will journey up the Mississippi River to the Illinois River and to the Dresden landing, at the junction of the Illinois and Des Plaines Rivers.

The power station is being built for Commonwealth Edison Co. and Nuclear Power Group Inc. by General Electric Co. for 45 million dollars.

Woman Jailed In Knife Death

VERO BEACH — Rosemary Anderson, 20, Gifford Negro, is being held in the Indian River County jail on charges of second degree murder. She is accused of fatally stabbing her estranged husband, Willie Anderson, 23, on a street Friday night.

60 Per Cent Donated

Owners Turn Over Land For Highway

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA BEACH — Property owners have donated more than 60 per cent of the land needed for four-laning State Rd. 1A between the Cocoa-Cocoa Beach Cuaseway and Port Canaveral.

On hand was 8,000 feet of the 13,000 needed. Estimated value of the right-of-way is $750,000, a figure which has blocked road improvements.

The owners are donating land in hope Brevard County will four-lane State Rd. 401—now the only road to the port and the south gate of Cape Canaveral — and build a causeway from the port to State Rd. 3, on Merrit Island.

The Port Canaveral Authority is officially blocking this proposal, but the County Commission is working on another plan which would provide a toll causeway from the port to Cocoa.

However, completion of the toll causeway is about three years away, and county commissioners have indicated they favor a temporary Port Canaveral-Merrit Island causeway, which would cross Banana River.

The donations of 401 right-of-way are at the urging of a group headed by R. B. Brossier, a land developer, and Fred Fisher, a county commissioner.

Bridge To Link 2 States

ATLANTA — (AP) — Plans have been made for a two-state effort to connect St. Marys, Ga., and Fernandina Beach, Fla., with a multi-million-dollar bridge.

Agreement on desirability of the eight-mile bridge was announced Sunday by Georgia Highway Board Chairman Jim Gillis and Florida Highway Department Chairman Joe Grotegut.

They said it is too early to estimate the cost, and more planning is needed before firm arrangements can be made.

The Florida Ocean Highway and Port Authority is promoting the bridge, but the segment in Georgia—size of which is not yet determined exactly—probably would be paid for by Georgia.

A lawyer for the Florida authority, H. W. Fishler, said Gov. LeRoy Collins recently estimated the cost of the project at 12 million dollars.

Old estimates were about seven million dollars, Grotegut noted. The proposed project would be financed by tolls he added.

The facility will cut 29 miles from the distance between St. Marys and Fernandina Beach. The bridge would cross the mouths of the St. Marys and Nassau Rivers.

$44,000 In Gems Stolen

JUPITER — (UPI) — The home of a Connecticut and New York socialite, Irving A. Chapman, on exclusive Jupiter Island has been robbed of some $44,000 in diamond and emerald jewelry, it was reported Monday.

Jupiter Island police, in charge of the investigation, refused to disclose any details of the robbery. Chapman, who maintains a home at Portland, Conn., apparently first reported the robbery to a private investigator.

The detective in turn reported it to Jupiter Island police Sunday, who in turn notified the Martin County Sheriff's office.

The FBI was called into the case Monday and sent an investigator to the scene.

Jupiter Island is a secluded hideaway of the very rich in the Hobe Sound area. Its some 400 residences are set back from a highway bordered mostly by a jungle-like tangle of trees and underbrush.

Chapman, who was said to be retired, is listed in the New York social register and is married to the former Lucille D. Guildersleeve. They are members of several prominent social organizations.

Fellsmere To Receive Equipment

FELLSMERE — Equipment for a complete 200-bed emergency hospital was received at the Fellsmere school Monday from federal civil defense officials.

The equipment was officially received by Joe Henry Earman, Indian River County Civil Defense director. It was stored at the school in charge of D. G. Frisby, principal, and J. A. Thompson, county superintendent of schools.

Valued at about $40,000, the pre-position hospital was brought here without cost to the county. Fellsmere is remote, but fairly close to both West Palm Beach and Melbourne, and this helped determine the site for the emergency hospital.

If, during a disaster the Indian River Memorial Hospital were put out of action, the staff could be transferred to Fellsmere.

Volunteers for first aid training by the local Red Cross are now being sought to man the hospital in an emergency, Earman said.

No one was injured in the incendiary attempt, but damage to the front of the Fernandez home was estimated at $600.

Bank Climbs 23 Rungs Up

MELBOURNE — The Bank of Melbourne and Trust Co. gained 23 places in rank among the nation's banks last year and now is 1,224th in size among 5,000 banking houses.

The Melbourne bank's deposits rose from $18,043,477 on Dec. 31, 1957, to $19,529,845 a year later.

FCC Crackdowns

Keep Salty Language Off Air, Salts Told

TAMPA —(AP)— A marine supervisor for the Federal Communications Commission said Monday a crackdown will continue on improper use of radio frequencies by fishing vessels.

Alfred Ritter of Tampa said two ship captains recently paid fines of $100 each for using "profane and indecent language" over their radio transmitters. He said two similar cases are scheduled for hearings.

Ritter's office is charged with responsibility for policing use of radios on boats and ships in the Gulf of Mexico and along the nation's eastern seaboard.

Ritter said the captains who paid fines recently operate boats out of Isabel, Tex. He did not name those involved in the pending cases but said the hearings probably would be held at Corpus Christi, Tex.

"Our biggest problem at present," Ritter said, "is use of the distress frequencies for conversation between fishing boats."

'Think Thin to Stay Thin,' Advises Cary Grant, Spurning Pie

IF ALL WENT WELL on the submarine base sets for "Operation Petticoat" at Key West on Monday, movie star Tony Curtis was scheduled to journey up to Miami Beach today with publicist Paul Kamey for the premiere of Judy Garland at the Fontainebleau . . . Exchange visitor was Gore "Visit to a Small Planet" Vidal who has joined the lively arts set at the Key West Blue Marlin, co-headquarters with Key Wester of the Universal-International movie-makers.

Have you envied that streamline figure of Cary Grant's? Well, it may be a bit of over-simplification but it is simply a matter of mind over obese matter. Secret, we learned from Mr. Grant, just before indulging in a slab of key lime pie at Caribe Restaurant, is to "think thin." The dapper Thin Man is a firm believer in positive thinking. Mr. Grant does not eat slabs of key lime pie at luncheon!

THE $1,000,000 WORTH OF jewelry which Lana Turner wears in "Imitation of Life," including a $50,000 star sapphire set and a Russian emerald set valued at $240,000, is to be sent on tour. It is not yet decided whether Miami Beach will be on the itinerary . . . Shirley Jones sings a tune called "I'm Sorry But I Want a Ferrari" in "Never Steal Anything Small." It happened on the cruiser "Caysel."

Takes you back, doesn't it, to see George Raft, who used to help sister Texas run a night club, cutting up used to help sister Texas, run a night club, cutting up with Sam Sokol (late of Havana Capri) at Place for Steak.

Dancing Waters, which we once suggested would be prime entrance attraction for some swank hotel, will be presented as a feature of the Miami International Boat Show at Dinner Key from Feb. 20-25 a 49-foot unit will be installed by the City Parks Department in the patio garden between Exposition Hall and the show's tent marina . . . Wini Clark, of McVeytown, Pa., who used to vocalize with Ralph Flanagan's band, is going it solo at the Vagabonds-on-the-Blvd.

Directors Awarded $10,000 Each

TEN, AMERICAN theater directors were named today to receive grants of $10,000 each to "help stimulate their creative development." The recipients were William Ball, director of "Ivanov," now current off-Broadway; Rachmael ben Avram, director of Golden Hind Company, Berkley, Calif.; Herbert Blau, who directed "Waiting for Godot" for the Brussels Fair; Angus Bowmer, of Oregon Shakespeare festival; James Clancy, of the State University of Iowa; Mrs. Zelda Fichandler, of Washington Arena Stage; John Reich, of Chicago's Goodman Memorial Theater; Alan Schneider, New York director; Mack Scism, of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Nina Vance, managing director of Houston's Alley Theater. Ford Foundation is the donor.

Meet Carol Baker, see nearby cut, local cover girl-angler, not related, except as sister in beauty, to actress Carroll Baker.

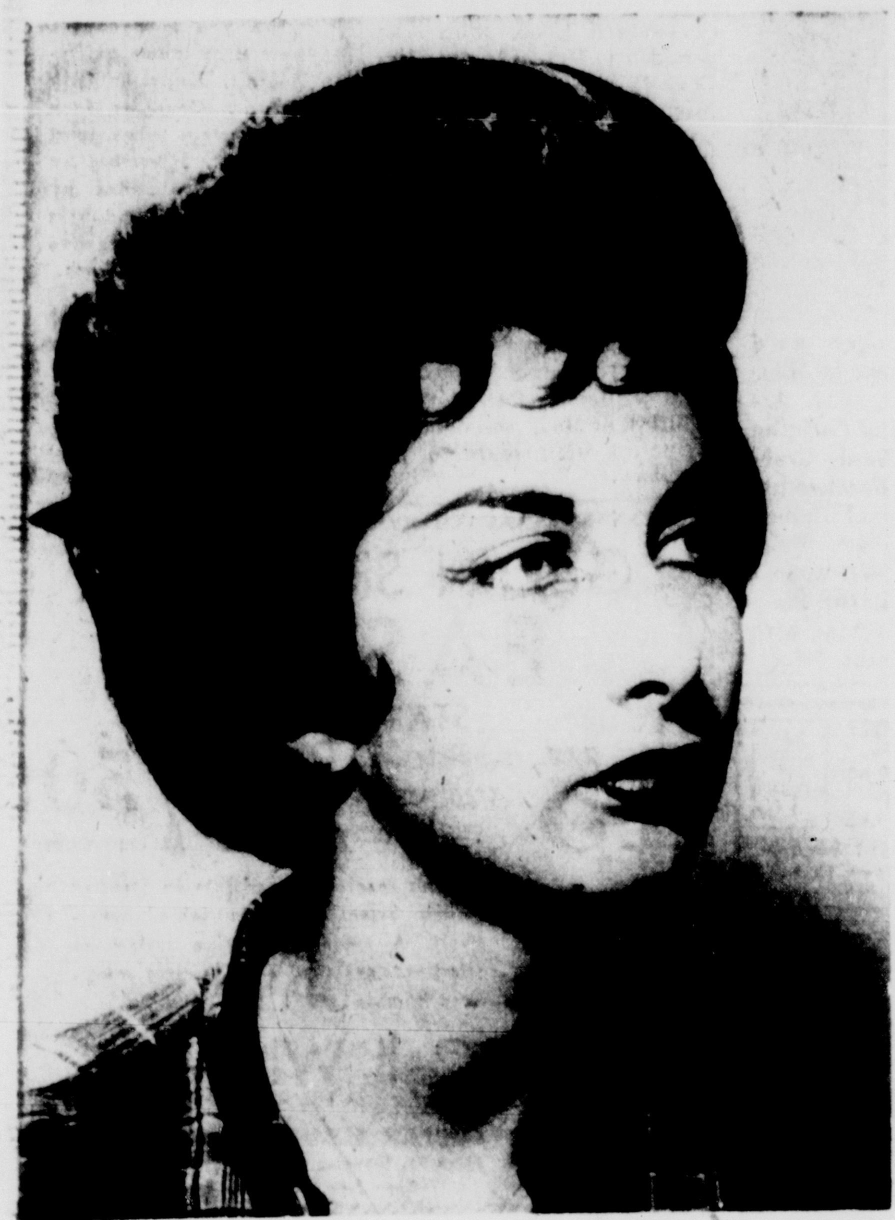
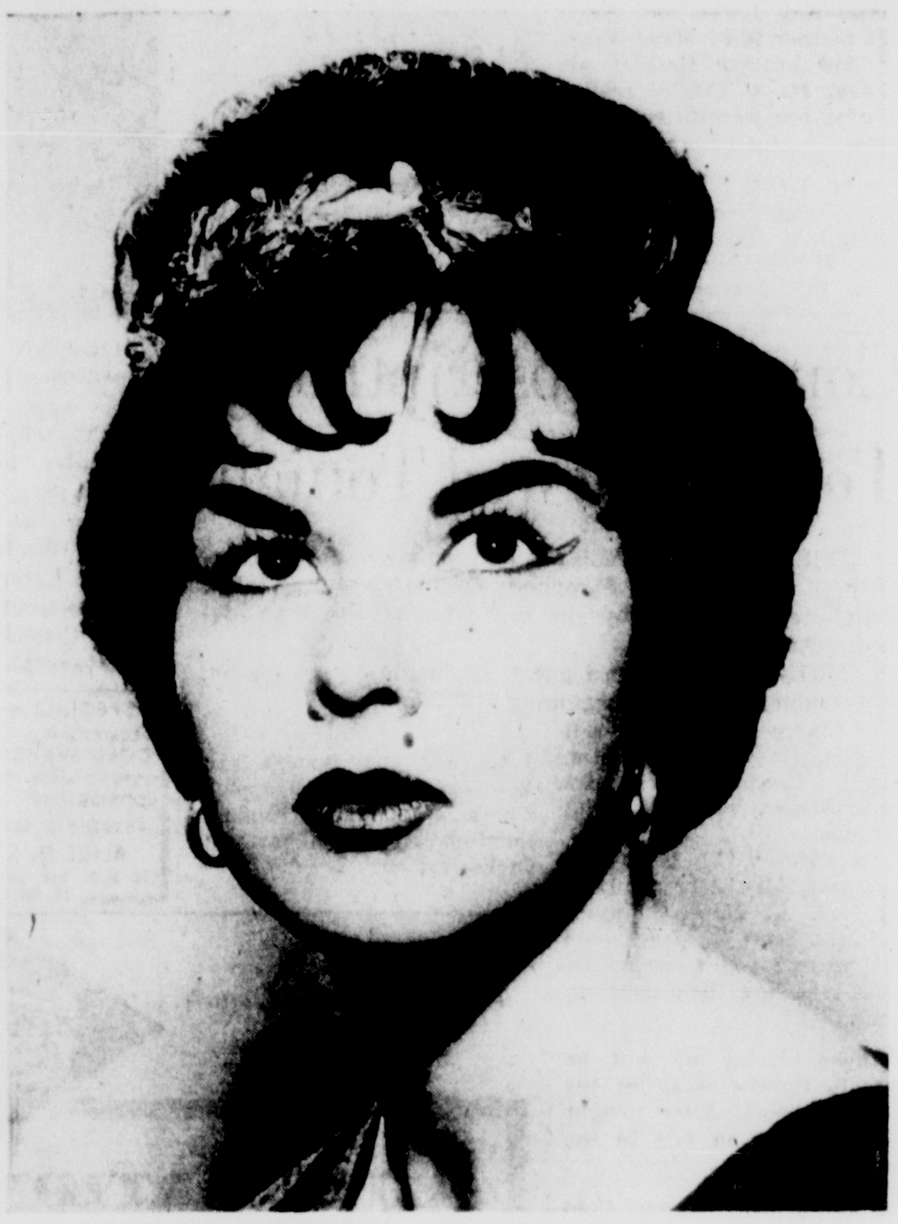
New Look for Spring: Oriental Hair Styles



NEW LOOK FOR SPRING, the Oriental hairstyle can be adapted to any type face, says a local hairstylist. This modified style is created for hair, 3 to 4½ inches long, originally cut for the Chemise coiffure.



EXAGGERATED ORIENTAL coiffure is for the young and lovely. The model's hair is 4 to 7 inches in length. Spray of golden leaves is typical of new hair ornaments that can be worn effectively. Dramatic eye make-up is a must.

"The Empire coiffure is as dead as the Empress Josephine," says a local hair artist.

"It's the Oriental Look now—as new and fresh as a breath of spring for the woman who wants something different."

He has been coifing customers in Oriental fashion for a month.

"We can adapt this style to any type face in any length hair as short as three inches. Short hair can always be bloused out, you know.

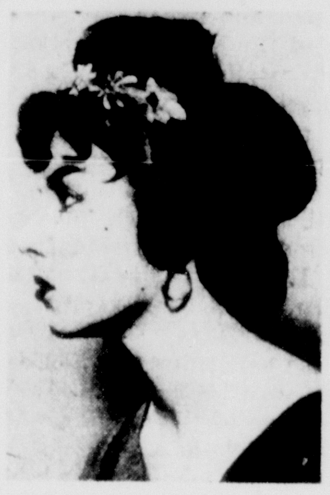
"There is nothing fluffy or casual about the Oriental," he continues. "The wave lines are smooth and rounded."

The secret, of course, lies in combing, and the woman who adopt san Oriental version needs a short course in combing, which the hair stylist emphasizes.

"Women today don't know how to comb hair as our grandmothers did in the days of the pompadour. It's a lost art."

Why the swing to the Oriental? "It was time," the stylist says. "We've run out of French and Italian inspiration. Recent movies and plays (Sayonara and the Flower Drum Song) have emphasized the Oriental theme.

"The Oriental woman has an aura of mystery, a welcome change after the too-too casual chemise and sack look."



HAIR is combed under like a page boy, bloused out in back. Top hair is reminiscent of oldtime pompadour.

No, the Oriental hairstyle will not become common overnight.

"The young hair stylists," he says, and smiles, "don't know how to do it. It takes an old-timer to tease and fuse the hair into the dramatic, rounded smoothness the coiffure demands."

With the advent of the Oriental, you will see more hair ornaments — jeweled chopsticks, combs and flowers. And much, much emphasis on dramatic eye make-up.

How old is she?

Mrs. Herbold of Hollywood looks much younger than she is because she avoids gray hair with Herbold Pomade. Is she 30-40-60? What's your guess?

Amazing Herbold Pomade
Tones Down Grayness
Hair Looks Young Again

If the years have stolen the natural color and oils from your hair, leaving streaks of dry lifeless gray, making you look older than you really are — simply use Herbold Pomade instead of your regular hair dressing. Massage it in with fingertips. That's all there is to it!

This clean, easy-to-use hair cream adds color to gray, streaked, faded or mousey hair, so gradually, and blends it so perfectly with your own natural color, that your hair will look young and alive again . . . with the color it had before it became old and gray.

If you are completely gray, or have only a few gray hairs — if you were once blonde, brunette, or even if your hair is dyed — this one and only Herbold Pomade will add just the right touch of lasting color for your hair. The improvement is so real, so gradual, that no one — not even yourself — can tell you are using anything but a fine hair dressing—because the special oils in Herbold Pomade groom, condition and restore that silky, alive, neat young look.

Not a coal tar dye, tint or rinse. That's why hair never looks artificial or dyed. No sudden change. No grayness at the scalp. No shades to confuse you.

Start using Herbold Pomade today. In 1 to 3 weeks you will feel the excitement of looking younger, with the assurance of no more gray hair for you.

FOR MEN AND WOMEN
Cream or Liquid
Use Creamy Pomade to condition dry hair, Liquid Pomade for thinning, oily or normal hair. Both tone down Gray Hair.

State BPW Chief Attends Annual District Event

By FLORENCE RABON
Herald Correspondent

KEY WEST — Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club rolled out the red carpet when Miss Adrienne Waits, president of the Florida federation, arrived to attend the District meeting at the Casa Marina Hotel. Other state officers here at meeting included Polly Crowell, chairman of the international committee, and Mrs. Barnie Shuhi national security chairman. District directors attending were Miss Anne K. Drozin of Miami; Mrs. Eloise Coleman of Hialeah; and Mrs. Helen Speed of Delray Beach. Also here was the past editor of "Florida Business Women," Bess Madill of Miami. The theme of the meeting was "International Relations."

RABON

A garden party-buffet was held in the beautiful tropical patio of the home of President Eva (Mrs. Paul) Newhouse on Eaton St. Arriving guests were greeted by Wilhelmina (Mrs. C. B.) Harvey, general chairman, Margaret Strassler, and Mrs. Newhouse. The reception committee at the garden were Mrs. Dorothy Young, Iris (Mrs. Jim) Schumacher, and Zula (Mrs. H. Kent) McLeod.

Chairman of the party, who also arranged the buffet was Madeline (Mrs. Earl) Wanemaker. The international theme was carried out in music, food and entertainment. Dance Ends Dimes March Here

THE MARCH OF DIMES drive ended in a blaze of glory when more than 275 guests turned out for the annual ball at the Key West Yacht Club. The semi-formal affair was arranged by Mary (Mrs. John) Spottswood, with Barbara (Mrs. Ray) Schoneck, Betty (Mrs. Gordon) Keene, Gwen (Mrs. Walter) McCook, Maxine (Mrs. Michael) Lanasa, Dorthy (Mrs. Robert) Reid, and Sylvia (Mrs. Jeff) Knight serving as the committee members.

A highlight was crowning of the March of Dimes "Queen of Queens." Rita Rumford, daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. James Rumford, won the honor when she turned in the largest amount of money collected by a member of the younger set. Nino Tempo, recording artist here for the filming of "Operation Petticoat," placed the crown on her head. Pat Riccio, another contestant received an orchid corsage. The contest was sponsored by Xi Alpha Theta Exemplar chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Chairman was Mrs. Jeff Knight, Jr.

A fast-paced floor show included Nino Tempo, Jin and Marilyn Carter, dance team appearing at the Casa Marina, and the four Blazers singing and musical quartet from the Preview club.

In the center of the buffet table was a blue carnation arrangement, with a cascade of dimes. A decorated cake, covered with dime replicas, was a gift of Caroline and Eddy's. Frank Rivas, maitre d. and his staff who prepared the buffet donated their time.

UPPER KEYS

Burton Memorial Church Opens Doors at Tavernier

By CAROLYN V. COHEN
Herald Correspondent

UPPER KEYS: No doubt about it. The season's here. There's something to do every day, with some overlapping of dates; many of our good winter friends are here; motels have "no vacancy" signs displayed; business people are working long, long hours, the weather is smiling upon us with extra warmth this year and everybody's happy.

People of many religions gathered for the first service at Burton Memorial Methodist Church, Tavernier, on Sunday. There were guests from Key West and the mainland and everyone was delighted to see the remarkable progress that has been made. Good fellowship prevailed during the impressive ceremonies and at the dinner the women served afterwards.

MRS. COHEN

Mrs. Henry Johnson, one of our favorite Keys natives, came from Key West with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Barker and daughter and son-in-law, the Harold Russells.

"Mr. George" Albury and his "Miss Annis," Tavernier, were wreathed in smiles. These two elder citizens have never ceased to work for their church, even in the face of some of its most difficult times.

Here are some special dates to remember. Feb. 21 and 22, Upper Keys Flower Show at Coral Shores School; Feb. 21, a very special and delicious barbecue at American Legion Home, Islamorada; Feb. 22, steak and mushroom dinner by the BPODoes at the Elks Club; Feb. 27 and 28, Islamorada Lions Club Minstrel Show at Coral Shores School; Feb. 28, another good barbecue at Tavernier Fire Department.

Valentine's Day was the wedding anniversary date for both the Ed Erwins and Ed Owens so their many, many friends entertained the two couples at Coral Point, Tavernier.

Everyone in the community is deeply concerned for Mike Cohn, on the critical list in St. Josephs Hospital, Tampa. His parents, Doctor Harvey and Dottie, are with him and latest reports say that he is showing some improvement.

Guests of Erwin and Nettie Winte, Key Largo, are Nettie's mother Mrs. Maud Fraser and brother Herbert of Allston, Mass. They're really enjoying our warmth and sunshine.

Upper Keys Kiwanians heard Judge George J. Rawlins tell of the work of his office at their meeting last week. Few realized the full calendar of work being done in the judge's quiet and efficient manner.

Postmaster Paul E. Albury, Jr., Tavernier, says that a representative to assist veterans with their problems will be at his office from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. on March 3.

Elaine Cadenhead, Mandalay Camp, Key Largo, reports that fishing is wonderful. Her only complaint is that some of the "big ones" they weigh for the Tournament in Miami are missing the top slot by mere ounces. But, they continue to weigh some beauties and expect to reach several top awards before the contest closes.

Perfect Dish For a Wedding

MEDINA, Saudi Arabia — (WNS) — Bedouin women have claimed the world's title for preparing the most substantial dish ever prepared. It is Stuffed Camel and is intended for wedding feasts.

The recipe includes: Boil a dozen eggs, stuff them into a dozen fish and put the fish inside a dozen chickens, roasted. Stuff the chickens into as many roasts of lamb, and stuff them into a camel. Roast the entire thing until it is perfectly cooked.

Concert Subscriptions To Be Renewed Tonight

FORT LAUDERDALE — Renewals of subscriptions to the Fort Lauderdale Symphony Orchestra will be taken tonight at a concert by the orchestra at the War Memorial Auditorium.

Michael Bowles, third guest conductor of the season, will conduct a program beginning at 8:30 p.m.

In charge of renewals will be Mrs. Harry Fauser, Mrs. Robert Gardner and Mrs. Paris Singer, who will be in the foyer.

Assisting will be ticket chairman, Mrs. Albrt S. Luker, Mrs. A. Louis O'Connor and Mrs. Scott L. Moore, who will present red roses to patrons renewing their subscriptions.

Those signing up will be able to reserve seats for the 1959-60 season. After tonight seats will go on sale to the public.

Following the concert, Conductor and Mrs. Bowles will be honor guests at a supper dance at the Governors' Club Hotel. They will be in a receiving line with officers of the orchestra and the symphony society.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowles leave Wednesday for Indianapolis, where Mr. Bowles conducts the Indianapolis Philharmonic Orchestra.

ALGERIAN singer and comedienne Fernanda Montel is appearing with Arthur Treacher and Carleton Carpenter in Paul Crabtree's play, "Beachcombers," at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse, Palm Beach. Later she'll appear for two weeks at the Playhouse Celebrity Room, with the Marshall Grant Trio.

She'll Head Bethesda Auxiliary

DELRAY BEACH — Mrs. O. R. Tergesen has been elected president of the 803 member Bethesda Memorial Hospital Woman's Auxiliary, it was announced Monday.

Also elected were Mrs. Eugene Lynch, first vice president; Mrs. F. Earl Wallace, second vice president; Mrs. C. Howard Hood, third vice president; Mrs. Charles McConnell, recording secretary; Mrs. William Spencer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Earle Shannon, treasurer, and Mrs. Mable Findiesen, assistant treasurer.

Mrs. H. Anderson Hubbard, retiring president, announced that the auxiliary-operated gift shop and snack bar at the hospital will be dedicated to Mrs. Nathan S. Sharp and Mrs. Walter E. Perry in recognition of their assistance in formation and guidance of the auxiliary.

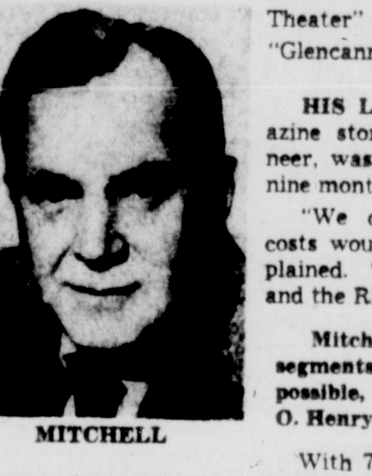
Stars, Public Blasted

'Live' TV Isn't 'Live' Says Film Performer

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD —(UPI)— Thomas Mitchell has blasted performers and viewers who insist a "live" TV show is better than a filmed version.

For years some actors and producers have insisted that filming of TV shows takes some of the quality out of them.



MITCHELL

But the academy award winning Mitchell made three filmed TV series and puts up a fight for his side.

"There's no such a thing as a real live show," Mitchell said.

"What's considered to be vitality on a live show is nothing but nervous energy," he added.

"What is live about a show that's been written, rewritten and rehearsed before ever being put on," he asks.

"Of course, any show has to have preparation, but the so-called live shows couldn't possibly compare with the filmed ones."

* * *

"I WAS IN the play 'Death of a Salesman' for 22 months and I rehearsed it for five weeks before opening," he recalled. "How could they call that live?"

"I get tired of people saying 'I like a live show,'" he grumbled. "A dog walking into a room is a live show."

Mitchell, an Oscar winner in 1939 as best supporting actor in "Stagecoach," is in a repeat appearance Feb. 23 when ABC-TV reruns "Shirley Temple's Storybook" where he plays a Chinese emperor.

Mitchell also thinks he's the only actor with three TV series to his credit. He appeared in "Mayor of the Town," "O'Henry Theater" and recently completed filming of "Glencannon."

* * *

HIS LATEST SERIES, based on the magazine stories about a Scottish seagoing engineer, was shot in England and Mitchell spent nine months on location.

"We couldn't make the series here, the costs wouldn't have been permissable," he explained. "We filmed in Tangiers, Marseille and the Riviera."

Mitchell has plans to shoot another 39 segments of the series in London and, if possible, would like to resume filming of the O. Henry stories.

With 70 movies and 157 plays to his credit, Tommy believes television is cutting waste out of film production.

"Television is post graduate movies," he opined. "After all, it's all done with cameras.

"TV tells the story in one half hour that movies tell in a full hour," he claims. "Television doesn't have so much time, as well as money, taken up by production."

But Tom doesn't believe all movies should be cut to half hour shows. He feels that such films as "Ten Commandments" and "Ben Hur" will pay off at the boxoffice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Recreation is uppermost in your mind now and if you give in to this temptation, you can be very extravagant in many ways. Attend to most important obligations first instead. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day to show appreciation to those near and dear for some especially fine work they have done, favors done you in the past. Steer clear of any investments. Clear up any tasks or work left uncompleted. Put house in order.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take particular care while out on the road today. Also, take pains to complete anything you have started, without running off hither and yon to different interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do not rely on own judgment now in matters of money or property. Get the advice of experts. Do not expend more than you can wisely afford. Be sure to ask for credentials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is one of those days when you seem to have a sort of artificial brightness instead of the usual deepdown conviction. Relax and think, then go about your affairs in a very balanced fashion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Climatic conditions have you feeling a bit nervous today and you would like to step out of any obligations or commitments you have made. Regular work also seems tiresome.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Comrades and regular associates appear to be wavering and undependable today. Don't let this irk you, but realize that they are under tensions. Be patient and work alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although you may get some self-satisfaction out of telling off some higher up today, in the long run you will regret it. Remember that the bigger the individual is, the greater are his or her problems.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While stepping out of dull doldrums is fine today, take care you do not get in with a frivolous group and waste this fine day, ruin own chances for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think carefully before you follow the seemingly logical advice of a higher up since he or she is not cognizant of every phase of your problems and you could wind up behind the proverbial eight ball.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Associate or competitor who talks quite at random now does not truly expect his or her statements to be taken verbatim, for there is an element of vanity in them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A day when all sorts of annoying little damages can occur if you do not take yourself in hand and work relaxed and methodically. Also be sure to go over any paper work you do.

Her Dish? Why, Rain!

ORPINGTON, England —(AP)— Mrs. Barbara Lawson is a vegetarian. Also, she is fussy about water. And that has started a rumpus with Orpington's local council, which has warned her it is going to civilize her house at nearby Biggin Hill and lay in a water supply for her.

Mrs. Lawson likes to collect her own supply by draining rainwater off the roof, putting it through a filter and storing it in concrete tanks. Told that the council is going ahead with its installation plan whether she likes it or not, Mrs. Lawson, 50, retorted:

"They can't make me drink their chlorinated muck. I shall lie down in front of the workmen when they come here to lay the pipes."

Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

QUESTION: Which is proper, a "bought" dress or a "boughten" dress? — R.S.H.

ANSWER: I prefer "bought," though either is correct.

As a participial adjective, boughten was once widely used in the United States. By the middle of the 19th century, however, it was becoming rustic and highly "correct" writers and publications were setting it off with quotation marks or including it only in passages whose spelling indicated that it was uneducated. But the common people, who did not read such authors or subscribe to such publications, went right on using it up until a generation or so ago.

The Oxford English Dictionary lists it as poetic (it was originally a corruption, on the analogy of the archaic foughten), dialect, or a peculiar Americanism.

It has been revived in the pseudo-rusticity of suburban speech to suggest that manufactured things are rare and expensive, prized above the familiar, home-made ones. As such, it is an affectation. But if it is and always has been a natural part of your speech, I would continue to use it.

Actor's Wife Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Actor Cameron Mitchell's wife Johanna has obtained an uncontested decree of separate maintenance.

Superior Judge Roger Alton Pfaff approved a property settlement where by Mitchell will pay 40 per cent of his gross income, up to earnings of $50,000 a year, for support of his wife and their four children. From earnings above that amount he will pay one-third.

State Tops California!

LAKELAND — Florida orange income per acre was about twice that of California for the 10-year period ending with the 1956-57 season, Robert W. Rutledge, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, said.

Rutledge said growers in Florida received an average of $168 per acre from orange groves during the period, while California growers averaged $85. He estimated Florida growers will average $325 per acre for orange grove income for the current season, while California growers will average $225 per acre.

4 Tried in Teamster Slaying

BUNNELL —(UPI)— The State Monday charged four truck drivers caused the fatal shooting of a Teamsters Union organizer in a conspiracy to scare him out of town.

The state said by their own confession the defendants and another man killed met in a cafe before the labor melee and made plans to "scare George Jones into leaving his home."

The 30-year-old Jones, conducting a Teamsters organization drive at the Tropical Transport Co., was shot at his trailer home Dec. 5, a few hours after the meeting in the cafe one of the alleged conspirators, Howard Glisson, also was killed.

All the men worked for Tropical.

State Attorney William W. Judge said the five were responsible for Jones' death regardless of their intent.

The defendants, all charged with second degree murder, are Alex Faircloth Jr., 24, who was wounded critically in the stomach during the shooting; Robert Drake, 26, who was shot in the leg; Sidney McCraney, 31, who suffered a head injury, and Jack Johnson, 33, driver of the car that took the men to Jones' trailer.

The state made its charges in opening arguments as the trial of the four men opened. Defense Attorney Joseph Scarlett of Deland argued that no conspiracy was evident.

The state read into the record statements allegedly made by Faircloth, Drake and McCraney.

According to the statements, the four defendants and Glisson, also a truck driver for Tropical, met at Lucy's cafe the night of Dec. 5 and laid their plans.

They went to Jones' trailer, Drake and Faircloth armed with pistols and McCraney with a shotgun. Jones came outside to talk to the men and the shooting broke out in the dark.

Mrs. Jones called to the witness stand, testified she heard several shots in the dark. She said before the shooting stopped she heard her husband call to her, "honey, please don't come out."

She said when the shooting was over she found the bodies of her husband and Glisson and the wounded Faircloth on the ground.

Young Mother Dead at Tampa

Slash Death Listed as Suicide

TAMPA — (AP) — The state attorney Monday termed as suicide the bizarre death of an attractive 30-year-old mother whose razor-slashed body was found in her car.

Authorities at first believed Mrs. William A. Brown to be the victim of a brutal killer.

Children playing in a wooded area of Tampa found the body of the Florida State University graduate late Sunday when they investigated an automobile parked in high weeds.

State Attorney James M. McEwen said officers found a single-edge razor blade on the floor of the car. He termed it "the instrument with which Mrs. Brown slashed herself."

Dr. Wray Story, pathologist who examined the body, agreed with McEwen that Mrs. Brown took her own life.

Mrs. W. A. Brown
. . . had been despondent

Officers said no note was located. They added, however, that there was evidence Mrs. Brown had been despondent.

Story said death probably resulted from loss of blood. He said Mrs. Brown suffered a deep cut on the inner part of her arm near the elbow which severed an artery and a major vein. She also received severe cuts on the head and neck.

Police Capt. Walter Heinrich said the husband reported Mrs. Brown missing at 10 a.m. Saturday. She left her home and three children, the youngest 4-months old, to go shopping several hours earlier.

Following a preliminary examination, Heinrich said Mrs. Brown died at the hands of "a vicious person." He said a more thorough examination revealed the possibility of suicide.

The officer said the body was fully clothed and apparently no money had been taken from her purse.

Candidates Must List Donations

Political Spending Law Is Held Valid

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Florida election laws requiring candidates to file reports of their campaign spending and contribution have been upheld by the Second District Court of Appeal at Lakeland, Attorney General Richard Ervin said Monday.

Ervin said the appeal court had affirmed without comment a Palm Beach Circuit Court decision voiding the election in November, 1956, of Republican Thomas K. Evans as a Palm Beach County constable.

The Democratic incumbent, Louis Carroll, after his defeat in the general election, filed the suit to disqualify the successful Republican. Carroll charged that Evans had failed during several months of the campaign to file his spending and contributions report.

Carroll also charged that Evans had not reported as contributions a donation of campaign cards and $25 given him by the Republican executive of Palm Beach County.

The Circuit Court held that Evans had not explained satisfactorily his failure to file reports and must be adjudged to have knowingly and deliberately violated the requirement.

The Circuit Court ruled out his excuse that the campaign card donation was not reported because he didn't know the donor. The court said the contribution should have been reported with a notation the donor was not known.

The case originally was appealed to the State Supreme Court. But the Supreme Court sent it to the district court, saying no constitutional question was involved.

Carroll has continued to serve as constable under a ruling by the Palm Beach Circuit Court that the incumbent remain in office until a successor had qualified.

New Route Is Ordered For Highway

Herald Bureau

MELBOURNE — The city engineering department will lay out a proposed roadway to provide the populous western Eau Gallie area a direct route into Melbourne, City Commissioner E. W. (Bill) Buss said Monday.

The original route, suggested by Bowe Gardens Civic Association, is too close to a Melbourne Airport runway, the Federal Aviation Administration told Buss.

FAA officials said the route probably would be approved if moved closer to the Florida East Coast Railroad.

$50 Million in March

State Finances Up, Teachers Cheered

By JOHN BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSEE — If reports of a good winter tourist season hold up, Florida's financial picture will be a little brighter when March tax receipts start rolling in, State Comptroller Ray E. Green said Monday.

Green estimated the state's income next month from all sources will be about 50 million dollars. But he pointed out the state will have to repay about 20 million borrowed from trust funds when it receives the March collections.

"It is too early," Green said, "to make an optimistic long-range prediction, and money could continue tight for several months."

Latest sign of the pinch on the state's pocketbook came Monday when for the second straight month the state had to delay payment of minimum foundation school funds to the 67 counties for teachers' salaries.

The comptroller's office mailed out about two weeks late some nine million dollars and announced that another $1,112,000 in public school funds would be mailed out later this week.

Normally, the money would have been distributed Feb. 1 but the Cabinet approved the delay until the state's cash balance builds up.

Green explained that delay in payment of January and February school funds did not necessarily mean teachers had to wait for their individual checks.

Actual payment of salaries is handled by the counties and most of them apparently had enough reserve in local funds to meet the regular teachers' payday.

Green said Wakulla County had to hold up its January teachers' paychecks because of a local budget squeeze, but no hardships were reported. Dade County received its January payment from the state by air mail just in time to beat the deadline when local county tax distribution was too late to help the county pay its teachers.

Florida's treasury has been low for several months while the state struggled to recover from last winter's freeze and the recent recession.

As of Feb. 1, the treasury has a cash balance of $4,691,000 in its general revenue funds. Transfers and other income nudged it to over 12 million, so pressing bills could be paid and school distribution made.

Green anticipates a record revenue for the next two years of 716 million dollars, nine million less than the budget recommended to the Legislature by the State Budget Commission.

However, State Budget Director Harry Smith thinks total income from all sources will exceed the budget for the next two years by at least four million dollars.

Nurseryman Questioned

TAMPA —(AP)— A Tampa nurseryman was questioned further Monday about the fatal shooting of a 16-year-old youth Sunday.

Russell Harris of Tampa died after undergoing surgery. A 22 caliber bullet fired by Robert L. Perry, owner of Sunset Nursery, had hit him in the left temple, deflected downward and lodged in his neck.

Dimes March

COCOA — Officials of the Brevard County March of Dimes announced Monday that $5,742.83 has been raised in Cocoa, Rockledge and Merritt Island since the polio drive opened early this month.

Highways Claim 7

Weekend Accident Toll 10

By Herald Services

Accidents brought death to 10 persons in the state during the weekend, seven from auto accidents. Two persons drowned and a third suffocated in a fire at her home.

The State Highway Patrol said 135 persons have been killed on Florida streets and roads in 1959. On the corresponding date of 1958 the death toll stood at 171.

Three of those killed by cars over the weekend were pedestrians. The patrol listed them as Grover C. Michler, 74, of Fort Lauderdale; Ethel B. Little, 39, of Jacksonville, and Walter E. Charlan, 70, of Miami.

Other traffic accident victims of the weekend were Walter Monroe, 19, and Charles Sheed, 18, both of Fort Lauderdale; Louise Gulley, 39, of Pensacola, and Mrs. James Williams, 80, of Miami.

Joseph Beausoliel, 24, of Woonsocket, R. I., airman stationed at Eglin Air Force Base, drowned Saturday in a lake on the base when a canoe upset.

Theodore Giles, 50, of Belle Glade, drowned in Lake Okeechobee when he fell into the water while fishing from a breakwater.

Mrs. Frances H. McArthur, 50, of Miami, suffocated in a fire at her home.

Jax Man Questions Obscene Law

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — A Jacksonville man, imprisoned for showing obscene pictures to a 12-year-old girl, Monday demanded his release on grounds Florida's obscene literature laws have been ruled unconstitutional.

Jacksonville Attorney Albert Datz told the State Supreme Court John G. Matthews was being held in prison illegally, because a recent ruling invalidated the laws.

The U.S. Supreme Court threw out a Michigan law, which is similar to the Florida statute. The Florida court recently dismissed another Jacksonville man, convicted of possession of pornography, on the basis of the ruling.

But Assistant Attorney General Otis Henderson said the earlier cases were not similar to Matthews' case. He said Matthews had actually given the child the pictures, while in the other cases the charge was possession.

Woman Stabbed, Man Arrested

FORT PIERCE — Rose Palmer, 45, Negro, was stabbed to death in a room at 608 N. 20th St., Sunday night, and Stanley Greenwood, 69, Negro, of the same address is being held for investigation of murder.

Patrolmen Oliver Walker and Clifford Minus said Greenwood was standing in the door of the room with a knife in his hand, and the woman was lying face down on the floor when they reached the scene. Chief Bruce E. Parsons said Monday Greenwood has admitted the stabbing.

Police Brass Now Promise Bookie Purge

By DOM BONAFEDE
And TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox
. . . 'didn't know'

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

ARRESTED by Miami Beach police were two employes of the Bayshore Municipal Golf Course, one of whom took a horse bet from an investigator of the Greater Miami Crime Commission during The Herald's probe.

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant who took the bet, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

One of the early arrivals at the meeting was Chief Fox.

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley showed up shortly after the discussion got under way and took a seat in the corner.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports from Dade law enforcement officials on "shocking" disclosures by The Miami Herald of wide open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared.

"I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned with the tax revenue which Florida is losing as a result of betting through bookies.

The state gets eight per cent of the take on legalized horse betting through the parimutuel windows. But it gets nothing from the bets which the horse player places with the bookie.

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

Benson Lashes Back at Critics

Read It 'in Letters of Fire'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control.

Secretary Benson
. . . he was poetic

Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers' meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months, and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany; the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany, such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

Navy Project

Fluorides Eyed For Keys Water

More State News, 1C, 8C

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The Navy Department is considering fluoridating water supplied to the Florida Keys, both for military and civilian consumption, The Herald learned Monday.

Local Navy sources disclosed that the project may be effected during the current year, depending on appropriation of necessary funds and the approval of the Florida State Board of Health and the U.S. Public Health Service.

A Navy spokesman here said the City of Key West and the Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission have been canvassed to insure that the fluoridation plan meets no opposition.

"The Aqueduct Commission has expressed its concurrence on the assumption that this program will meet with the approval of the Florida State Board of Health and the U.S. Public Health Service," the spokesman said.

Fluoridation is a process by which fluorides, chemical compounds, are added in small quantities to water supplies. Some authorities maintain the addition builds strong teeth, particularly in children. Others, however, claim the process is useless or even harmful.

Several yeasr ago a similar fluoridation proposal was made for the Keys and ran into considerable opposition from anti-fluorinists. The proposal was never put into effect.

The present plan, when and if approved, calls for fluoridation of the water at the Florida City well farm — the scource for all water consumed in the Keys. This water, like almost all Florida water, already contains some natural fluorides.

What amount of fluoride would be added to the water has not yet been determined, the Navy source said.

The well farm and the 130-mile pipeline which brings the water into the Keys is owned and operated by the Navy. The Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission purchases surplus from the Navy for resale to civilian consumers.

Funds for the project, estimated at $12,000, have not yet been made available, the Navy spokesman said here. But a "reasonable guess is that the funds should be forthcoming during 1959'," the spokesman added.

Bill Provides 2 Judgeships

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.) said Monday he will offer a bill to provide two additional federal district judges for Florida.

One judgeship would be allocated to the southern district. The other would be a traveling judge to sit wherever needed in the state.

Smathers said tha Florida's mushrooming population — now more than 4.4 million — has caused a serious backlog of cases of federal court calendars.

Castro's Sworn In At Palace

Fast Action Seen On Casinos, Asylum

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro is the youngest head of government in Cuba's 56-year history. Immediately following the palace ceremony, Castro moved into the prime minister's office in El Prado Boulevard, where outgoing Prime Minister Jose Miro Cardona formally turned over to him the top government post.

The entire cabinet was present at the palace ceremony, but the formal assumption of the job at El Prado offices was witnessed only by Castro's closest friends.

His associates predicted that Castro's first official action will be to solve a three-week-old impasse between the government and the foreign diplomatic corps over the issue of diplomatic asylum.

Some 200 followers of ousted President Batista are refugees in more than a dozen Latin American embassies here. It was generally expected that Castro would extend them safe conduct passes to go abroad.

Early reopening of Havana's luxury gambling casinos on a modified and government-supervised basis also was believed to be a primary objective of Castro's first days in the premiership.

Surprise Legal Move

Beck Counsel Rests In Income Tax Trial

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES
The New York Times Service

TACOMA, Wash. — Dave Beck's counsel rested in the labor leader's income tax trial Monday without offering a defense. One witness occupied the stand briefly.

N. Y. Times News Service

Charles S. Burdell, attorney for the former $50,000-a-year general president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, ended the case abruptly without letting his client take the stand.

The surprise ending was recorded on the 57th day of a trial based on a charge that Beck evaded payment of $240,000 of income taxes for the years 1950 to 1953. The prosecution, which closed its case Thursday, had put 114 witnesses on the stand. More than 10,000 pages of testimony had accumulated.

Out of court, Burdell said he broke the news to Beck at 9 a.m. that the former union executive was not going on the stand. Beck had confidently predicted since the trial opened on Nov. 10 that he would have his "day in court."

"This is my decision not to defend the case," Burdell said. "I made it over the weekend after completion of the government's case."

The defense put an accountant, Karl Houston, on the stand as its lone witness. He was called merely to testify that Beck had nothing to do with preparing ledgers and keeping books of the B. & B. Investment Company, which was set up to handle Beck's personal enterprises.

UF Morals Report Implicates 14 Professors

Probers Suspect 500 Students of Secret Activities

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report of the legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific contents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most astounding and pathetic situation I have ever run up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

Jaquelin J. Daniel of Jacksonville, a board of control member, said he doubts the board will be ready to consider the report Friday because of its length. He said members would not have time to study it before then.

Daniel would not comment on the contents of the report. He added that the "board will take appropriate action."

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep thei. respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Senator Says Let Reds Visit

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

A Wyoming senator said in Miami Monday that America ought to open its borders to Russian visitors—and pay their way if necessary.

Freshman Democratic Sen. Gale McGee, 43, told a meeting of the Dade County Bar Association at the Columbus Hotel:

"We have nothing to hide. Just get them over here to see, and let the Russians send the toughest ones they have."

McGee admitted that the Soviet government would be able to control who comes to this country, but added:

"They may write the party line when they go back, but they will talk and whisper about what they saw here."

McGee said he also felt that the U.S. and Russia will "neutralize each other" because of their tremendous productive powers.

But he warned that the U.S. must still meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The U.S. economy is producing at only about 50 per cent of capacity while the rate in the USSR is greater, he said.

He noted that Russia has openly declared an economic war on American industry and that it would be foolhardy for capitalism to ignore this threat.

"Out in our Rocky Mountain area, you don't turn your back on an enemy," said McGee.

'To Heat Cold War'

Reds Charge U.S. 'Using' 11 Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

Mac Invited To Red Hunt

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been invited to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt during his tour of the Soviet Union. Plans are reported to have been made for such a hunt on a preserve near Leningrad. Macmillan is due here Saturday.

But No. 10 Dowing St. said Monday MacMillan has no present plans to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt.

Macmillan is an excellent shot, but so far he has confined his shooting to grouse, quail and pheasant.

"Most definitely he has never shot bear," a spokesman added.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. — (UPI)— Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

4 Injured As Planes Nearly Hit

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra and an Air Force jet bomber missed colliding by 500 feet Monday when the airline pilot jerked his plane into a steep climb 23,000 feet over Tennessee.

Three passengers and a stewardess were injured by the violent maneuver at 23,000 feet above Chattanooga. The plane was flight No. 127 from Chicago.

Three passengers from the Chicago area and Miami Stewardess, Lois Borchers' injured by the sudden sharp jolt, were taken to North Shore Hospital after arrival here.

Listed in fair condition were Passengers Phillip Kaplan, Mrs. C. R. Allen and Sam Landsman. Mrs. Allen and Kaplan suffered fractured ankles, hospital authorities said, and Landsman was being X-rayed for possible internal injuries. Miss Borchers was treated and released.

Veteran Eastern pilot Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, of 960 Hunting Lodge Dr., Miami Springs, who has been flying for 33 years, said the Air Force B47 "was the biggest thing I ever saw."

Reprecht said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left," he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

Capt. Ruprecht threw the plane into a 1,500-foot climb.

He said "the Electra may have prevented a collision because of its maneuverability."

The Eastern plane was traveling at about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said, and carried 17 passengers and five crew members. The Air Force bomber was going at an estimated 600 miles an hour.

Ruprecht said the Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn a few seconds before he pulled up. "He must have just seen us," said the pilot.

The Federal Aviation Agency promptly assigned investigators to the case. The Air Force did not immediately identify home base of the jet.

Shortly after the near-miss, Sen. George Smathers, Florida congressman, said in Washington:

"The near-tragedy shows the urgent need for greater speed in bringing about a practical and adequate solution for this phase of air safety — to maintain safe and separate air lanes for both military and commercial traffic."

Spy Suspect Admits Guilt

KARLSRUHE, Germany — (UPI) — Alleged spy ring leader Carl Helfmann confessed Monday to having worked for Communist East Germany's state security service for nearly five years.

Helfmann, 60, went on trial Monday charged with collecting espionage material in Western Germany and passing it on to East German officials.

He is accused among other things of obtaining classified information from the Wiesbaden office of the American Scientific Research Division.

2 Distinct Breeds Of Bookies Run Dade Operations

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; G. W. Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

Collins, recipient of the NCCJ's Protestant layman's award, was to have received the plaque at the dinner.

The governor, speaking hoarsely, said his sinus had "acted up" during a ride here from Florida's west coast.

"I spent a miserable night," he said. "My doctor tells me that it is nothing serious and that I have no temperature.

"But I am very uncomfortable."

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

National Summary

High pressure pushing across the upper Mississippi Valley, with the advance edge marked by a cold front from the Great Lakes into Oklahoma, spread cold air over the upper midwest. In contrast to the chill over the northern plains 60 degree temperatures warmed Texas during the late morning with 50 degree readings reaching southern Kansas.

All states from the Rockies westward will remain under a pattern of occasional rain or snow through Tuesday and scattered snows are likely to spread into the northern plains.

Rain in Oregon and Washington should become more showery in character and as cool Pacific air moves into California precipitation will be intermittent with snow in the mountains.

Colder air flowing through the Great Lakes region preceded by snow or flurries is scheduled to reach through New England.

Snow flurries may move back into the Great Lakes region Tuesday and a few showers will dampen the lower Florida peninsula while the bulk of the region east of the Rockies remains dry with variable cloudiness.

Pipeline Rate Said Too High

Group Stresses Supply Costs

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The Monroe County Taxpayers Association has added its support to the effort to have a federal salt water conversion plant located in the Keys.

Sheldon Smith, secretary of the group, Monday wrote to U.S. senator George A. Smathers and Rep. Dante B. Fascell advising them of an executive committee resolution "strongly favoring" the proposal.

Fascell recently urged the Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission to take positive action to attract a proposed Gulf-Coast desalination plan to the Keys.

The Commission, responded by offering to buy the plant's water production and making available two possible sites for its construction.

Key West Mayor Delio Cobo has also publicly backed the idea.

"To achieve a water supply independent of pipelines has been our dream for years," Smith wrote to Fascell. He points out that the Keys now get their water from a Navy-owned pipeline stretching 120 miles from Florida City.

Surplus Navy water is sold to the Aqueduct Commission at 55 cents per 1,000 gallons for re-distribution to non-military consumers.

"Civilian users pay a basic $1.25 per 1,000 gallons supplied, making water costs to Key West among the highest in the country," Smith said.

A contemplated 20 million dollar expansion program of the Commission's facilities over the next 10 years, including a new pipeline, Smith added, "will succeed in further elevating the cost of water to the civilian consumer . . ."

The Taxpayers group spokesman also mentions to Fascell "the extreme vulnerability of a pipeline supply in event of catastrophe, whether by accident, nature or national emergency."

Big Load Will Use The Canal

CAMDEN, N. J. — (UPI) — A barge carrying a 300-ton nuclear reactor vessel left here on a 25-day, 3,600-mile journey to Dresden, Ill., where it will become the heart of a huge 180,000 kilowatt nuclear power plant.

The huge dimensions of the pressure vessel — 20 feet in diameter and 42 feet in height required it to be shipped by water to its destination on the Illinois Waterway, 50 miles southwest of Chicago.

By rail a trip between these two points would take about a day.

Leaving the Camden shipyard, the barge will journey down the inland waterway to Fort Myers, then along the Gulf coast and through the Intracoastal canal to New Orleans.

From there, it will journey up the Mississippi River to the Illinois River and to the Dresden landing, at the junction of the Illinois and Des Plaines Rivers.

The power station is being built for Commonwealth Edison Co. and Nuclear Power Group Inc. by General Electric Co. for 45 million dollars.

Diver Hurt By Outboard

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 28-year-old skindiver was badly slashed by the propellers of an outboard motor Monday as he surfaced below the boat.

Richard E. Trimble, an employe of the Sea Ranch Motel, was rushed to Broward General Hospital for surgery.

He was diving off the beach just north of the Lauderdale-by-the-Sea town limits about 5 p.m.

Joe Iacono, town police chief, said he understood that the churning blades cut into Trimble's back, neck and ears.

The injured man was employed as a room-service boy about two weeks ago. His home is in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Two companions were reported with Trimble when the accident occurred. The Sheriff's Department is investigating.

First Flight For Green Quail?

Secret Test Missile Blasts Up From Cape

Air Force Refuses Comment

CAPE CANAVERAL—(UPI) — A slender solid-fuel test rocket arched aloft Monday in a secrecy-shrouded launching.

First reports indicated the missile was a McDonnell-made Green Quail. But it was learned later the test vehicle was a forerunner of a top-secret rocket, not yet identified.

The Air Force declined to comment on the nature of the rocket. Officials said only that "a research and development rocket was fired at the Atlantic missile range."

The Green Quail is a jet-powered rocket which will be launched from B-47 and B-52 bombers. But the rocket launched Monday was a solid-fuel vehicle. The McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis, which makes the Green Quail, was in charge of the launching.

The test rocket, about 40 feet long and much slimmer than the Navy's solid-fuel Polaris test vehicle, blasted off with the same deep-throated rumble as the Polaris.

A cloud of smoke hung over the launching site and a wide smoke trail marked the flight path of the rocket.

The McDonnell Aircraft Co. has been working on the Green Quail for more than a year.

Development of the Green Quail appeared to tie in with the Air Force's cancellation two months ago of the Fairchild-made Goose.

The Goose also was a diversionary weapon, designed to precede Strategic Air Command bombers and confuse enemy radar.

Although the Green Quail will be launched from the ground in the early test phase, it may eventually be fired from underneath B-52 or B-70 bombers.

Navy Asks Promotion Jam Relief

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy asked Congress Monday to help break a promotion log jam it said is holding up the deserved advancement of its most promising younger naval and Marine Corps officers.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates said at present 8,000 regular Navy commanders and lieutenant commanders — veterans of World War II and Korea — are in line for some 2,000 captain's jobs. In the Marines, he said, 3,000 majors and lieutenant colonels must be fitted into 580 colonel's billets.

"Unless we gain legislative relief, promotion will stagnate and we must also force out some of our finest and most needed officers," Gates told a House Armed Services Subcommittee.

He urged enactment of temporary legislation which would, in essence, permit the Navy to weed out of the higher ranks less qualified Navy captains and Marine Corps colonels four to five years earlier than is customary.

Naval captains now are permitted to complete 30 years of service before forced retirement if passed over for promotion to rear admiral.

Under the proposed legislation, which would expire in 1970 selection boards would begin the weeding-out process after 25 to 26 years service. This would open up the rank of captain to younger combat officers now stymied.

The pile-up, Gates testified, consists of about one-third of all regular, Navy and Marine Corps officers. These officers are concentrated in a four-year span of seniority as a result of wartime service.

This "hump" of younger officers has moved together up the promotion ladder. To absorb it, Gates said, the Navy must still discard about one-half the officers even though promotion is speeded up.

But Jack Prince Isn't Saying Where

Treasure Hunter Smells Pirate Gold

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — The pioneer treasure hunter of Naples, Jack W. Prince, will be off on another search for pirate gold this weekend — if he gets a permit from the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund in Tallahassee today.

It seems treasure hunters are just like any other type of businessmen and must have licenses to delve.

"They cost $100 and are good for a year," said Prince, who probably has more treasure hunts to his credit than any other man in Florida.

The latest search will be in northwest Florida, exact location unspecified, for the hoard of a Dutch pirate who died 150 years ago, possibly in the blazing wreckage of his ship.

"They were chased inshore, opened the petcocks, cut down the masts and set the ship on fire," said Prince of the pirate ships end. "The largest amount of treasure is in jewels."

* * *

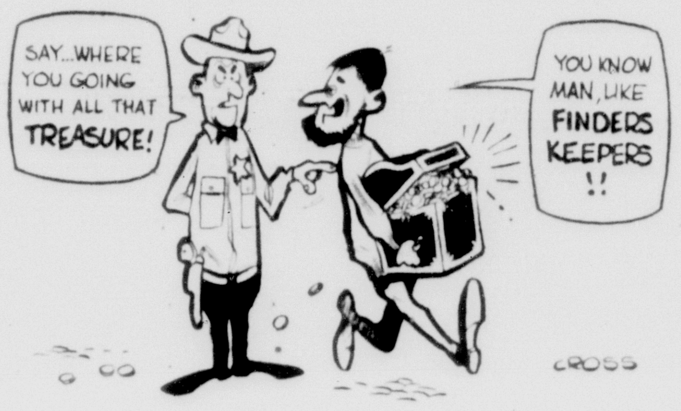
PRINCE WOULDN'T set a value on the jewels although he noted that the state would get 25 per cent of any treasure under its permit requirements and the federal government would also get a cut, "if its still there."

"If we don't get anything its still a lot of fun," said Prince, who ordinarily doesn't talk about his searches "because every time I do I get pestered by people who want to go or to tell me of other treasures."

Prince has led treasure hunts in South America, Mexico and the far west, including the famed Superstition Mountains, but some of his most notable finds have been at home.

In front of his Fifth Ave. liquor store there still stands a big sample of "Florida uranium ore," souvenir of days when he "opened the State of Florida to uranium hunters" in 1949 by pointing out the mineral could be recovered from phosphates. A geologist who examined some of Prince's samples (in 1949) said, "The element of uranium is most definitely here in appreciable quantities."

"Massachusetts Institute of Technology developed a process to take it out of phosphates as a by-product," said Prince, "but now you can't even sell it."



SAY...WHERE YOU GOING WITH ALL THAT TREASURE!
YOU KNOW MAN, LIKE FINDERS KEEPERS !!
CROSS

PRINCE DOESN'T limit his searches to pirate gold. Only this past summer he reported finding a "mountain of iron" in Arizona, and produces heavy pieces of ore to prove it.

"I believe there are indications of oil under it," he muses. "But it's high-grade ore, higher than most they ship up from Chile."

He also has in mind a molybdenum mine found by a hunter chasing a wounded deer. The metal, he notes, is needed now for missile nose cones.

Treasure he has found closer to home include a valuable diamond brooch dropped in the sand in front of the Beach Club, which he located with a secret instrument two years ago.

"And then there's the ship off Keewaydin Island (at the other end of Naples)," he points out. "A fellow was surf fishing the other day and found a rusted bayonet which the water pumped against his nees. It was from a British ship sunk in a battle 150 years ago. It still lies in 60 feet of water and has ten cannon aboard. Theres gold, too, but less than $500 in silver."

In fact there are any number of treasures waiting the finder, one so big Prince won't even talk about it until he can get government clearance, and he won't say which government. Somebody else might get tipped off.

But it's there, waiting — "I've already seen part of it," says Prince.

FCC Crackdowns

Keep Salty Language Off Air, Salts Told

TAMPA —(AP)— A marine supervisor for the Federal Communications Commission said Monday a crackdown will continue on improper use of radio frequencies by fishing vessels.

Alfred Ritter of Tampa said two ship captains recently paid fines of $100 each for using "profane and indecent language" over their radio transmitters. He said two similar cases are scheduled for hearings.

Ritter's office is charged with responsibility for policing use of radios on boats and ships in the Gulf of Mexico and along the nation's eastern seaboard.

Ritter said the captains who paid fines recently operate boats out of Isabel, Tex. He did not name those involved in the pending cases but said the hearings probably would be held at Corpus Christi, Tex.

"Our biggest problem at present," Ritter said, "is use of the distress frequencies for conversation between fishing boats."

The Samuel Bernsteins, who are mighty proud of a son named Leonard, are at the Aristocrat. Leonard, an aristocrat of music, is busy with the New York Philharmonic.

Fall premiere of "Ben Hur" is planned by MGM . . . There's some $15,000,000 tied up in it . . . Buffy Dee and his musical buffs, who have been with Carmen Cavallaro, Patti Page and Vic Damone, have shifted into the Tambourine Room of the Carillon Hotel . . .

Directors Awarded $10,000 Each

TEN AMERICAN theater directors were named today to receive grants of $10,000 each to "help stimulate their creative development." The recipients were William Ball, director of "Ivanov," now current off-Broadway; Rachmael ben Avram, director of Golden Hind Company, Berkley, Calif.; Herbert Blau, who directed "Waiting for Godot" for the Brussels Fair; Angus Bowmer, of Oregon Shakespeare festival; James Clancy, of the State University of Iowa; Mrs. Zelda Fichandler, of Washington Arena Stage; John Reich, of Chicago's Goodman Memorial Theater; Alan Schneider, New York director; Mack Scism, of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Nina Vance, managing director of Houston's Alley Theater. Ford Foundation is the donor.

Guess all the Carroll, or Carol, Bakers are lookers. Somebody grabbed a pix of Carol when Carrol "Baby Doll" Baker was wanted for a story on these pages recently. So here's a proper introduction. Meet Carol Baker, see nearby cut, local cover girl-angler, not related, except as sister in beauty, to actress Carroll Baker.

Police Brass Now Promise Bookie Purge

By DOM BONAFEDE
And TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox
. . . 'didn't know'

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

ARRESTED by Miami Beach police were two employes of the Bayshore Municipal Golf Course, one of whom took a horse bet from an investigator of the Greater Miami Crime Commission during The Herald's probe.

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant who took the bet, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

One of the early arrivals at the meeting was Chief Fox.

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley showed up shortly after the discussion got under way and took a seat in the corner.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports from Dade law enforcement officials on "shocking" disclosures by The Miami Herald of wide open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared.

"I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned with the tax revenue which Florida is losing as a result of betting through bookies.

The state gets eight per cent of the take on legalized horse betting through the parimutuel windows. But it gets nothing from the bets which the horse player places with the bookie.

The chief executive was

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

California Coast Raked By Storm

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO — The worst storm of the winter hit Southern California coastal areas Monday as flood fighting activity in the Midwest centered along the lower Wabash River in Indiana.

California beach cities bore the brunt of the Western storm which raked the entire Pacific Coast.

Gusts up to 60 miles an hour toppled television antennas in Santa Barbara County and caused widespread power failures.

Some areas had two or more inches of rain. Continued downpours were forecast.

A severe dust storm preceded the rain in Bakersfield, Calif. Towering dust clouds that obscured visibility stranded 200 motorists Sunday night. Nearly all highways in the county were closed at times.

Benson Lashes Back at Critics

Read It 'in Letters of Fire'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control.

Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers' meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months, and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany; the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany, such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

Bill Provides 2 Judgeships

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.) said Monday he will offer a bill to provide two additional federal district judges for Florida.

One judgeship would be allocated to the southern district. The other would be a traveling judge to sit wherever needed in the state.

Smathers said tha Florida's mushrooming population — now more than 4.4 million — has caused a serious backlog of cases of federal court calendars.

Castro's Sworn In At Palace

Fast Action Seen On Casinos, Asylum

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro is the youngest head of government in Cuba's 56-year history. Immediately following the palace ceremony, Castro moved into the prime minister's office in El Prado Boulevard, where outgoing Prime Minister Jose Miro Cardona formally turned over to him the top government post.

The entire cabinet was present at the palace ceremony, but the formal assumption of the job at El Prado offices was witnessed only by Castro's closest friends.

His associates predicted that Castro's first official action will be to solve a three-week-old impasse between the government and the foreign diplomatic corps over the issue of diplomatic asylum.

Some 200 followers of ousted President Batista are refugees in more than a dozen Latin American embassies here. It was generally expected that Castro would extend them safe conduct passes to go abroad.

Early reopening of Havana's luxury gambling casinos on a modified and government-supervised basis also was believed to be a primary objective of Castro's first days in the premiership.

Surprise Legal Move

Beck Counsel Rests In Income Tax Trial

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES
The New York Times Service

TACOMA, Wash. — Dave Beck's counsel rested in the labor leader's income tax trial Monday without offering a defense. One witness occupied the stand briefly.

N. Y. Times News Service

Charles S. Burdell, attorney for the former $50,000-a-year general president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, ended the case abruptly without letting his client take the stand.

The surprise ending was recorded on the 57th day of a trial based on a charge that Beck evaded payment of $240,000 of income taxes for the years 1950 to 1953. The prosecution, which closed its case Thursday, had put 114 witnesses on the stand. More than 10,000 pages of testimony had accumulated.

Out of court, Burdell said he broke the news to Beck at 9 a.m. that the former union executive was not going on the stand. Beck had confidently predicted since the trial opened on Nov. 10 that he would have his "day in court."

"This is my decision not to defend the case," Burdell said. "I made it over the weekend after completion of the government's case."

The defense put an accountant, Karl Houston, on the stand as its lone witness. He was called merely to testify that Beck had nothing to do with preparing ledgers and keeping books of the B. & B. Investment Company, which was set up to handle Beck's personal enterprises.

UF Morals Report Implicates 14 Professors

Probers Suspect 500 Students of Secret Activities

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report of the legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific contents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most astounding and pathetic situation I have ever run up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

Jaquelin J. Daniel of Jacksonville, a board of control member, said he doubts the board will be ready to consider the report Friday because of its length. He said members would not have time to study it before then.

Daniel would not comment on the contents of the report. He added that the "board will take appropriate action."

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep thei. respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Senator Says Let Reds Visit

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

A Wyoming senator said in Miami Monday that America ought to open its borders to Russian visitors—and pay their way if necessary.

Freshman Democratic Sen. Gale McGee, 43, told a meeting of the Dade County Bar Association at the Columbus Hotel:

"We have nothing to hide. Just get them over here to see, and let the Russians send the toughest ones they have."

McGee admitted that the Soviet government would be able to control who comes to this country, but added:

"They may write the party line when they go back, but they will talk and whisper about what they saw here."

McGee said he also felt that the U.S. and Russia will "neutralize each other" because of their tremendous productive powers.

But he warned that the U.S. must still meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The U.S. economy is producing at only about 50 per cent of capacity while the rate in the USSR is greater, he said.

He noted that Russia has openly declared an economic war on American industry and that it would be foolhardy for capitalism to ignore this threat.

"Out in our Rocky Mountain area, you don't turn your back on an enemy," said McGee.

About 60 homes were unroofed, crops — particularly sugar cane — were flattened and communications disrupted.

'To Heat Cold War'

Reds Charge U.S. 'Using' 11 Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

Mac Invited To Red Hunt

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been invited to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt during his tour of the Soviet Union. Plans are reported to have been made for such a hunt on a preserve near Leningrad. Macmillan is due here Saturday.

But No. 10 Dowing St. said Monday MacMillan has no present plans to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt.

Macmillan is an excellent shot, but so far he has confined his shooting to grouse, quail and pheasant.

"Most definitely he has never shot bear," a spokesman added.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. — (UPI)— Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

4 Injured As Planes Nearly Hit

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra and an Air Force jet bomber missed colliding by 500 feet Monday when the airline pilot jerked his plane into a steep climb 23,000 feet over Tennessee.

Three passengers and a stewardess were injured by the violent maneuver at 23,000 feet above Chattanooga. The plane was flight No. 127 from Chicago.

Three passengers from the Chicago area and Miami Stewardess, Lois Borchers' injured by the sudden sharp jolt, were taken to North Shore Hospital after arrival here.

Listed in fair condition were Passengers Phillip Kaplan, Mrs. C. R. Allen and Sam Landsman. Mrs. Allen and Kaplan suffered fractured ankles, hospital authorities said, and Landsman was being X-rayed for possible internal injuries. Miss Borchers was treated and released.

Veteran Eastern pilot Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, of 960 Hunting Lodge Dr., Miami Springs, who has been flying for 33 years, said the Air Force B47 "was the biggest thing I ever saw."

Reprecht said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left," he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

Capt. Ruprecht threw the plane into a 1,500-foot climb.

He said "the Electra may have prevented a collision because of its maneuverability."

The Eastern plane was traveling at about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said, and carried 17 passengers and five crew members. The Air Force bomber was going at an estimated 600 miles an hour.

Ruprecht said the Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn a few seconds before he pulled up. "He must have just seen us," said the pilot.

The Federal Aviation Agency promptly assigned investigators to the case. The Air Force did not immediately identify home base of the jet.

Shortly after the near-miss, Sen. George Smathers, Florida congressman, said in Washington:

"The near-tragedy shows the urgent need for greater speed in bringing about a practical and adequate solution for this phase of air safety — to maintain safe and separate air lanes for both military and commercial traffic."

Spy Suspect Admits Guilt

KARLSRUHE, Germany — (UPI) — Alleged spy ring leader Carl Helfmann confessed Monday to having worked for Communist East Germany's state security service for nearly five years.

Helfmann, 60, went on trial Monday charged with collectting espionage material in Western Germany and passing it on to East German officials.

He is accused among other things of obtaining classified information from the Wiesbaden office of the American Scientific Research Division.

2 Distinct Breeds Of Bookies Run Dade Operations

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; G. W. Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

The governor, speaking hoarsely, said his sinus had "acted up" during a ride here from Florida's west coast.

"But I am very uncomfortable."

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

Planning Is Big Problem

HERE'S A GOOD illustration of how difficult it is for local government to keep ahead of growth without proper planning.

The space for the Welfare Department in the new county health building, to be opened with a few weeks, will be too small the day the department moves in. It's been expanded quite a bit since the building was designed . . .

Maybe We're Not Ready for Cars

A MOTORIST WHO would deliberately run over a dog, this mother believes, might also run over a child.

Her children's dog was killed by such a driver. "She was a white, wire-haired terrier with brown spots. She followed the children to the bus stop. A car came along, she barked, so they deliberately ran over her.

"They went off the road to hit her. She ran under a house and died . . . don't you think anyone who would run over a dog on purpose for barking might run over one of those kids as well? It frightens me . . ."

People do strange things at the wheel of an automobile. Their tempers flare all too quickly. They'll fight each other for a foot of pavement. A teenage boy driving a car full of boys and girls once smashed deliberately into another car because the oncoming driver didn't dim his lights. Five youngsters died . . . Perhaps we're not ready for automobiles yet . . .

Pollen Count Big Advantage

THIS AREA SHOULD promote itself as a late-summer haven for sufferers from hayfever, according to Don Martin, who feels that we miss the boat in a number of aspects of tourist promotion.

Don's the vice president of the Fort Lauderdale Apartment House Association. As a former advertising man, he knows something about how to merchandise a product, which after all is what we're doing when we set out to sell the tourist on coming to the Gold Coast.

A couple of years back he asked the Weather Bureau office in Miami to make a pollen count in the Fort Lauderdale Beach area. The figures aren't available now, but he says the count was very low — certainly low enough to back up any claim that this is a good spot for hay fever sufferers . . .

Tourist Promotion Needs Board

IT'S A LITTLE STRANGE that the City of Fort Lauderdale, which has a number of citizen advisory boards, doesn't have one in the very important field of tourist promotion.

There should be a permanent board, made up of representatives of the hotel, motel and apartment house associations, newspapers and radio, plus some of the excellent active and retired promotion and public relations experts we have around here . . .

'Trouble Spot' Back in Business

Tavern, Shut by Brawl, Setting 'Em Up Again

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — A beer tavern, closed by authorities after a barroom brawl two weeks ago, was back in business Monday night.

The operators, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Walsh, were given the green light after a reinspection by the Florida Hotel and Restaurant Commission and Broward County Health Department.

However the operators still face a hearing in May before the State Beverage Commission, based on a report from the Broward County Sheriff's Department.

"As far as we are concerned, the place now meets sanitary requirements," said Sid Paetro, health inspector.

The Sheriff's Department ordered the bar shut as a "nuisance" after a row involving 30 persons Jan. 31. Two days later the Hotel Commission suspended the tavern's license following a health inspection.

Paetro said on Monday's visit they found a new sink had been installed, faulty plumbing corrected, and the kitchen re-painted.

But law enforcement officers took a dim view of the re-opening.

They have termed it the "worst trouble spot in the county."

"We will keep a close watch on the place in an effort to cut down the brawling there. Every time a drunk is seen being served there he will be arrested," said Deputy Al Topel.

Topel said an investigation showed "two or three fights" had been originating at the tavern each week, with complaints ranging from intoxication to manslaughter.

Mrs. Walsh, who was charged with resisting arrest and use of profanity on Jan. 31, is scheduled to appear in Court of Crimes next month, Topel said.

Walsh reported Monday night that "business is very good," and said he did not expect any further trouble.

His wife could not be reached for comment.

"She's busy at the bar," Walsh said.

Second Lowest Bidder Wins Big School Job

By DUEAN JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — School Board members overrode School Planner Charles Lowery Monday and awarded a construction contract to a firm whose $117,954 bid was $414 higher than the low bid.

Four board members contended the low bidder, Blankenship and Edwards, a Miami and Hollywood firm, failed to prove it could carry out terms of the contract.

H. Don Moore dissented, claiming the firm had met specifications set forth in the bidding.

One of the partners, Howard Edwards, indicated he'd contest the board's action, but said he'd have to consult his attorney first.

Board Member John Calvin pointed out that the firm has been in business only two months, and expressed doubt as to its financial responsibility and construction ability.

Edwards admitted the firm is new, but said he and Blankenship have been associated with the building business many years. He referred to several large buildings the firm has erected, and said his partner has supervised a number of school jobs here.

In defending the firm's financial position, Edwards pointed out that one of the country's largest bonding companies had agreed to bond the job in question—a five-classroom addition to Wilton Manors Elementary School. Edwards listed his personal net worth at $600,000.

Lowery recommended that Blankenship and Edwards be awarded the contract, and School Attorney Ted David said it met legal requirements.

David explained, however, that the board could reject the low bid and award the contract to the second low bidder "if there are reasonable grounds to believe the low firm isn't responsible."

Lowery said he couldn't prove that the low bidder was responsible, but added, "I have no evidence that it isn't." He investigated, he said, but did not learn much because of the firm's short existence.

After a two-hour discussion in which several builders and a bonding company representative expressed their views, the board awarded the contract to the second low bidder — the Wells-Fisher Construction Co. of Fort Lauderdale.

The decision was based, board members said, on their knowledge of Wells-Fisher's "good construction reputation" in the county.

They explained that two contractors have defaulted on school jobs in recent months, and said it's urgent that schools be completed on schedule if half-day classes are to be eliminated.

After awarding the contract, Calvin then moved that Blankenship and Edwards be given a $188,500 contract for a 10-room addition to the Hollywood Hills Elementary School. The firm was low bidder on that job, too.

Jumping to his feet, David reminded the board that it already had decided that Blankenship and Edwards "wasn't a responsible firm," and said awarding it the Hollywood job "would be inconsistent and contrary to its earlier decision."

The Blankenship and Edwards bid was $10,940 lower than the second low one, submitted by Richardson Construction Co. of Fort Lauderdale.

After discussing the bid briefly, the board voted to defer action until 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Road Toll For 1959 Hits 16

Herald Bureau

FORT LADUDERDALE — The county's 1959 traffic death toll jumped to 16 over the weekend as the result of a three-vehicle collision on State Rd. 7 south of Prospect Rd.

Two were killed and three injured in the smashup at 11 p.m. Sunday.

The Highway Patrol identified the dead as Walter Monroe, 20, and Charlie Sneeds, 18, both Negroes, of 841 NW 11th Ave. They were passengers in a car driven by Willie Norton, who was injured.

Also hurt were Willie Thompson, another passenger, and Albert M. Smith, 2409 SW 58th Way, West Hollywood, the second driver.

Ernest Jones, 1329 NW First Pl., Miami, the third driver, was unhurt. Trooper William O'Brien reported that Norton's car, headed south, swerved across the center line into the path of the two oncoming vehicles. No charges were placed pending investigation.

6-Year-Old Shot by Playmate

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — A six-year-old Negro boy seriously wounded a playmate Monday while trying to scare him with a .22 caliber pistol, police said.

Harold Lloyd White, 6, of 744 SW Fifth St., Dania, was in fair condition Monday night at Memorial Hospital after being shot at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Mary M. Sutton, the wounded boy's mother, told Detective Glenn Lightle she had kept him home from school because he was sick. She left him with a friend at the Collins Apartments, 2314 Pershing St., and went to work.

Harold was playing in a bedroom of apt. 1, bldg. 18, with two other children and the youngster who shot him, Lightle said.

They were in the apartment of Fred Crenshaw Jr., who told police he had purchased the pistol two weeks ago.

The four-year-old found the gun under a bed. Mrs. Crenshaw was out of the apartment when the shooting occurred.

The bullet struck Harold in the right chest, just under the collarbone. Police found him out in the yard.

Shot in Leg

DANIA — Antonio Sapolapin, 18, of Dania was recovering in Memorial Hospital Monday from a gunshot wound in the leg.

Dania police said they were holding a neighbor, Bonite Belgade, 32, of 712 NW Third Ter., on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

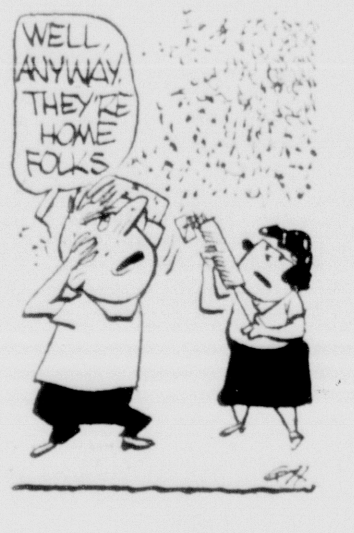
Mosquitoes Ours: Sand Flies are Strangers

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer



WELL, ANYWAY, THEY'RE HOME FOLKS

FORT LAUDERDALE — Those mosquitoes that have been plaguing a few neighborhoods are not harbingers of summer enticed here by the "June in February" weather.

They're fresh water mosquitoes, according to Orville E. White Sr., the city's pest control superintendent. He said they circulate within a block of their breeding places.

"They're normal for this time of year," White said, "but we're a little behind in our field work and they're breeding in catch basins."

White explained that the equipment his department uses has been undergoing annual painting and repairing which has put the pest control program for catch basins about two weeks behind — and the mosquitoes two weeks ahead.

But he expects to reverse the situation immediately. It is impossible to take time to paint the equipment in the summer, he pointed out.

"The mosquitoes aren't really the problem now," White said. "The sand flies are much worse."

He said the flies are coming in on the southeast breeze from muck flats south of Port Everglades.

Race Track Bids For Pari-Mutuels

Expansion Sought at Pompano

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — A Kentucky horseman, Frederick L. Van Lennep, will try this year for the third time to get the state Legislature to pass a bill allowing expansion of his Pompano Park track west of here to a full scale harness race track with pari-mutuel betting.

But indications are his will be a steep, uphill battle, even though a 1955 countywide survey conducted by the Pompano Chamber of Commerce showed the public favored the plan, 13-1.

The opposition will come in part from the dog and horse tracks in South Broward.

But an even more formidable obstacle looms in the person of Governor LeRoy Collins, who has opposed any increase in pari-mutuel betting in the state.

Van Lennep hopes the governor's attitude has changed in recent years "because the state needs revenue."

Jack Musselman, a former legislator and a supporter of the Van Lennep move, expressed confidence the Legislature would pass the bill, but says he has his doubts about Collins.

In the 1955 attempt, the bill never got onto the floor of the Legislature; it died in committee.

In 1957 a similar bill passed the house by an overwhelming vote and passed one Senate committee. But it was defeated by the Senate committee on finances and taxes.

Broward's 1959 legislators have not yet been formally approached on the race track issue, and for the most part declined comment. But Rep. A. J. Ryan pointed out he supported the bill in 1957, and would this time, in view of the fact that there has been no change in public opinion regarding the track.

A previous Pompano Beach City Commission went on record as favoring the race track, but it is doubtful the present commission would take a similar stand.

Most outspoken is Mayor Bruce Blount, who declares he is "unalterably opposed to extending legalized betting anywhere in the state." He said the track would "probably pose as many problems for us as it would benefits."

Thomas Lynch, vice president and general manager of the Hollywood Kennel Club, said he feels the "area is saturated as far as pari-mutuel betting is concerned."

President of Gulfstream Track, Jimmy Donn, said he is opposed to "any expansion" of pari-mutuel betting, and that the area "has all it needs now — It's a drain on the people."

Roy McAndrews, of the Dania Jai Alai Fronton, said he was "100 per cent neutral" on Van Lennep's plans. "The track won't be close enough to hurt us," he explained.

Van Lennep speaks of the track as an "industry" that will be an important addition to the county's economy. He speaks of plans for a $5 million expansion program of the track's facilities if the Legislature approves his request.

Canadians Tie Up to Paint; Their Ships -- Not the Town

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The strains of "Yo, ho, and a Bottle of Rum" may ring out over Port Everglades this week, but it won't signal a pirates' invasion.

"It'll just be the boys on a couple of Canadian destroyer escort ships having their daily rum toddy.

It's traditional in the British and Canadian Navies to allow each sailor a two and a half ounce ration of rum daily before the noon meal.

The two Canadian ships, HMCS Saint Croix and HMCS Restigouche, fled the winter rigors of home-port Halifax for the warmer climes at Port Everglades to give themselves a week-long paint job.

The captain of the Restigouche, Cmdr. J. W. McDowall, is a former British Naval Academy classmate of the Duke of Edinburgh.

"I remember him (15 or 20 years ago this was) as a good wholesome fellow. He was liked by everyone, got into trouble like the rest of us.

"I do think he was perhaps a bit more clever than the rest, though not in an obvious way."

Ex-Trooper Off to Prison

FORT LAUEERDALE — Former Highway Patrolman Mose Hodges surrendered to the Sheriff's Department Monday to start a 20-year prison term.

Hodges, who will be 50 next week, recently lost his appeal against bribery and forgery convictions. His home is at 205 SW 11th Ct.

Woman's Body Found Floating in Canal

WILTON MANORS — The body of a 64-year-old woman was found floating in a canal here Monday night.

Police Dispatcher Peter Hepp said two teenagers, Arthur Peterson, 14, and Richard Bragg, 15, found the body while fishing near Andrews Ave. and Oakland Park Beach Blvd.

The victim was identified by her two daughters as Mrs. Hazel Gullette, 522 NE 33rd St., Oakland Park. They said she had been missing since Sunday afternoon.

Dr. R. K. Haugen, county medical examiner, attributed death to accidental causes. Fannin Funeral Home is in charge.

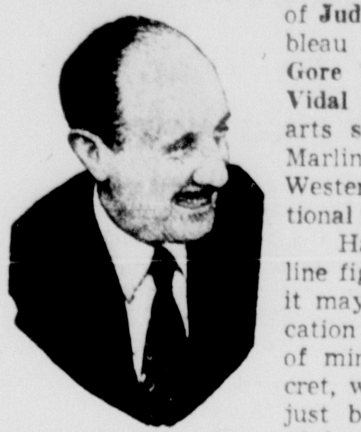
'Think Thin to Stay Thin,' Advises Cary Grant, Spurning Pie



IF ALL WENT WELL on the submarine base sets for "Operation Petticoat" at Key West on Monday, movie star Tony Curtis was scheduled to journey up to Miami Beach today with publicist Paul Kamey for the premiere of Judy Garland at the Fontainebleau . . . Exchange visitor was Gore "Visit to a Small Planet" Vidal who has joined the lively arts set at the Key West Blue Marlin, co-headquarters with Key Wester of the Universal-International movie-makers.

Have you envied that streamline figure of Cary Grant's? Well, it may be a bit of over-simplification but it is simply a matter of mind over obese matter. Secret, we learned from Mr. Grant, just before indulging in a slab of key lime pie at Caribe Restaurant, is to "think thin." The dapper Thin Man is a firm believer in positive thinking. Mr. Grant does not eat slabs of key lime pie at luncheon!

That's right, Shirley: Think Ferrari . . . Nick Kenny, after a visit to Key West, sat right down at the piano and wrote himself a lyric called "I'm Fishing from a Bridge on the Florida Keys" — or something like that . . . Don Morgan, of the "Operations Petticoat" company production staff, caught himself a 101-pound tarpon between takes — but not from a bridge. It happened on the cruiser "Caysel."

Arms Hike Of Millions Predicted

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Chairman George H. Mahon of the House defense appropriations subcommittee predicts Congress will boost President Eisenhower's proposed defense budget by 600 million dollars.

The Texas Democrat said he believes the defense spending will be upped from the proposed $40,900,000,000 mark to about $41,500,000,000, perhaps without unbalancing the total 77 billion dollar budget proposed by the administration for fiscal 1960.

He said he thinks Congress will juggle proposed spending for some domestic or foreign aid programs to keep the total in line.

Congress can not rearrange the budget in any "major way," Mahon said.

But he said he hopes enough can be juggled to "keep within the budget as near as possible."

Most Negroes Able to Register

'Bama's Vote Books 'Open'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — Qualified Negroes have been registered without prejudice in most Alabama counties, the Birmingham News reported in a copyrighted story Monday.

The story, first in a series on voter registration, said there is no discrimination in 59 of the state's 67 counties.

Voter registration boards are not functioning in Macon and Bullock counties.

The news said that in six others its newsmen were not satisfied that there was no discrimination. It names Lowndes, Chilton, Perry, Bibb, Hale and Wilcox counties in the latter group.

Not only did Negroes generally receive the same consideration as white registrants, the story noted, but registrars in several counties "were more than patient with them."

Registrars indicated that while white applicants seldom return if they fail to pass a written examination of 21 questions, Negroes who fail the first time take it again and again, often on consecutive days.

And in many instances, The News said, Negroes are accepted after failing in several attempts to pass the test.

What is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as the "Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astonishing Booklet which is a great step forward toward the answer to this question. The search for clues led to a prolonged study of all the great religions of the world, until at last a surprising new light was thrown upon the entire subject of prayer.

In this new light, even the well known Lord's Prayer acquires astonishing new meanings. Hidden between the lines are deep significances and wonderful truths that do not appear in the words alone. The free booklet points these out and is entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer."

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement of power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise. These strange methods were found in the Far East, where in ancient times all the great religions and philosophies of the world originated.

He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats.

He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition as a leading geographer and map-maker of the Far East.

He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the wisest mystics he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants many others to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

For your free copy of the amazing free booklet entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer," together with other free literature regarding this remarkable system, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 So. Hobart Blvd., Dept. 273R, Los Angeles 4, California. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard will do. No obligation. 12 Found Guilty at Raiford

Agitators Lose Privileges

RAIFORD — (AP) — A Florida state prison disciplinary committee Monday convicted 12 white prisoners as agitators in last week's defiance of guards.

Supt. DeWitt Sinclair said the men will be locked in cells and will lose their privileges. The period of their confinement will depend on their attitude and conduct, he said.

Penal Director R. D. Culver told Gov. LeRoy Collins late Monday the "situation is well in hand."

Two white prisoners brought before the committee were acquitted, Sinclair reported, while two others were added to the list Monday. Action against still another remains to be decided, the superintendent said.

There were 23 Negro and 12 white prisoners originally implicated in the resistance to guards Saturday morning when efforts were made to lock up two inmates for defying regulations Friday night.

Sinclair said the committee probably will start consideration of cases against the Negro prisoners today. On the disciplinary committee are L. J. Swann and L. E. Dugger, assistant superintendents, and Leland W. Pace, acting captain of the guard.

The trouble began Saturday when a guard tried to lock up a Negro who insisted on staying up after lights-out Friday night and smoke. A companion joined the prisoner in defying the guard.

Pace went to the reception center area Saturday morning to take charge of the two and it was then that a large crowd milled about them. The guards withdrew.

At this time officials called Sinclair in South Florida, where he had gone for the weekend. He returned immediately.

He said the 119 occupants of the Negro dormitory were marched out when they ignored a request that the two rebellious convicts be produced.

Guards separated those who took part in the defiance, and the others were returned to quarters.

Lansky Slips Out Of Hospital

Herald Bureau

HOLLYWOOD — Gambler Meyer Lansky, who claimed last week he was too sick to testify in Washington at a Senate Rackets Committee hearing, has left a private hospital here. He could not be located Monday.

Hollywood Hospital, Inc., confirmed that the New York-Florida-Cuba gambler had checked out Saturday night "in satisfactory condition."

He left Cuba when Fidel Castro's Rebels closed down the casinos in January. He was to testify last week before the Senate Rackets Committee probe of gangsterism in the juke box business.

U.S. Deputy Marshal Guy W. Hixon, Miami, said his office did not have a witness subpoena for Lansky.

The 56-year-old gambler told reporters in Miami after he arrived from Cuba that he was coming here to see his doctor.

Exactly where he has stayed since arriving has been kept secret.

His son, Buddy, who runs the Tuscany Motel on Hollywood Beach, has said for two months he does not know where his father is.

Ken O'Donnell administrative assistant to Robert Kennedy, counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said Lansky was scheduled to testify on the first day of the hearing a week ago but he turned up sick. O'Donnell explained that the committee had gone on to other phases of the investigation and Lansky would not fit in at this time.

Coral Gables Citizens Make a Hit in Colombia

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

CARTAGENA, Columbia — A thousand miles south of Miracle Mile, the citizenry of Coral Gables is winning friends and influencing people.

The place: Cartagena, a 426-year old Colombian town on the Caribbean Sea — once the treasure port of the Spanish Main.

The reason: The U.S. Information Agency's People-To-People, no-stuffed-shirts-allowed, exchange program. Cartagena is the first Latin American city to be adopted by a U.S. municipality in the seven years of the program's existence.

Last November, 18 Cartageneros breezed into Coral Gables for a four-day visit. Plans were made then for cultural, civic and educational exchanges between the two cities.

Fifty-nine visitors from Coral Gables are here to repay the visit after a bumpless Avianca non-stop flight that took five hours and 45 minutes.

Here they received a fit-for-a-king reception.

On hand were the mayors of both cities, a small mob of Colombian photographers who were soon out-numbered by the amateur shutterbugs deplaning, a wildly cha-cha-chaing combo band, and an abundant supply of shoe shine boys.

The 23 Coral Gables ladies aboard received orchids. The gentlemen put on sombreros and—to the delight of the photographers — several danced appropriate South American jigs.

The red-carpet treatment came at a four-hour reception at the Hotel Del Caribe, a beautiful old hotel.

Again Mayor W. Keith Phillips and Mayor Guillermo LeQuerica exchanged pleasantries. Phillips calls him Lucky for short. The band alternated the samba with a few not quite so energetic U.S. songs, and at least one anyone-can-speak-Spanish booklet was much in evidence.

Cartagena is called the Town of The Tower of The Clock because of a tower clock smack dab in the middle of things.

But it is fabled for its huge walled city, San Felipe de Barajas, a fort once manned with 150 cannons.

That was in the early 1600's when millions of dollars of gold came from mines in Peru and Colombia. (Colombia still mines about 20 million dollars in minerals a year.)

At any rate, the pirates thought Cartagena was the end of the rainbow, and behaved accordingly. They raided the place to steal the gold everytime they got the chance.

Once they even broke into a beautiful old convent called La Popa, atop an immense hill overlooking the town. The legend is that the nuns jumped to their death rather than be captured. The site is now a famed tourist attraction.

But perhaps the most unusual monument in Caratagena is to a poet, Luis Garlos Lopez. He wrote a poem about the city being loved like an old pair of shoes.

So on one busy thoroughfare are two huge bronze shoes, looking very old and much loved.

The Coral Gables folks seem to agree with the poet.

TASTE THE GREATNESS
... of Historic Old Crow

ANDREW JACKSON often received JAMES POLK at his home. He was known to praise Old Crow in the highest terms. (Reported in a 19th century newspaper)

Historic Old Crow was born 124 years ago on the Kentucky frontier. There, James Crow created the first real bourbon. The growing nation instantly knew it to be the perfect bourbon. Today, all America prefers lighter, milder, mellower Old Crow over all other bourbons—because its greatness of reputation is so completely deserved!

'Live' TV Isn't 'Live' Says Film Performer

By JOE FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD —(UPI)— Thomas Mitchell has blasted performers and viewers who insist a "live" TV show is better than a filmed version.

For years some actors and producers have insisted that filming of TV shows takes some of the quality out of them.

MITCHELL

But the academy award winning Mitchell made three filmed TV series and puts up a fight for his side.

"There's no such a thing as a real live show," Mitchell said.

"What's considered to be vitality on a live show is nothing but nervous energy," he added.

"What is live about a show that's been written, rewritten and rehearsed before ever being put on," he asks.

"Of course, any show has to have preparation, but the so-called live shows couldn't possibly compare with the filmed ones."

* * *

"I WAS IN the play 'Death of a Salesman' for 22 months and I rehearsed it for five weeks before opening," he recalled. "How could they call that live?"

"I get tired of people saying 'I like a live show,'" he grumbled. "A dog walking into a room is a live show."

Mitchell, an Oscar winner in 1939 as best supporting actor in "Stagecoach," is in a repeat appearance Feb. 23 when ABC-TV reruns "Shirley Temple's Storybook" where he plays a Chinese emperor.

Mitchell also thinks he's the only actor with three TV series to his credit. He appeared in "Mayor of the Town," "O'Henry Theater" and recently completed filming of "Glencannon."

* * *

HIS LATEST SERIES, based on the magazine stories about a Scottish seagoing engineer, was shot in England and Mitchell spent nine months on location.

"We couldn't make the series here, the costs wouldn't have been permissable," he explained. "We filmed in Tangiers, Marseille and the Riviera."

Mitchell has plans to shoot another 39 segments of the series in London and, if possible, would like to resume filming of the O. Henry stories.

With 70 movies and 157 plays to his credit, Tommy believes television is cutting waste out of film production.

"Television is post graduate movies," he opined. "After all, it's all done with cameras.

"TV tells the story in one half hour that movies tell in a full hour," he claims. "Television doesn't have so much time, as well as money, taken up by production."

But Tom doesn't believe all movies should be cut to half hour shows. He feels that such films as "Ten Commandments" and "Ben Hur" will pay off at the boxoffice.

By CARROLL RIGHTER

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Recreation is uppermost in your mind now and if you give in to this temptation, you can be very extravagant in many ways. Attend to most important obligations first instead. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for March send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day to show appreciation to those near and dear for some especially fine work they have done, favors done you in the past. Steer clear of any investments. Clear up any tasks or work left uncompleted. Put house in order.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take particular care while out on the road today. Also, take pains to complete anything you have started, without running off hither and yon to different interests.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do not rely on own judgment now in matters of money or property. Get the advice of experts. Do not expend more than you can wisely afford. Be sure to ask for credentials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is one of those days when you seem to have a sort of artificial brightness instead of the usual deepdown conviction. Relax and think, then go about your affairs in a very balanced fashion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Climatic conditions have you feeling a bit nervous today and you would like to step out of any obligations or commitments you have made. Regular work also seems tiresome.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Comrades and regular associates appear to be wavering and undependable today. Don't let this irk you, but realize that they are under tensions. Be patient and work alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although you may get some self-satisfaction out of telling off some higher up today, in the long run you will regret it. Remember that the bigger the individual is, the greater are his or her problems.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While stepping out of dull doldrums is fine today, take care you do not get in with a frivolous group and waste this fine day, ruin own chances for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Think carefully before you follow the seemingly logical advice of a higher up since he or she is not cognizant of every phase of your problems and you could wind up behind the proverbial eight ball.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Associate or competitor who talks quite at random now does not truly expect his or her statements to be taken verbatim, for there is an element of vanity in them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A day when all sorts of annoying little damages can occur if you do not take yourself in hand and work relaxed and methodically. Also be sure to go over any paper work you do.

Her Dish? Why, Rain!

ORPINGTON, England —(AP)— Mrs. Barbara Lawson is a vegetarian. Also, she is fussy about water. And that has started a rumpus with Orpington's local council, which has warned her it is going to civilize her house at nearby Biggin Hill and lay in a water supply for her.

Mrs. Lawson likes to collect her own supply by draining rainwater off the roof, putting it through a filter and storing it in concrete tanks. Told that the council is going ahead with its installation plan whether she likes it or not, Mrs. Lawson, 50, retorted:

"They can't make me drink their chlorinated muck. I shall lie down in front of the workmen when they come here to lay the pipes."

QUESTION: Which is proper, a "bought" dress or a "boughten" dress? — R.S.H.

ANSWER: I prefer "bought," though either is correct.

As a participial adjective, boughten was once widely used in the United States. By the middle of the 19th century, however, it was becoming rustic and highly "correct" writers and publications were setting it off with quotation marks or including it only in passages whose spelling indicated that it was uneducated. But the common people, who did not read such authors or subscribe to such publications, went right on using it up until a generation or so ago.

The Oxford English Dictionary lists it as poetic (it was originally a corruption, on the analogy of the archaic foughten), dialect, or a peculiar Americanism.

It has been revived in the pseudo-rusticity of suburban speech to suggest that manufactured things are rare and expensive, prized above the familiar, home-made ones. As such, it is an affectation. But if it is and always has been a natural part of your speech, I would continue to use it.

Actor's Wife Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Actor Cameron Mitchell's wife Johanna has obtained an uncontested decree of separate maintenance.

Superior Judge Roger Alton Pfaff approved a property settlement where by Mitchell will pay 40 per cent of his gross income, up to earnings of $50,000 a year, for support of his wife and their four children. From earnings above that amount he will pay one-third.

State Tops California!

LAKELAND — Florida orange income per acre was about twice that of California for the 10-year period ending with the 1956-57 season, Robert W. Rutledge, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, said.

Rutledge said growers in Florida received an average of $168 per acre from orange groves during the period, while California growers averaged $85. He estimated Florida growers will average $325 per acre for orange grove income for the current season, while California growers will average $225 per acre.

We Don't Plan to Kick Off

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — There are a lot of people in Fort Lauderdale who don't expect to die — at least, not here.

Market research surveyors discovered that bit of information when they interviewed some 400 persons here for a funeral directors' organization.

In this respect, said the woman who conducted the survey, Mrs. Tommie Walker of Indianapolis, Fort Lauderdale is somewhat like Las Vegas.

"Everybody there expects to go someplace and start a new life," she said in a talk to the Advertising Club Monday at Pier 66.

"Here, people expect to die somewhere else."

Mrs. Walker is president of the Walker Research Service, which has conducted surveys here during the past two years and eventually expects to set up a branch.

Her firm conducts as many as 10,000 interviews a month in the Indianapolis area, in behalf of department stores, real estate developers, grocers, and other business concerns.

One survey, she announced, disclosed that "sometimes it's bad for a business to give away premiums."

An established dry-cleaning chain which was about to launch a promotion program using household linens for premiums dropped the idea, Mrs. Walker explained, after interviews showed that customers feared the quality of the cleaning might be lowered.

Search Ends For Lost Plane

The Coast Guard said Monday that active search over the Atlantic has been discontinued for a private plane which took off from Fort Lauderdale Feb. 8 with two men aboard.

No trace was found of the plane or its occupants, John J. Buckley Jr., 28, North Aronomink, Pa., business man; and his chauffeur, Nicholas Cucinotta of Hammonton, N.J.

They transmitted a distress call Feb. 8, reporting the plane's wings were icing up.

Skindiver Slashed By Boat

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 28-year-old skindiver was badly slashed by the propellers of an outboard motor Monday as he surfaced below the boat.

Richard E. Trimble, an employe of the Sea Ranch Motel, was rushed to Broward General Hospital for surgery.

He was diving off the beach just north of the Lauderdale-by-the-Sea town limits about 5 p.m.

Joe Iacono, town police chief, said he understood that the churning blades cut into Trimble's back, neck and ears.

The injured man was employed as a room-service boy about two weeks ago. His home is in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Two companions were reported with Trimble when the accident occurred. The Sheriff's Department is investigating.

Trimble was listed in satisfactory condition Monday night.

Bribery Charge Hits Merchant

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — A formal charge of attempted bribery will be placed against Pompano Beach Merchant James Sharkey, 62, who is also suspected of bookmaking, County Solicitor Tom Coker said Monday.

Sharkey was arrested Saturday at his beach sundries store. He had offered Detective George Decker 10 per cent of the take from a bookie operation, Coker said.

Decker recorded his conversation with Sharkey on tape, the solicitor added. The maximum penalty for bribery is five years compared to one year for bookmaking, he said.

The gambling charge may be tried in Pompano Beach, Coker said.

Police Brass Now Promise Bookie Purge

By DOM BONAFEDE
And TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami police officials, confronted by disclosures that the Gold Coast again is wide open to gamblers, acknowledged Monday that bookies indeed have moved in.

Top police officers of almost every Dade County municipality, meeting with State Attorney Richard Gerstein, promised an effort to clean up the spreading bookie rackets. They said they would add more men to their bookie squads.

The Herald in two days last weekend pointed up the infiltration of gamblers by uncovering 12 bookmaking spots in Miami and Miami Beach.

Police Chief Fox
. . . 'didn't know'

Hard on the heels of the expose came a sudden flurry of developments Monday:

* * *

POLICE CHIEF MICHAEL FOX of Miami Beach maintained he "didn't know any bookmaking was going on."

Eight of the 12 bets by The Herald were made on Miami Beach.

* * *

COUNCILMAN MELVIN RICHARD, of Miami Beach, called for the dismissal of Fox, stiffer sentences for convicted bookmakers and a revamp of the Police Department's bookie squad.

* * *

ARRESTED by Miami Beach police were two employes of the Bayshore Municipal Golf Course, one of whom took a horse bet from an investigator of the Greater Miami Crime Commission during The Herald's probe.

They are Louis Francis Oliver, 51, of 1770 N. Bayshore Dr., a locker room attendant who took the bet, and his helper, John Malitsh, 45, of 653 West Ave., Miami Beach.

Both were released on $500 bond.

* * *

ARRESTED in Miami was Sam (The Mayor) MaGrill, 51, of the Pan American Hotel, 27 NE Second Ave., who took a bet from the Crime Commission investigator last Saturday.

He was charged with vagrancy but Miami Police Lt. Otis Huttoe said the state attorney's office will place a bookmaking charge against him.

Being sought Monday was an elevator operator called "Harry" at the Dolphin Hotel, 937 NE First Ave. He accepted and paid off a horse bet to a Herald reporter.

At the session held in Gerstein's office the state attorney laid it on the line to the police officials.

"I think it is obvious from revelations in The Herald that there has been a breakdown in law enforcement," declared Gerstein. "I intend to take immediate steps to put a stop to it."

He asked for an immediate policy of harassment of known bookmakers and that cases be brought to court.

One of the early arrivals at the meeting was Chief Fox.

Miami Police Chief Walter Headley showed up shortly after the discussion got under way and took a seat in the corner.

Gerstein told the group that "when persons not known to bookmakers can make bets than the situation is abhorrent.

"I'm going to do whatever I can to see that you do your

Collins Calls for Bet Data

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Gov. LeRoy Collins called Monday for "immediate" reports from Dade law enforcement officials on "shocking" disclosures by The Miami Herald of wide open bookmaking here.

"I am amazed, shocked and disappointed," the governor declared before boarding a plane for a rush trip back to Tallahassee and to bed with a severe sinus condition.

Collins said he was jolted when he learned from The Herald that off-track race horse betting has been more rampant here recently than at any time since the Kefauver Senate Rackets Committee stamped it out in 1950.

"I am asking Dade law enforcement officials to give me reports immediately," he said.

"Until I get those reports I will take no action other than to express my shocked amazement."

However, the governor said he is determined to keep the lid on tight.

"Any form of illegal gambling is completely contrary to what I want or what we should have in Florida," he declared.

"I am determined to clean it up."

He said he is specifically asking State Attorney Richard Gerstein, Metro Safety Director Tom Kelly and the office of the attorney general for reports on gambling activity in Greater Miami.

Other than the illegal, immoral aspects of the wide-open gambling, the governor is known also to be concerned with the tax revenue which Florida is losing as a result of betting through bookies.

The state gets eight per cent of the take on legalized horse betting through the parimuteul windows. But it gets nothing from the bets which the horse player places with the bookie.

Radiation Therapy On Dulles Delayed

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sat up in a chair in his hospital room for about half an hour Monday. He will begin receiving radiation treatment for cancer later this week.

In a rare tribute to the stricken secretary, a frequent target of congressional criticism in the past, the Senate opened its session Monday with a silent prayer for Dulles' "early and complete recovery."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson led a round of speeches expressing Senate hopes that Dulles would be able to resume his post.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White reported that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory" and that his spirits were good.

White said the radiation treatment was being delayed until Dulles had had "a reasonable . . . convalescence" from the operation he underwent Friday to correct a hernia.

Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter is serving as acting secretary in Dulles' absence. In his first appearance in Dulles' place, Herter testified Monday morning before a closed session of a House appropriations subcommittee on the State Department budget.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no change in President Eisenhower's stated position that Dulles would continue on leave of absence.

California Coast Raked By Storm

By Herald Wire Services

CHICAGO — The worst storm of the winter hit Southern California coastal areas Monday as flood fighting activity in the Midwest centered along the lower Wabash River in Indiana.

California beach cities bore the brunt of the Western storm which raked the entire Pacific Coast.

Gusts up to 60 miles an hour toppled television antennas in Santa Barbara County and caused widespread power failures.

Some areas had two or more inches of rain. Continued downpours were forecast.

A severe dust storm preceded the rain in Bakersfield, Calif. Towering dust clouds that obscured visibility stranded 200 motorists Sunday night. Nearly all highways in the county were closed at times.

Benson Lashes Back at Critics

Read It 'in Letters of Fire'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, accused of handicapping the Republicans and hurting the farmers, gave senators a vivid, poetic reply Monday.

If his critics will just look, he said, they can read the answer to the farm problem "in letters of fire a mile high."

Benson said these symbols spell out two things:

Do away with production controls that don't control.

Fix price supports at levels that "will preserve and build markets."

While the figure of speech was new, it was a familiar argument from the Salt Lake City Mormon who has been President Eisenhower's No. 1 farm adviser from the start. His audience was the Senate Agriculture Committee.

The reaction was familiar, too. Sen. Milton R. Young (R., N.D.) told Benson that if the secretary had his way, "you'd break every wheat farmer in the U.S."

Young, a long-time critic of Benson, also said that the Benson farm philosophy was "one of the reasons the Republican Party didn't receive a majority of the farm votes in a single state in the nation."

"Where we carried a farm state, like my own," the North Dakotan told Benson, "it was because of the votes in the small towns."

Benson was before the committee in connection with discussions on what to do about farm legislation in this new session of Congress. He said his department has not drawn up any specific price support bills but will do so if the committee requests.

This annoyed Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D., La.), who told Benson:

"You and the President are the complainants. What we would like you to do is submit legislation you think would do the job."

Eisenhower and Benson take the position that present and past price supports are to blame for the surplus stocks now in the government's hands.

Allies Warn Soviet on War Peril

Call For Parley, Germans Advising

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S., Britain and France bluntly warned Russia Monday against the danger of touching off a world war over Berlin. They called for a wide-open Big Four foreign ministers meeting this spring to discuss the whole German problem with German advisers present.

The Western powers would like the conference to open in late April or early May at Geneva or Vienna. Russia has threatened to pull out of East Berlin on or after May 27, and the West fears this may jeopardize the Allied position in West Berlin.

"The danger to world peace inherent in this Soviet initiative is evident," the note released by the State Department said.

The notes recommended that East and West German representatives be allowed to sit in on the conference, but only as advisers.

West Germany endorsed the Allied proposal in a separate note of its own.

The U.S. message paralleled others sent by Britain and France. It said the foreign ministers meeting should deal "with the problem of Germany in all its aspects and implications"—meaning such things as German unity and the future of Berlin.

As the note was delivered, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles lay ill of cancer in Walter Reed Army Hospital. Who would represent the U.S. at the proposed conference — which could prove to be the most critical yet held with the Soviet Union—was not known. There was no doubt that Dulles himself intends to be there if he can.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers, the step could prove to be a historic move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reunifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow Monday.

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers' meeting succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

These officials said a top-level session which would bring together President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would not be excluded.

The immediate strategy behind the call for a foreign ministers conference is to get the Soviets to the conference table just prior to their deadline for handing over their occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Khrushchev threatened such action after six months, and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The aspects which would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany; the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two halves of Germany; and other issues related to Germany, such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

Condemn School, PB Board Urged

More Palm Beach News, News, 1C, 8C, 2B

By BILL BECK
Delray Bureau Chief

BOYNTON BEACH — City Commissioner J. B. Baughman told the Palm Beach County School Board Monday it would "have to answer to an aroused public if a child is burned to death" at the Boynton Beach Elementary School.

Baughman took issue with the statement of School Board Member Harold Turner that "politics" played a part in the city's requestt o have the school condemned as a fire-trap.

"There's no politics invodv,el" Baughman said, "when a child's life is at stake. If all previous councils chose to let the situation go, and we choose to do something about it, that doesn't make it politics.".

On Baughman's motion, the commission voted 3-2 to commend a Miami television newscaster (Ralph Renick, WTVJ) for a recent editorial in which he criticized hazardous conditions at the school and the school board for not permitting pictures of the school's interior.

In voting against the commendation, Commissioner Harvey Oyer said it was unwise to "get into a political hassle" with another publicly-elected body.

Following a recent inspection by the fire chief, the commission asked the school board to condemn the east building of the school. The principal complaint was that the ancient building lacked both a telephone and a fire-warning system.

Last week, while the school board was meeting the principal called to ask a television cameraman should be permitted to take a picture of the school.

The board flatly refused, labeling the television station's request a "publicity gag." At the time, Turner admitted the condition of the school was deplorable, but added that "politics" entered into the city's request.

School Superintendent Howell Watkins informed the commission by letter Monday that both the telephone and fire-warning system would be installed immediately.

Watkins said that other safety precautions, as suggested by the fire chief, had already been taken and added he would recommend to the board that the school get a major face-lifting this summer.

Castro's Sworn In At Palace

Fast Action Seen On Casinos, Asylum

By Herald Wire Services

HAVANA, Cuba — Five former Batista soldiers who served under Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, engineered a daring escape early Monday when they overpowered the crew of a transport plane taking them from Havana to Santiago for a war crimes trial.

The soldiers forced the pilot at pistol point to land in a rice field near Campechuela in Oriente Province and fled on foot into the mountains. There was no information on how the prisoners obtained the weapon.

Meanwhile, Sosa Blanco, who was condemned to death Jan. 23 at a "showcase trial," went on trial for his life a second time Monday in a small crowded courtroom in Havana.

The Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal annulled his death sentence and ordered the new trial.

In other developments Monday Fidel Castro, the Cuban revolution's first warrior-statesman, was sworn in as prime minister by Acting President Manuel Urrutia at a presidential palace ceremony.

Castro is the youngest head of government in Cuba's 56-year history. Immediately following the palace ceremony, Castro moved into the prime minister's office in El Prado Boulevard, where outgoing Prime Minister Jose Miro Cardona formally turned over to him the top government post.

The entire cabinet was present at the palace ceremony, but the formal assumption of the job at El Prado offices was witnessed only by Castro's closest friends.

His associates predicted that Castro's first official action will be to solve a three-week-old impasse between the government and the foreign diplomatic corps over the issue of diplomatic asylum.

Some 200 followers of ousted President Batista are refugees in more than a dozen Latin American embassies here. It was generally expected that Castro would extend them safe conduct passes to go abroad.

Early reopening of Havana's luxury gambling casinos on a modified and government-supervised basis also was believed to be a primary objective of Castro's first days in the premiership.

Beck Counsel Rests In Income Tax Trial

By LAWRENCE E. DAVIES
The New York Times Service

N.Y. Times News Service

TACOMA, Wash. — Dave Beck's counsel rested in the labor leader's income tax trial Monday without offering a defense. One witness occupied the stand briefly.

Charles S. Burdell, attorney for the former $50,000-a-year general president of the Brotherhood of Teamsters, ended the case abruptly without letting his client take the stand.

The surprise ending was recorded on the 57th day of a trial based on a charge that Beck evaded payment of $240,000 of income taxes for the years 1950 to 1953. The prosecution, which closed its case Thursday, had put 114 witnesses on the stand. More than 10,000 pages of testimony had accumulated.

Out of court, Burdell said he broke the news to Beck at 9 a.m. that the former union executive was not going on the stand. Beck had confidently predicted since the trial opened on Nov. 10 that he would have his "day in court."

"This is my decision not to defend the case," Burdell said. "I made it over the weekend after completion of the government's case."

The defense put an accountant, Karl Houston, on the stand as its lone witness. He was called merely to testify that Beck had nothing to do with preparing ledgers and keeping books of the B. & B. Investment Company, which was set up to handle Beck's personal enterprises.

UF Morals Report Implicates 14 Professors

Probers Suspect 500 Students of Secret Activities

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Fourteen professors are suspected by a legislative committee of being involved in homosexual activities at the University of Florida.

The Herald learned this Monday from a high ranking state official, who also disclosed more than 500 students have been involved in the investigation.

The unofficial disclosure came after Sen. Charley Johns, committee chairman, turned over the report of the legislators to the State Board of Control.

William C. Gaither of Miami, a member of the board, said he had not seen the exact number of professors and students named in the report.

However, he indicated the numbers were sufficient to be of considerable concern to the board, which supervises state-run universities.

President J. Wayne Reitz admitted at Gainesville that the legislative report is "undergoing careful study." He promised fast action against any persons found guilty of the charges.

Committee members, including Johns, refused to divulge the specific contents of the investigative report.

Rep. Cliff Herrell of Dade called the committee findings "the most astounding and pathetic situation I have ever run up against in my years of public service."

Herrell, a committee member, said "it's the worst thing I've ever had anything to do with."

He expressed confidence the Board of Control, which supervises Florida colleges, would take steps not only to correct the existing situation but to set up a better screening system for the future.

Jaquelin J. Daniel of Jacksonville, a board of control member, said he doubts the board will be ready to consider the report Friday because of its length. He said members would not have time to study it before then.

Daniel would not comment on the contents of the report. He added that the "board will take appropriate action."

The Herald learned from Gainesville that "two or three" of the suspected faculty members have already disappeared from the campus.

Names were not disclosed.

J. Broward Culpepper, executive director of the Board of Control, said he "presumed" the legislative committee's findings would be discussed Friday when the board meets at Tampa.

Most of the homosexual activity between male students and professors occured at prearranged meetings in a lavatory at the Alachua County Courthouse in Gainesville.

The clandestine meetings were arranged in a manner which enabled the participants to keep thei. respective identities secret, the report shows.

University President Reitz refused to say anything more than "the report has been received and is being studied."

"I have no further comment until appropriate action has taken place."

The Johns committee report was completed Saturday, when the committee met in Jacksonville.

Senator Says Let Reds Visit

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

A Wyoming senator said in Miami Monday that America ought to open its borders to Russian visitors—and pay their way if necessary.

Freshman Democratic Sen. Gale McGee, 43, told a meeting of the Dade County Bar Association at the Columbus Hotel:

"We have nothing to hide. Just get them over here to see, and let the Russians send the toughest ones they have."

McGee admitted that the Soviet government would be able to control who comes to this country, but added:

"They may write the party line when they go back, but they will talk and whisper about what they saw here."

McGee said he also felt that the U.S. and Russia will "neutralize each other" because of their tremendous productive powers.

But he warned that the U.S. must still meet the threat of increased Soviet production if the world is to avoid a third world war.

The U.S. economy is producing at only about 50 per cent of capacity while the rate in the USSR is greater, he said.

He noted that Russia has openly declared an economic war on American industry and that it would be foolhardy for capitalism to ignore this threat.

"Out in our Rocky Mountain area, you don't turn your back on an enemy," said McGee.

'To Heat Cold War'

Reds Charge U.S. 'Using' 11 Fliers

MOSCOW —(UPI)— The Soviet Union denied again Monday that it knew anything about 11 American airmen missing since a U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed in Soviet Armenia last Sept. 2.

A statement issued by Tass news agency charged the U. S. State Department was trying to use the incident to heat up the cold war.

It said Soviet authorities had investigated the crash and handed all their information to the U. S. in notes of Sept. 12 and 19 and Oct. 16.

"It would seem that the U.S. government should have expressed gratitude to the Soviet government for the investigations it had made and for the information about the circumstances . . ." Tass said.

(The U.S. said the transport, with 17 men aboard, was shot down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet planes. It produced a tape-recording transcript of the conversation among the attacking Soviet pilots.)

The Russians handed over bodies of six U.S. airmen killed in the crash, but said they had no knowledge of the 11 others.

Tass said about the recording Monday there was "no doubt that it is a gross falsification meant for naive people."

Tass also said that a statement by President Eisenhower in Washington last Tuesday that he believed American planes had been lured across Soviet borders by Soviet radio signals was a "fantastic invention."

It said the U.S. was trying to "avoid responsibility to the families of the dead airmen" by charging Russian planes shot down the transport.

Mac Invited To Red Hunt

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been invited to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt during his tour of the Soviet Union. Plans are reported to have been made for such a hunt on a preserve near Leningrad. Macmillan is due here Saturday.

But No. 10 Dowing St. said Monday MacMillan has no present plans to witness or participate in a Russian bear hunt.

Macmillan is an excellent shot, but so far he has confined his shooting to grouse, quail and pheasant.

"Most definitely he has never shot bear," a spokesman added.

Virginia Rural Area Will Mix

FRONT ROYAL, Va. —(UPI)— Rural Warren County lost a last-ditch bid to stave off integration Monday and prepared to admit 22 Negroes to its only high school Wednesday.

It appeared certain that only a few white pupils, if any, would show up when the school here reopens for the first time since it was closed last September to keep Negroes out.

Federal Appeals Judge Simon E. Sobeloff in Baltimore refused to grant a delay until September and the county school board went into session to complete plans for the reopening.

A foundation that has operated private classes for some 800 white students displaced by the closure also met to formally vote to continue the emergency facilities.

White parents in the county voted overwhelmingly last week to keep their children in the private classes although the county will reopen the high school to comply with the federal court order.

Warren County will be the first predominantly rural area in Virginia to face forced integration.

A total of 30 Negro pupils have entered previously all-white classes at schools in Norfolk, Arlington and Alexandria in the past two weeks.

In each case, the integrated school was located in a major metropolitan area. Resistance to integration has been strongest in rural parts of the South.

4 Injured As Planes Nearly Hit

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

A Miami-bound Eastern Air Lines prop-jet Electra and an Air Force jet bomber missed colliding by 500 feet Monday when the airline pilot jerked his plane into a steep climb 23,000 feet over Tennessee.

Three passengers and a stewardess were injured by the violent maneuver at 23,000 feet above Chattanooga. The plane was flight No. 127 from Chicago.

Three passengers from the Chicago area and Miami Stewardess, Lois Borchers' injured by the sudden sharp jolt, were taken to North Shore Hospital after arrival here.

Listed in fair condition were Passengers Phillip Kaplan, Mrs. C. R. Allen and Sam Landsman. Mrs. Allen and Kaplan suffered fractured ankles, hospital authorities said, and Landsman was being X-rayed for possible internal injuries. Miss Borchers was treated and released.

Veteran Eastern pilot Capt. Raymond Ruprecht, 51, of 960 Hunting Lodge Dr., Miami Springs, who has been flying for 33 years, said the Air Force B47 "was the biggest thing I ever saw."

Reprecht said he and his copilot, V. C. Tays, were looking to the right for a Northwest Airlines plane 1,000 feet below.

"Then I happened to glance to my left," he said, "and saw this big bomber coming."

Capt. Ruprecht threw the plane into a 1,500-foot climb.

He said "the Electra may have prevented a collision because of its maneuverability."

The Eastern plane was traveling at about 445 miles ground speed, Ruprecht said, and carried 17 passengers and five crew members. The Air Force bomber was going at an estimated 600 miles an hour.

Ruprecht said the Air Force plane wheeled into a steep turn a few seconds before he pulled up. "He must have just seen us," said the pilot.

The Federal Aviation Agency promptly assigned investigators to the case. The Air Force did not immediately identify home base of the jet.

Shortly after the near-miss, Sen. George Smathers, Florida congressman, said in Washington:

"The near-tragedy shows the urgent need for greater speed in bringing about a practical and adequate solution for this phase of air safety — to maintain safe and separate air lanes for both military and commercial traffic."

Spy Suspect Admits Guilt

KARLSRUHE, Germany —(UPI)— Alleged spy ring leader Carl Helfmann confessed Monday to having worked for Communist East Germany's state security service for nearly five years.

Helfmann, 60, went on trial Monday charged with collecting espionage material in Western Germany and passing it on to East German officials.

He is accused among other things of obtaining classified information from the Wiesbaden office of the American Scientific Research Division.

2 Distinct Breeds Of Bookies Run Dade Operations

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Two distinct breeds of bookmakers run Dade's wide-open bet-taking operations, Herald investigators found.

They are the local syndicate men and the independent bookie.

Each claims to hate the other.

One boasts he pays off for alleged police protection. The other doesn't.

One operates brazenly, confident his "fix is in." The other doesn't.

Each blamed the other Monday for The Herald's disclosures of flagrant bet-taking in almost every corner of the county.

Comments from both sides were made at separate intervals in the presence of this Herald reporter.

"Greedy runts," said syndicate man Joe the Ear. "They (the independent bookies) will take from anybody."

A cauliflower-eared man in his late 60s, Joe admitted he was a runner for a chain of "agents" whose bookmaking operations are centered in Miami.

"We can handle the cops anytime," Joe the Ear bragged. "It's those (independent) creeps we can't stand.

"They dress sharp, operate on the sneak, and pay no dues (protection money.)

"Sure the cops knock us off (raid) from time to time . . . but they never grab the little guy. He's too small for them."

Declared independent hustler Little Manny of South Miami:

"Too damn confident. Just because they say they got protection, they think nobody can touch them."

Admitted Little Manny:

"We operate. Sure we do. We have our regulars. The old ladies at the hotels. The working girls in the cafeterias. The sucker on the curb.

"But we don't bother anyone. We don't brag. We don't keep a string of chippies (show girls) like they do.

"And by refusing to cut those other goulash joints (bookmaking hangouts) in, we'll stay little guys."

Syndicate man Joe the Ear claimed "a citizen's bet is safest with the big boys.

"But with the guy who books himself—you don't know if he's putting it down (placing the bet) or slipping it into his pocket.

"Half the time he uses your money (the bettor's) to make personal bets. If he wins, he'll pay you OK—but at the same time he's made a bundle, too. With your money."

Replied Independent Little Manny: "Look who is calling the kettle black.

"If that is the way those guys are talking these days, I am not surprised the newspaper sniffed them out the way it did."

Another Beach syndicate runner, "the Hook," said:

"We couldn't operate for five minutes without the fix.

"Sure, we know the state's men were snooping around. If they hit (arrest) us, they have to hit Mr. — and his other obligations. And that's just about impossible right now."

jobs. The public will not accept any excuses."

He added:

"It's obvious that gambling is operating without fear of arrest. I want you to bring these people before the courts."

Gerstein then asked the police brass what they intended to do about the situation.

Miami Detective Chief Tom Lipe said that his complete squad was alerted to be on the lookout for bookmaking operations.

Fox said he was adding two more men to his bookie squad, currently composed of only two officers, Pat Perdue and Ted Norris.

Other officers present and the number of additional men being added to their bookie squad staffs:

C. W. Thompson and Ed McCollum, of the state attorney general's office, two; William Whitacre and T. A. Buchanan, of the Public Safety Department, four; G. W. Owens, Bal Harbour, two; A. M. Bishop, Coral Gables, two; Andrew Murcia, Surfside, one; and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission, one.

The governor, speaking hoarsely, said his sinus had "acted up" during a ride here from Florida's west coast.

Don't Let Name Confuse You

Don't let the similarity fool you. There's more than one Harry the Hatter around.

As The Herald pointed out in its articles on bookie operations: The name of Harry the Hatter, who is a Miami Beach bookie, is the same as that of the man who for many years sold hats in downtown Miami.

But don't confuse them: Miami's Harry the Hatter has been a reputable businessman for many a year.

Speed? Herald Photo by Hank Cohen DON If these school zones seem close together, it's because they are. In a five-mile stretch on Seacrest Blvd. there are five schools in four zones, all limiting traffic to 15 m.p.h. None yet have the new signs requiring the slow speed only when school starts and lets out.

PB Board Seeks Control Over Private Water Rates

Conference Slated For Peanut Island

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The State Legislature will be asked to give Palm Beach County the power to control water rates of private companies.

County commissioners will also seek legislation setting up requirements and licenses for nursery schools and kindergartens.

In an administrative session Monday, commissioners also agreed to confer with the Port Commission at 2 p.m. Friday on a proposal to turn controversial Peanut Island into a public park.

The proposal to seek water controls came from Chairman Lake Lytal, who said he had received complaints about the ever increasing rates.

The control would apply to concerns with 10 or more customers. It would affect small companies which supply water for various subdivisions, most of them recently developed.

"If a company holds itself out as a utility company, it should come under county regulations," Lytal said.

The measure would also affect other utilities including private garbage service.

The nursery school controls were recommended by Dr. C. L. Brumback, county health director. Regulations will be sought on a state-wide basis or ultimately as a local bill.

The Port Commission invited commissioners to their Friday meeting to talk about Peanut Island, which is owned by the port.

The island, sought by various interests, is near Riviera Beach. Commissioners last week voted in favor of turning Peanut Island into a public park. However, the island's fate is in the hands of the Port Commission.

Under a present law, the Port Commission can sell the island but only after a referendum. No referendum has ever been called.

Commissioners Kenneth Foster and Lytal were appointed to meet with the Port Board. Meanwhile, Commissioner Paul Rardin, of the Glades district, declared, "We have several other things to worry about besides Peanut Island. We have nothing to do with Peanut Island.

Ramps Increased At Currie

By NORVAN ROGGEN
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — The City Commission Monday decided to double the outboard boat ramp facilities at a cost of $32,000 at Currie Park and to charge 50 cents a day for parking in that area.

To provide additional parking the Hertzel Brothers pageant site will be moved to the north.

The commission requested further study of other possible south side ramp sites, particularly at Summa St., after a delegation appealed for more ramp sites to relieve the launching congestion at Currie Park.

A delegation from the Prospect Park area protested construction of a boat ramp there but was told the board was not considering that spot because the city does not own the land.

In other action the commission approved a site for the new library building on Fern St., 450 feet east of Tamarind Ave., on a recommendation by R. D. Hill, library board chairman.

The Freight Rate Traffic Bureau received a $600 subsidy from the commission to continue its operations until it can solicit additional finances, with later consideration in the budget.

The city attorney was directed by the commission to submit an ordinance to amend the license code permitting pawn brokers to operate here.

It was explained that by permitting pawn brokers the city could collect both a license fee and a regular merchant's tax.

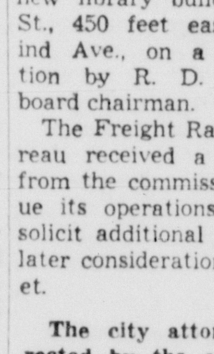
2 Land Deals Net $300,000

WEST PALM BEACH — Land transactions totaling more than $300,000 were recorded Monday in Circuit Court. N. B. Hunt, Dallas, Texas millionaire, who recently made large investments in Palm Beach county land, bought another piece, according to a warranty deed filed Monday.

Elizabeth Collins McCurdy, Kenneth W. May, Albert J. Thuon Jr. and Margaret Bliss sold Hunt a parcel of land west of Juno Beach near Prosperity Farms road for $126,300.

In the second big transaction, South Palm Beach, Inc., sold a 100-foot lot between the Ocean and Lake Worth near Manalapan to Tropicana Gardens Inc. for $200,000.

Pay Bill, She's Told



Mrs. Schell

WEST PALM BEACH — Elizabeth Shaeffer Chester Schell, Palm Beach socialite, was ordered by Circuit Court Monday to pay a $3,564 bill at a fashionable clothing store.

Signed by Judge Joseph S. White, the decree directs Mrs. Schell, former wife of a one-time city prosecutor here, to pay Abramson's, 120 N. County Rd., Palm Beach, for dresses and other clothing she purchased in a two-day period last spring.

The bill covers items ranging from a $325 dress to an $85 purse.

Small Claims Going To Little Courthouse

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — The county Monday placed its stamp of approval on a plan whereby residents of the Everglades can file small claims court cases at "The Little Courthouse" near Belle Glade.

The plan — which would eliminate the need for Glades residents to spend time and money coming into the courthouse in West Palm Beach — was disclosed by The Herald last week.

County Commissioner Paul Rardin, of Canal Point, brought the issue before the board.

He said the county has ample authority for having small claims cases filed in the Glades office building.

He said a clerk already located in the Little Courthouse would be trained to handle the cases and added it is hoped eventually to have small claims court hold sessions in the everglades.

PUT SOME CLOTHES ON FATSO!

WEST PALM BEACH — City commissioners Monday voted to rule "big fat girls in G-strings and brassieres" and even the shapely ones, off West Palm Beach streets.

The prohibition would also extend to the hairy-chested males who have made a practice of running around in the downtown area in nothing more than a pair of trunks.

The situation was brought before the City Commission by Vice Mayor W. P. Halland.

He said it didn't look very good for the "big fat girls" to be running around in very little, but went on to add he meant the skinny and shapely girls, too, and wasn't excepting the menfolks.

He said the practice of going around partially clad in West Palm Beach was not doing anything for the morals of the young people.

In fact, he said, the way some of the men and women dress "makes you nervous."

On Holland's motion, the board agreed to ask City Prosecutor Thomas Bailey to draft the legislation demanding proper clothes on the streets because, it was pointed out, it would be up to him and the municipal judge to act on violations.

The board also decided to do something about the commercial or homemaid slingshot — one of which cost the eye of a young girl recently.

Mayor Horace S. Miller brought up the demand for some kind of controls.

When Police Chief R. W. Milburn pointed out the Police Benevolent Association is sponsoring legislation on a statewide basis to control the sale and use of all types of dangerous weapons or instruments, the board voted its support by resolution.

2nd Raise in 3 Years

Kelloway Confirms Plans Of Board to Hike Salaries

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — City Commissioner L. W. Kelloway confirmed Monday that members of the board plan to hike their annual salaries from $3,000 to somewhere around $5,000.

The Herald disclosed Sunday the commission was planning for the second time in about three years to hike its own pay.

Kelloway was the only member of the commission who commented on the raise at Monday's meeting. It was Kelloway who proposed three years ago that the board boost its annual pay from $1,800 to $3,000.

His suggestion was ignored but after he was defeated for reelection a majority bloc on the board which cold shouldered his suggestion went ahead with the raise he had proposed.

Commenting on the new move, he said, "I notice something in the paper about a salary raise for the commission and would like to say that I brought it up." He said the bill is expected to come before the board next week.

He added, "I would be delinquent if I did not bring the subject up before filing for office, so I am bringing it up now. I for one would be willing to work for $1 a year because I like this work." But he said he felt commissioners should be compensated for loss of time away from their business.

Kelloway added that the proposed raise would be included in the 1959-60 budget and would have no effect at present.

If the raise goes through, Kelloway and Mayor Horace S. Miller, both of whom are seeking reelection, would be the only two who could take advantage of it until next spring, because members of the board who move to raise their pay can't collect it during the current term.

Miller filed for office Monday — the first day to do so. Kelloway is expected to file shortly.

Sheriff's Budget Proposal Rejected

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — County commissioners Monday turned down a proposal by their chairman that the sheriff's department budget be separated from other county appropriations.

Chairman Lake Lytal asked commissioners to seek a legislative measure which would put the sheriff's department on the same basis as the school board and port commission. These boards levy their own millage.

Fellow commissioners, however, were unwilling to go along with Lytal's proposal. They said the change should be on a statewide basis.

Lytal plans to discuss the issue with the State Association of County Commissioners.

In favoring the proposal, Lytal points out that the commissioners have no control over the sheriff's budget which now runs $600,000 yearly.

The sheriff's department was removed from the fee system two years ago and put on a budget basis. However, unlike other county departments, the sheriff's office, Lytal says, is free of commissioner-control.

Commissioners can alter the budgets of other county departments. The sheriff's department can appeal to the governor if commissioners fail to meet the budget requests.

Lytal contends commissioners have no more control over the sheriff's department budget than over the school board or port appropriations. Yet the sheriff's budget "reflects" on commissioner since they have to make the funds available, Lytal said.

County Approves Fund For Judge Need Study

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—The move to find out if the Palm Beach County division of the 15th Judicial District needs a fifth circuit judge gained impetus Monday.

Palm Beach County commissioners indicated in an administration session that they would appropriate up to $1,000 to finance a survey to determine the issue. Official action will come next week at a regular meeting.

The request for the appropriation came from Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow. It was for $600 but commissioners agreed to go up to $1,000.

A similar request will be presented Tuesday by the Palm Beach County Bar Association, which adopted a resolution last week asking the governor to set up a special commission to conduct the survey. The county appropriation will finance the commission's work.

The commission, if appointed, will study population and other data to determine if the county is eligible for a fifth judge.

The Broward County Bar is also asking for a survey on a fifth judge. Broward and Palm Beach Counties make up the 15th District. Each was assigned a fourth circuit judge in 1957.

Under Florida law, a county over a minimum population figure gets a circuit judge for each extra 50,000 people.

Palm Beach County's population is now estimated at more than 225,000. It has received two crcuit judges since 1955.

The prospect of a fifth circuit judge prompted Lake Lytal, chairman of the commissioners, to comment: "We got four of them now always complaining about having no room. What are we going to do with the fifth one?"

City Wants Reply To $64 Question

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — How did municipal water and sewer lines get extended to a point near Belvedere Rd. subdivisions without the knowledge of the City Commission?

The board raised that question a half dozen times Monday and then demanded that it be brought an answer at its meeting next Tuesday.

The subject came up when Commissioner Sylvan Burdick asked that $150,000 be raised, either through an open end bond issue or from an improvement fund to extend water and sewage service to the Belevedere Rd. subdivisions and to Northwood Hills.

It was brought out at the meeting that more than a year ago a Belvedere subdivision had asked city permission to subscribe to the water and sewer service of a firm located outside the city.

The permission was denied because the city expected soon to have its own water and sewer service. When it developed, there was a matter of $80,000 for extending the water lines and neither the developers or the city treasurer had it.

But when Burdick began looking into the situation he discovered the water and sewer lines had actually been extended through private property to within 200 feet of the development.

The City Commission agreed to study the matter of extending the service to areas which are now without it, but it definitely wants to know first how the lines got into private property close to the subdivision without its knowledge.

The board set back its next week's meeting to Tuesday because of Washington's Birthday on Monday.

Lake Worth Cuts Home Power Rate

Herald Bureau

LAKE WORTH — Lake Worth home consumers will get lower electric bills effective April 1.

City commissioners Monday night unaminously approved a new rate schedule, which pares down residential electric rates and leaves commercial and industrial prices unchanged.

The new schedule brings municipal home rates down to Florida Power and Light's level. The city's commercial and industrial rates are below FP&L.

The action is part of a long fight over the electric system. Efforts have been made in the past to sell or lease the city-owned facility to Florida Power and Light.

The rate change will cost the city more than $40,000 in revenues annually.

In other business, the city refused to renew the gas franchise of Florida Public Utilities on grounds the request was "premature."

The franchise has six years to run. Florida Public Utilities said it wanted the franchise renewed now to facilitate financing of its expansion program and changes necessary to convert to natural gas.

Palm Beach and West Palm Beach have already renewed their 30-year franchises at the standard 5 per cent fee.

Lake Worth commissioners, however, held to the theory renewal was premature and there was no "inducement," such as a percentage increase for early action.

Keathley Bowden, Publisher, Is Dead

MONTICELLO — Keathley Bowden, 61, a Florida newspaper publisher for many years, died Monday in a Thomasville, Ga. hospital. He had a cardiac condition.

A native of Hernando County, he had spent most of his life in the newspaper business, publishing papers in Okeechobee, Moore Haven, Clewiston, LaBelle, and Canal Point, before buying The Monticello News in 1944.

He sold this paper in November because of failing health.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Beryl Bowden of Clewiston; two sons, Lt. Charles K. Bowden, U. S. Air Force, Enid, Okla., and Paul H. Bowden of Clewiston, a sister, Mrs. Wayne Martin of Tallahassee, and three grandchildren.

Funeral will be here at 3 p.m. today at the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Merrill Keith will officiate and burial will be in Roseland Cemetery.

'Think Thin to Stay Thin,' Advises Cary Grant, Spurning Pie

IF ALL WENT WELL on the submarine base sets for "Operation Petticoat" at Key West on Monday, movie star Tony Curtis was scheduled to journey up to Miami Beach today with publicist Paul Kamey for the premiere of Judy Garland at the Fontainebleau . . . Exchange visitor was Gore "Visit to a Small Planet" Vidal who has joined the lively arts set at the Key West Blue Marlin, co-headquarters with Key Wester of the Universal-International movie-makers.

Have you envied that streamline figure of Cary Grant's? Well, it may be a bit of over-simplification but it is simply a matter of mind over obese matter. Secret, we learned from Mr. Grant, just before indulging in a slab of key lime pie at Caribe Restaurant, is to "think thin." The dapper Thin Man is a firm believer in positive thinking. Mr. Grant does not eat slabs of key lime pie at luncheon!

$1,000,000 Gems to Skip Beach?

THE $1,000,000 WORTH OF jewelry which Lana Turner wears in "Imitation of Life," including a $50,000 star sapphire set and a Russian emerald set valued at $240,000, is to be sent on tour. It is not yet decided whether Miami Beach will be on the itinerary . . . Shirley Jones sings a tune called "I'm Sorry But I Want a Ferrari" in "Never Steal Anything Small." That's right, Shirley: Think Ferrari . . . Nick Kenny, after a visit to Key West, sat right down at the piano and wrote himself a lyric called "I'm Fishing from a Bridge on the Florida Keys" — or something like that . . . Don Morgan, of the "Operations Petticoat" company production staff, caught himself a 101-pound tarpon between takes — but not from a bridge. It happened on the cruiser "Caysel."

Takes you back, doesn't it, to see George Raft, who used to help sister Texas run a night club, cutting up used to help sister Texas, run a night club, cutting up with Sam Sokol (late of Havana Capri) at Place for Steak.

Dancing Waters, which we once suggested would be prime entrance attraction for some swank hotel, will be presented as a feature of the Miami International Boat Show at Dinner Key from Feb. 20-25 a 49-foot unit will be installed by the City Parks Department in the patio garden between Exposition Hall and the show's tent marina . . . Wini Clark, of McVeytown, Pa., who used to vocalize with Ralph Flanagan's band, is going it solo at the Vagabonds-on-the-Blvd.

Iturbi to Play at Award Luncheon

PIANIST JOSE ITURBI will exhibit his skill at the Jennie Awards luncheon of the Women's American ORT at the Deauville on Feb. 25 . . . Hy Gardner, of The Herald Tribune, savoring the Oriental dishes at the Singapore. Hey! Isn't that the wrong columnist. Sounds more like Lee Mortimer . . . That rumor is about again that R.M. wil be busting beaks for the title come June! The right people are in town to arrange it, 'tis said.

Cary Grant . . . No!

Buffy Dee . . . notes

Carol Baker . . . no kin

The Keynotes, a choral-drama group, will present "The Mikado" late in April. Auditions for leads and chorus will be held on Feb. 23 at Trinity Methodist Church, 401 NE First Ave. William E. Burke directs.

The Samuel Bernsteins, who are mighty proud of a son named Leonard, are at the Aristocrat. Leonard, an aristocrat of music, is busy with the New York Philharmonic.

Fall premiere of "Ben Hur" is planned by MGM . . . There's some $15,000,000 tied up in it . . . Buffy Dee and his musical buffs, who have been with Carmen Cavallaro, Patti Page and Vic Damone, have shifted into the Tambourine Room of the Carillon Hotel . . .

Directors Awarded $10,000 Each

TEN AMERICAN theater directors were named today to receive grants of $10,000 each to "help stimulate their creative development." The recipients were William Ball, director of "Ivanov," now current off-Broadway; Rachmael ben Avram, director of Golden Hind Company, Berkley, Calif.; Herbert Blau, who directed "Waiting for Godot" for the Brussels Fair; Angus Bowmer, of Oregon Shakespeare festival; James Clancy, of the State University of Iowa; Mrs. Zelda Fichandler, of Washington Arena Stage; John Reich, of Chicago's Goodman Memorial Theater; Alan Schneider, New York director; Mack Scism, of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Nina Vance, managing director of Houston's Alley Theater. Ford Foundation is the donor.

Guess all the Carroll, or Carol, Bakers are lookers. Somebody grabbed a pix of Carol when Carrol "Baby Doll" Baker was wanted for a story on these pages recently. So here's a proper introduction. Meet Carol Baker, see nearby cut, local cover girl-angler, not related, except as sister in beauty, to actress Carroll Baker.
